A Prisoner's Release

A Bright Youth of Eighteen Suffered so Badly from Asthma and Bronchitis that he was Forced to Remain in the House for Months at a Time.

DR CLARKE'S KOLA COMPOUND CURED.

Mr. L. O Lamienes C. P R. Engineer, 553 Alexander Street, Winnipeg, Man., writes: "My son who is just eighteen years of age has been a terrible sufferer from asthma and bronchitis during eighteen years. He became worse each year in spite of the hundreds of dollars I spent on doctors and many remedies. For several years he has had to remain in the house during the winter months and for hours at a time treated with poultices and mustard plasters to keep him from choking. Time after time we thought each attack would be his last. About the first of September, 1898, we heard of Clarke's Kola Compound and purchased in all seven bottles. While taking the first four bottles the change was gradually for the better; soon after taking the fifth bottle he could go out any day without any sign of his trouble whatever, and since completing the treatment has been completely cured. This grand medicine certainly has been a blessing to him. During the last year since being cured, he has developed wonderfully physically and is altogether a changed boy. I give you this letter that it may bring the light of this wonderful medicine to some other sufferer, as I have one reason to thank the gentleman in Vancouver, who sent me a testimonial I read."

PREVENTIVE MEASURES.

Mortality statistics show that deaths from tuberculosis exceed those caused by war, cholera, yellow fever, bubonic plague small-pox and typhus taken together. The best medical authorities tell that while a predisposition to the disease may be transmitted from parents to children, the disease itself is not hereditary. We have therefore to consider each case of tubercular consumption as a case in which the patient has become infected during his life time.

This naturally brings us to compare the relative importance of prevention and cure. It seems probable that if every present case of consumption existing among men in the world could be completely cured within an hour, the disease would be by no means banished from the world. By such wholesale curing the danger would be but very partially removed. We may assume that then there would be no more danger of infection by contact of healthy persons with those who were diseased, or by breathing the dust of dried sputa of such persons. That would be the full extent to which the present danger would be relieved.

There would still remain the widespread danger of infection through our food supply. The meat of tuberculous cattle or other animals, is one form of danger. Thorough cooking might entirely avoid that peril. The use of milk from tuberculous cows is a fruitful source of infection, especially among children and young persons. Here again, if it were practicable to boil the milk in all cases the danger from this source would be overcome. But the tuberculous cow is dangerous in another way. The germs of tuberculosis are carried into the butter and cheese, and in this form they are taken into the human system. How is this danger to be avoided?

A little reflection will show that there can be no safety for humanity so long as tuberculosis exists in our dairy herds. On this Island, where some hundreds die annually from consumption, we have been talking of providing a sanitorium for consumptives. The modern sanitorium is an excellent institution in two ways. It affords to patients in the earlier stages of their malady a fair prospect of cure, and by the seclusion and isolation of the patient it prevents other and healthy persons from being directly infected by the diseased one. But at the same time a single tuberculous cow may be sowing widespread the seed of consumption and producing more cases than a sanitorium can cure.

To permit a tuberculous cow to live and her milk, butter or cheese to be sold, and then to build a sanitorium for the cure of the disease caused by the cow is clearly an irrational thing to do. If we could but realise the fact, it is an insane, inhuman and criminal thing to do. But not every owner of a tuberculous animal is aware of the fact that he has a diseased animal, and if aware of it he may not be aware of the danger, firs, of the disease spreading through his entire herd, and secondly of the more appalling danger to his family, and to those to whom milk, butter, or cheese may be sold.

We think it follows clearly that every possible means should be taken to enlighten the public mind, and to create an intelligent public opinion on this subject; that there ought to be a rigid inspection of dairy herds; that all diseased animals should be destroyed, even if the Province be called upon to pay the owner their value; that there ought to be an inspection of meats also, and that every effort should thus be made to dry up the sources from which the infection of consumption springs. Many thousands are spent yearly on doctors and medicines for consumption; untold suffering is endured by the patients and hundreds of deaths occur yearly. Science says all this is largely preventible. At present we are spending tens of thousands for cure, or a hopeless effort to that end, but not one cent for prevention.

"I can truthfully say, Dr. Pierce's medicines did me more good than all I had ever taken before."

These are the words of Mr. O. S. Copenhaver, of Mount Union, Huntingden Co., Pa. He says further:

"About twelve years ago I was suddenly taken with a pain in the pit of the stomach which was so violent I could not walk straight. I consulted a physician and he told me I had a form of dyspepsia, and treated me six months with but little benefit. I then tried another physician and he told me my liver was out of order and that I had indigestion, but he didn't cure me. I then tried another one who said I had chronic indigestion, ulceration of the lining of the stomach, torpid liver and kidney affection. He treated me for more than a year. I then took several widely advertised patent medicines, but received no more than temporary relief while using. I then tried Doctor Pierce's medicines, using his 'Golden Medical Discovery,' and the 'Pleasant Pellets,' and in two months' time I was feeling better than I had for years before."

The "Golden Medical Discovery" is the most effective blood purifier and germicide that modern medical science has produced. It at once neutralizes the poisonous, fermented matter in the stomach, liver and bowels, and as soon as this is removed by the action of the "Pellets" it soothes the inflammed membranes of these organs, putting them into healthy condition to absorb the nutritive elements of the food. It aids and stimulates the action of the digestive fluids of the body and is absorbed into the blood along with the food. It enriches the blood, filling it with vitalizing, strength-giving properties. It produces sound, healthy flesh—muscle you can work with. It is a safe medicine. It contains no whisky, alcohol, sugar or syrup. It does not create a craving for liquor.
