GERMANS REALIZING POWER OF BRITAIN

Teutonic Writer Says Germany Can Win Only if England is Defeated.

(Canadian Press Despatch.) ROTTERDAM, Aug. 7.—Maximilian Harden, writing in Die Zukunft, says: "What pressure could force a quick conclusion of peace. If Russia lost all her Polish territories, she would go back and invite the conqueror to follow her perhaps even to Vladivostok. It is said that France could be forced to lodge and feed our armies, and to suffer German authority, but there are her colonies. You can only take them, when you have deprived England of her strength. "How can you deprive England of her strength? Favor or Heaven, or accident might bring about a revolution in India, a Turkish invasion at Suez, damage by fire, mass strikes in Britain, or a sea battle, which would not leave so much to England that she would be able with the ships of France and Japan, to patch up something like a fleet of great power. "But Britain is not even suffering yet. London's face has shown no fear. Her ships sail from America, England does not need to give up anything, and can barricade all roads by which we could fetch raw materials for our industries.

FRENCH TROOPS CAPTURE LINE OF GERMAN TRENCHES

Taking 120 Prisoners and Many Machine Guns. Many German Bodies Found in Captured Trenches. Another Section of Fleury Falls into French Hands.

(Special to the Guardian.) PARIS, Aug. 7.—Late today French troops captured a line of German trenches between Hem Wood and the Somme, according to an official statement issued this evening from the War Office. They also made prisoners south of Thiaumont work. The text of the statement follows: "North of the Somme at the end of the afternoon our troops brilliantly carried a line of German trench between Hem Wood and the river east of Monacu Farm. One hundred and twenty prisoners and ten machine guns remain in our hands. "South of the Somme our artillery is active. Enemy batteries in the region of Lihons were effectively shelled. On the right bank of the Meuse in the course of a small action we made progress south of Thiaumont work. We took five machine guns and found in the captured elements numerous German dead. "After a somewhat spirited engagement we captured houses in the western part of the village of Fleury. Our lines in the region of Vaux le Chapel and Chenois were subjected to bombardment. "A Belgian communication tells of engagements with artillery and some bomb throwing in which the Belgians had the advantage. (Canadian Press Despatch.) PARIS, August 6.—The battle continues to rage North of Verdun with something of the old fury and generally to the advantage of the French. The defenders, after beating off repeated counter attacks by the Germans, again took the offensive and once more recaptured the greater part of the village of Fleury and the celebrated Thiaumont work. The success of Thiaumont is looked upon as more important as evidence of the energy of the French infantry than as a military achievement. The work is so swept by the artillery of either side as to be of little use to the possessors. French officers point to the fact that the Germans are now restricted to the Fleury-Thiaumont section as an evidence of the growing weakness of the invaders force in the Meuse region.

BRITISH CAVALRY FOUGHT SHAM REAR GUARD ACTION

Enticed the Turks into a Trap and a Whole Brigade was Forced to Surrender.

(Canadian Press Despatch.) LONDON, Aug. 7.—A description of how the Turks were drawn into a trap at Roumeli by British cavalry, is given in a Cairo despatch to the Exchange Telegraph Company. The despatch says the cavalry was sent out to entice the enemy, who had shown a disposition to assume the offensive. The British horsemen fought an admirable rear guard action, says the despatch, drawing the Turks until their banks were turned by the united division. A whole Brigade was compelled to surrender. Among the prisoners, were 70 Germans, including 38 officers a complete battery of German guns was also taken. "The statement follows:—"In referring to the fighting in the Katia district, the general officer commanding in chief in Egypt reports that our artillery, rifle and machine gunners, was most effective and that the Turkish losses in killed and wounded, appear from all accounts, to have been very heavy. Late on the evening of the 5th of August, territorial infantry gallantly carried a strong rear guard position. Our pursuit of the Turks has been continued for a distance of eighteen miles and they are now well clear of the Katia-Umalsha basin. The number of unwounded prisoners taken by us, now amounts to 45 officers and 3,100 men, and they are a very fine body of men." (Canadian Press Despatch.) LONDON, Aug. 7.—The number of unwounded Turks captured by the British at the battle of Roumeli was 3,145, according to an official statement issued by the war office today. The statement says that the Turks were pursued for 13 miles. The pursuit continued beyond Katia, which is 23 miles east of the Suez Canal. (Canadian Press Despatch.) CAIRO, Egypt, via London, Aug. 7.—Sixteen hundred Turkish prisoners have been taken. They are part of the army which attacked the British positions at Roumeli, and which was defeated with heavy losses, a total of 2,500 prisoners being taken.

GERMAN EDITOR GETS INTO TROUBLE

(Special to the Guardian.) LONDON, Aug. 7.—The arrest of Dr. Ernest Mayer, Editor of Vorwarts of Berlin, in reported from Amsterdam Vorwarts is the leading socialist newspaper of Berlin and its editor has already been in conflict with the authorities on account of his writings.

AUSTRIAN ARMY SUFFERED TERRIBLE LOSSES AT BRODY

(Canadian Press Despatch.) PETROGRAD, Aug. 7.—It is semi-officially announced that the confusion of the Stokhod and Prpeet rivers to twenty or thirty miles north-west of Tarnopol, are the districts specified in official bulletins, merely as those where the fighting is hottest. Austro German counter attacks became more and more frequent, but they are no more successful, and the appointment of Field Marshal Von Hindenburg, as supreme commander, has so far introduced no novel feature. Austrian prisoners say that their army has suffered terrible losses at Brody. For example, the twenty-fourth Infantry lost 3,100 men in killed, wounded and prisoners. This is merely typical of several regiments. A captured Austrian officer admitted that apart from prisoners, the Austrians had 27,000 casualties. The positions from which the Teutons have been driven were of extraordinary strength, and since last autumn, the Russians had made more than one unsuccessful attempt to take them. The Austrians seemed to have believed their impregnable.

RUSSIANS NEARING TARNOPOL-LEMBERG

(Special to the Guardian.) LONDON, Aug. 7.—A Reuters despatch from Petrograd says "Irregular successes to south of Brody bring the Russians within 14 miles of the Tarnopol-Lemberg Railway. It is reported that Austrian forces at Tarnopol are already retreating in the direction of Zlochoff."

ANOTHER ISLANDER GIVES HIS LIFE

Worked His Passage to England from United States, Enlisted, Was Promoted and Fell in Battle. A report was received on Saturday of the loss of another Islander in action, namely, Lance Corporal Joachim McEachern, son of Mr. Bennett, McEachern, late of Souris and now of South Boston. Young McEachern, who was in his twenty-ninth year, worked his passage to Liverpool in a cable steamer in order to enlist, and joined the 10th Liverpool Regiment. His regiment took part in the "great push" in the first week of July, and Joachim escaped amidst the confusion of the advance he was less fortunate being killed on July 10. McEachern was a smart intelligent soldier and had not been long enlisted before he was promoted lance-corporal—a promotion all the more commendable seeing that it was won in a crack English regiment. He was unmarried and is survived by his sister and father. The vessel which he was widely known in King's County, will have the sincerest sympathy of his many friends in the loss he has sustained, but at the same time he has reason to be proud of the patriotism and heroism of his boy who worked his way to England to fight for King and country and all that these represent.

SUBMARINE SIGHTED OFF COAST OF MAINE

(Canadian Press Despatch.) PORTLAND, MAINE, Aug. 7.—A submarine was sighted five miles off the coast by a lookout at the coast guard station on Cross Island at 11.25 o'clock this forenoon. It was moving west but the weather was thick and its nationality could not be ascertained.

Deaths From Infantile Paralysis in New York

(Canadian Press Despatch.) NEW YORK, Aug. 6.—Thirty-three deaths and 192 new cases of infantile paralysis were reported here today. Since the inception of the epidemic there have been 6,923 cases, of which 1,089 have been fatal.

Hungary Anxious For Peace

(Canadian Press Despatch.) LONDON, Aug. 7.—Count Karolyi, as the head of the opposition party, will make a vigorous effort this month to force a separation of the Austrian and Hungarian forces from Germany and sue for a separate peace, according to a letter received here today from the Morning Post's correspondent in Budapest. The Pestl Naplo asserts that it is due solely to the self-sacrificing bravery of the Hungarians, that Austria has not been entirely crushed. "The Austrians," the newspaper says, "have not done as much for the monarchy or itself in the last four centuries, as the Hungarian army has done in the last two years." The correspondent adds that parliament re-assembles August 9, when Count Karolyi will open a debate on the subject of a separate Hungarian army.

Insurgents In Turkey Active

(Canadian Press Despatch.) LONDON, Aug. 7.—The London Times' Constantinople correspondent telegraphed as follows under date of August 3: "The movement in Constantinople against Enver Pasha and the committee of union and progress is rapidly regaining strength. The old Turk party has been latterly reinforced by the clandestine adhesion of many important persons, who, while openly professing loyalty to the policy of the Young Turks, secretly favor the cause of the entente and steadily aim at the overthrow of Enver and his party. Their resolve to put an end to the present regime has been quickened by the prospect of the approaching ruin of Turkey. Once their plan accomplished, they would immediately sue for peace in the hope of obtaining comparatively favorable terms from the entente powers, and averting an impending catastrophe."

AMERICAN VISITORS DELIGHTED WITH TRIP TO THE ISLAND

Charlottetown had a notable visitor during the last few days in the person of Mr. A. A. Codd, of Reno, Nevada, President of the Nevada Short Line Railway and for the last eight years Regent of the University of Nevada. He was accompanied by Mrs. Codd and during their brief sojourn in Charlottetown they were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Thomson, 183 King street. Mr. and Mrs. Codd are both natives of California and this is their first visit to the East. They left Reno on July 1st, and proceeded to Buffalo, where Mr. Codd attended the big convention of Shriners. They then proceeded to Washington and New York and on to Boston. Two days were spent at Poland Springs, Maine, and from there they proceeded to St. John, N. B., where they put in three enjoyable days. At Amherst they spent a day which Mr. Codd considered in itself was worth the whole trip. They had the pleasure of meeting Mr. D. A. Morrison of that city through whose instrumentality they were shown through the barracks and saw the German prisoners. Mr. Codd says that he has long heard of Prince Edward Island as the garden Province of Canada, and has always wanted to visit it. Now that his desire has been realized he is more than pleased with not only the island itself, but with the people whom he has met, all seeming to have the desire to make the visit of Mrs. Codd and himself as pleasant as possible. Since their arrival here they have had the pleasure and novelty of a visit to one of the Island's best fox ranches, the Spring Park, through which they were courteously shown by Mr. Woodman, who explained the habits of the foxes and gave particular details of the industry which proved very interesting to the visitors. On Friday afternoon they attended the opening of the Legislature, another interesting experience Mr. Codd says the Legislature here seems to be operated on very much the same lines as that of his own state. Saturday the day was spent in a trip up West River, and the visitors were most favorably impressed with the beauty of the scenery. Sunday was spent on the north side of the island and here the visitors had the opportunity of seeing a spot, unsurpassed for healthful and invigorating sea air, delightful scenery and opportunities for delicious surf bathing and health-giving repose. Asked regarding conditions in the Western States, Mr. Codd says there is a great boom now in mining in all lines. Just at present there is not a man idle in Nevada, and skilled labor is exceedingly hard to get. Most of the machine men have gone east to work in the munitions factories, and there is a general scarcity of labor everywhere. Quite a change has come over the Western States within recent years, and there is nothing of the lawlessness which at one time had given Nevada a not altogether favorable reputation. The big flaccid interior Reno a few years ago was

London Crowd Makes Demand For Reprisals

(Canadian Press Despatch.) LONDON, Aug. 6.—One of the biggest demonstrations by working men that has occurred during the war took place in Trafalgar Square today. The gathering demanded reprisals for the execution of Captain Fryatt, of the British steamer Brussels by the Germans in Belgium, speakers urging the impounding of all German property and the hanging of Emperor William Admiral Von Tirpitz and Gov. Von Bissing of Belgium as "Common Malefactors," before the conclusion of peace.

ABLE SERMON BY PASTOR FREEMAN, HIS SUBJECT "CLIMBING"

At the Baptist Church Sunday, Pastor, Rev. Chas. R. Freeman, at the morning service spoke on the subject: "Climbing, does it pay?" He chose as his text Col. 3:1. "Seek those things which are above." He said in part. "In a little cemetery in Switzerland above the grave of one who lost his life in an Alpine accident stands the simple inscription 'He died climbing.' He had evidently heard the call of the mountains and met death while responding. There is something about this simple inscription that suggests to me that climbing is the normal attitude of all healthy people. Who if he had his choice would not prefer to meet death facing upward? Life is on an incline plain. In the business world about us we see this attitude of climbing illustrated. During the past week we have been having a Rural Life Conference. The prevailing note in that Conference has sought to show the farmer how best to climb and how to educate his son and daughters that they may know how best to climb the steep ascent before them. Successful business men are climbers who by studying the details of their business, learning people's needs and meeting them successfully rise above their less ambitious competitors. The young man learning a trade wants to know not just how to do a piece of work but how to excel in his chosen work. The lawyer is not content with just being permitted to practice but he seeks every opportunity to develop himself and to acquire a knowledge both of men and of the law that he may use these as stepping stones in his ascent. The physician studies his medical works and the cases that he has the opportunity to observe that he may with this knowledge acquire skill and attain success in his profession. The man who ministers in spiritual things must likewise apply himself to acquire all knowledge and skill that will help him in his work and minister largely to the people that he serves. In spiritual things life is also on an incline plain. He who would climb needs a vision of the ascent and the inspiration that comes from a firm conviction that they who pursue the journey with Christ shall stand with Him on the higher plain at the journey's close. It is not they who long for greater heights who attain them but who take the practical road that leads upward. The Psalmist asks, 'Who shall ascend into the hill of the Lord? The answering choir replies, 'He that hath clean hands, and a pure heart; who hath not lifted up his soul unto vanity, nor sworn deceitfully. Here is suggestion the practical road. Clean-handedness.—The hand of the farmer all soiled with each day in this sense be clean for it stands for a clean life. It may be the hand of the miner all black with the dust of the coal, or the hand of the scrub woman with her hands in the discolored water. Whatever position in life you fill if you are toiling upward you must have the clean hand that stands for the clean life. The Psalmist also tells us that we must be pure-hearted and Jesus said 'Blessed are the pure in heart for they shall see God.' What is this relation between clean hands and pure hearts? Only those whose hearts are pure can have clean hands in this sense. Isaiah says: 'Let the unrighteous man his thoughts. Why does he couple them? Because he knew that there was no forsaking evil without forsaking evil thought. For the same reason Christ said 'Ye must be born again.' He struck at the heart of the deep seat of the evil.
