Band friends will sympathize with them in their bereavement.—S.

—ST. PATRICK'S AT KENSINGTON—The annual St. Patrick's celebration at Kensington in 1938 was a most successful one. The program was of an exceptionally high order and the hearty and spontaneous applause was ample proof of real enjoyment. The program was presented by the chairman, Mr. J. L. Saunders and was followed by an opening chorus "O Canada." Little Miss Betty Durkin, of Summerside, in a rich costume gave a pretty demonstration of the Irish jig. The next number was a duet, "When Irish Eyes Meet," pleasingly rendered by Mrs. Yvonne Arsenault of Summerside and Mr. Arnold Taylor of Kensington. They responded to an encore with "Sweetheart of the Alley." Miss Helen McDonald, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emmett McDonald of Charlottetown, who scored a triumph in the Prince Edward Theatre the previous evening, sang "The Song of the Gypsy" with a marvellous exhibition of tap dancing, responding to an encore and repeating later in the program, Mr. Borden Fraser, in "A Little Bit of Heaven." Mrs. Leslie Ramsay, always popular on a Kensington stage gave a humorous performance. Miss Phyllis Blanchard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Blanchard of Charlottetown, completely won the hearts of her audience in her charming rendition of two vocal numbers, "The Song of the Gypsy" and "The Chime of St. Mary." A short intermission and a candy was followed by five girls named—Misses Frances Kelly, Yvonne LeBlond, Eugenie MacLean, Patricia Pond-Traut and Vina Higgins, in an attractive Highland costume, in a song and dance number, "The Gonna Hang the Washing on the Line." Each girl sang an encore song "Did Your Mother Come from Ireland." Mr. Master James Saunders making his debut delighted the audience with two songs in costume, "The Song of the Border" and "Roll Out the Barrel." The final number on the program was a one act comedy by Miss young ladies of Indian River. Miss Anna Gillis impersonated the young hostess who is giving a luncheon party, in a charming manner. Mrs. Leslie Ramsay in the role of the highly middle aged maid kept the audience in stitches laughing. The two local guests were parts equally well taken by Misses Joyce and Catherine McDonald. The part of the writer from New York was realistically portrayed by Mrs. Wm. McDonald. The accompanying for the evening were Misses Nora Taylor, Yvonne Arsenault and Erna Hughes. The program was brought to a close by singing the National Anthem. S.

—RED CROSS MEETING—The regular meeting of St. Eleanor's Red Cross Group was held Wednesday evening, March 13th at the home of Miss Ruth Holland with the President, Mrs. Nan Rhodes in the chair. Meeting opened with the singing of the Lord's Prayer. Minutes of previous meeting were read and adopted. Roll was called and responded to by thirteen members and four guests. The reports of committees were given. The organization in Oct., was given and is as follows: 21 pr. socks, 12 sweaters, 16 scarfs, 50 helmets, 3 surgeons gowns, 4 ice bag covers, 3 suits pyjamas, 9 bed covers, 3 pneumonia jackets, 12 bed pads. Total amount of money raised $42.35. Lunch served by the hostess which was much enjoyed by all. The meeting closed with the singing of God Save the King.

U-BOAT CAMPAIGN NO PUZZLE TO KRUSCHEN

Despite loss of 50,000 packages

The recent loss of 50,000 Giant Packages of Kruschen Salt has not deterred only slightly with Canadian supplies. Other shipments have been landed and distributed thinly but evenly among drug stores across Canada.

Those who suffer from rheumatic pains, headaches, blotchy skin, indigestion and other troubles usually caused by constipation—and those who know and like to enjoy "that Kruschen feeling" are urged, under the circumstances, to get their Giant Packages of Kruschen Salt while they last. It is not known when they will again be made available to the Canadian public.

The Kruschen Giant Package is a bargain. It contains a regular bottle plus a free Kruschen bottle. You may use the trial size bottle first and if not satisfied return the regular bottle unopened and get your money back. But act quickly. Your druggist has a limited supply.

TEACHERS TO

talled a great deal of hard work into which all the assembled delegates entered with great interest and enthusiasm.

She was greatly impressed by the keen interest taken by the delegates in all the Provincial reports. The majority of the delegates were men who had attended similar conferences and were quite conversant with and well informed in all matters relative to the educational system in their respective provinces.

This was exactly as it should be. She stressed the fact that our C. T. teachers should be the best procurable, well acquainted with the activities, needs, etc. of our federation and educational system, and quite capable of presenting our case in a manner of which we can be justly proud.

She was also impressed by the cordial reception of the delegates by the Quebec Government.

Larger administrative units were stressed in this meeting and also the need and importance of permanent committees for better results, and statutory membership as in the province of Saskatchewan.

Teachers' Salaries

The main topic discussed was that of teachers' salaries. A very comprehensive report on the salaries which had been given. This question is one of vital importance and concern to every teacher in all the provinces.

In the case of P. E. I. it was suggested that capable and convincing speakers hold public meetings throughout the island and for the purpose of enlightening and informing the people and stir up interest among them in the educational needs and educational status.

In conclusion Miss Matheson thanked the P. E. I. Federation for having provided the privilege and opportunity of being their representative at this meeting in Montreal.

Mr. Reginald MacDonald, the General Secretary, was the main speaker. He complimented the President and Miss Matheson on their report.

he's not a lawyer, either." Nobody should know the futility and incompetence of the present Government more than the City of Montreal, because of what it had suffered through its present government. The Government had done nothing for the youth of the country thousands of whom were growing up without ever having had a chance to receive an education.

Some years ago the teachers had been promised an increase in salary as an increase in subsidy was received from the Dominion Government. The subsidy increase has been received but the teachers have not seen a cent of it. The Government has been promising to increase the subsidy but has not done so.

Dr. MacPhee Gets Rousing Reception From Borden

Cheering Audience Greet Rousing Address On Political Issues.

Dr. J. A. MacPhee, Prince County candidate for the National Conservative Party, held a very successful meeting in Borden last night. The Doctor was greeted by a cheering audience as he was introduced by the chairman, Mr. T. B. Gillespie.

Dr. MacPhee dealt very ably with the issues of the day and was cheered again and again as he pointed out the advantages which Canadians would enjoy under a National Government, both in the matters pertaining to our home needs and also of great importance to the province and the country as a whole which is the primary issue of the moment.

After dealing with the matters concerning the fishermen and particularly of Prince County and assuring the electors that he would do all in his power to place the problems concerning the fishermen and fishermen before the government at Ottawa the Doctor went on to speak of the many things that the people of this Province have obtained under the Conservative Government. One of the greatest benefits was the large increase in the subsidy to the province and the reduction of rates on the car ferry.

Dr. MacPhee also referred to the operation of the railways, strongly emphasizing that Manion was opposed to amalgamation but was for full cooperation of the railroads under a non-political board. He also stated that Manion's policy has always been for protection for the employees. Cooperation, with protection for employees was the only sound policy for the railways.

Answering Col. Ralston's criticism with regard to a statement of Col. Ralston's that a National Government would nullify opposition, Dr. MacPhee pointed out that this would not be the case as only a few of the best brains would be taken into the National Government and that the others would be allowed to express their opinion and criticism whenever they saw fit.

Speaking of conservatism, Dr. MacPhee emphasized that Dr. Manion has declared again and again that he is opposed to conservatism, but would encourage voluntary enlistment.

Speaking in support of the Doctor were Mr. Hugh F. Morrison of Summerside, E. C. Bell Carleton, Edw. H. Dawson, Augustine Cove. Dr. MacPhee's address was received with applause from the large and enthusiastic audience.

He stated that seventy-six teachers had answered the questionnaire sent them last year. The information received is now in the possession of the provincial organizations in regard to invaluable duties and endeavoured to follow their advice, considerable time was spent in study and classify the material received and in endeavouring to apply same to our specific problems.

Mr. MacDonald stated that a brief report on the salaries which had been given. This question is one of vital importance and concern to every teacher in all the provinces.

Mr. MacDonald strongly advised the setting up and opening a summer school in P. E. I. Many would be able to take advantage of the benefits derived from attending, and many now exist, would be eliminated.

An extensive study of the school was made in the various provinces, had been made in the hope of getting the very best and compiling a new up to date act for our own province. He wished to impress upon the teachers that the executive were working solely for the advancement of Education and he solicited their active support and cooperation.

If statutory membership was had a code of ethics could be enforced and many abuses, such as underbidding, etc., which now exist, would be eliminated.

Canada's Fishermen Get No Benefit from King's Bargain

As shown by official Canadian Government trade returns, exports of Canadian fish to the United States in the fifteen classifications in which United States duties were lowered amounted in 1938 (before the treaty came into effect), to $8,161,000, and in 1939 (the first full year of the treaty's operation), to $8,872,000. This was an increase of less than 8%. But in the seven classifications not affected by the treaty the exports in 1938 amounted to $3,188,000 and in 1939 to $3,527,000. This was an increase of 10%.

Exports of $8,161,000 in 1938 increased by only $710,000 in 1939 in classifications in which Canadian fishermen were supposed to benefit, whereas exports of only $3,188,000 in 1938 increased by $338,000 in classifications not affected by the treaty.

Since the increase in the export of Canadian fish to the United States in 1939 was at a higher rate in the classifications not affected by the treaty than in those in which the U. S. duties were lowered, it is obvious that the treaty had nothing whatever to do with the increase. As the rate of increase was higher in fish classifications in which the treaty made no change than in those in which the treaty was supposed to assist exports, it is apparent that the entire increase was due to enlarged United States demand for Canadian fish and not to the inadequate United States duty reductions secured by the treaty.

It is clear that the 1939 increase in the sales of Canadian fish to the United States would have taken place had Mr. King never signed his Washington trade treaty.

STRIKING CONTRAST

MOREOVER, WHILE THE MACKENZIE KING WASHINGTON TRADE TREATY WAS FAILING TO PROVIDE ANY BENEFIT FOR CANADIAN FISHERMEN, THE CONSERVATIVE GOVERNMENT'S 1938 EMPIRE TRADE AGREEMENTS WITH GREAT BRITAIN WAS STILL BRINGING BENEFITS TO THE CANADIAN FISHING INDUSTRY. EXPORTS OF CANADIAN FISH TO GREAT BRITAIN IN 1939 INCREASED BY NEARLY $500,000.00—AND THIS DESPITE THE FACT THAT THE WAR INTERFERED WITH SHIPMENTS DURING THE LAST FOUR MONTHS OF THE YEAR.

Conservative trade policies benefit Canadians. Mackenzie King trade policies benefit foreign countries.

NAZI

There was no ground for criticism of the Allies for not helping Finland. The aid of individuals in countries far away from the seat of war. (There were labor shouts of "tell America that").

Meanwhile every diplomatic source admitted that the general situation is in an extremely fluid state. That was reported in the fact that Mr. Chamberlain was still dictating his speech over the luncheon table, and in the usual sight of every seat in the diplomatic gallery being occupied while he spoke.

No official comment was made on reports from the Vatican that Hitler and Mussolini discussed an 11-point peace plan for the simple reason that nothing is known officially of it. But Diplomatic circles generally agreed that Hitler probably would conform to the alternative of peace on his terms or opening of hostilities on a large scale.

There was a general disposition here to disbelieve reports that Germany, Russia and Italy are preparing to split Europe into spheres of influence and to combine their efforts against the economically against the Allies. Diplomatic observers expressed doubt Mussolini would join an alliance with Soviet Russia although they agreed he might take part in a peace drive for the sake of his axis partner.

However, diplomatic circles generally agreed the whole situation here to solidify before definite conclusions can be reached. After Mr. Chamberlain had spoken, it was reported in the Commons lobby that peace had been patched up amongst the various parties on the basis of a new war cabinet which Mr. Chamberlain probably will form during the Easter recess. Members of Parliament agreed that, for the present, active opposition to the Government was over. They said the cabinet reshuffle would follow Mr. Chamberlain's own ideas on the subject, not the opposition's. Mr. Chamberlain refused to be "hustled into adventures" he promised critics that Britain would strike when the opportunity presented itself but not when there was "little chance of success; much of danger and perhaps disaster."

SHOULD COPY BRITISH IN IMPORT PLAN

Licensing Of Imports Similar To Britain And Other Dominions Advocated By Manion.

(By Canadian Press Staff Writer) MONTREAL, March 19—(CP)—Canada should restrict wartime imports by licence, as Britain, Australia and other nations are doing, Conservative Leader Manion urged here tonight.

When the country needs to conserve its foreign purchasing power, it should have imports, at least such imports as can be produced in Canada, he contended. Instead, Canadian markets were still carrying a quart of water, said Mr. Manion.

Dr. Manion addressed two meetings here tonight, speaking first to a capacity crowd of 500 supporters in the Victoria Hall, Westmount, and then to a smaller group in the Antioch-Westmount. Immediately after, Dr. Manion spoke to a large crowd in Maisonneuve Market in the centre of the French-speaking part of Montreal.

The Conservative Leader continued his attack on the make-up of the present Federal Cabinet, submitting that a National Government Cabinet could not be worse "if we tried." He criticized the fact 10 of its 16 members are lawyers.

Ralston (Finance Minister) is the best they have and he's nothing extraordinary. There are probably a dozen in the House at least fully as good," Dr. Manion said.

Grand Jury Finds No True Bill

HALIFAX, March 19—(CP)—Two indictments charging an alleged conspiracy to influence a Supreme Court justice were thrown out today by the grand jury.

The grand jury found "no bill" in the case of George W. Tingley, Halifax automobile agent, charged with conspiring to influence a jurymen, and in the case of A. N. Paros of Halifax, fruit merchant, charged with attempting to influence a jurymen.

After the grand jury had reported, chief justice Sir Joseph Chisholm told the jurors there was "ample evidence for a true bill. However, that is your responsibility."
