What's in a Name?

HOW did the Manufacturers Life get its name? When the company was formed in 1887, most Canadians were dependent on agriculture for their livelihood. Sir John A. Macdonald was Prime Minister. His famous "National Policy" was being debated in every town and hamlet.

Sir John claimed that no country could be great with only one industry. Manufacturing activities were needed to balance the economy - broaden the market - utilize the best of thousands towards manufacturing pursuits. Full national development called for "manufacturers". The choice of that name for the Company was in tune with the spirit of the times and was a tribute to Sir John who was the Company's first president.

The word "Manufacturers" stood for progress and The Manufacturers Life has progressed with the land that gave it birth. Its activities have spread far beyond her shores. It is known throughout the world as a sound financial institution.

"JUNGLE FLIGHT" PROMISES ACTION Reported to be a thrill-a-minute picture, "Jungle Flight" tells of the exciting adventures of two dare-devil ex-AAF pilots who are flying for a mining company located in the South American jungles. One of them is killed in a crash, and the other befriends a mysterious blonde whom he takes back to the camp. She is soon revealed to be running away from her murderous husband, and when he trails her to

Hawks production which opens at the Prince Edward Theatre tonight. Hired by a retired General to find out who's blackmailing his younger daughter, and to find out whatever became of another private dick, he is just as promptly fired by the General's other daughter who is trying to protect her younger sister. But the shenanigans despite warnings from plug-uglies and racketeers. And as directed by Howard Hawks it all adds up to tense entertainment. William Faulkner, Leigh Brackett and Jules Furthman wrote the screen play. Max Steiner wrote the exciting score.

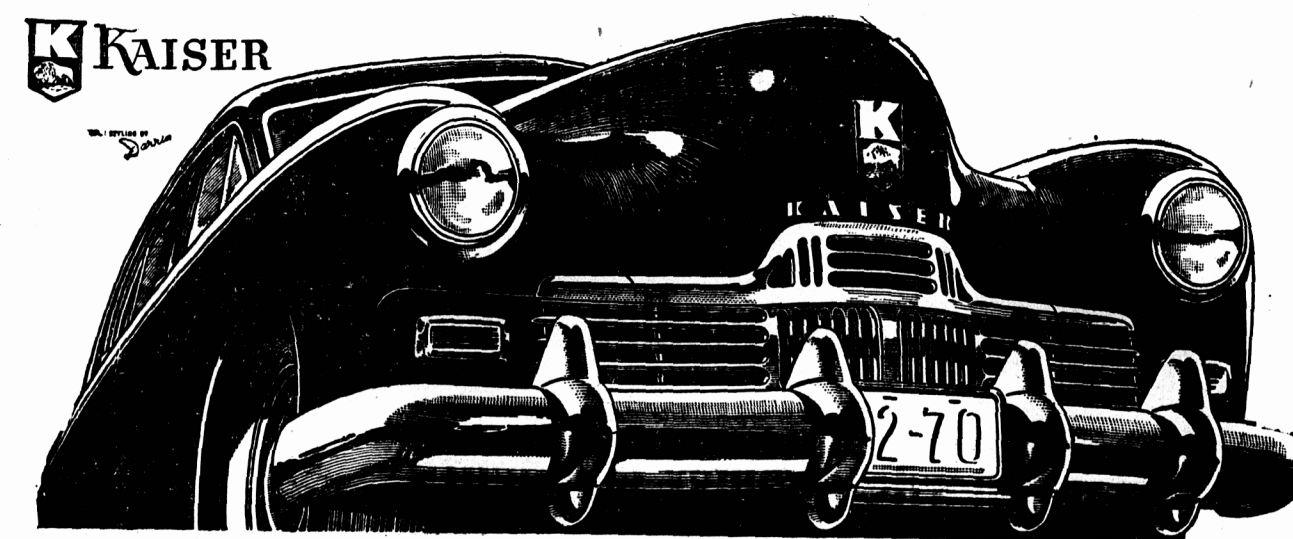

BOGART, BACALL IN "THE BIG SLEEP" AT PRINCE EDWARD A shamus' (rhymes with dramas) lot is not a happy one. But how bad can a private dick's life be when, in between dodging murderers, bullets and finding bodies, Humphrey Bogart can pursue Lauren Bacall and be pursued by bantous newcomer Martha Vickers, in Warner Bros.' production of Raymond Chandler's best seller, "The Big Sleep", a Howard

CORNWALL W. M. S. The Cornwall W. M. S. met at the home of Mrs. A. P. MacEchtern for the August meeting. Mr. Hazen Howard presided and gave the call to worship and opened by singing hymn "Lord while for all Mankind we pray." Scripture reading Isaiah 1-10 was read by Mrs. MacEchtern. The Charter of the United Nations was read in unison. A leaflet on "The nations Get Together" was read by Mrs. Waldron Lowther, and a paper on "The Church and Europe's need" was read by Mrs. Bruce MacKinley, both of those stressed the responsibilities of every man and woman to work together regardless of race or creed, and so pledge themselves together to help to end wars. The roll call and business followed. Supply secretary Mrs. Richard Drake reported having sent a box of clothing to Labrador. Mrs. Water Boyle gave a good report from the Mission Band. The Treasurer Mrs. Muriel Godfrey stated the money was coming in very gratifying. "These things shall be a lotter race," was then sung. Mrs. Bruce MacKinley kindly invited the members to meet with her for the September meeting. Mrs. Colin Murray was asked to write to Miss Beryl Morrison our missionary (in prayer). Mrs. MacEchtern favored those present with a beautiful solo "The Stranger of Galilee." A sing song was then enjoyed by all. A delicious lunch was served by the hostesses assisted by Mrs. MacKinley.
