A TRIBUTE TO THE LATE WESLEY McLEOD, BORDEN

He stood upon the pier each day to wait the train.
He seldom missed, was always there in sun or rain.
He gave a helping hand to each, a child to lift, the aged to aid.
His friendly nod helped hold the many friends he made.
He will be missed by many passing to and from our shore.
For he's been made a "Steward of the Lord" for ever more.

A slight tribute to "Wes" from one we can be aided many times.

Allied offensive May follow talks

MELBOURNE, Feb. 27 —(CP)— Spurred by the threat of imminent Japanese attack upon Australia, the Commonwealth war advisory council started secret deliberations with top advisers of the United Nations today to map new strategy aimed at checking and ultimately throwing back the invader.

Conversations at this greatest war planning conference ever held in Australia were based on the assumption that Australia may at any moment be called upon to repel a Japanese assault.

Service chiefs and leading strategists of the Pacific powers attended today's meeting which lasted 2 1-2 hours and then adjourned until tomorrow.

A suggestion of what its decision might be was given by the Melbourne Herald in an editorial headed "hands joined with America," which said in part:—

"Go out and hit the enemy is the keynote of Australian strategy and it is in that spirit that Australians and Americans will be fighting side by side wherever the enemy is hittable and reachable...."

(Exchange telegraph news agency, quoted authoritative Melbourne quarters as saying the conference may mark the launching of an "almost immediate Allied offensive.")

Fire in Bank Building at Summerside

What might have been a very serious fire occurred about four o'clock on Saturday afternoon in the Provincial Bank, Summerside on the corner of Water and Summer Sts. The fire was practically confined to the basement.

Mr. Louis Blanchard, manager of the bank noticed the smoke coming up through the floor in his private office when he entered it from the main floor of the bank. The fire appeared to have started near the furnace. A man was in the basement cleaning up some rubbish and it is thought a spark from the furnace must have started the fire. There was considerable damage from smoke and water on the ground floor of the building in that part where the Provincial Bank and the vendors store is situated. But for the prompt action of the firemen and the occupants of the building a more serious blaze would have resulted.

The building which is of brick is known as the MacArthur Block and is owned by Senator MacArthur. In the block besides the bank and vendor's store is the victory loan headquarters and Foley's Drug Store which had a close shave. Upstairs is the Y Red Triangle and the offices of Dr. MacMurdo and Dr. Colvin and Oddfellows Lodge Rooms.

Senator MacArthur was in the basement giving some instructions to the man who was cleaning up and was overcome by smoke for a short time. He was able to be out again later in the evening.—S.

O'Leary Farmers Co-operative Meeting

The Second Annual Meeting of the O'Leary Farmer's Co-operative Association, Limited was held in the Oddfellows hall at O'Leary on the afternoon of February 25th with a large attendance of members and patrons from the surrounding districts.

The President, Mr. Allie McNeill of West Cape occupied the chair and in his opening remarks emphasised the prominent place which the Co-operative holds in the district today in comparison to the very modest beginning of only one and a half years ago. He drew particular attention to the volume of business aproximating Fifty Thousand Dollars ($50,000) and the moderate, yet substantially in line prices, which have been enjoyed by the members and patrons during the year. At this time when feed is comparatively scarce in many of the districts represented the need was being filled by the Co-operative carrying a full line of feeds for all farm needs. Economy in purchase through car load lots was one of the main reasons why the scarcity was being economically overcome.

The secretary, Mr. Errol Statson gave a full explanation of the years business through the financial statement.

In volume his statement shows that the Co-operative handled: 63,807 dozen eggs, 43,842 lbs. poultry, 6,918 bags of feed as well as shipments of fertilizer, Spray Material, and a full line of Poultry equipment including Brooders, feeders, water fountains, and all necessary items for the poultry flock.

In the discussions which followed the tabling of the financial statement the first place was given to sound financing and the adoption of a policy that would ensure a long and useful life to the Co-operative. In substantiating this prinicple the meeting adopted unanimously what is known as the "revolving reserve" by which a reserve capital is built from the accumulated profits for a number of years. This item of departure from the usual system was fully explained by the chairman, Mr. McNeill and Mr. W. J. Reid, who represented the Provincial Department of Agriculture. In his remarks Mr. Reid emphasised the economy of establishing sufficent reserve to approximate the demands on the Co-operative for purchasing feeds, and the growing diversity of supplies, which seemed to be in growing demand. He said the system was not new in that it was being used in larger cooperative centres throughout the Maritimes and was in effect sound, simple and efficient.

A keen interest was evidenced throughout the meeting toward the latest addition to the Co-operative viz the chick hatchery. This addition has centred the interest of all the poultrymen of the district and particularly so since the machine of 6,000 eggs capacity is operating and the first batch is excepted in a short time. It was generally stated that the need for such a machine was evident and the hope expressed that success would follow.

At the conclusion of the general meeting the directors were called into session and appointed their officers for 1942 as follows:

President, Allie McNeill, West Cape.
Secretary, Errol Stetson, O'Leary.
Vice-President, Oliver Gorrill, Milo.
Directors, Melvin Bridges, Cascumpec, Ira Hardy, Howlan R.R. Andrew Frizzel, Howlan R.R., Elmer Betts, Glenwood, Alvin McIsaac, Hebron, Leigh Adams, Knutsford.

Major Parties Approve Trade Pacts by Gov't

OTTAWA, Feb. 27—(CP)—Leaders of the four major parties in the House of Commons today expressed satisfaction over evidences of increasingly close trade and other relationships between this country and the republics of South America.

They did so in stating their approval of most-favored-nation agreements recently concluded with Brazil, Chile and the Argentine.

M. J. Coldwell, Acting C.C.F. House Leader, went a step furtner than the others. He urged that Canada join the Pan-American Union at once and occupy the "vacant chair" reserved for this country in the Pan-American building at Washington.

The House discussed the trade agreements all afternoon and the debate will continue next week. Just before the adjournment Prime Minister Mackenzie King announced appointment of a three-man commission under chairmanship of Austin C. Taylor of Vancouver to handle the evacuation of Japanese from the west coast area.

Approval of the three trade agreements was moved by Prime Minister Mackenzie King, while Trade Minister MacKinnon who negotiated them when he headed a trade mission to South America last summer gave an account of his work and described trade conditions and prospects in the different countries visited.

Conservative House Leader Hanson said he approved of the agreements and expressed hope Canada would obtain direct ship connection with South American ports as soon as ships are available.

Hansard Gives Revised Version Of King's Words

OTTAWA, Feb. 27—(CP)—Prime Minister Mackenzie King was on record today as saying in the House of Commons that, should the need arise for Canadians compulsorily called to the colors to fight in the Alaska Panhandle or any place in the vicinity of the coast of Canada, they would be sent under authority of the War Measures.

But, while that is the way his statement appears in the Hansard report of last night's debate on the plebiscite bill, it differs from the exchange as reporters heard it from the press gallery.

Mr. King was heard to say, "I certainly would use the mobilization act to see that the men were sent within its immediate operation to protect our own shores."

It is not uncommon for the official Hansard report of debates in the Commons to differ slightly from the actual words used by speakers.

Opposition leader Hanson had asked what the government contemplated, with regard to men called for compulsory military training, in the event of threatened invasion and Mr. King as reporters heard him, replied:

"My honorable friend has asked what I would do in case of invasion, or in a perilous situation such as he has just described. Well, I say, the last thing I would do would be to begin to recruit men to send them overseas. I would keep the men at home and see that they were prepared to meet the invasion."

(In the official report Mr. King here was quoted as saying; "Well, I say the last thing I would do would be to begin compulsorily to recruit men to send them overseas.")

Said Mr. Hanson: "Oh yes, would my right honorable friend send them to Seattle? Would he send them to the Panhandle of Alaska?"

Mr. King: "I do not mind answering that, I regard the moral obligation as one not to send men overseas. But with respect to any technical limitations, should immediate necessity arise—in the Panhandle or any place in the vicinity of the coast of Canada—I certainly would use the mobilization act to see that the men were sent within its immediate operation to protect our own shores."

(In the official report this appeared as: "I certainly would make use of the war measures act to see that the men were sent, within these immediate areas, to protect our own shores.")

Ask Strikers Be re-employed

OTTAWA, Feb. 27—(CP)—Labor Minister Mitchell said today he had wired the management of Motor Products Ltd., at Windsor asking they re-employ men who went on strike Tuesday.

"The men went on strike illegally but we have asked the company to take them back," Mr. Mitchell said. The department had no authority to make its investigations binding as was suggested by Mayor Arthur Reaume in a telegram sent to Ottawa today Mr. Mitchell said.
