Naval Quarters Up For Sale By Sealed Tender

The lease of the Sims building housing H. M. C. S. "Queen Charlotte", naval training headquarters for the Province, expires on July 1, and the owners of the property, the Provincial Government, are now advertising for sealed tenders for its purchase. The rental paid by the Naval Department is $1,000 a year.

The building was purchased for $10,000 by the Stewart Government after the Falconwood fire several years ago, and used to accommodate mental patients. Since the outbreak of war many thousands of dollars have been expended by the Dominion in equipping it for naval training purposes.

Recently it was announced that while naval training would be discontinued at the "Queen Charlotte", the quarters would continue to serve as a naval discharge depot.

No information as to any change in policy has been received locally, and it is not known what, if any, provision for naval purposes will be made in the event of the building being sold to private interests.

Queried on this subject yesterday, Premier J. Walter Jones said the Provincial Government had no further use for the building, and believed it would be good business to dispose of it. There was nothing to prevent the Defense Department from acquiring it if they still needed it, he suggested. He had no intimation as to what it was proposed to do at Ottawa.

Address and Presentation

Hunter River, P.E.I., June 13, 1945.

To A.B. Chester Whitlock—

Dear Chetty:—

For the people of Hunter River and vicinity this is another occasion when we gather to say farewell and God-speed to another of our young men who has heard and answered the call to take up arms in defence of his country and the God given principles of freedom and justice.

We come here this evening with sentiments mingled with pride and sadness. Pride because we behold a young man possessed with patriotism and fortitude; sadness because the parting of friends is always difficult, both for him who leaves and for them who are left behind, and on an occasion like this the parting is felt more acutely because you go into a conflict with an enemy who is both powerful and wicked.

But even if the parting is tinged with sadness, we are cheered by the fact that cowardice has no part in the make-up of our Canadian boys.

In you Chester we have always found qualities of a high state. As a school pal you will long be remembered as a good sport who had lots of give and take. In church circles and in other social activities in the village you were willing and ready to do your part.

We would like you to know that we admire the boys of the navy very much. May your heart be as strong and pure as the great winds and silvery waves of the sea.

In conclusion dear friend please accept this little gift as a mark of our esteem and appreciation for you. Rest assured that wherever fate may lead you our prayers and good wishes will follow you.

May we cherish the hope that when this war is over and right has once more prevailed over might, we may welcome you once more into our midst under the happiest auspices.

Your friends of Hunter River and vicinity.

Chester thanked the good friends and neighbors, especially the ones that were responsible for the party, and the gift was a well-filled purse which I am very proud of.

The evening was spent in dancing and friendly talks.

Beer Seizure Appeal Case

The certificate of analysis accompanying beer seized under the Prohibition Act must be signed by the person who makes the analysis, Mr. Justice Arsenault ruled in Supreme Court yesterday in allowing an appeal of James Roberts from a conviction under the Prohibition Act.

The appellant had won his appeal on a similar charge at the last sitting of the Supreme Court in January, Mr. Justice Arsenault then stating that the R. C. M. P. in making the seizure of beer involved should have properly sealed the contents.

Yesterday's appeal was allowed on substantially the same grounds as the previous appeal. The grounds taken were that the beer seized had not been sealed at time of seizure and that the analysis had not been made until some six or seven days later.

Several excise and prohibition appeal cases were before the Court yesterday. Following is the list with the disposition of each case: The King, respondent, versus J. Stanford Biggar, appellant, case adjourned until criminal cases have been heard next week; King, respondent, versus John Carragher, appellant, (Excise), adjourned till same time; the King, respondent, versus Earl Stanley, appellant, (two Excise cases) adjourned till next week.

In the case of Hubert Roberts, who was appealing from a conviction for reckless driving, Judge Arsenault reduced the sentence from $100 and costs and 30 days to $100 and costs or 30 days.

Supreme Court resumes Monday morning at 10:30 when the cases of Patrick Laughran and Leith Roberts, charged with robbery with violence, will go before a jury.

LONDON — (CP) — Since D-day air ambulances attached to the R.A.F. 2nd Tactical Air Force have carried nearly 23,500 casualties from the front lines to base hospitals and taken back 37,000 pounds of blood.

Fancy Work Display At Saint Joseph's

St. Joseph's Convent has concluded one of the finest exhibits of children's work which had been displayed for several years. The exhibits were viewed by hundreds of parents and others interested in the work of the children.

Grade I pupils had a neat display of sewing cards and writing books while Grades II and III had an attractive assortment of neatly hemmed handkerchiefs, dolls, laundry bags and tray cloths. Grade III and IV pupils exhibited neatly embroidered laundry bags and in addition Grade IV showed more advance work in Peter Pan collars and knitted face cloths.

Attractive hemstitched and neatly monogrammed pillow slips were shown by the Grade V pupils while Grades V and VI combined their efforts with initialed aprons. The latter grade also had a nice display of aprons, Dutch hats, handkerchief bags, crocheted doilies, knitted caps and mounted specimens of leaves and weeds all of which attracted much attention and favorable comment. Grades VI and VII showed more advanced work in aprons, skirts and nightgowns, the first attempts of the pupils in handling a sewing machine. Also in this display was a most creditable showing of knitted socks, caps and gloves.

In Grade VIII the display consisted of slips with crocheted lace crocheted chair sets and doilies and one remarkably fine piece of work—a wool shawl made by winding wool around nails fixed to a board. Grade VIII pupils showed a remarkably neat display of dresses, skirts, Dutch hats, quilts and satin cushions, the latter being particularly attractive. A neat display of Altar linen by the pupils of grade IX completed the interesting display.

In addition to the fancy work, drawings in colors and "cut outs" were displayed, also a collection of crayon work from grade III up that had been awarded ribbons by the Art Society. A particularly interesting display of maps and product maps attracted considerable attention while the display of cooking by grades VII and VIII came in for much favorable comment. In this display was shown cook books by the pupils of both grades, with their recipes, over which was a colored drawing of the product.

Visitors who viewed the exhibition were loud in their praise of the excellent work accomplished by the pupils under the careful tuition of the good Sisters.
