SATURDAY forenoon about 11 o'clock Henry Palmer, a young man confined in Queen's County jail attempted to commit suicide by tearing a strip off a blanket and hanging himself to the bars over the door of his cell. The strip broke, however, and Palmer was found a short time afterwards lying on the floor, by Jailer Hamill who was bringing in his dinner. The latter thought he was sleeping but after examination an assistant was called and he was carried into the corridor where he recovered shortly. The unfortunate man was awaiting trial in the Supreme Court for jail breaking while serving a term for larceny. He had been acting strangely during the morning and for some time there was doubt as to his sanity. He will be examined by Dr. Goodwill and Handrahan and if pronounced insane will be removed to Falconwood.
