Christmas Seal Sale Campaign Opens Today

Mr. Earl Taylor, President of the P. E. I. Tuberculosis League, announces that the Christmas Seal Campaign opens today Monday, November 24th. Mr. Taylor called for an increased response this year, stating that $20,000 is necessary in order to make the Mobile X-ray service free to everybody. Ever since the X-ray Unit started work in August, 1945 it has been partly supported by a charge of 50 cents made for each X-ray, and partly by the sale of Christmas Seals. The good work which they have done in the past can continue even more effectively if X-rays are offered free to everybody, so that this work of saving lives can go forward without monetary restraint.

Mr. Taylor would not estimate how many undiscovered cases of Tuberculosis there are in the province, but since the X-ray Unit began its work there has been a great increase in the number of cases found. During 1944 there were 88 new cases reported. This increased to 108 the next year which was the year that the Mobile X-ray Unit began to operate and to 177 during the year 1946. This is all to the good, because an unknown case is more dangerous than the known cases. When you consider that TB is infectious, and that new cases break out every year, and that there are still a great many persons who have not yet been examined, we are confident than an effective case finding program will reveal as many new cases during next year as in 1946.

Members of the Gyro Club will make a canvass of all business establishments in Charlottetown on Monday and Tuesday next, and a similar survey will be carried out by the Y's Men's Club in Summerside. Thousands of other persons in both cities and throughout the province will receive their seals by mail.

THE BAPTIST CHURCH

Morning worship at 11 a.m. was conducted by the Rev. James D. Davison, B.A., B.D., with sermon "Denominational Accomplishments." An activity of our church has been expressed in a shipment of needed supplies to our adopted church in England, the Ramsden Road Baptist Church of London, suffering from the effects of the war. The wider work, represented by the right-hand side of our contribution envelope is assisting activities from sea to sea. For fifty years in Bolivia, for 73 years in India, for 100 years in Acadia in educational effort, for 50 years at Grand Ligne in assistance to aged and needy ministers, in Social Service, in homes for girls, in our denominational paper, The Maritime Baptist, in Christian Education. Your denominational dollar reaches many enterprises that are taken for granted.

The gospel takes many forms, restoring young men and young women from sinful ways, assisting many young men who hear the call to the ministry of the Gospel, thus it is ours to help ministerial education, it is ours to help western missions. Among those who have nobly served we count William Carey, who heard the call of India, Burpee, the first Canadian missionary. "Missions are the hope of the world" said the great missionary, E. Stanley Jones.

The anthem was Holley's "I Lay My Sins On Jesus." Evening worship was conducted by the minister with sermon 'Sufficiency of God's Grace." The evening anthem was "I Hear Thy Voice" (Lang). Mrs. Helen McRae, A.T.C.M., organist and director of the choir was in charge of the music of the day.

Many Visit Art Exhibition

A large number of people visited the Art Gallery on Saturday night to see the twenty-six oil paintings from last year's Royal Canadian Academy. These paintings have come to the Art Society from the National Gallery at Ottawa and are en route to other centres in the other Maritime Provinces.

All the pictures have a distinctly Canadian feeling not only for their subject matter but for the vigorous sweeping strokes with which they are painted.

There is a great diversity of style, too, ranging from the direct rough strokes of the palette knife to the smooth fine lines of brush drawing and in a few cases one would suspect the artist of using his thumb or the end of his brush handle to convey paint to the canvas.

A favorite which brought spectators back again and again is a portrait called, "My Wife" by E. MacDonald. Some people said she looked "so real" while others wondered if "the lady had a pain in her side." Notwithstanding, this portrait is a skilful rendering of different textures. There is the hard smooth felt of the hat, soft fluffy brown hair, firm young skin and a flimsy transparent veil. The blouse is unmistakably a wool velour while the skirt is of harsher tweed. The coat is thick and soft. You can see the gold and diamond on her finger flash with metalic hardness.

These effects are obtained by means of light and shade and the artist must first understand how rays of light are received by different surfaces before he can paint textures with any real success.

Every picture in the exhibition is worth studying and it is expected that many more persons will enjoy the exhibition during the afternoons this week.

Premier And Leader Of Opposition Commend X-Ray Unit Work

The following letters are self explanatory:

"Mr. J.A. Jardine, Executive Secretary, Tuberculosis League, Charlottetown, P.E.I.

"Dear Mr. Jardine:

"It is my belief that the work of the Mobile X-Ray Unit marks us as one of the foremost provinces in Canada in health matters. Were it not for the activities of your association, it is doubtful if our province yet would have had this X-Ray clinic going; in any case the province is saved the necessity of providing $20,000. Of course, eventually, the province will take over and finish up the job so well begun.

"As a government we are proud of the record of the Dept. of Health & Welfare, and we want you to know that we are most pleased with the citizens' interest in these matters. It is most encouraging.

"The campaign is largely supported by the sale of Christmas Seals, and I do hope, in view of the fact that you intend to carry on these services for another year, that these seals will be purchased as liberally, or even better, than formerly."

Very truly yours,
(Signed). J. Walter Jones.
Premier.

"Citizens of P.E.I.:

"The annual Xmas Seal sale will soon begin and I wish to say a few words in its support.— As a physician long interested in T.B. work I wish to congratulate the T.B. League upon the wonderful work it is doing. It was a splendid idea to purchase and operate the Mobile X-Ray Unit. The taking of 59,000 chest X-Rays to date is a great accomplishment. The fact that in 1946 out of 34,658 X-Rays, 97 persons were found to have active T.B. is ample proof of the necessity of mass X-Raying. The proposal to give free service in X-Raying is a most commendable and desirable step which largely depends on the financial success of this years campaign.

"The idea of the T.B. League working in conjunction with the Provincial Government in a movement so important to the welfare of our people as the eradication of T.B. is a fine example of generous and public spirited co-operation. I urge our buyers of Xmas Seals to be even more generous than in the past in order that we may have Mass X-Ray surveying clear of expense to our people."

CENTRAL CHRISTIAN CHURCH

Services in Central Christian Church yesterday marked one full week of specials in the "You Need Christ", campaign now in progress. Splendid attendances made each night a period of rich Christian fellowship and spiritual growth. Taking for the morning subject, "More Than One Church?" the minister, M.D. Dunbar presented a plea for the unity of the followers of Christ.

The soloist at the morning service was Mr. Esben Arnfast who sang H.P. Smith's, "O Master Let Me Walk With Thee".

Taking for his topic at the evening service, "You Can't Join This Church", Mr. Dunbar expounded briefly the history of the Christian church, as it began in Jerusalem with Christ the founder. Thus as founder, Christ also became head over the Church. "Members of the Christian Church," said the minister, "accepted no other creed save Jesus Christ; no other discipline save the Holy Scriptures and no other name save Christian only."

"Members of the Christian Church claim no monopoly upon the name Christian but wear the title to distinguish their particular relationship to Christ. Properly understood 'Christian' means belonging to Christ. Members of the Christian Church do not claim to be the only Christians by any means but they do claim to be Christians only," quoted the minister.

"Often times the term "joining the Church" becomes more than misleading. It is a term not properly understood by all too many. Many consider it simply becoming affiliated with a band of people for fraternal enjoyment; not a few for the sake of social and business contact; and still others with even less meaningful purpose in mind.

"I believe that we would do well to advise those contemplating Christian experience in Christ that they cannot join the Church of Christ but rather they must be 'born again' as is suggested in Holy Scripture, then the Lord will add them to His Church, Acts 2:47", said the minister in concluding his address.

The special services will continue throughout the week.

on by the Labor Party as too far left. The Press Association says that Strachey's friends believe that he is carrying out a policy of food cuts imposed on him by senior ministers and with which he is not fully in sympathy.

Since Dalton left office Nov. 13 he has received a clear indication from most Labor members that his frank admission of his "grave indiscretion" in revealing the budget information a few minutes before the budget speech in the Commons and his prompt resignation have resulted in forgiveness. He remains a force within the Labor party.

Thus cracks in the solid Labor leadership front become clear or are suspected. The Gravesend by-election where Sir Richard Acland, Labor, is running against Frank Taylor, Conservative, will confirm the present Labor high command in their decisions or start the Labor rank-and-file on a quest of new policies or leaders.

Schuman, who has been Finance Minister since 1946 and who lived in hiding among resistance forces during the German occupation, won just two-thirds of all National Assembly votes after Socialist Leon Blum had failed by nine votes Friday night to get the green light to form a government.

Schuman, a member of the party of Foreign Minister George Bidault and Finance Minister most of the time since June, 1946, told the Assembly that he proposed to end "political exploitation of misery," increase production, favor private initiative, balance the budget, obtain "necessary aid from abroad," assure "respect for the law" and "subordinate everything to public safety."

Schuman's principal difficulty in forming his cabinet, after his vote of confidence Saturday night by the National Assembly, came from the Socialists and centrist Radical Socialists.

Schuman, appealing to the Assembly for support, declared he would "defend the republic" and distinguish between the legitimate demands of labor and "the synchronized enterprises of sedition throughout Europe."

One Million on Strike

Meanwhile, 1,000,000 persons were on strike. Paris stations all but closed down because of the rapidly spreading railwaymen's strike. A walkout of dock and port workers was set for tomorrow and civil servants in the Paris region were to decide whether to join the school teachers strike.

The strike of metal and building workers in the Paris area continued to spread to the provinces and some blast furnaces closed down in the Lorraine basin because of walkouts or lack of coal due to the miners' strike.

MANY DIPLOMATS

of the defeated Reich.

Odds are that the conference will end at Christmas time. Contrary to the deep pessimism felt in North America over the future of east-west relationships. British officials say the breakup of the meetings need not mean the end of all Big Four peacemaking efforts.

Preparations for the meeting have been dismally unsuccessful. Deputies of the Foreign Ministers, in more than a dozen sessions here, have failed to find a single ground for compromise on outstanding differences over Germany.

The United States, Britain and France have consistently lined up against Russia.

The lineup of the Western Powers in opposition to Russian demands for $10,000,000,000 in German reparations and for a highly centralized German government now is more solid than ever. This may influence the policies of Foreign Minister Molotov in the forthcoming conference. He apparently must decide whether he wants to see a further isolation of Russia from the west.

If the London conference fails, as expected, to make any real progress in solving the German problem all signs indicate that the Western Powers will begin early next year to form as complete a German government as they can without Russia. This, too, Molotov will have to take into account.

On the other hand, responsible diplomatic authorities see little chance of going ahead any time in the near future with a so-called "separate peace" with Germany.

What is wanted — especially by the United States and Britain — is a central authority, at least for Western Germany, which would be capable of unifying as much of the country as possible and making it contribute its full share to European recovery and German self-support.

These authorities point out that Germany is a land of living people and not just a parcel of real estate. Life there will not wait upon a decision by the Council of Foreign Ministers.

The need for German production as seen by British and American statesmen is inseparably linked with the broader problem of European recovery. But it is only one part of that problem.

At the present time, in fact, Germany appears to be neither the most urgent nor the most important issue. More immediate are Italy and France and the economic and political health of Western Europe.

Liberal Address By The Hon. W. F. A. Stewart

The following address was given Saturday night by Hon. W. F. A. Stewart, Minister of Agriculture:

Free and independent electors of Prince Edward Island: The Jones Government has held office for four years and we come before you asking only for your consideration of our record when marking your ballots on Election Day.

During those four years of office we passed from under the shadow of a great war, through the transition period to a peace footing, and many of our young men and women, who were enrolled in the various ranks of war, and in the industries allied to the carrying on of war, all honor to them, have returned to their native province to again take up the occupation of cultivating the soil, raising livestock, growing potatoes and other peacetime activities, setting up homes for themselves and their families and carrying on the business of the country. The future of the country is in their hands, and any Government that does not to their utmost of their power help those people to a sound footing, so that they will remain in their native province is derelict in its duties.

For too many years the resources of this Province were expended in educating and equipping our young people to seek their fortune in distant climes. The Jones Government has been doing everything in its power to encourage our young people to remain in their native province. We have a climate that generally speaking is well suited to growing of all kinds of forage crops. Hard frosts during our winters kill off the larvae of many injurious insects and protect cultivated land from erosing during periods of spring freshets. Heavy snowfalls protect roots of hay and pasture crops.

Our insular position which at times seems a handicap gives us great advantages in maintaining a disease-free area for livestock, potato and other crops. We have a sturdy, industrious people and our Government is doing everything possible to aid these people in keeping up the high reputation our products have held in world markets.

Great Progress

The Department of Agriculture over which I have the honor to preside has made great progress

5.—WOMEN'S INSTITUTES —

The Women's Institutes have done a tremendous job in the rural parts of the Province during many years of devoted activity, yet no other subsidiary organization has received less tangible assistance from the Province than have these Institutes.

Recognizing this inexcusable inequality of Departmental consideration, the Progressive Conservative Party, upon accession to office, pledges itself to make adequate correction in this respect.

Furthermore,—If the membership of the Institutes throughout the Province desire to become an Autonomous Body, with complete control over their own affairs, the Progressive Conservative Party is prepared to grant that Corporate Status and will make a generous financial contribution annually to subsidize receipts arising from their own initiative and resourcefulness.
