

Save The Children Week At P.W.C.

Prince of Wales College students along with other university students in Canada and the U.S.A. are joining a drive to bring relief, both educational and material to school children and university students abroad.

The purpose of this appeal is twofold. First there is the function of supplying food and medical supplies to children, and also assisting in the restoration of both juvenile and adult educational, scientific and cultural life in war-devastated countries.

Princess of Wales College in particular, has already begun its drive with several functions and stunts to promote the drive as it applies to it in particular.

A news service has been formed to keep the students and public informed of the progress of the drive at P.W.C. The students concerned with this are Helen Dewar, Mary Campbell, writers, and the service is directed by Leith Tierney.

For the past week, the mysterious number 600 has appeared on all the bulletin boards in the College. The meaning of this is doubtless obvious to all students by this time.

CHURCH OF SCOTLAND PULPIT

Rev. Horace F. MacEwen preached on Hosea's prophecy February 8. It runs like this: "For the children of Israel shall abide many days without a king, and without a prince, and without a sacrifice, and without an image, and without an ephod, and without teraphim; afterward shall the children of Israel return, and seek the Lord their God, and David their king; and shall fear the Lord and His goodness in the latter days" (Hosea 3:4 and 5).

Israel was beloved for the father's sake. God called Abraham, the man of faith, and gave him great promises of blessing in the covenant He made with him. To Israel was given the law, the promises, the covenants and the oracles of God. The Messiah was "Son of Abraham, Son of David," a Jew according to the flesh. Israel, however, was not grateful to God for all His blessings, and rebelled against Him repeatedly and worshipped the idolatrous gods of the heathen nations surrounding the Promised Land. For this apostasy God punished them by dispersion among the Gentiles. The first captivity was of Israel in the north by the Assyrians, the next of Jerusalem by Nebuchadnezzar. The greatest of all was after the complete destruction of Jerusalem by Titus in 70 A.D. Israel had rejected God's Son, the Lord Jesus Christ, naming Him to the cross as a malefactor, hence terrible judgment had to follow. They were dispersed everywhere among the nations and relentlessly persecuted.

They have remained in unbelief, consistently rejecting Christianity "without a king and without a sacrifice," yet they have been miraculously preserved, despite constant chastisement. There is a remnant among them "according to the election of grace," who have believed the gospel and been converted, though "blindness in part is happened to Israel, until the fullness of the Gentiles be come in" (Romans 11:25).

When our Lord Jesus Christ comes in power and glory to destroy the rebellious Gentiles, who at that time will be making war "against the Lord and against His anointed (literally His Messiah)". He will restore the Kingdom to His earthly people, the Jews.

Hosea tells of their return to the Promised Land, a prophecy already beginning to be fulfilled since 1917, when the Balfour declaration was given. They will not elation to Christ, however, until they behold Him Whom they have pierced. One glorious day He will be revealed corporally and visibly and He will pour "upon the house of David, and upon the inhabitants of Jerusalem, the spirit of grace and of supplications; and they shall look upon one whom they have pierced, and they shall mourn for Him, as one mourneth for his only son" (Zechariah 12:10). And so it shall come to pass that all Israel shall be saved. Then, and then only, will they "seek the Lord, and David their king; and shall fear the Lord and His goodness in the latter days." The saints of God will rule and reign too with Christ. Are you in that number?

TEMPORARY RESTRICTIONS "In this connection, import restrictions recently announced by the Canadian Government are of a temporary nature introduced only in an effort to protect and improve Canada's exchange position, which has been deteriorating to the point where there was real cause for concern.

"When this situation has been rectified, it will be possible to proceed with the long-range program of trade expansion of a multilateral basis, to which the Geneva negotiations as a whole have been directed.

"Trade between Canada and the United States is of the greatest importance to both countries since each is the other's best customer. I do not propose at this time to raise the question of the proposed 1911 Reciprocity Agreement between Canada and the United States nor as to the effects and benefits of this Agreement to the Maritime Provinces.

"I simply mention 1911 as a starting date. From 1913 to 1921 under the Underwood tariff agreement, Canadian trade with the United States benefited.

"The Provisions of the Fordney-McCumber tariff, in force from 1922 to 1930, were less favorable, and Canadian exports of farm and fish and raw materials to the American market decreased.

"Under the high rates of the Smoot-Hawley tariff of 1930, exports of farm, lumber and fish products to the United States were cut sharply.

"The agreement of 1935 provided for the exchange of most-favored-nation treatment and included many specific concessions on both sides.

Concessions To Canada. The agreement, signed at Washington in 1938 granted Canadian concessions of 302 items of the United States tariff, covering 88 per cent of Canadian exports to that country in 1937.

"And I want my Maritime friends to note and remember this

GOVERNMENT HOUSE, OTTAWA. CANADIAN APPEAL FOR CHILDREN

I am happy to endorse the Canadian Appeal for Children for I have witnessed with my own eyes the privation and suffering which the children of war devastated countries are enduring.

These children are helpless to help themselves and it is a duty which everyone owes to humanity to do all in his power to alleviate their sad plight. The future of the world depends on these children of today; their welfare must be protected.

I know that all Canadians will do all that they are able to support this worthy cause.

Maritime Benefits From Geneva Trade Agreement

The following excerpts from an address by Mr. Gordon B. Inor, M. P. for Halifax, on the subject of the Geneva Trade Agreement and its benefits to the Maritime Provinces, will be read with interest locally.

"An important thing for Maritimers to remember is that exporter, importer and consumer in Canada and the United States benefit from agreement. Traffic concessions granted by the United States on over 70 per cent of items exported by this country—Canada. Other benefits are quotas for certain agricultural products increased mining and smelting industries assisted.

"The tariff concessions granted by Canada and the United States under the Geneva agreement will affect a major part of the trade between Canada and the United States. Reduction by the United States of the general of its tariff schedules to the lowest point in thirty-four years.

"United States imports from Canada in the year 1939 were valued at $323,000,000. Of this amount, goods valued at $210,000,000 entered that country—the United States—free of duty.

"The items have been bound, which means they remain free of duty, under the new agreement. Among the dutiable items representing imports of approximately $113,000,000, it is estimated that concessions have been made on about 70 per cent of the total.

"Duties have been reduced from 33 to 50 per cent on imports worth approximately $65,000,000; then a further reduction from 25 to 35 per cent on goods valued at $11,500,000. About 25 per cent on commodities valued at $1,100,000.

"This leaves items valued only around $28,000,000 remaining bound under the existing rates.

"Naturally an agreement such as this must mean concessions on both parties, or countries, involved. So it is only reasonable to expect Canada to make concessions and these I now propose to deal with.

"Canada also has made a large number of concessions in an effort to stimulate world trade. "As the largest source of supply for goods required by this country, the United States will derive the principal advantage from reductions provided in the Canadian tariff schedule.

"In this connection, import restrictions recently announced by the Canadian Government are of a temporary nature introduced only in an effort to protect and improve Canada's exchange position, which has been deteriorating to the point where there was real cause for concern.

"When this situation has been rectified, it will be possible to proceed with the long-range program of trade expansion of a multilateral basis, to which the Geneva negotiations as a whole have been directed.

"Trade between Canada and the United States is of the greatest importance to both countries since each is the other's best customer. Reports Not Encouraging To Fishermen

The results of the discussions of the East Coast Fisheries Conference, held last week in the City of Quebec, cannot be construed as encouraging to the fishing industry of the Province, Mr. S. H. Burhoe, manager of the J. W. Windsor Company, Charlottetown told the Guardian last night.

Mr. Burhoe, who returned to the City Saturday, said the viewpoint of the Dominion Department of Fisheries, as expressed at the Conference by Stewart Bates, Deputy-Minister, is that the Canadian fishing industry must curtail its production to the point where it will be merely sufficient to meet the domestic requirements and whatever overseas business the industry may secure from overseas. Mr. Burhoe said that Mr. Bates was not hopeful of Canada getting much worthwhile fish business from Europe by reason of Europe's inability to pay in Canadian dollars.

Other discouraging facts were brought before the Conference, Mr. Burhoe said, by Mr. Charles Jackson, general manager of the National Institute of Fisheries, Chicago. Mr. Jackson, who was introduced to the Conference at Thursday's luncheon meeting, by Mr. J. H. Myrick, Tignish, said the Marshall Plan, now the centre of national discussion in the United States, would hold out no encouragement for either the Canadian or American fishing industry.

Not only would the Marshall Plan not buy fish from North America to be sent to Europe, but it would not sanction the spending of any money given to any European country for purchases of fish from this side of the Atlantic. The object of the Plan, Mr. Jackson said, was to render financial assistance to European countries so that they could build up their own fish and other industries.

Mr. Burhoe, in his address before the Conference, requested that the quality of all Canadian fish products be increased by every possible means and that one important means of securing higher quality was to have the grading regulations made more comprehensive, not only for canned fish products but for all fish irrespective of how they were placed on the market.
