AT GYRO—Matters of business of current club interest were transacted at the regular weekly meeting of the Gyro Club held last evening in the Canadian National Hotel. Mr. Kenneth MacKenzie was in the chair. Dr. A. Murchison of the city was a guest.

POLICE COURT—At the Police Court yesterday a man, charged with operating a motor vehicle while intoxicated, was sentenced to thirty days in jail. Another man, charged with being drunk while in charge of a motor vehicle, was sentenced to seven days in jail. Another case, non-support of wife, was adjourned until Friday. Two drunks were each fined $5 and costs or ten days in jail. A man, charged with illegal consumption of liquor, was fined ten dollars and costs or twenty days in jail.

REPAIRS TO LEGISLATIVE CHAMBER—The old plaster on the ceiling of the Legislative Chamber in the Provincial Building is being replaced, for the first time since the construction of the building over eighty years ago. The laths used originally were all hand split. Will the new ones, the product of modern machinery, last as long? At any rate, the dilapidated condition of the ceiling has necessitated the present undertaking. Repairs are also being made to the roof and gutters of the building.

AUCTION FORTY-FIVES CARD PARTY—The fourth of a series of Auction forty-fives held in the Holy Name Club last evening was fairly well attended. For a very important reason, however, a good number were unable to attend. The prize winners for the evening were as follows: Ladies, 1st, Mrs. M. Simmons; Ladies, 2nd, Miss B. Paquet; Gents, 1st, Chas. Bolsens; Gents, 2nd, A. D. Lynch; Lucky Table, Mrs. Joseph Stewart; Freeze Out, Malchias Callaghan.

AT ROTARY—At the Rotary luncheon yesterday the speaker was Mr. H. J. Gordon of Charlottetown and his subject "Canadian Currency and Banking Before Confederation." He traced the developing of banking since the pioneer days, when retail trade was carried on chiefly by barter and little currency was used. Years ago, before the days of chartered banks, three of the mediums used as currency on Prince Edward Island were treasury notes issued in 1790, "holy" or ring dollar and its accompanying discs or centrepieces, and the Fitzpatrick leather notes, these notes being issued by James Fitzpatrick, who had a shoemaker's shop on Queen Street, Charlottetown, next to the store of James Reddin, this building being burned within recent years. For a time early banks operated at private corporations. The Bank of New Brunswick, the first bank to receive a charter and operate under it, was incorporated in 1820. The first Dominion Bank Act was passed in 1870. Past President H. L. Palmer was in the chair today. It was decided to postpone the holding of ladies' night for two or three weeks. The guests present were Rotarian Ed Miles and Kiwanian Harvey Doane, of Halifax.

SEES BENNETT AS DOMINATING PERSONALITY

Snowden in Attack on Canadian Prime Minister Admits Latter's "Masterful Leadership"

(By Thomas T. Champion) (Canadian Press Staff Writer) (C.P. Cable By Guardian's Special Wire)

LONDON, Oct. 22.—Prime Minister R. B. Bennett of Canada is labelled a "dictatorial" personality by Viscount Snowden of Ickneshaw better known as the former Philip Snowden, in the second volume of his memoirs to be published tomorrow.

Lord Snowden was chancellor of the Exchequer in the Labor ministry when he met Premier Bennett at the Imperial Conference here in London. At this conference Premier Bennett's economic proposals—called "worthless" and one-sided by Snowden—fell through for the time being, but the meeting led to the successful conference at Ottawa.

"It was clear from the outset that Premier Bennett would be the dominating personality among the Dominion representatives," writes Lord Snowden. "He is a man of forceful character, of vigorous speech, with a definite policy."

"Very early in the conference he put forward a plan for closer trade relations between Canada and Britain. He summed it up in a single sentence—Canada first, Britain second, the rest of the world in between. He surprised me by his apparent ignorance of the attitude of the Labor government to tariff policy."

"Perhaps Premier Bennett was not ignorant of our position, but he put forward proposals for Canadian consumption."

He refers to the "very considerable difficulty" he had in drawing from the Canadian Prime Minister the definite meaning of his offer, but found it was not intended as a reduction in tariff on British goods, which in many cases was so high as to be practically prohibitive.

"When this was made clear the worthlessness of Premier Bennett's proposals was obvious."

SERVICE AT THE BASHILICA—The second evening service of the women's mission was held at 7:30 last evening in St. Dunstan's Basilica. The church was crowded to overflowing. Fr. Hubert preached a forceful sermon on the text "What a man shall sow, those things also shall he reap." He reminded his listeners of the certainty of death and of the uncertainty of the time and place of it, and urged them to prepare for a happy death by leading a holy life. Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament was given by Rev. Dr. McMahon, the whole congregation joining in the singing. The special services for the women concludes this evening and the men's mission opens tomorrow evening at 7:30.

offer was obvious, and justified the description given by Thomas (H. H. Thomas, Secretary for Dominions) in the House of Commons, "humbly."

Snowden's Admission.

Lord Snowden admits that while Premier Bennett's offer was "completely unacceptable" to the British Government it was supported by representatives of the other Dominions.

"It took us some time to drive into the heads of those Dominion representatives that it was useless to discuss 'this kind' of thing," he writes. "Committees were appointed and after six weeks of time-wasting procedure the conference ended with practically nothing accomplished."

The description of Mr. Bennett's proposals as "humbly" was blunt-spoken Mr. Thomas caused some sensation. Lord Snowden recalled, "Mr. Bennett naturally took strong exception to this language."

"The Tory press had been flatly declaring that here was an opportunity for the help of a dictionary, that Mr. Thomas did not mean anything offensive by his use of the word, 'I was very sorry for Thomas over this Imperial Conference,'" says Lord Snowden.

Churches Closed In Mexico

(A. P. By Guardian's Special Wire) MEXICO CITY, Oct. 22—Two Catholic Churches in Colima, capital of the state of that name, were closed today by order of the governor bringing to four the number of churches in the republic without similar steps were taken previously by the governors of Tabasco, Chiapas and Sonora, where priests have been expelled and churches taken over by authorities.

The situation caused by a conflict over pending implantation of socialist education and proposals for expulsion of high Catholic generalities, remained generally quiet while opposition factions waited for President Rodriguez to act on the anti-church plan.

As a conclusion one of the most successful meetings held in district number twelve, which was presided over by Mr. Court, was held in the City of Mexico. Music was furnished by Elliott's Orchestra.

CITY TEACHERS HOLD ANNUAL CONVENTION

Addresses Delivered by Premier MacMillan, Mr. H. H. Shaw and Professor Court.

The annual convention of the teachers of the city schools was held in Rochford Square School yesterday morning. Miss Jacqueline Macdonald presided.

Premier MacMillan in a brief address referred to the branches of the Carnegie Library which have been established in the different centres of the province. He referred to the alarming increase in juvenile delinquency. About sixteen youths from this city are at present in reformatories on the mainland.

The speaker referred to the number of students matriculating into Prince of Wales College from the city and country schools and pointed out that the former did not compare favorably with the latter.

In conclusion Premier MacMillan referred to the automobile traffic and stated that it is a miracle that there are not more children killed. In reference to drunken drivers the Premier stated that already this year 100 licenses have been cancelled and although every effort has been made to have some of these licenses restored the department has refused to do so.

At the conclusion of the address a hearty vote of thanks was tendered to Premier MacMillan.

In supporting the vote of thanks Mr. Leo Macdonald remarked that the number matriculating into Prince of Wales College from the city compared very favorably with the number matriculating from the country. The city schools, he claimed made an excellent showing.

Premier MacMillan in reply stated that he did not intend his remarks as a criticism. If he had would have compared the ages of those matriculating.

The next speaker, Mr. H. H. Shaw, in the course of his remarks dealt with the findings of committees in Great Britain and the United States with regard to secondary educational institutions. He commended the idea of developing projects as a method of arousing the interest of a class. He agreed with Premier MacMillan in the matter of having more direct contact between parents and teachers.

Professor Court the next speaker in the course of his address stated that he found from his observations in the teacher training department that both city and country students show a lack of self-reliance.

He gave many helpful suggestions including a method of approaching problems in Algebra and exercises in Geometry.

Mr. Fox, before moving a vote of thanks to Professor Court, referred to him the congratulations of the Institute on his appointment to the staff of Prince of Wales College.

The nominating committee brought in the following report: President—Mr. Fred Hine, West Kent School.

Vice President—Mr. Kenneth MacMillan, Queen Square School.

Secretary—Miss Mabel Matheson, Prince Street School.

Executive Member—Miss Mary Callaghan, Rochford Square School.

RESOLUTIONS

POLICE BULLETS

Dyke, a farm hand, employed by Mrs. Ellen Conkle, endeavoring to persuade him to take him to Youngstown, where he thought he might find refuge in the more populous city.

The officers pointed their guns and a volley burst forth. Floyd continued, however, to run until additional bullets found their mark.

Floyd hurried to the prostrate form, eager to prevent the dying man's last words. Some of Floyd's final words were heard by several of the others, but some were heard only by the Department of Justice leader, and these Purvis refused to reveal.

Later, Floyd's body was brought to a mortuary here and placed on a slab.

The body had hardly arrived before a crowd of at least 500 persons collected outside, much as another crowd gathered a few months ago when Purvis led the raid that ended in the death of Dillinger in Chicago.

Floyd had only $120 in his pockets when he died. The magazines of the two automatics he was carrying were fully loaded.

Floyd had appeared at the farm this afternoon where he was seen by Arthur Conkle. Previously warned, as were all farmers in that section, to be on the lookout for strangers, Conkle notified the Department of Justice men.

Quick Action

Quick action by the officers followed. In just a few minutes they had raced from their headquarters several miles away, closely followed by the four fastest patrol policemen, to the Conkle farm. The shooting began almost as quickly.

At noon, Floyd had asked Mrs. Alma Conkle to cook a dinner for him when a man residing near the desperado questioned her about newspaper stories she had read.

After the meal, Floyd asked Mrs. Conkle if she could arrange to get him an automobile ride to Youngstown. She refused, but he would wait for the men to return from work in the fields.

Floyd was only about 200 feet away from the officers when the burst of gun fire brought him down. At that distance, it would have been almost impossible for him to have escaped.

The first shots that struck him apparently produced a numbness for although he was hit at least eight times, one of his dying observations was "you got me twice."

The trail of the much-hunted criminal was picked up in Ohio Saturday when a man residing near Wellsville, O., reported to Police Chief J. H. Fultz there that two suspicious-acting men were staying in a ravine near his home.

When Fultz and another officer investigated they were greeted with bullets.

They were convinced they were dealing with desperate characters although not realizing one of the men was Floyd. Fultz summoned a posse to aid him before proceeding further.

Gun Fight

When the posse arrived, a general gun fight ensued in which Grover Potts, 35, a deputized posseman was shot in the arm.

One of the suspects was arrested and identified later as Elmer E. II, but it was not until much later that the officers learned the other man was Floyd.

While Richetti was being captured, Pretty Boy kidnaped James H. Baum, 65, a florist, and forced him to drive him away in Baum's automobile.

The officers, however were in hot pursuit, and finally overtook Baum's car.

Floyd ordered Baum to jump out and then fled to a nearby woods while the officers fired at him. One of the shots struck Baum in the hip and the officers temporarily lost the trail and although they scoured the countryside today it looked for awhile as if the Pretty Boy had made good another of the sensational escapes that have marked his long career of crime.

Trail of Crime

The trail of crime which Floyd blazed across the country started in St. Louis in 1925 when he was given a sentence of five years for highway robbery. In 1930 he showed up in Akron, O., and was arrested for robbery in connection with the killing of a policeman.

Officials could not find sufficient evidence to bring Floyd to trial and turned him over to Sylvania, (Ohio) police for bank robbery. After escaping jail and being recaptured, Floyd was sentenced to from 10 to 25 years in the Ohio Penitentiary.

He escaped that term by jumping from a window of the train which was taking him to Columbus.

At Bowling Green some time later, officers recognized him, but Floyd shot his way out, killing patrolman Ralph Castner. Floyd then returned to the family Ozarks and in April, 1932, he shot his way out of another police ambush, killing Eric Kelly, a

You can't fool an old salt

... not when it comes to pipe tobacco

I want a tobacco that smokes cool and even... with real honest pleasure in every single puff. And when you've said that, you've said MASTER MASON. Mellow pipe tobacco, every shred of it... "coarse cut" for steady slow burning... the tobacco that's made for pipes. Try it.

Corn Huskers Will Appear Here Tomorrow

Tomorrow evening George Wade and his Corn-Huskers, popular radio, vaudeville and Victor recording artists will appear in person in Charlottetown at the Prince of Wales College Hall.

The Corn-Huskers are known throughout the Continent over their broadcasts over the Canadian Radio Commission network, carried in many instances on request over many United States stations. They are a jovial band whose music is not confined to one sphere but varies from old time dance music to modern jazz. Among a number of features included in the program is the "Red River Valley Cowboy" which has won popular acclaim in many centres.

On their second annual tour Wade and his orchestral band have included the Matlimes, playing before large houses in Saint John and Moncton. Through last minute negotiations this popular modern old time dance band has been booked to appear here and needless to say will be well received.
