KEITH & PROCTOR'S FIFTH AVENUE THEATRE.

New York, Week of October 17, 1910.

True to its ante-season promises, the Fifth Avenue Theatre is setting the standard for American vaudeville.

Unfiring efforts in the search for novelty and originality have resulted in the engagement for the week of October 17th of no less a personage than the greatest character actor on the English-speaking stage, Frank Keenan.

The securing of Mr. Keenan, the most eagerly sought after artist of the present day, is regarded as the biggest triumph of the Fifth Avenue's career, but it is only a forerunner of the strong offerings yet to be presented.

Supported by a company of five players, Mr. Keenan will appear in a stirring bit of drama, "The Oath," in which Mr. Keenan will create the most powerful role he has yet attempted.

Though intense in action and gripping in its hold, "The Oath" has no elements of grossness or morbidity, two factors which generally militate against the success of most playlets submitted by the stellar recruits from the legitimate.

Mr. Keenan promises a thoroughly artistic portrayal of the central character, every detail of action and dialogue receiving his personal attention, which means perfection to the ultimate degree.

Another bit of newness will be disclosed when the curtain rises on Charles Lovenberg's new production, "College Life," a sumptuous ensemble, requiring twenty singers and dancers.

"College Life" is a mild satire on Rah-Rah existence, and it seems entirely appropriate, coming, as it does, at the zenith of the 1910 football season.

Mr. Lovenberg's other productions have given much satisfaction and in "College Life" he claims to be giving a $10,000 production, fit for the biggest Broadway stage.

Those well-liked veterans with the ever-changing new ideas, Bixley and Fink, are down on the same bill for a pot-pourri of non-sensical dialogue, eccentric dancing, excellent singing and ludicrous burlesques on the standard operas.

Another school-day skit is scheduled when Conlin, Steele and Carr do their exhilarating musical skit, "Just Out of College," a riotous mélange of mirth and melody, presented swiftly, surely and successfully.

Nothing but laughs are in order, when Henry Clive, assisted by Mai Sturges Walker, start burlesquing the great magicians of the day, mercilessly exposing their most difficult feats.

A bit of refined comedy is due when Merrill and Otto proffer their dainty interlude, "After the Shower," the same being twenty minutes of crisp dialogue, graceful dancing and harmonized duets.

Rosa Royal and her posing horse, Chesterfield, will entertain with a marvelous display of feminine beauty and animal intelligence.

Dorenzo and Ladue are adepts in aerial stunts and the motion pictures promise to be both diverting and instructive.

A Matchless Form Developer and Skin Beautifier

Your form may be beautiful, your features perfect and your complexion handsome, but if your blood begins to get impure you will lose all your charms and become a disfigured, emaciated weakling and have your system unprepared for the attacks of disease. By using Nulife when symptoms begin to appear you will be able to successfully thwart the advancement of any disease and build up your system better than it was before.

NULIFE (Red Blood Tablets) is not a cure-all. It acts directly on and enriches the blood and thereby strengthens the wasted tissues, further helping to offset any disease. It is a well known fact that half the ills of life originate from poor and impure blood.

Men and Boys Regain Lost Health Through Nulife

All boys are active and energetic as a rule but some stay round the house and cannot take much interest in anything. This can be charged to weakness caused by impure blood for it is an unnatural tendency. Nulife will make a strong, active, bright-eyed rosy checked lad out of any "molly-coddle" and make him take an interest in all healthy pastimes.

Men will find Nulife a source of supply for rebuilding a worn down body and brain.
