

DANCE
Sunnyside Ballroom
Every Monday, Wednesday,
Friday and Saturday
Eastern Rhythm Boys
ADMISSION—35c
Meet your friends there tonight.

COCA-COLA
AT YOUR PARTY

LONDON — (CP) — Women employees at Lloyds Bank will no longer have to resign on marriage. Lloyds Bank has followed the lead of the Bank of England and the National Provincial Bank which already had removed the marriage bar.

(By Thornton W. Burgess)

OUT IN THE GREAT WORLD

Strange though it seems that it should be frightening to be free. —Old Mother Nature.

He even stopped and sat up right in the moonlight.

Of course Peter Rabbit told Mrs. Peter about their two cousins in a wire pen in Farmer Brown's dooryard. They were pet Rabbits that had been given to Farmer Brown's boy, one called Blacky and one called Whitey, because one's coat was black and the other's white.

"The poor things had never heard of the Old Pasture or the Green Forest or the Green Meadows. Imagine that!" said Peter. "I can't," replied Mrs. Peter. "Did you tell them of the Old Briar-patch?"

"No," said Peter. "What would have been the use? They wouldn't have known what I was talking about. All they know anything about is that little prison they are in, or others like it. They were born in one. Anyway that is what they told me."

"The poor things," said Mrs. Peter. Peter scratched a long ear with a long hind foot. He did the same thing to the other long ear with the other hind foot. Mrs. Peter knew the sign. "What are you thinking about?" she asked.

"I was thinking what fun it would be to show them the Old Pasture, the Green Forest and the Green Meadows," said he. "And the Old Briar-patch, of course," replied Peter. "But it can't be done. They can't get out," he added.

Perhaps you can guess how surprised he was when he visited the dooryard the next night and found Blacky sitting outside the pen. "How did you get out?" cried Peter.

Blacky showed him a hole in the ground beside which he was sitting. "I dug out," said he, as if that was the simplest thing in the world. He didn't tell Peter how many times he had tried to do this thing before and had failed. This time he had succeeded through pure chance. When making that pen Farmer Brown's boy had used some old chicken wire. In one place in the part buried underground there was a small opening, too small to really matter. Farmer Brown's boy had thought, in digging Blacky had just happened to find that opening and had dug through it and up outside.

Whitey was still in the pen. "Come out and we'll all go over to the Green Forest and perhaps to the Old Pasture," called Peter, but Whitey shook her head. "She's afraid," said Blacky scornfully.

"There is nothing to be afraid of," said Peter and he really meant it. You see he was so used to running and dodging and hiding to escape hungry enemies that these things had become so much a part of daily living that he didn't think of himself as being afraid when he did these things.

Mistress Moon was shining, making all open places almost as light as by day. Peter led the way across the dooryard to the old stone wall along one side of the Old Orchard. When he had crossed through moonlight he scampered in a hurry, lippy lippy, tip. From among the Black Shadows Peter stamped an anxious impatient warning. His cousins out there in the open paid no attention. Everything was so new and wonderful that he must look and look all around. And had it Peter said that there was nothing to be afraid of?

"If he is going to do crazy things like that I guess it is lucky he is wearing a black coat. As long as he doesn't move he looks like a small shadow himself," thought Peter, and thumped again impatiently.

At long last Blacky joined him among the bushes along the old wall. "You mustn't stop out in the moonlight like that," scolded Peter. "Why not? You said there is nothing to be afraid of," said Blacky.

OLD HISTORY
The saga of the Norsemen tell of the landing in North America by Leif Ericson as early as the year 1000.

South dealer:
Both sides vulnerable.
K 9 8
Q 10 6 3
Q 9 8 5
6 7 5 2
K J 10 5 N 9 6 4 3 2
A K 7 W E J 9 2
K J 10 S 7 3
4 2
A Q J 10 4 3
A Q
8 5 4
A 6

Contract Bridge

By Josephine Culbertson

DEFENSIVE COUP

East had the next thing to a Yarborough in today's deal—but it was he who defeated the game contract!

The bidding:
South West North East
1♣ Dble Pass 2♠
3♣ Pass 4♠ Pass
West made his most attractive lead, the diamond king—and at this point, it is fair to say, the average pair of defenders would "collapse." Ninety-nine out of 100 Easts would follow suit with the deuce, and no matter what West did then, any reasonably good declarer would have clear sailing. He would control whatever East played and establish two diamond tricks in Rummy.

The actual East, however, did not play the diamond deuce at the first trick! He played the nine—and observe what this play did to the declarer! When West, who also was in the dark, followed up with the ace and seven of diamonds, South was sure that East was out—that he had echoed to show a doubleton—and so South played dummy's ten (even as you or I).

When, instead of ruffing the ten, East won the trick with the jack, the contract's chances faded to zero!

Observe that East's play of the diamond nine was a two-edged weapon. Even if declarer could (by some miracle) guess the true diamond position, East certainly did not want to have his partner lead away from something in a different suit!

WHY HAVE SORE FEET?
JUST RUB IN MINARD'S
"KING OF PAIN" LINIMENT

by Al Capp

KING OF THE ROYAL MOUNTED

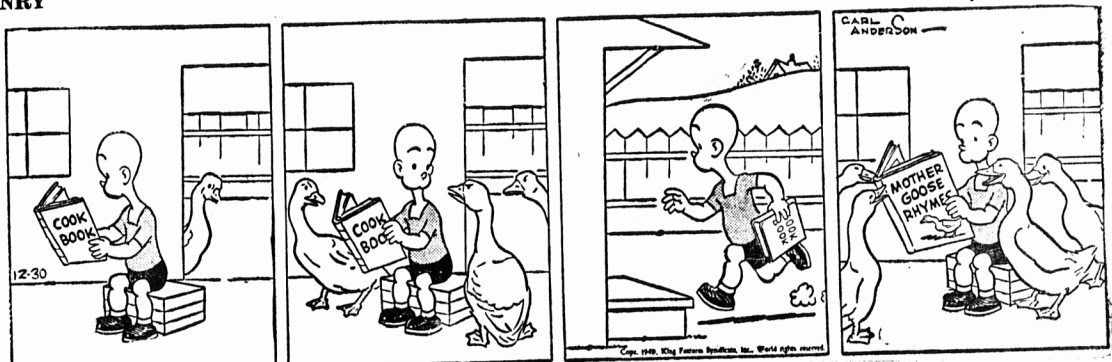

by Zano Grey

JOE PALOOKA

by Ham Fisher

HENRY

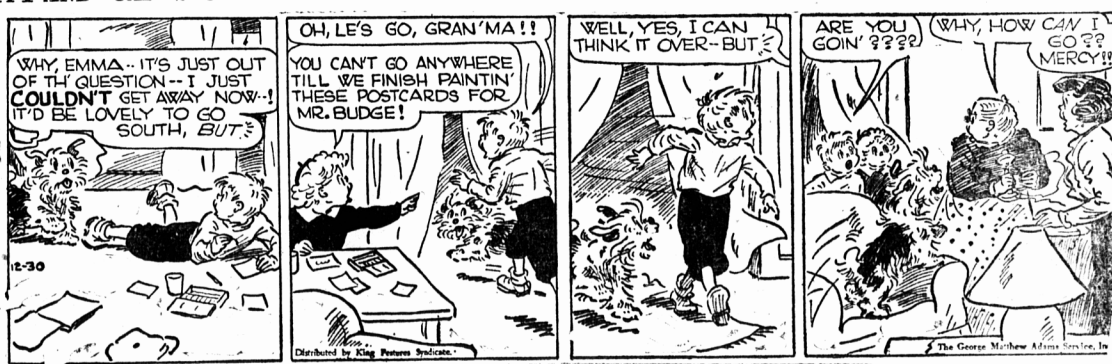

by Carl Anderson

DOTTY DIPPLE

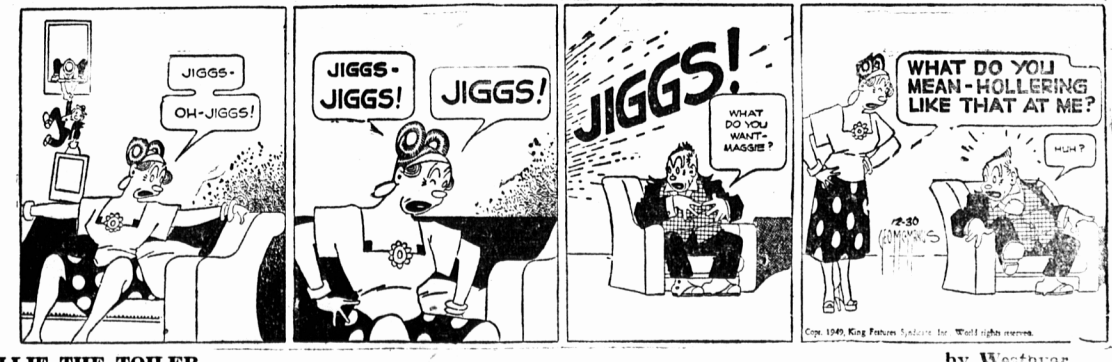

by Buford

TIPPY AND "CAP" STUBS

by Edwina

BRINGING UP FATHER

by George McManus

TILLIE THE TOLLER

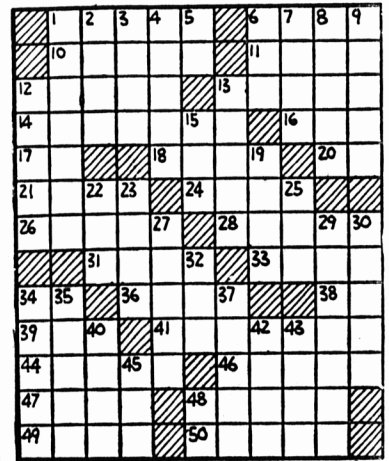

by Webster

DAILY CROSSWORD

- ACROSS
1. Hebrew
6. Arabic letter
10. Angry
11. State (NE. Braz.)
13. A slow person
15. Sloping edge
17. Having wings
18. Half ems
19. Gold (Heraldry)
20. A son of Adam
21. Electrical Engineer (abbr.)
24. U.S. president
25. Harvest
26. Sailboat
28. Capital (Tibet)
31. Cloy
33. Below (naut.)
34. Music note
36. A song for two people
38. At home
39. Sick
41. A vein (Bot.)
44. A pocket bottle
47. Having ears
47. Taut
49. English portrait painter
50. Notions
- DOWN
1. Inorganic
2. Persia
3. Brother of Abel
4. Volume of maps
5. Pronoun
6. Mimic
7. Wash
8. Goddess of peace
9. Sham
12. Specks
13. Species of pepper
15. Thrice (mus.)
19. A sunken fence
23. A dandy
23. Garden amphibian
25. Chum
27. Drop with a thud
29. Parties
30. Bearded
32. Sheltered side
34. Musical instruments
35. Mohammedan god
37. Cornered in a tree
40. A filmy, decorative cloth or edging
42. Weathercock
43. The bear (Astron.)
45. Feminine pronoun
48. Music note

Yesterday's Answer
42. Weathercock
43. The bear (Astron.)
45. Feminine pronoun
48. Music note

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

A Cryptogram Quotation
KUB TGN IUG IGM PGGHMEEB
MNIG TL WTAEGS WTTIN—IUMYP.
JHMB.
Yesterday's Cryptogram: AND STOOD ALOOF FROM OTHER MINDS IN IMPOTENCE OF FANCIED POWER—TENNYSON.
Distributed by King Features Syndicate

NAPOLEON AND UNCLE ELBY by Gifford McBride

LFL ABNER

TWINKLE-TOES McGOON??

by Alex Raymond

RIP KIRBY

MR. MORAY, WHAT IS THE MEANING OF THIS INTERRUPTION?

PENNY

by Harry Rosenfield