TRINITY Y. P. S.—Trinity Young Peoples Society held its regular meeting on Friday evening in the Social Hall. The meeting opened with a devotional service led by Miss Mary Sinclair and Scripture reading by Miss M. Storey. The subject was, "The Day." After a short business meeting the different study groups assembled for discussion. Recreation took the form of badminton and musical games. The meeting closed with the singing of Auld Lang Syne.

POPULAR STUDENTS — The second year class in Medicine at the University of Toronto must certainly appreciate their Prince Edward Islanders. From a hundred and twenty-two members, these students elected Doris Prowse Secretary and Lemuel Prowse Treasurer of their class for next year. These young people are the son and daughter of Hon. T. W. L. Prowse and Mrs. Prowse.

LEGISLATIVE CHAMBER COMPLETED—Painters last night were putting finishing touches to the Legislative Chamber of the Provincial Building. In other parts of the building the work is being rushed to completion but it is doubtful if it will all be finished before the House meets the last of March. At present about 30 men are employed. At present plasterers are at work in the Confederation Chamber. Most of the electric wiring has been completed.

STORE REPAINTED—The drug store of Ernest H. Worth, Prince Street, has been completely repainted giving the interior an air of cleanliness and adding greatly to the general appearance of the store. The painting was done by Mr. Louis Howatt, painter and decorator.

EARLY SPRING IN 1902—Charlottetown harbor, usually ice-locked at this time of year, was almost completely clear today. The extraordinary weather condition which prevailed in Prince Edward Island for the past two months has caused observers to thumb old record books seeking parallels. Mr. Charles Large, keeper of a diary for many years, found that similar weather conditions prevailed here in 1902. That year the S. S. Princess was able to make a two-way trip from Charlottetown to Pictou, N .S., March 20, according to the 34-year-old records. In 1902 the West River ferry boat made its first trip, March 4.

NEW FERRY TO START SOON—Finishing touches yesterday were being put on the new ferry boat Fairview which is to start shortly on the run between Charlottetown and Rocky Point. The Fairview's diesel engines are to be given a final test Monday, then the boat will be turned over to the government and will be ready for regular operation. Extremely early spring this year cut the winter interruption of ferry service to little over two months, a record for recent years. Records of the Public Works department show that in 1892 the service between Charlottetown and Rocky Point was interrupted only six weeks by winter conditions, according to L. B. MacMillan, deputy minister of public works. The Hillsborough made trips during every one of the months that year. She stopped February 4 when the ice became too thick and resumed operations March 17.

Personals

Mr. John McKenna, Dorchester Street, has entered the Charlottetown Hospital for treatment.

Miss Doris Sims, Park Corner, is visiting relatives and friends in the city, the guest of Miss Olive Houston, Rochford Apts.

Mr. Leo Peters who has been seriously ill with pneumonia in the City Hospital is convalescing at his home in Gaytown.

The many friends of Mr. A. T. MacKinnon will be sorry to learn of his illness. While at work on the Provincial Building, Monday he received a chill which developed into a light case of pneumonia.

Miss Eileen Redmond has returned to the City after spending the past two months in Edmundston, N. B., the guest of her sister, Mrs. Henry Bourgeois and Mr. Bourgeois.

STRESA FRONT RE-FORMING

PARIS, March 20—(C. P. Havas)—As long as the Treaty of Locarno remains not formally abrogated it will operate "only for the benefit of France and Belgium," Foreign Minister Pierre-Etienne Flandin told the French Parliament today.

"On March 7 Germany declared the Locarno Treaty finished. On March 19 the four other signatory powers affirmed that Locarno still exists. They confirm its principles. They accept its obligations."

Fresh from participation in the London sessions of the League Council and of the Reich's four Locarno co-signatories, the Foreign Minister also significantly referred to impending reconstruction of the "Stresa front," aligning Italy with France and Britain.

Revival of the "Stresa front," he told an enthusiastic Chamber of Deputies and an equally approving Senate, "now will be realized, thanks to the opening of peace negotiations effected recently in Geneva. In our opinion these negotiations will bring about a rapid and simultaneous cessation of hostilities (in East Africa) and the lifting of sanctions."

The Locarno plan, as outlined by M. Flandin, was substantially outlined to the House of Commons at London by Foreign Secretary Eden.

HITLER DEFIANT

HAMBURG, March 20—(A. P.)—Chancellor Hitler, who has been informed of a proposal by the Locarno powers to liquidate the Rhineland crisis, declared tonight he would not "retreat a single centimetre."

"I will accept nothing which infringes on German honor" Der Fuehrer exclaimed.

The speech, part of a whirlwind stumping tour in preparation for the March 29 Reichstag elections, was the shortest Hitler has made in the series—lasting for but 50 minutes. The Chancellor conferred with advisers for an hour on the train when he arrived here, presumably over London developments, and left for Berlin immediately after his speech.

He said his decision not to accept any "tarnishing" of his country's honor was "unshakeable and it threatens no one."

The Versailles Treaty," he exclaimed, "contained the germs of the rehabilitation of the German people in a stronger union."

"Without the fundamental clearing up of German's position as an equal European peoples could not live together in peace."

Island Bards Pay Warm Tributes To Joy Of Reading

Is poetry read nowadays? One evidence of the popularity of verse among Prince Edward Island library patrons is the number of competitors in the Library Poetry Contest recently held, and the familiarity shown, in the manuscripts submitted, both with the works of standard poets and with the technique of the art, which is certainly not one to be easily acquired. Nor was the subject matter either Spring or Love—those twin sources of perennial poetic inspiration—but Books and Reading.

One contributor joyfully sings:

"My store of gold and silver is but small,
'Twould take but little time to count it all,
Yet have I access to a wealth that brings
More happiness to me than gold to kings."

Another lyrically exclaims:

"Say, Muses, Say! lead me to some vast vault,
Designed for souls of the departed great
Imprisoned in a Book but not for fault:
There let me live until my thirst I sate,
—Meet these fair Muses, friend, is all I ask of thee;
And they will entertain thee well, as they have me."

To one contributor—

"Some books are so real, they're a pleasure to read;
But some are quite dull and absurd,
They're just crammed full of the silliest stuff,
And nonsensical—so I have heard."

(The latter saving clause may be found useful to other library patrons in recommending "silly" books to their friends, after having surreptitiously enjoyed their nonsense!)

Adventurous spirits also are to be found among our Island bards. One contributor writes:

"I have travelled many countries, sitting in my old soft chair,
I've explored the frozen Arctic, hunted bruin in his lair,
Loved and languished by the seaside, drunk from tankards by the wayside,
Fought with Nelson, Foch and Dewey, even stolen a Princess fair!"

Such readers are of the true stuff—fit to grapple with Doughty's "Arabia Deserta" and the whole six volumes of Gibbon's "Decline and Fall" without turning a hair.

Another contributor finds solace in the enchantment of literature:

"Where for my coming Beauty waits—
The loveliness of captured dreams—
And brave in wizardry of words
A thousand, thousand varied themes."

This expresses what many have sought and found on bookshelves. Many others will agree with the contributor who writes quaintly:

"His chance, denied, the student can
Read his way to Fame;
The printed page, that blazing torch,
Sets the dull world aflame."

Still others will applaud the more practical poet who bravely concludes, after paying polite tribute to the classics:

"Spring! and seed catalogues once more,
And there is great turmoil
Regarding what is best to use
To fertilize the soil!

I know the Iris needs bone-meal,
Roses with potash thrive,
But what does Regal Lily need,
Is it the 5-10-5?

I reach for "Down the Garden Path',
Then I can have no doubts:
It says, 'Put sand below the bulbs,
Phosphate on Brussel Sprouts."

Brother Scouts,—At a meeting of 1st Ch'town (Basilica) Wolf Cubs held on March 6th, John Walsh and Arthur McCarville were invested as Tenderpads. On March 13th Freeman Griffith and Stephen McCabe were invested. Full attendance at both meetings. The Pack extends a welcome to a recruit in the person of Louis Campbell

Mr. Richard Matheson, who has been acting as Asst. Scout Master of 8th Ch'town (Trinity United) was invested on Monday night and is now a full fledged Scout. Mr. Matheson is studying law with the firm of McKinnon and McNeill.

A class has been formed under the leadership of Bill McLean, in Morse Code signalling. A buzzer system will be used. Bill has a small radio broadcasting station, and has sent and received messages from great distances. Russia, England, Spain, France, Holland and other European countries have been communicated with .The Morse Code used by the Scouts is International.

Provincial Commissioner J. J. Morris and Asst. Prov. Comm. Geo Brady recently paid a visit to 6th Ch'town (Most Holy Redeemer) Troop. The patrols in patrol corners were inspected by the Asst. Commissioner who congratulated them on the splendid work they were doing. The flag for the evening was presented to the Eagle Patrol.

The Prov. Commissioner expressed his appreciation of the work being done by the boys.

The evening's activities consisted largely of patrol competitions; a few new games being introduced.

It is with deep regret that we learn of the death of Joseph White an ex-member of 6th Ch'town Troop. He was compelled to leave the troop about six months ago, owing to the nature of his work. Joe was a good Scout in every way. The writer has been in more than one Scout camp with Scout White, and found him always ready to do his share and a little bit more. Our sympathy goes out to the members of his family in their bereavement.

Scout Henry Doucette of 1st Ch'town (Basilica) Troop has made us all feel proud that we are Scouts. On Saturday last, when Cub Hughie Simpson went through the ice near Paoli's wharf, Scout Doucette showed great presence of mind and pluck in rescuing the smaller lad. Great work Henry.

Are you all ready for the Hobbies Exhibition?

On Thursday evening last, the Scout and Cub leaders of the city met at an informal supper in St. Peter's Church Hall, where after doing justice to the good things provided by the Ladies Auxiliary, matters of general interest were discussed.. It was decided to hold the annual Church Parade on the 24th May, the churches selected being the Basilica and Trinity United. The Field Commissioner was appointed to act as marshall for this parade. The matter of Scout Camps was ably set forth by Mr. F. A. Driscoll, Scout Master of 6th Ch'town. After some discussion the matter was left in the hands of a committee consisting of R. C. Parent, F. A. Driscoll and W. Warren.

Each troop of Boy Scouts should have at least two flags—the National Flag and the Scout Flag. These flags should be treated, at all times when uncased, with the greatest respect. They should be saluted by all ranks, and should never be placed in a position which might bring them into ridicule. Every Boy Scout knows the composition of his own National Flag. Here is something which may not have occurred to you concerning our National Flag. The colors of our flag are red, white and blue. Let these colours stand for something in our minds. Red has always been the badge of courage; let it remind us to be brave in the cause of right, to do right because it is right.

White is the emblem of purity—it should remind us to be clean in word, in thought and in deed.

Blue stands for truth—may it remind us to be true to all that is best in life, loyal to God, to our country, to our friends and to ourselves.

MR PETER FLYNN

A gloom of sorrow was cast over the city when it became known that Peter Flynn had passed away under very sad circumstances. Up until the day of his death he was active and smart and had been in his usual smart health, when accidentally he fell and the shock was too much for him to survive, and he passed away at the City Hospital on Feb. 26th.

Always of a jovial and kind nature he made many friends and was particularly a friend of the children who loved him.

In 1920 he retired from the C. N. R. after a good and faithful service of over 30 years.

He leaves to mourn a sorrowing widow and two daughters, Mrs. Joseph McAulay, Cardigan and Mrs. Ernest Regan, Charlottetown, besides a number of grandchildren who always loved his company and will miss his kind and gentle manner. He was a member of the Holy Name Society and was never found absent at any month from Holy Communion also a member of the B. I. S. and only last year was in the parade at St. Patrick's where he loved to take part and was the oldest member there.

Fortified by the rites of the holy Catholic Church, he passed peacefully away. His funeral which was largely attended took place on the 28th, when a requiem high mass was celebrated by Rev. Father Dalton and at the grave by the Rev. Father McCardle and all that was mortal of a good old gentleman was laid to rest.

The pall bearers were Messrs. James McAulay, Peter McCarron, David Haviland, Henry Redmond, John MacLellan, Edward Lafferty.

RAMPAGING

$2,500,000. Most houses still were surrounded by eight to 12 feet of water and 5,000 were homeless. Leaking gas added to the perils of rehabilitation.

All 705 residents of historic Harpers Ferry, W. Va., were ordered immunized to avert a threatened typhoid epidemic.

Disease and Famine Threats

Pittsburgh, with only partial light, heat and power service and facing threats of disease and water famines, was frightened anew by false reports a crowded bridge had collapsed.

Throughout western Pennsylvania solemn crowds filed through temporary morgues identifying the remainder of the 69 dead. Metropolitan Pittsburgh accounted for 45 of the victims.

In Washington, where a flood threat from the Potomac was subsiding, President Roosevelt again postponed his southern vacation to retain personal command of the federal relief efforts.

Johnstown, Pa., called upon the president for $10,000,000 for rehabilitation work as 6,000 WPA workers started clearing away flood wreckage.

TO CELEBRATE

through them. Salvationists' parades were frequently greeted by showers of sticks and stones and occasionally by rotten eggs. On one occasion the drummer came in with the end out of his drum, the result of a hurled stone. The situation however changed in a few months for the sympathy of a large number of the citizens was with the Army.

At one time street parades on Sunday were forbidden and there is some doubt as to whether the leaders were arrested and put in jail for at least one night when they continued to "carry on" as usual.

Great interest was taken in the Army meetings in the early days, the building usually being crowded to capacity. Not long after the army was established a band was organized.

The present Citadel built especially for the Army, was opened in 1891. The builder, a Mr. Wright, dropped dead in the Market Building a few days before the building was completed. The old Free Church, which was situated on the corner of Euston and Upper Hillsboro Streets is still standing, a store and dwelling house being in the building at present.
