NEAR DROWNING ACCIDENT —Richard Gauthier, North Rustico lobsterman, was back on his trap lines yesterday, but only because he's living under a lucky star. Lobster fishing, he and Vincent Gallant were running their lines Wednesday when the season opened. Gauthier fell overboard and Gallant, busy with his work on the small motor boat, never noticed. Although a strong swimmer, Gauthier was beginning to weaken after 10 minutes in the frigid waters of the Gulf of St. Lawrence and he was three miles off-shore. He managed to kick off his heavy rubber boots and rubber coat, enabling him to float more easily. Just as he was giving up hope another lobster boat manned by a Gallant from North Rustico happened along and fished him out of the water. Yesterday he was none the worse for his ducking.

Protection Needed

At this season there are far greater dangers than skating bumps to molest your child. The air is filled with germs of infectious diseases which find an easy prey in the child whose blood is thin and condition anaemic.

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food affords protection to your child by helping to build up the richness of the blood, to sharpen the appetite and to restore healthful digestion.

Vitamin B_1, an important ingredient of the nerve food, is considered especially helpful in this connection.

Children respond quickly to this food treatment and it is a joy to parents to see them robust in health, full of vitality and keen in their school work and sports.
