NEW CUNARDERS TO BE OIL DRIVEN.

LONDON, April 10.—The new Cunard transatlantic liners will be oil driven. An official of the Cunard Line verified this statement to the correspondent today. It was told in a recent despatch as illustrating the intense efforts the great British shipping interests are making to hold maritime supremacy.

The Cunard and other associated companies, it is understood, now have twenty-nine vessels in course of construction. Most of them are of the standard type, 20,000 tons, are built to carry both passenger and cargo. They are all being fitted by oil or coal. The alternative is provided because of the uncertainty of really acquiring the necessary oil supplies.

The correspondent is also informed it has been under consideration to convert the Aquitania, Mauretania and other ocean leviathans from coal to oil-burners. But the present cost, as estimated, is prohibitive. With the Russian and Roumanian oil fields temporarily closed and nine-tenths of the British oil supply coming from Mexico, British interests are trying to secure American-owned Mexican oil-fields by long-term contracts at high figures.

..*SOLDIERS WELCOMED.—A great crowd gathered at the home of Mrs. Margaret Smith, Glenfanning, on the evening of the 8th to welcome home her two sons, Privates Joseph R. and John W. from the blood stained fields of France and Belgium. The evening was spent pleasantly. The boys told many strange tales to tell of conditions and life "over there," not the least being the account of the riot at Cannel Camp, they being among the troops that subdued the riot. Another of the boys to return was Pte. Angus McMaster son of Mr. George McMaster after three years service in King and Empire. He was given a rousing welcome to which he replied in his usual modest way. The community has every reason to be proud of these splendid young men who risked their lives in the service of their country.

RECONSTRUCTION

Of Lost Health-Tone and Exhausted Reserve Strength

Consequent upon the war, the dreadful epidemics, trying weather and changing seasons, is imperative. Never before was the blood-building, nerve-toning, appetite-making properties of Hood's Sarsaparilla so much needed as now.

This medicine, lat creates an appetite, 2nd aids digestion, 3rd, perfects assimilation of all the food you eat so that your blood and body receive the benefit of 100 per cent of his nourishment. This rapidly adds to your strength and gradually restores your reserve strength, naturally bringing about normal conditions and permanent good health. Hood's Sarsaparilla is America's greatest blood purifying medicine, with a record of greatest sales and greatest cures.

Hood's Pills are a fine family cathartic, gentle and effective, well adapted to help Hood's Sarsaparilla.

HON. PREMIER ARSENAULT'S SPEECH ON ADDRESS

The Premier Deals Effectively and Convincingly with the Charge Made by the Leader of the Opposition that the Island's Claims had not been Presented.

Continuing his speech, Premier Arsenault said: Another matter would be to make the roads, in as far as possible, of uniform width, because we know of many roads that are not safe by reason of being too narrow. You must have the proper drainage; you can have the proper grading of the road, it would then be necessary to ascertain what hills there are in those roads, in order that the hills may be cut down to make the grades less heavy. The low places will also need attention; after being thoroughly drained, they would have to be built up properly in order that you would have good, hard surface. The culverts along these roads would have to be taken up, and replaced with permanent structures, as well as the small bridges.

This program, I have reason to believe, will be quite acceptable to the Federal Engineer in charge of the road grant. This money must all be spent under the approval of such Dominion Government engineer. No roads can be touched until the plans are submitted to the engineer and approved by him, and after the work has been done, he must also pass upon the work so that, so far as the Dominion is concerned, they are protected in the expenditure of that money.

It may be asked: What about the towns? In building highways of that kind from centre to centre, the main highway will necessarily pass through the towns. What will be done in such cases? I am not in a position to say definitely, because, after all, I don't know whether the grant applies to the towns, but so far as we are concerned, provided it meets with the approval of the Dominion authorities, we would be willing to allow the amount of 40 per cent. to go on the main highways passing through the towns, in order to build them up. It would not involve the province in any expenditure, and if the town through which the highway would pass were willing to put up the 60 per cent. we would not take objection.

Then you would have a highway, not a concrete highway, not made of asphalt, nor of metal, but the first consideration would be to build there a dirt or clay road, properly drained with proper permanent concrete culverts, not the round culverts, but culverts built in; build up the low places, have through drainage, and then you would have a surface that would be ready for any hard surface preparation you wanted to put on. Then possibly as you approached the shipping centres where the traffic was heavy, it might be necessary to put a hard surface road, which afterwards, if the means were available, could be extended further out. But for the present it would not be the intention to build these hard surface roads where the traffic was not heavy.

I want to repeat that if there is any sentiment in the province that it is the intention to build a speedway from one end of the Island to the other, that impression is not founded on fact.

ed besides keeping the main road in good condition.

The program as I have laid it down was submitted to the Dominion Engineer, and he was of the opinion that so far as he could see there was no possible objection to it.

Unfortunately, last year we were not able, through no fault of ours, to lift as much fertilizer as we could have done had we had the proper transportation facilities. In the early part of the season, before the four new engines were put in commission, there was a shortage of power, and it was impossible to get any mussel mud moved, and it was late in the season before we were able to get transportation facilities. For that reason we cannot say we were satisfied with the last season's operations.

We have already assisted small plants to operate along these lines, and we are ready to assist any organization that will undertake the lifting of mussel mud. We have had, the last two years, a small plant operating near Rustico; it has done good work. It is proposed, if necessary to assist them further, it is intended to assist in the same way any similar plant that will start operations; and we know there is under consideration the starting of several of these small plants. They are not expensive; the outlay is small, and the outlay in operating is also very reasonable, and I think when a number of these small plants are operating in the province, a general relief will be afforded the farmers. It is our intention to give all assistance towards this end, and if the larger scheme should not succeed, then we will still have these small plants to fall back upon.

I have already taken up more time than I intended at first. It was very difficult to deal shortly with the criticisms raised by the leader of the Opposition in this House. I spent a little more time on them, possibly, than I would otherwise, if I had not desired to make it clear—clear beyond dispute, that so far as the claims of this province were concerned, we had not neglected them, but from the very inception of our term in office, 1912, up to the present time, we had, continually kept them in mind, we had pressed them on every occasion that offered, and it within the last three years we have not made any great efforts, I don't think people in this province will blame us for not importuning the Dominion Government, when engaged in more serious issues. But since the armistice was signed, the question was again taken up, and I can assure this House, and you, Mr. Speaker, as soon as the Dominion House is prorogued, all these questions will be again taken up and pressed to a decision.

We are now met this year, perhaps a little late in the season, although not very much later than last year, but I find there is very little use to meet until we are ready for the transaction of business; and very often the transaction of business depends on how quickly we can get the public accounts printed, and with limited means at hand, it is not always easy for the printers to get the public accounts and reports out in a short time. There is a lot of work to be done after the accounts are closed at the end of the year, and after they get into the printers' hands, it takes some time to get them out. So that as soon as things were ready we called the House together, and we hope from this on we will be able to sit regularly and get through the business of the House in a business way, and with not too much delay. The length of the session will depend on the members of the House.

Tributes To Memory Late Captain Reid

Deceased Member is Eulogized by Common Speakers

OTTAWA, April 8.—The Acting Prime Minister, in the Commons yesterday, paid a tribute to the memory of Captain Joseph Reid, late member for Quebec, P. E. I., who died on Sunday night. Captain Reid, said Sir Thomas, was a good, kindly man, who, in the short period he was in the House, had made a most favorable impression. He was popular largely because of his strong individuality. The former member for Queen's had taken an active interest in public affairs, and, previous to his election to the Dominion Parliament, had been for three years, a member of the Prince Edward Island Legislature.

Mr. D. D. McKenzie, Leader of the Opposition, endorsed everything that Sir Thomas [White] had said about the late member. Captain Reid, he said, had been a very excellent Canadian, combining strong opinions and honesty of purpose. There was never any doubt just where he stood on any question.

At one time the late member had sustained a business failure, said Mr. McKenzie, but not one of his creditors had suffered through it, as he had gone to work and paid back every penny which he owed them.
