Whole Russian Campaign shock To Germans

NEW YORK, Oct. 28 (CP)—When Russia failed to crumble before the Nazi blitzkrieg within a month or six weeks the German people could hardly believe the fact. Harry W. Flannery, former Columbia Broadcasting System correspondent in Berlin said tonight.

The whole Russian campaign has been a shock to the German people, said Flannery as he told in a broadcast to Canada, on the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation's "We Have Been There" series, how it is becoming more and more evident in Berlin that German losses have been huge. Flannery returned from the Berlin capital a few weeks ago.

"The number of dead and maimed soldiers in the papers grew in number and continued day after day," he said. "More and more women in mourning appeared on the streets until some of us began to think the Germans might soon decide it best to prohibit the wearing of the clothes of death soldiers with one or both arms gone and sometimes with but one leg, some with their arms in slings and their heads in bandages, appeared more often. The cost of the war was coming home to the people as never before."

But there was no sign that German morale is breaking. There seemed to be merely resignation to the idea that "it has to be." Older people say they cannot forget what happened after the first Great War and that this time it may be worse, said Flannery.

Silence in N. S. before Election day

HALIFAX, Oct. 26 (CP)—Silence fell upon Nova Scotia's political battleground today and three parties prepared to get out the voters who will elect the province's 19th legislature Tuesday.

Opposition leader L. W. Fraser fired the last gun in his campaign Saturday night with an address broadcast over three radio stations from New Glasgow. Premier A. S. MacMillan was in his riding of Hants after delivering his final address Friday at Wind. sor.

For a province that has known the fire of a Howe and the diversified characteristics of dozens of her other political giants of the past, this wartime campaign has been one of quiet. It was strictly another Liberal-Conservative duel although the Co-Operative Commonwealth Federation has entered six candidates, an all-time high.

Against 30 Liberals and 29 Conservatives, the C. C. F. effort does not loom as large or dangerous.

Six top aces Of R. A. F. are Enroute to U. S.

OTTAWA, Oct. 28 (CP)—Six of the top aces of the Royal Air Force are on this side of the Atlantic. They left Canada by plane today for the United States where they will be attached temporarily to the U. S. army corps.

Their names are household words in the United Kingdom for one holds the coveted Victoria Cross, two are the first and second ranking fighter pilots in this war and all wear decorations for their leadership and personal exploits in the battle of Britain.

"Make no mistake, these chaps are the absolute cream of the R. A. F.," said one Canadian officer who welcomed them.

Wing Cmdr. H. I. Edwards, 27, V. C., D. F. C., day bombers, who won the V. C. for a brilliant attack on Bremen.

Wing Cmdr. A. G. Malan, 28, D. S. O. and Bar, D.F.C. and bar, fighters, credited with shooting down 35 enemy planes.

Wing Cmdr. R.R.S. Tuck, 25, D. S. O., D.F.C. and two bars, fighters, credited with 29 enemy craft.

Group Capt. Harry Broadhurst, 35, D.S.O., D.F.C., A.F.C., fighters, who has downed 15 opponents.

Wing Cmdr. J.H.N. Whitworth, 29, D.S.O., D.F.C., A.F.C., night bombers.

Group Capt. C. Boothman, 40, A. F. C., bombers.

Typically reticent, the youthful veterans disliked talking about themselves. Edwards shrugged non-committally when asked about his V. C.

"There wasn't much of anything special about it, just a daylight raid on Bremen," he said.

DeGaulle urges Folded-arms Demonstration

Says National Standstill In France Would Show Germans Menace Which Exists.

LONDON, Oct. 26 (AP)—Gen. Charles De Gaulle, leader of the Free French, in a broadcast Saturday night called upon all France for a five-minute folded-arms demonstration—"an immense national strike"—as a protest against the 50-for-1 reprisal killings of French hostages.

He set the time for the demonstration for 4 p.m. (11 a.m. A.S.T.) next Friday.

Declaring the national standstill would show the Germans they are surrounded by a "gigantic menace," De Gaulle said, "the French nation suddenly and completely transfixed with arms crossed in hatred and in scorn will strike anguish into the hearts of the enemy and the traitors who serve them."

"The enemy thought he could frighten France by shooting our martyrs, but France is going to show him she is not afraid," said the Free French leader.

He said all Frenchmen and French women should be "gigantic standing to attention in complete immobility" whether in fields, in factories, in offices, in schools or in stores, would be the "most impressive demonstration possible at the present moment."

On Thursday De Gaulle directed his countrymen as a matter of tactics "not to kill Germans" because reprisal is too easy. At the same time he said it was "normal" and justified that Germans should be killed by Frenchmen because "Germans 'should have stayed by their own country and not waged war on us.'"

De Gaulle's dramatic appeal started speculation as to what the German authorities and Marshal Petain of the Vichy regime would do to combat the folded-arms strike.

It was pointed out that the move would be one exceedingly difficult for the Germans to fight—almost as invidious as the British "V for victory" campaign.

Some quarters said that unless the call is almost universally observed it would give Nazi authorities an excellent chance to check up on Free French sympathizers and lead perhaps to even greater reprisals. Others said that De Gaulle must be confident of his strength or he would not venture asking this of his countrymen.

In his broadcast the Free French leader said that "soon as it is possible to attack from the outside and from the inside you will receive appropriate instructions."

The Secretary was appointed to attend to sending Christmas gifts to the boys of the district in uniform.

Czechs Eager To Fight Hitler

ALL ACCEPTABLE WORKERS IN ONTARIO PLANT VOLUNTEER FOR SERVICE

TORONTO, October 27, 1941—Colonel Genek Hutnik and Wing-Commander Jan Ambros from the Czechoslovak Military Mission of the Czechoslovak Army fighting with the British Forces have returned from Bratislava, Ontario, the new development of the Bata Shoe Company of Canada, where they made an appeal to the Czechoslovak subjects to volunteer for the Czechoslovak Army in England.

This challenge to the patriotism of the men who saw Hitler's ho-dex marching through Czechoslovakia in Spring 1939 found a response not exceeded amongst the Czechoslovak population of the North American Continent. All men having the necessary qualifications volunteered. Some of them have an excellent military training from their own country as fighting pilots or tank drivers, and will be a valuable asset to the Czechoslovak Forces fighting with the British.

A great many of them are already engaged in the production of War Munitions, and their offer to enlist may be accepted only after careful consideration of their usefulness by the Canadian Government; but others will be able to throw their weight into the job of fighting Hitler directly with arms.

There could be no greater expression of the loyalty and will to make every possible sacrifice on the part of Czechoslovak instructors and ordinary personnel who are now employed in the Bata plant, than the extent and enthusiasm with which they are enlisting. The allied military forces thus reap a further beneficial result of the Canadian government's decision which permitted the entry of many good citizens from the beleaguered European countries. These men have proved themselves ready to work and fight according to their conscience and common cause.

World Labor Conference opens

NEW YORK, Oct. 26 (AP)—The first world labor conference since the 1939 invasion of Poland, its makeup reflecting the fortunes of war, opens tomorrow with delegates from 33 nations sitting down to discuss munitions production and post-war problems.

The sponsoring group, the International Labor Organization is the sole functioning offshoot of the League of Nations. Since war engulfed Europe the ILO has been operating from McGill University in Montreal.

Representing the Vichy government will be Francis P. Baffieu, counselor of the French Embassy in Washington, who will sit as sole envoy from the "collaborationist" powers.

Around the same conference table will be at least one observer from the Free French forces of Gen. Charles de Gaulle and full delegations from the governments-in-exile of Belgium, Poland, Czechoslovakia, Greece, the Netherlands, Luxembourg, Norway and Yugoslavia.

Germany, Italy, Spain, Japan and Russia will not be represented.

Canadians parade To Historic Abbey For Church Service

By Ross Munro
Canadian Press War Correspondent

LONDON, Oct. 26 (CP Cable)—Three hundred Canadian soldiers paraded today through London streets to a church service in Westminster Abbey and sang "O Canada" in the vaulted shrine of the British Commonwealth.

Representative sections from the 3rd Division Royal Canadian Army Service Corps under Maj. J. T. W. Bessonet of Victoria, B.C., came to London from their camps to march from Hyde Park down Constitution Hill, past Buckingham Palace and along Birdcage Walk to the Abbey.

With civilians and a scattering of British fighting men, the Canadians crowded the Abbey in the first church parade for Dominion troops ever held in the storied edifice.

During the service, which was concluded with "O Canada," a Canadian guard stood by the four candles at the corners of the altar, known warrior in the Abbey floor.

After the troops left the Abbey they passed through streets thronged with London's Sunday crowds past the Parliament Buildings and down the Victoria Embankment where Rt. Hon. Vincent Massey, Canada's High Commissioner, took the salute near the air force memorial, pitted by bomb splinters in German air raids.

Maj.-Gen. C. B. Price of Montreal, the divisional commander, and members of the Canadian Parliamentary party which has just arrived in London attended the service.

The R.C.A.S. band under Col. Harry Thomas of Abbotsford, B.C., headed the parade.

A Strange Service

Miss Evelyn Tufts of Nova Scotia is in England, writing a series of articles for a Halifax newspaper. Recently she visited Bristol, which was badly bombed by Germans. Of one church in that city Miss Tufts says in part:

"Outside, on the corner, there is a sign, 'Service will be held in the ruins of this church every Sunday evening at 7.15, weather permitting,'" it reads. And so it is.

A strange service, indeed, it seemed, held just before blackout, with the fading light still revealed the battered walls and crumbling masonry of nearby Corn and Wine Streets, where Robert Southey lived and Charles Wesley wrote "Jesus Lover of My Soul," and not far away Edmund Burke's monument recalls that fervent and high-minded foe of bigotry and national hatreds, and his poignant summing up of human destiny—"What shadow we are and what shadows we pursue."

"Abide with me, fast falls the evening! I kept wishing 't that the people at home, who have remembered these men, women and children in their adversity, and especially the people of that other Bristol in Prince Edward Island, could have heard that old familiar music, in so tragic and incredible a setting."
