STRANGE FATALITY IN AUTOMOBILE

(Canadian Press.) BURLINGTON, Iowa, July 2.—Clifford Johnson, aged 25, met death in a peculiar automobile accident today. He was riding with two girls both of whom it is said were asleep. As the car passed a bridge Johnson stood up, waved his arm in the air. His arm caught in the bridge girder and Johnson was wrenched off. When Johnson was missed the car was run back and Johnson was dead. His arm and leg was pulled from the socket. He bled to death.

AN AGREEMENT CONCLUDED

(Canadian Press.) NEW YORK, July 2.—After five months dispute representatives of the International Paper Company which employs 10,000 men in the United States and Canada, and a committee representing the employees' unions arrived at a settlement of their differences today. A clause in the agreement makes it mandatory for employers and workers to settle by arbitration any dispute that may arise while the agreement is in force.

SMUGGLING DIAMONDS

(Canadian Press.) MONTREAL, July 2.—A man alleged to have smuggled large quantities of diamonds into Canada across the United States border was arrested. It is believed the diamond man acted not for himself but for some one higher up. The authorities are trying to find who the people behind are who actually did the smuggling. The firm of Aronson and Rottenberg stated today they had nothing to do with the diamond man in trouble in New York except to sell them diamonds. It is said that one man was in the habit of coming to Montreal to buy diamonds. The smuggler travelled across the line with the stones concealed in bandages across his legs.

HON. COL. SAM HUGHES AND LORD BROOKE ARE INSPECTING LOCAL FORCES

The streets of the city within the past few days have borne an unwonted liveliness and gaiety of appearance with the goings and comings of the lads in the redcoats and the leggings now in camp on the borders of the town for their annual training as militiamen. The camp, as usual, has been a source of great interest, and continues to be, to citizens generally.

The units in camp are the P. E. I. Infantry Regiment, the Abegweit or 82nd Regiment, the P. E. I. Light Horse, and No. Nine Field Ambulance Corps. Camp was pitched on Tuesday and will continue until the 11th, inst. For the first two days, on account of the inclemency of the weather and also through the fact that the arriving forces were settling down to their quarters and getting things into ship-shape, not much of the extensive syllabus of work that has been planned was carried out. Yesterday, however, the routine started in earnest. The Light Horse, both "A" and "B," Squadrons, were out on the rifle range, and they will be similarly employed today. The Infantry battalion are being exercised in section drill and other departments of infantry drill, and when the Artillery have finished with the range will undertake their musketry course; while the A. M. C. men are being instructed in first aid, lance work, in camp sanitation and the manifold duties that fall to be discharged by an Army Medical Corps.

DISTINGUISHED VISITORS

Today the camp will have distinguished visitors, personages no less in fact, than Canada's War Lord, the Hon. Colonel Sam Hughes, (Minister of Militia), Lord Brooke, a noted English Military Officer, and the Adjutant General of the Canadian Militia, Colonel Williams. They came from the Militia Training Camp now in progress at Sussex, New Brunswick, and arrived on the Island last evening by the Empress at Summerside, where they entrained and came on to Charlottetown, being received on arrival here by some of the principal officers of the local forces. They are guests at the Victoria Hotel, whither they motored from the railway station. This morning they will begin their inspection of the Camp, and tonight they will be the guests of honour at a dinner to be given by the Camp Staff in their Mess. It is probable that they will leave again on Saturday morning.

Colonel Sam Hughes is no stranger to Prince Edward Island, which he visited just about a year ago in company with General Sir Ian Hamilton, the Inspector General of the Imperial Overseas Forces, on which occasion they inspected the Militia Camp which was being held then. Colonel Sam's interesting military and political career is too well known to need special reference here. A special word, however, may be said of his distinguished companion, Lord Brooke.

A ROMANTIC BEGINNING

Lord Brooke has had an interesting career, his military training having moved it out of the ordinary. While he was yet at school, at Eton College, the South African War broke out and young Brooke with the war fever swelling his veins, ran away from College and shipped on the first steamer bound for South Africa. While he was yet on the voyage his escape was discovered, but instead of insisting on the return of the mettled youth, his parents obtained him a commission as second lieutenant in the First Life Guards and he served through the war and at one time was attached to Lord Milner's Staff as extra A. D. C. Since then he has had an interesting military career, and during the Russo-Japanese War in 1904-05 he acted as Rueter's special correspondent, for his services as which he holds the Japanese order of the Rising Sun and the Russian War Medal.

Born on the 10th, September 1882, Lord Leopold Guy Francis Maynard Greville Brooke is the eldest son of the Fifth Earl of Warwick. He married in 1909, Marjorie, daughter of the Sir William Eden, and has one son, Charles Guy Fulke (Greville), born in April 1911. Lord Brooke was made a member of the Royal Victorian Order in 1905, and he is a Deputy Lieutenant. He is Captain of the 3rd Batt. of the Essex Regiment; is A. D. C. to the Inspector General of the Imperial Forces, is Captain of the First Life Guards Special Reserve, is Hon. Col. of the Essex and Suffolk (Yekeast) Battalion, and he raised and commands the Warwickshire Horse Artillery Territorial as Major.

Lord Brooke is more immediately known to Canadians than the above. He was appointed specially to the command of the big infantry and cavalry training camp which has just been held at Petawawa.

On account of the recent raising of the P. E. I. Light Horse from one squadron to two, the numbers in camp this year are greater than they were last year. The total number of all ranks under canvas last year was 716; this year it is 771; this in spite of the fact that the Eighty-second Regiment are a little under strength this year. Of this regiment there were in camp last year 477, this year there are 437; on the other hand there were 78 all told of the Light Horse last year, but this year there are 135, with 145 horses. With the strength of the No. Nine Field Ambulance at 101, and the Camp Staff at 38, the total of all ranks in camp this year, as already stated, is 771.

The camp this year is not situated altogether on the Exhibition Grounds as was the case last year, but owing to the increase in strength of the Light Horse it has had to be divided, and while the Light Horse and the Ambulance Corps, with the R. C. R. detachment from Halifax, are camped on the Exhibition Grounds, the Eighty-second Regiment, with the Regimental Band, are camped on the Militia Ordnance Depot grounds at Brighton, and the Camp Staff are in quarters on Victoria Park west of Government House grounds.

Lieut. Col. J. R. Allan, who was in command of the Camp last year, is this year again Camp Commandant, while also again, in command of the duties of G. S. O., is Capt. W. G. Johnson, of the Staff of the Sixth Division. Major A. A. Bartlett, A. D. M., Lieut. Col. S. R. Jenkins, Musketry Officer, Lieut. H. B. Postum, of the R. C. R. Halifax; Signalling Officer, Lieut. A. R. Crockett; Civil Vet. Sgr., Dr. Bethick. Other members of the staff yet to arrive are: Paymaster, Capt. Regan, of Halifax; A. M. C. Instructor, Major Potter of the A. M. C., Halifax; Cavalry Instructor, Lieut. Caldwell, of the Royal Canadian Dragoons, who comes from St. John's, N. S. They are due to arrive next week.

The various units are commanded as follows: the Light Horse is commanded by Lieut.-Col. A. E. Io with Major Beer, as his second in command, the Squadron commanders being "A," Major John Stuart; "B," Major Inman, of Summerside. Major J. M. Jones is in command of the Infantry Regiment, his second in command being Major Goodwill, while individual company commanders are as follows: "A," Capt. T. E. McNutt; "B," Capt. W. E. Smith;

"C," Capt. G. H. Campbell; "D," Capt. W. E. F. Hardy; "E," Capt. W. G. Darke; "F," Capt. J. McMillan; "G," Major L. B. Leard; "H," Major F. Boulter. The officer commanding No. Nine Field Ambulance is Major Ira J. Yeo.

The various units of the camp are to be inspected at different times by special visiting officers. On the 4th, Colonel Jones of Ottawa, D. G. M. S., will arrive from Ottawa to inspect the Ambulance Corps. Two days later, Lieut. Col. Nelles, of the R. C. D., will inspect the Light Horse; while on Thursday next there will arrive to inspect the Infantry regiment, Colonel Rutherford, of Halifax, the officer commanding the division which embraces the P. E. I. Forces. He will also inspect the Camp generally. He will be accompanied by Major Hayter, G. S. O., of the Sixth Division, Halifax; and probably also by Major Kenmis Betty, of the General Staff, Ottawa.

STEAMER AGROUND IN GEORGIAN BAY

(Canadian Press.) SAULT ST. MARIE, July 2.—The C. I. R. steamer Assiniboia ran aground this morning at Cove Island, Georgian Bay, while travelling in a fog. She had 118 passengers aboard. The Manitoba was sent to her assistance but it was not found necessary to take the passengers off.

FELL 13 FEET AND KILLED

HALIFAX, June 29.—Falling a distance of about thirty feet, Eddie Firor, of Baltimore, aged 22 years, unmarried, was killed instantly about 3.30 o'clock this morning on the steamer Eastington, undergoing repairs in the dry dock, and on which he was an able seaman. At the time of the accident Firor was on a scaffold and was engaged in painting the smoke stack. The wire strap supporting one end of the scaffold gave way without the least warning, and Firor was hurled to the deck, striking on the back of his head on the iron deck with great force. The whole back of his head was smashed in, his neck was broken and his face badly bruised. A member of the crew walking along the deck at the time saw Firor when he fell, but when he reached his side, a few seconds after he struck the deck, life was extinct. His lifeless body was laid on the deck and covered with a rubber awaiting the arrival of the cotter.

Hans Becker and Alex Wuff, members of the crew, who were on the scaffold when one end of it gave way, miraculously escaped the same fate as that of their comrade. Only seven pieces of mind saved these two men from being hurled to the deck. As it was, Becker suffered a sprained ankle, while Wuff escaped without a scratch. Becker was working on the starboard side, right aft of the scaffold and his dead comrade on the starboard aft part of it. Wuff was working on the forepart end of the starboard side of the scaffold, when the wire strap parted from the block, attached to which was an iron hook fastened to the top of the stack. Becker and Wuff felt themselves sliding down a plank. Becker's position was a very perilous one. Just as he got to the end of the plank he flung his arms around the exhaust pipe, sliding down between it and the ventilator several feet. In his descent his foot jammed between the exhaust pipe and the ventilator. Wuff grabbed a

AMENDING THE HOME RULE BILL

(Canadian Press.) LONDON, July 2.—The debate in the House of Lords to-day on the amendment to the Home Rule Bill was characterized by general recognition on the part of Unionists that some means of settlement must be found. The amending bill offered the only chance of accomplishing this. The Marquis of Lansdowne, Unionist leader, has already announced that it is necessary to find a way out of the calamity threatened and therefore the Unionists would give the Bill second reading and introduce amendments during the committee stage. Many members of the House of Lords stated they would support the Bill as the only way to prevent an awful calamity.

POPULAR SUMMER RESORTS

The popularity which last year was attained by the summer cottages erected at Holland Cove by that enterprising organisation, Summer Resorts, Ltd., has not only been repeated this year, but in fact is considerably greater, as although the number of cottages has been more than doubled this year, the demand for them has been equal, and more than equal indeed, to the supply. Last year there were ten cottages, this year eleven more were built. The buildings range from two-room to five-room structures; but most of those built this year are four-roomed.

From the fact that a good proportion of these resorts has been engaged and already occupied by a number of persons from various places outside of the Island, it is beyond doubt that this is a good advertising medium of the province's attractions as a summer resort. It will be interesting to many to know who are to be some of the residents at Holland Cove this summer. As to those who are visitors to the Island there are Rev. Dr. Bruce Taylor of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, Montreal, who with his family are occupying one cottage; Dr. Archibald, of the Royal Victoria Hospital, Montreal, and his family; Colonel Oelvie and his family, of Kingston, Ont.; also Mr. Tom and his son, of Montreal, Mr. Edgar, a lawyer, of Toronto; Dr. Gordon, of Montreal (brother of Mr. John Gordon, of Messrs. Moore & McCleod) and his family, Mr. Walter Scott, a retired business man of New Hampshire, and Misses Summers and Lavie, two of the teaching staff of Edgely Hill Ladies College, are occupants of other cottages.

A number of cottages have been taken by local parties. Major Bartlett and his family are occupying one, so are Mr. W. E. Hyndman and his family, Mr. Edwin Aitken and his family, Mr. John McKenna and his family, and Mr. A. McCaughen and family, while cottages have also been taken by Mr. Cuthbert Simpson and a party of young men; Mr. Webb Stanley and some friends; members of the Agricultural Department; Miss Hope, of the city; Mr. John DeBlois and a party; Miss Kitty Peters and her sister; and a party of eight young ladies of the city.

So keen has been the demand for these cottages that they are all now either already occupied or engaged, rope and slid to safety. The three men went to work about seven o'clock this morning. About eight o'clock they descended to the deck for breakfast and returned to work about 9.20. They were not on the scaffold more than ten minutes after their return when it gave way. The dead man joined the Eastington at St. John about a month ago and intended to remain on her for four months.

DEATH SENTENCE AGAIN IN SYDNEY

(Special to The Guardian) SYDNEY, July 2.—For the second time within four months the death sentence of death was passed in the Court House at Sydney to-day, when Gustave Brauer was found guilty and sentenced to die on September 16th for the murder of Elizabeth Kookil, a little German girl, aged five years and ten months, in Birch Grove in May last. The case for the prosecution concluded this morning. The defense opened this afternoon and was marked by distressing scenes. The accused's mother who was present was weeping continuously, which so affected the prisoner that he wept too. When sentence of death was pronounced, the prisoner swooned and fell heavily to the floor. As he was assisted from the Court his mother screamed hysterically. Other Germans present seemed much perturbed and hurried to the open. The jury was out forty minutes.

THE EVER POPULAR PRICE WEBBER

A large audience was present at the Prince Edward Theatre on Wednesday night when the Boston Opera under the management of Mr. H. Price Webber, produced the new royalty play by Justus Adams, entitled "A Queen for a Day." It was a splendid performance greatly appreciated and the "local hits" by Mr. Webber were greeted with loud applause. Mr. Webber at the conclusion of the show, in a neat speech thanked the people for their patronage which, he said, he had always received a generous share in Charlottetown. He said he had been coming to Charlottetown for 39 years and played first in the old market Hall. Mr. Webber related many comical incidents in his theatrical career and stated that he had had up 13,000 performances on this continent and he himself had never been out of the bill once. The following was the cast of characters: Dolores, the exiled Princess of Guanama, Mona Baringold, an American girl, Edwina Grey, Sister Madama, of the Ursuline Convent, Ruth Murdoch, Eulalie, an ambitious woman, Fannie Garston, Aunt Dolores, Prof. Baringold's sister, May Claire Ward, Manuele Prime Minister of Guanama, and Secret leader of the Revolution, Charles Palazzi, Pedro, his assistant, Ethel Secord, Prof. Baringold, an American geologist, Harry P. Brown, Tony Alvarez, a Royalist, W. H. Loker, General Spado of the Royal army, H. Francis, Daniel Webster Ripley, a promoter of anything from a safety pin to a railroad, H. Price Webber.

FIRST LORD WIFE'S APPEALS

LONDON, June 30.—Winston Spencer Churchill, First Lord of the Admiralty, according to the Daily Mirror, has yielded to the repeated appeals of his wife and has resolved to make no more aeroplane flights this year. Mr. Churchill's enthusiasm for daring aerial flights has been the cause of much anxiety on the part of the British government and his personal friends.
