Discusses Roman Settlement

Cardinal Gasparri's apartments. On Saturday, May 24th, he left Rome with Monsignor Cerretti for Paris, where the plan was re-discussed. The negotiations went no farther than the King of Italy, for Orlando's Government fell. The Roman question was left to Mussolini, and a settlement was finally arrived at.

Discusses Roman Settlement

Asked as to the benefit derived from the settlement of the Roman question, Bishop Kelley stated: "The settlement of this question, for one thing, has removed the last obstacle to the complete tranquility and progress of Italy." He went on to say that Italy had been a backward country because of the lack of coal. "She has labor and she has skill," he continued, "and the Italians have an artistic sense of blood inheritance.

Italy Under Fascism.

Asked as to whether Italy was not paying too dear a price for present political progress, Bishop Kelley smiled and said: "The Government exists for the benefit of the people—not the people for the benefit of the Government. The people of Italy seem to be satisfied. They are eating regularly, and the country is progressing. Unemployment has almost disappeared. They remember the time when barbed-wire fences encircled their factories. They tried a little of the Russian experiment, and went hungry."

Situation in Mexico

Bishop Kelley, who is also distinguished as a foremost authority on the Mexican question, was asked if the recent agreement between the Mexican hierarchy and the Government of Mexico would be a lasting one. He answered that it seemed to be satisfactory, both to the Mexican Government and the Church. Questioned as to the cause of the long continued turmoil which has existed in Mexico, His Lordship explained that like many other countries, Mexico had absorbed the revolutionary ideas which in France preceded the Revolution. "America also absorbed these ideas," he said, "but America had wise men for leaders, men who took only what was safe. Mexico took all, and had no wise men. Revolution sapped the strength of Mexico, which is perhaps the richest country on earth for natural resources. She left her mother country, Spain, too soon. Her inheritance of schools has been dissipated in war and graft. She was well ahead of the United States in culture and education. She has lost all that. It will take a half century of peace to bring it back. If the religious question stays settled, that will help; but I doubt that the settlement will do. At best it is a makeshift; and a way open to something better. Nobody understands Mexico,—least of all the Mexicans."

Bishop Kelley, whose chief purpose in visiting the Province at present is to attend the St. Dunstan's University re-union, has pastoral charge of the large State of Oklahoma.

Born at Vernon River, he moved to Charlottetown at an early age and was educated at St. Patrick's School (now Queen Square). St. Dunstan's College, Nicolet and Chicoutimi Colleges, which are affiliated with Laval. His first pastorate was at Laper, Michigan. He was founder and president of the Catholic Extension Society and editor of the Extension Magazine. He was appointed Bishop in 1924.

Bishop Kelley is a son of the late Mr. John Kelly, Water Commissioner, of Charlottetown, and is a brother of Mr. Joseph A. Kelly, of the C.N.R., this city.
