Jean's Revenge.
An avenger need not necessarily be a naturalist, but there are cases where he would take his vengeance more to the purpose if he knew the habits of his victim. Lippincott's Magazine tells a story of Jean, the French Canadian gardener who was found stamping on a little mound of fresh earth and chuckling to himself.
"Ah, m'sieu," he cried triumphantly, "I am not a one to be trifled with! I am a cr-r-uel man when once I am aroused. M'sieu will remember the mole that has long time ravaged the strawberry beds of madame? Every morning madame she say, 'Jean, why catchest thou not that mole?'
"But the mole was wise; 'e was queek. Always I look and look, but never can I find heem. But at last, thees very morning, I catch heem. I hold heem tight in my hand—so—and I say: 'Aha-a! Is it thou, then, that has vexed madame and ravaged her beds of the strawberry? Aha-a! You shall repent of thees wickedness.'
"Then I wonder how I shall kill heem. He must be punished as well as killed. I wonder and wonder, but at last I have the grand idea. Ah, it was cr-r-uel, m'sieu, that way I kill heem! But what would you? Did he not deserve of the worst? But he will vex madame no more. I fix heem. I bury heem alive!"

POWER FROM THE HUDSON.
How the River is Lifted and Then Tumbled at Spiers Falls.
New York state has other water power resources besides Niagara. For some years past the stately Hudson has also been in harness, and its energy at Mechanicsville is in daily use, thousands of horse power being transmitted daily to the great General Electric shops at Schenectady, miles away. The St. Lawrence and the Hudson rivers could twist the whole New York Central railroad system around their little backwaters, so to speak, and presumably they will be allowed to do this some day. In the meantime their industrial utility is enormous, and with proper forestry it will not diminish yet awhile.
The latest conquest of Hudson river power is at Spiers falls, at the foot of Mount McGregor, where General Grant died, about sixty miles south of the point where the stream rises and forty miles northward of Albany. At this point the river has lately been dammed up by a stone wall over 1,800 feet long, 100 feet high and containing 180,000 cubic feet of masonry. Thus is the good old river lifted fifty feet above its former bed and then made to do a lofty tumble of eighty feet back again, in the course of which it is to deliver over 30,000 horse power for electrical transmission to Albany, Troy, Amsterdam, Schenectady and any other place holding out its little tin cup for a share.
To show how electrical energy can be transmogrified and whipped around the stump it may be noted that the electric motors doing most of the hard work in the Spiers falls construction get their current from the earlier plant at Mechanicsville, nearly twenty-five miles away to the south, so that if the Hudson is not exactly like the siege of Paris in 1870, "fried in its own fat," it is at least being fettered by its own foam.—Review of Reviews.

More Than Five Senses.
Many of our scientists until quite recently have been reluctant to admit that a number of the lower animals possibly possess other senses than ours. So much new and undeniably affirmative evidence is, however, now being offered on this point that there can be no longer any substantial reason for doubting that the five senses man imperfectly exercises are by no means all that are possible to sentient creatures.
One such sense not possessed by human beings, but to a greater or less degree almost universally present in mammals, birds, reptiles, fish and insects, is what perhaps may be called the sense of localization. It enables its possessor, apparently by its sole use, to find a desired spot. It is evidently closely connected with an instinctive and perfect memory of distance and direction.
Examples of insects that possess an X ray sense not only among European but our own hymenoptera can be multiplied indefinitely. Only one or two of the senses peculiar to the lower animals are here noticed. Lubbock suggests that "there may be fifty of them."—Scientific American.

The Anxious Barber.
Inasmuch as there is only one good barber in 10,000, why put Sir Tonsor on the anxious seat and spoil his work? No barber can do himself credit and his customer justice when M. Next is sitting impatiently alongside. I would keep M. Next in an anteroom, where there should be an annunciator. If a dozen barbers are in the shop let each be numbered. If No. 9 be busy with a customer let the annunciator read: "No. 9 will be disengaged in ten minutes." Then if one of No. 9's regular patrons enters the anteroom he will understand that he is M. Next and will be attended to in ten minutes. If No. 9 is not busy the annunciator will read: "No. 9 is disengaged." An attendant should give to each arriving customer a card signifying his place in the line in case there is a crush to get at any particular "artist." It makes a barber very nervous to have an old friend wait while he scarifies a transient. Alas, poor transient!—New York Press.

Germany's War Chest.
Spandau castle, near Berlin, is to be pulled down, with the exception of the tower of Julius, which is to remain, as hitherto, the storehouse of the war fund of the German empire. Of the £200,000,000 exacted from France in 1871, £8,000,000 in gold was put aside in the fortress vaults to be kept in readiness for the expenses of the next German war. There it still remains untouched save for its annual inspection and weighing. As a modern instance of the parable of the man who buried his talent in the earth, this German hoarding of £8,000,000 is unique. At only 3 1/2 per cent compound interest money doubles itself in twenty years, so that the original £8,000,000 would have grown into nearly £17,000,000 in these thirty years. The doomed castle is also notable as one of the prisons of Baron Trenck.—London Chronicle.

Frog Skins For Bookbinding.
According to a Calcutta contemporary, a new and lucrative industry has sprung up, offering a wide scope for Indian capital. It appears that there is a great demand from a new quarter for frogs, which India could supply by the million. They are used in bookbinding, for it has been found that the frog's skin makes a very fine, soft leather, and in dyeing it will take the most delicate shades; hence it is in high demand in the calf or crushed levant of sumptuous book covers, and it makes a very striking and beautiful decoration.

Will Use No More Slang.
"I've been cured of the slang habit, glory be," says a department woman. "After this I speak plain English, but I'll have to talk a thousand years before I convince Mrs. Skaggs that I'm not ignorant of French. She was telling me the other day about a man we both know who is going to marry a girl over in Baltimore."
"He hasn't a cent, you know," she said.
"How about the girl? I asked in my vulgar, slangy way. 'Has she any dough?'"
"Dough?" repeated Mrs. Skaggs. "Dough? Oh, I see what you mean. No, she hasn't a bit. But, by the way, my dear, I hope you won't mind my telling you the final 't' is always sounded in that word. The French pronounce it precisely as it is spelled—dot, you know; not dough."

Smoke Slowly and Avoid Cancer.
From the medical profession comes a warning to smokers. If you wish to avoid tobacco cancer don't smoke fast. After careful observation it has been practically determined that this form of cancer is caused by the irritation resulting from the heat of the cigar or pipe. Men who smoke long stemmed pipes, it is said, do not have cancer, no matter how much they smoke, while those who indulge in cigars or short stemmed pipes are afflicted by this malignant growth.
Tobacco cancer caused the death of General Grant. He was an inveterate smoker, and he smoked very fast. At the battle of Shiloh he is said to have consumed fifty cigars. In smoking a large number of cigars in a short time the tongue is irritated by excessive heat, and in time cancer is the result.

RAILROAD MEN GET SURE RELIEF
They Use Dodd's Kidney Pills for the Troubles Brought on by Their Work.

They Profit by the Experience and Advice of Mr. Lew Dake, of the Dake House, St. Thomas—Dodd's Kidney Pills Cured Him.

ST. THOMAS, Ont., Nov. 13.—(Special)—Mr. L. Dake, the well known proprietor of the Dake House here and one of the most popular men in this railroad centre, is completely cured of Backache and Kidney Disease of five years standing and he has no hesitation in stating that the cure was effected by Dodd's Kidney Pills.
"Yes," Mr. Dake says speaking of his cure, "I am perfectly satisfied that the two or three boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills cured me, as I have not been troubled by my Kidneys since I took them."
"I had been troubled with my Kidneys and pains in my back for over five years and nothing I used gave me any relief till I took the advice of a friend tried and tried Dodd's Kidney Pills. I advise all my friends to try them."
Many of the railroad men have taken Mr. Dake's advice and are using Dodd's Kidney Pills. This work is particularly hard on the Kidneys and they find Dodd's Kidney Pills bring them sure relief.

MEMORIAL OF BOER WAR.
LONDON, November 11.—A curious memorial of the Boer war is recorded from Sur-rey. At Bursaw, in that county, a drinking trough and fountain has been erected by a local personage in memory of 400,000 horses killed and wounded during the South African war from 1899 to 1902 "in a cause of which they know nothing."

SPENT OVER $2,000 DOCTORING.
Mr. Joseph Pennington, of Stillwater, Minn., after having spent over $2,000 with the best doctors for stomach trouble, with out relief, was advised to try a box of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. He did so, and is a well man to-day. For sale by all druggists.

FUNERAL OF T. V. COOKE.
MONROTON, November 11.—There was a large attendance at the funeral of the late T. V. Cooke. The pall bearers were D. Pottinger, P. S. Archibald, R. A. Bowden, L. B. Archibald, William Bowell and R. W. Simpson.
A TIMELY SUGGESTION.
This is the season of the year when the prudent and careful housewife replenishes her supply of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It is certain to be needed before the winter is over, and results are much more prompt and satisfactory when it is kept at hand and given as soon as the cold is contracted and before it has become settled in the system. In almost every instance a severe cold may be varied off by taking this remedy freely as soon as the first indication of the cold appears. There is no danger in giving it to children for it contains no harmful substance. It is pleasant to take—both adults and children like it. Buy it and you will get the best. It always cures. For sale by all druggists.

GROWING UP LENGTHWISE
You want the children to grow, but not all lengthwise. When they start that way Scott's Emulsion will help them to grow right—with due plumpness and outward vigor and good spirits.
The Emulsion increases digestive power and strengthens the vital organs to get the best and make the most out of all the other food. It gives a kind of help that every growing child ought to have.

Picking Glasses out of a Basket
There isn't a much easier way of ruining your eyes than to try to fit glasses yourself, or letting some one do it who knows but little more than you about it. Both eyes are different and the defects in each eye may be different. Only a competent eye specialist can discover these and correct them when discovered. We have the knowledge—don't take chances.
