OIL PROSPECTS "WORTH INVESTIGATING"—Dr. L. C. Snicker, New York, who is in charge of the work for Cities Service Oil Company here, stated yesterday that it was "worth investigating" when asked about the prospects of discovering oil in this province. The company which he represents has already spent thousands of dollars on a geological survey here to ascertain whether or not the rock structure is suitable to the production of oil. If it is found to be so then drilling would follow. Nothing definite has been found out yet, however, and the survey will be continued, commencing about the middle of this month. The Seismograph Survey Corporation of Tulsa, Oklahoma, will be in charge of the work. Mr. W. C. Perry, Tulsa, will return this year to look after the interests of the company. The German Invasion of American Business

By NORMAN M. LITTELL Assistant United States Attorney General (Excerpts from an address delivered before the Indiana State Bar Association.)

STRUMENTS

Every Boy Scout knows that the best field glasses are made in Germany. It has long been true that the best military optical instruments were made by Carl Zeiss, Inc. of Jena, Germany, manufacturer of bomb sights, range finders, altimeters, bore sights, torpedo directors, gun sights, telescopes and periscopes. An American company of Rochester, New York, the Bausch and Lomb Optical Co., manufactured about 80 per cent of all military optical instruments in the United States and almost all of the instruments for heavy uses, such as range finders for heavy artillery and naval guns, aeroplane machine gun sighting devices, fire control equipment for anti-aircraft guns, and periscopes.

The two companies—Bausch and Lomb and Zeiss—once competed with each other but on April 23, 1921, they entered into an agreement to divide the world market for sale of these instruments into geographical areas, the United States to be exclusive territory for the Bausch and Lomb Company, and the rest of the world for Zeiss. They agreed not to sell in each other's territory and, through patent control, to forbid any other manufacturer to sell in violation of the territory agreement. Considering that Zeiss, and its subsidiary company in Holland, manufacture the greater part of all military optical instruments sold in Europe, this has resulted in world control of this business.

By one paragraph of the contract both companies agreed to conceal the existence of the contract from third persons, and inoperative as far as disclosure of the contract, even to their employees. The Bausch and Lomb Company agreed to create a new department solely responsible to the Board of Directors charged with the development of military instruments and with maintenance

Canadian Poultry Shipped Recently

For many years Canadian Record of Performance (R.O.P.) poultry not only have had a world-wide reputation for high quality but have served as the foundation stock on which the poultry flocks of several countries have been built. The purchase and shipment of Canadian R.O.P. poultry stock covers nearly a quarter of a century, but some of the more recent shipments may be cited. So satisfactory was a 1937 shipment of Canadian R.O.P. poultry stock in building up the foundation flocks of the British Guiana Department of Agriculture that more birds were asked for and shipped in October, 1938, and as a result of further outstanding success, still another consignment of Canadian birds was shipped, again giving the utmost satisfaction. In the same year Canadian R.O.P. birds were exported to the Department of Agriculture of Trinidad, British West Indies. In five months the birds registered a 75 per cent production of eggs in spite of the torrid heat. Since then their record has been of the highest. In 1940, R.O.P. birds were dispatched to the Orange Free State in South Africa to meet a request. These birds gave such a fine account of themselves that more Canadian birds had to be forwarded in 1941 to the capital of the state in Bloemfontein. At the same time an R.O.P. contingent of birds was exported to Buenos Aires, South America. Apart from the high quality of the birds, the monetary side is satisfactory. All the sales have been arranged through the Live Stock and Live Stock Products Division, Dominion Department of Agriculture, and in each case the prices were $15 per pullet, $25 per cockerel, plus all transportation charges. The following are a few of the recent sales: October, 1938, two single-comb White Leghorn cockerels and 8 pullets, and two Rhode Island Red cockerels and 8 pullets to the Department of Agriculture, British Guiana; December, 1939, two Rhode Island Red cockerels and 12 pullets and two Barred Plymouth Rock cockerels and 12 pullets, and one single-comb White Leghorn cockerel and 6 pullets to the Director of Agriculture, Trinidad, B.W.I.; November, 1940, two Barred Plymouth Rock cockerels and 8 pullets to the Orange Free State, Union of South Africa; and in July, 1941, six Rhode Island Red cockerels and 24 pullets, and 12 single-comb White Leghorn pullets and two cockerels to Buenos Aires, South America; and one Barred Plymouth Rock cockerel and four pullets again to Bloemfontein, Orange Free State, Union of South Africa.

QUEEN'S CANADIAN FUND DONATIONS FOR AIR RAID VICTIMS

Repeated bombing raids on British port areas and the industrial Midlands has attracted fresh attention to the plight of the many thousands of civilians in Great Britain who are harried from shelter to shelter and finally driven into the open country by successive raids. Eventually places are found for them all, places of relative security, but their belongings of all kinds are destroyed. The task of emergency feeding alone is difficult. The task of setting them up once more with some quantity of clothing and bedding is much more difficult. To meet these enormous needs, funds have been started in various parts of the world. Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth has permitted the use of her name in connection with the Dominion campaign, which is officially known as "The Queen's Canadian Fund for Air Raid Victims." Every dollar contributed to the Queen's Canadian Fund goes without deduction to the Lord Mayor of London for distribution to the homeless and needy. Contributions from this Province should be forwarded to the Royal Trust Company, Charlottetown, which reports the following receipts to date: Received yesterday—Barbara Mabon and Edith Gillis, Montague, $3.00. Enna Jettie Club of Mt. Herbert and Bunbury $10.00. Previously acknowledged $2,663.32. TOTAL—$2,676.32.

Great Musical Talent Cast In New Comedy

Bringing together one of the most impressive musical casts ever assembled for a motion picture, Paramount's new comedy musical, "There's Magic in Music" opens today at the Prince Edward Theatre. Featured in the ray story of a young burlesque queen who goes operative, are Susanna Foster, Allan Jones, Margaret Lindsay and Lynne Overman. Cast in prominent roles, brilliant Metropolitan Opera stars Richard Bonelli, Ira Petina and Tandy MacKenzie make their screen debuts in the picture. In addition to these musical luminaries, five of the most noted teen age youngsters in the world of music display the extraordinary talents which have brought them the plaudits of music-lovers throughout the country. The five youngsters are Helmo Hatto, sixteen-year-old Finnish violinist; Patricia Travers, thirteen, considered by music authorities one of the finest young violinists in this country; Lolly Loehr, fourteen, a pianist frequently acclaimed in the concert halls; Kaye Connor, fifteen, well-known young violinist and singer, and William Chapman, a baritone of exceptional attainments. Produced and directed by Andrew L. Stone, "There's Magic in Music" tells the story of a brassy young burlesque performer with a beautiful voice. Discovered by the young son of the founder of a musical camp, Allan Jones, the mischievous young madrigal is given instruction in voice—and manners—and emerges, after chastening and voice-training, an operative star.

HERR HITLER'S DREAM Oh! Hitler dreamed the other day Of Canadian boys, from far away And as he dreamed he heard them cry Herr Hitlers men are going to die. His body-guards had heard him say Those words, as on his bed he lay They'll never get me with bombs or guns For I'm protected by the Huns. And in his dream he heard a plane Which landed in a nearby lane This pilot with a gun in hand Had carried him to British land. He landed on the British Isle But was not welcomed with a smile The fear within him made him make The bed he slept on move and shake. He thought the men with planes and guns Had bombed and shot near all the Huns And then the Navy guns once more Had shook the earth from shore to shore. And suddenly he gave a scream Which woke him from a prophetic dream "No more sleep!" he said "for me, For I dreamt they captured Germany." —Elmer B. McInnis, Lakeville P. E. I.

BEFORE THE WAR The combined pre-war area of France, Germany and Spain was about 2,600 square miles less than the area of Quebec.

The groom was supported by his cousin Elmer Johnstone of Peters Road, P.E.I.
