The new Methodist parsonage at East Florenceville, says the Wolastan, has been formally opened. The occasion being a birthday party in honor of the pastor Rev. F. Pierce, who is a native of this Province. About 400 invitations were issued and the attendance was large. The proceeds amounting to more than $130. were devoted to the building fund. The parsonage is a very neat and commodious building, and is nicely furnished, the total cost being about $2,500, which is nearly all paid for.

Judging from the crowd that are seen daily at the big Arena most everybody who has ever skated must be taking in the sport again. Saturday afternoon there were 30 per cent more children skating than any other day since the rink was built and even with the big company there was ample room and the best of order. The owners are to be congratulated on the success they have made in providing this delightful place of amusement, which is kept so absolutely clean, warm and comfortable making it much appreciated by the skating public.

On Wednesday night of this week the managers of the big Arena have arranged a skating party to come down from Summerside. This will be similar to the event last season when so many of the youth and beauty of Summerside availed themselves of the opportunity to skate in the big new rink and which was so enjoyable that numerous requests have come to the management to repeat it. A special train will leave Summerside on Wednesday evening returning after skating, at the low rate of one dollar and fifteen cents including admission to rink.

Bishop Worrell, of Nova Scotia, is keeping up the crusade against profanity recently inaugurated by his sermon delivered in Halifax. He wishes that the movement should be extended throughout the Provinces, and The Guardian has been furnished with extracts from the sermon from which is quoted: "How can anyone who has learned and known that "the goodness of God endureth daily "take His Name and use it lightly and thoughtlessly? Would a man handy about among lewd companions the name of his wife or sister or child or dearest friend? Would he joke or yarn about them in such a way as to bring ridicule or contempt upon them? Then why should the Name of God Who stands to us in all these relations be treated so? If a man has helped his friend out of debt or difficulty and stood by him in the day of need would it not be the basest ingratitude for that friend to fail to show respect for him or to heap scorn upon his name? Then why should he do so with the sacred name of Jesus, "At Whose Name" we are told "every knee should bow and every tongue confess that He is God? He did give himself up for us and He endured the agony of the cross to help us."

Buds are the forms to-night.

Dr. R. McNeill, City, will act as a Water Commissioner.

C. J. Kelly City, has taken a position in the Royal Bank of Canada.

Rev. W. C. Turner, Kentville, says the Wolfville, was recently presented with $40 by his congregation. Mr. Turner is well known in this Province.

Saturday morning about seven o'clock the firemen were called out for a slight fire on board the barge Prince Edward at Marine wharf. Little damage was done.

There will be excellent skating in the big Arena to-night. During the last few days several inches of solid ice have been made so that there is no possibility of losing it now.

Miss Helen Smith, who has been visiting her home in Hampton, spent Saturday and Sunday in the city and leaves this morning on return to Mt. Allison Ladies College, Sackville.

There will be a public meeting of the Clyde River Farmer's Institute held in Kingston Hall, Monday evening, Jan. 6th, at seven o'clock. Farmers are especially requested to attend as matters of importance will be brought up.

Next Sunday the annual exchange of pulpits of the churches in this City will take place. Following will be the supplies: Grace church a 11 a. m. Rev. G. E. Poss; First Methodist at 11 a. m., Rev. T. F. Fullerton; Zion at 11 a. m., Rev. G. R. White; St. James at 11 a. m., Rev. H. E. Thomas. The evening services will likely be taken by their respective pastor.

It would be interesting to learn from someone competent to offer an opinion whether the extensive groves of spruce and other trees in this Province are of any value as material for pulp. The enormous demand for pulp recently, would make it worth while to know just of what, as an asset, the woodland of the Province would amount to. The Canadian forestry association is directing attention to the matter by a series of circulars sent out broadcast. Various estimates of Canada's forest land have been given. Eight hundred million acres was a few years ago accepted as pretty near the truth; but, considering the damage caused by fire and other destructive agencies, it is doubtful if the existing forests cover half the area. To keep this area in its most productive state, thus enabling it to meet the demand as far as possible and to produce the largest revenue, is the problem set those in control of these areas, and the protection of the forests against fire and other dangers and their proper management under forestry methods is the only way in which this can be effected.
