CRUISER LEIPZIG HAS BEEN CAPTURED

The Rainbow and French Cruiser Montcalm Did The Trick and are Conveying the Prize to Esquimaux.

(Special to The Guardian)
VANCOUVER, Aug. 30.—The British cruiser Rainbow, assisted by the French cruiser Montcalm, have captured the German cruiser Leipzig after a two-hour battle. The victorious cruisers are bringing the German ship to Esquimaux.

PRINCESS PATRICIA'S DETAINED.

(Special to The Guardian)
QUEBEC, Aug. 30.—The Princess Patricia Light Infantry, which sailed direct from Montreal, presumably for England, were ordered to disembark here this morning, and are now in camp at Point Levis. Col. Farquhar, who is in command, has been informed by the Admiralty that they preferred to go rather than simply taking one regiment. This is taken to mean that an escort of British warships will accompany the transport, and a trip across the Atlantic, under such circumstances, necessitates taking all the troops available at one time.

Another report current is that several German ships eluded the North Sea Fleet in the recent naval engagement, and are now cruising in the North Atlantic, and until these are rounded up and disposed of, it is better not to move any Canadian soldiers to the front.

HOSPITAL SHIP ARRIVES.

(Special to The Guardian)
LONDON, Aug. 30.—(Official)—The Hospital Ship has arrived at Aberdeen, Scotland, carrying the wounded from the engagement in the North Sea, and also several invalids. Among the number is Prince Albert, the King's second son. It is not stated definitely that the Prince was wounded in the engagement, or suffering from some other ailment.

KING ALBERT UNDER FIRE.

(Special to The Guardian)
OSTEND, Aug. 30.—It is announced here to-day that King Albert was under heavy shrapnel fire for two hours on Friday, but was unharmed.

TROOPS ON SHORT PATIONS

ROME, Aug. 28.—A correspondent at Trieste, Austria of the Messaggero, says "serious conditions prevail in Pola, where troops have been reduced to half numbers. An entrenchment camp is being constructed round Pola. The Austrian troops operating in the south have been ordered to remain on the defensive as a large number of troops have been taken from Bosnia and sent to Galicia to oppose the Russians who are making alarming progress."

GERMANS LOST HEAVILY SUMMARY OF THE SITUATION

(Special to The Guardian)
LONDON, Aug. 30.—(Official)—General French, in his report of the fighting from August 23rd to the 26th, states that the German losses were all out of proportion to the British. Between eight and nine hundred Germans were counted dead on one street.

DRIVING BACK THE GERMANS.

(Special to The Guardian)
PARIS, Aug. 30.—The War Office here declares officially as follows: The French left wing, comprising four army corps, drove Germans back on Guise. The Germans engaged are known as the "Tenth" army. The bulletin continues: "Several thousand Austrian prisoners have been captured in a fierce engagement along the Vistula. In one battle the Austrians report their losses as three thousand."

KAISER WILL SEEK PEACE VERY SOON.

LONDON, August 29.—A prominent diplomatist of the highest official standing in a neutral government, who happens to be in Europe observing the developments, predicts that the Kaiser will make the first overtures for peace within two months. He said:—

"It is clearly evident that the Russian advance will make the German position untenable in the long run. It is equally evident that the Kaiser cannot afford to permit the Fatherland to be crushed in the final stage of the struggle, as final defeat, even after early military achievements, would mean the probable loss of his imperial crown, and serious internal trouble to Germany."

RUSSIA'S ADVANCE.

(Special to The Guardian)
ST. PETERSBURG, Aug. 30.—The War Office makes the following report: "Our advance continues to be successful and steady, and it is only a matter of a few days when the Germans will be driven beyond the Vistula."

INDIAN TROOPS TO BE USED AGAINST GERMANY

IMPORTANT SPEECHES BY LORD KITCHENER AND LORD CREW

LONDON, Aug. 29.—Lord Kitchener, Secretary of State for War announced in the House of Lords today that in addition to reinforcements which would be received from this country the Government had decided that the British army in France should be increased. The troops to increase the forces were now on the way. He said that all the gaps in the army in France were going to be filled up. That the employment of native Indian troops was meant by Lord Kitchener was later confirmed by the Marquis of Crewe, Secretary of State for India. The Marquis said:—"It has been deeply impressed on the Government that the wonderful wave of enthusiasm and loyalty at the present time passing over India is largely due to the desire of the Indian people that Indian soldiers should stand side by side with their comrades in the British army."

REASSURING STATEMENT

(Exclusive to The Guardian)
LONDON, August 30.—The Times news summary official account, issued by the War Office Sunday, is the most complete and reassuring which has yet been communicated to the British public.

They are assured that since Wednesday there has been no serious fighting so far as the British front is concerned and that reinforcements amounting to double the loss suffered have already joined and that the army has been replaced and that the army is now ready to take part in the next great encounter with undiminished strength and undaunted spirit. The left wing of the Allies and four French army corps have taken the offensive and have driven the Prussian Guard and a German army corps back to Guise.

On the other hand there has been heavy fighting southward of the great French fortress of Mezieres, due to an advance by the army under the German Crown Prince. In Lorraine, the French offensive is said to be still in progress.

BONDS DROPPED IN PARIS

(Exclusive to The Guardian)
LONDON, August 30.—An Exchange Special from Paris says, five bombs were dropped in Paris this afternoon by a German aeroplane; several shots did slight damage. Two women were injured. The aviator was also dropped a manifesto saying the German army was at the gates of Paris and demanding surrender.

MORE BRITISH CRUISERS FOR ATLANTIC ROUTES

NEW YORK, Aug. 29.—It was reported in shipping circles here today that six more British cruisers had been ordered to the Atlantic coast to blockade American ports against the escape of German merchant ships, and to clear the North Atlantic of the enemy's warships.

BATTLE RAGING.

(Special to The Guardian)
PARIS, Aug. 30.—A violent battle is taking place in the region of Lannoy, but the result is still indecisive.

FRENCH VOLUNTEERS' STRONG DEFENCE

Count Zeppelin Offers as Volunteer

(Exclusive to The Guardian.)
LONDON, Aug. 29.—By William Maxwell, Telegraph Correspondent, Aug. 28 Arras, France, Cambra was occupied yesterday. The defence of the frontier between Lille and Valenciennes was, until twelve hours ago, entrusted to French Volunteer troops who have done all in their power to arrest the enemy but conditions are not in their favor. The force opposed is one of the most highly trained and best equipped in the world. It consists of a Cavalry Division, supported by a battalion of infantry, with artillery and machine guns. So rapid and audacious are its movements that in four or five days the Cavalry appeared at almost every point along the road from Lille to Cambrai, 35 miles. The volunteers, who were without artillery or machine guns, were ordered to hold Cambrai at all costs. They fought for three hours and were then compelled to fall back on Arras. I met them retiring before the enemy whose machine guns were decimating their ranks. The Cavalry made several desperate rushes but never succeeded in getting home. Retirement was conducted with skill and coolness and was covered by regular troops which were hurried up to the front. There is now a strong and well-armed and brave, shown advance on Bethune and Arras. The raid appears to have been checked. It is not understood that it was for strategic purposes. Some further portions of this Northwest Territory must be abandoned. The people are naturally alarmed and have shown despatch taking flight on a mere rumor of the enemy's approach. Stories of Ullan atrocities have seized upon the popular imagination. These stampedes only cause confusion. No doubt they will cease in time and as in the meantime people will flock from the towns and villages to watch the engagements. The French soldiers display astonishing sangfroid.

COUNT ZEPPELIN OFFERS AS VOLUNTEER

GERMAN PLANS

(Exclusive to The Guardian.)
LONDON, August 30.—Maxwell, the Telegraph Correspondent at Amiens wires. The German plan of campaign is now believed to be this: The Russians are to be allowed to advance as far as the River Oise or even further. If attention will be paid by German headquarters staff to the Russian advance every effort of the German army will be centered upon France. In short the German headquarters staff will allow Berlin to be occupied by the Russians with the hope that it may itself occupy Paris. The whole force of the German army is now thrown against the French and British troops. A determined and indeed a desperate effort is being made to break through French and British lines either by a flanking movement northwards or by a violent attack in great force a little further south. Either move will be audacious and one flanking movement by the north may seem rash. Events will show whether either is successful. The line of military interest is therefore the line from Metz to the Meuse. General Bonnal stated that the French forces consisted of, first, the Alsace and Lorraine army, under General Pau; secondly, the Woerwe army moving upon Belgian Neuchateau; thirdly the Sedan army marching upon Palisul, between Lezre and Metz; fourthly an army from Chimay, and between Sambre and Meuse, in conjunction with British forces (here the censor has deleted a long paragraph). He continues: "The battle of Charleroi on the morning of August 23, when three German armies had crossed the left bank of the Meuse and had advanced in part on Brussels, in part on Mons, and in part on Charleroi the idea being to invade France through Lille and Maauberge. Our battle front extended from Mons, held by the British troops, to Longwy and spread over about 120 miles west of the Meuse, between Mons and Givet. The country is of easy access and allows of easy combination of cavalry, artillery and infantry. East of the Meuse the country is well wooded from Givet to Longwy and the River Sorey forms a difficult natural obstacle. The battle was therefore west of the Meuse and especially on the two banks of the Sambre (here the censor deleted another paragraph) The French were operating west of the Meuse attacked with two army corps, including that from Algeria, and retired in face of an overpowering attack from the Prussian guard; at the same time the British forces near Mons withstood the German attack successfully. Owing to these checks our troops and the British retired and took up positions upon the covering line. They are now in a good defensive position, awaiting German attacks."

ALLIES VIGOROUS DEFENCE

(Special to The Guardian)
LONDON, August 30.—A despatch to the Times from Amiens, France, says that since Monday morning last the German advance has been one of almost incredible rapidity. The Germans have hardly given the retreat of the line on the Meuse. The first great German effort has succeeded," says the correspondent. "We have to face the fact that the British expeditionary force requires immediate and immense reinforcements."

GERMAN ADVANCE.

(Special to The Guardian)
LONDON, August 30.—A despatch to the Times from Amiens, France, says that since Monday morning last the German advance has been one of almost incredible rapidity. The Germans have hardly given the retreat of the line on the Meuse. The first great German effort has succeeded," says the correspondent. "We have to face the fact that the British expeditionary force requires immediate and immense reinforcements."

RUSSIAN SUCCESSES

PARIS, Aug. 28.—The War Office tonight issues the following announcement: "In Galicia the Russians are taking a vigorous offensive. After successful engagements near (name place evidently cut out by censors) they are marching on now and are twenty miles from town. The Germans continue in active retreat toward Konisberg."

ZEPPELINS CAUSE PANIC

LONDON, Aug. 28.—Telegraph Special from Rotterdam says, "I have just heard that a Zeppelin passed Hurnhout, in the direction of Antwerp" states the Antwerp correspondent of the Nieuwe Rotterdamse Courant, writing on the night of the 27th. "People of Antwerp fear another visit and not merely one but many Zeppelins. The inhabitants of houses in the neighborhood of the Royal Palace have turned out and the houses are closed and guarded. Steam is being kept in the royal yacht, and if necessary the Queen and Princess will be brought to England."

THE ALLIES' OBJECT

(Exclusive to The Guardian.)
PARIS, August 30.—Exclusive by Jean Finot the distinguished historian and diplomat who, four months ago, predicted a European war, in an article published by... "Now that Europe is in flames it should be borne in mind that France, Russia, England, Japan, and Belgium are not fighting to crush the German people but to abolish the Prussian caste system. As a matter of fact Teutonic people will be the first to benefit by the ultimate triumph of the Allies."
