IN MEMORIAM

MR JAMES KENNEDY, M.L.A.

Citizens were shocked and saddened yesterday when it was announced that Mr James Kennedy, the representative of the Fourth District of Prince County, had passed away. Mr Kennedy had apparently been in his usual health and occupied his seat in the Legislature until four weeks ago when, on account of what was looked upon as a slight indisposition, he went to his home in Kensington for rest and recuperation. Gradually, however, he sank until the end came yesterday afternoon at four o'clock.

The late Mr Kennedy for several years conducted a large general store in Kensington and was one of the largest exporters of farm produce in the province. The farmers throughout the whole section of which Kensington is the centre regarded him as their personal friend, always ready to help them out in their marketing, paying the highest prices the market afforded for everything they had to sell. His death is a severe blow to the commercial life of the province generally and of Kensington particularly. He was selected by the Fourth District of Prince as the Conservative representative in 1908 and again in 1911. In the civic affairs of Kensington he was a prominent and leading figure, always ready to lend a hand in everything that made for the betterment of the town.

He leaves to mourn his wife, two daughters and four sons, namely, the Misses Rachel and Marion, and Masters Earl, Charles, Roy and Preston; also his father, Mr Samuel Kennedy, Bradalbane; six brothers, namely, Mr Murdoch Kennedy, M.L.A.; Donald, of Kensington; Dr Charles, of New York; John D. Kensington; Samuel, of Charlottetown; and William, of O'Leary, and five sisters, namely, Mrs John Biggar, Mrs Robert Todd, Bradalbane; Mrs Glover, Kensington; Mrs Dystant and Mrs Hyde, Charlottetown, to all of whom the Guardian extends sincere sympathy.

The funeral will take place Monday, and will be under the direction of the Oddfellows and Loyal Orange Lodge, of both of which he was an honoured member. A special train will leave Charlottetown to convey members of the Legislature and other friends to the funeral.

SOLDIERS IN THE TRENCHES WANT SOX, GUM AND CHOCOLATE

Have Fun As Well As Hardship

The Calgary News Telegram publishes a letter from a Canadian soldier on the firing line: "We have already been in the trenches which form the firing line, and expect to enter them again shortly. Everything is dear here, and there are a lot of articles that we cannot buy at all. I would get a tin of some Spearmint Gum. It would surely go fine. I would also like some of those extra heavy sox. We have some enjoyable times once in a while. There is a lot of fun as well as hardship attached to warfare."

PROCEEDINGS IN PROVINCIAL LEGISLATURE

The House in committee resumed consideration of the Bill to amend the Summerside Incorporation Act, which was agreed to and ordered to third reading.

Hon. Mr. McKINNON moved that the order of the day by which he introduced a Bill to incorporate the Prince Edward Island Fox Breeders' Association be discharged. The motion was carried.

The House then adjourned to 3 o'clock. The House resumed at 3.30 o'clock. On the motion of Hon. Mr. McNeill a bill to incorporate the Kensington Electric Light Co., Ltd., was read a third time and passed.

The Premier moved the third reading of the bill amending the Probation Act. The bill was passed.

The Premier moved the third reading of a bill to provide for the transfer of prisoners between the several jails in the province under certain circumstances. The bill was passed.

The Premier moved the second reading of a bill entitled "An Act to consolidate and amend the Acts imposing certain taxes on certain companies and Associations and Brewers."

The House in committee, Mr. Buntain in the chair, considered the bill. The following sub-sections of section 2 set forth the taxes to be imposed:—

"2. In order to provide for the exigencies of the Public Service there shall be and are hereby imposed upon the companies, associations, brewers and others, hereinafter mentioned, the taxes hereinafter specifically named, which taxes each of such companies, associations and brewers respectively shall annually pay to the Provincial Secretary for the use of the Province.

(1) Upon all companies accepting risks and carrying on the business of insurance against fire in the Province, whose principal office or organization is not within the Province, the sum of One hundred and fifty dollars each.

(2) Upon all companies accepting risks and carrying on the business of insurance against fire in the Province whose principal office or organization is within the Province, the sum of Seventy-five dollars each. The provisions of this sub-section shall not apply to purely mutual companies having no share capital.

(3) Upon all insurance companies and associations of any kind having agencies or accepting risks upon the lives of persons within the Province, and transacting the business of life or endowment insurance therein as the sole object of their organization or as incidental to other purposes of their organization, whose principal office or organization is not within the Province, the sum of two hundred and twenty-five dollars each.

(4) Upon all companies doing business of accident insurance or guaranteeing insurance within this Province, the sum of fifty dollars ($50) each. And upon all companies doing business of both accident and guarantee insurance within this Province the sum of One hundred dollars ($100) each.

(5) Upon all companies doing the business of surety or loan or building companies or associations within the province the sum of two hundred and twenty-five dollars ($225) each.

(6) Upon every Telegraph or other company working a telegraph line for the use of the public within the Province, the sum of Three hundred and seventy-five dollars ($375) each."

The bill was agreed to and ordered to a third reading. The Premier at this stage (it was 5 p.m.) made the sad announcement of the death of Mr. James Kennedy, and moved the adjournment of the House forthwith until 8 o'clock as a mark of respect to the deceased. In doing this, he paid a high tribute to the memory of Mr. Kennedy. Mr. James Kennedy, he said, had been one of the members representing the 4th District of Prince County. The Premier had been associated with him in the Legislature for the past seven years, and with perfect truth one could say that there was no member who devoted himself with more conscientious zeal to the performance of his duties than their departed friend. In the years of opposition he began his political career carefully, and with earnestness and thoroughness sought to master, and did master, the public questions that were engaging the attention of the Legislature. From year to year the Premier was sure that Mr. Kennedy's district appreciated in the highest degree his unfailing attention to his public duties. He had been an ideal representative, quiet, self-contained, alert, watchful of the interest of his people. In the Legislature whenever he addressed the House he always received the fullest attention, for what he had to say was carefully said, was sincerely said, and was marked by ability and mature wisdom which showed how well the people had chosen when they chose James Kennedy. There were few names within the field where his extensive business was carried on that ranked as high as his in reputation and integrity. The speaker had never heard in reference to a deceased one word that was not appreciative. His death was the first break in the circle of this Legislature in its four years, and they would all deeply regret it.

The Premier then moved the following resolution:—"Resolved: That the House learn with deep regret of the untimely death of Mr. James Kennedy, the valued representative for the fourth district of Prince County, and wish to place on the records of this House an appreciation of the high esteem in which he was regarded and our deep sense of loss sustained by his death."

Mr. M. C. DELANEY, the colleague of the deceased, in a few appropriate remarks, in which he expressed his deep regret at the death of Mr. Kennedy and his sympathy with the deceased's family, seconded the resolution which was unanimously carried.

The House then adjourned to 8 o'clock.

The House met again at 8.30 o'clock. Mr. TEMPLE McDONALD moved the second reading of a bill entitled "An Act to incorporate the Silver Black Fox Breeders' Association of Prince Edward Island." The House resolved itself into Committee, Mr. Buntain in the chair, and considered the bill. The bill was reported agreed to with amendments and ordered to a third reading.

Hon. Mr. McKINNON moved the second reading of a bill entitled "An Act to incorporate the Prince Edward Island Co-operative Seed Association." The House in Committee, Mr. J. A. Dewar in the chair, considered the bill, which was agreed to and ordered to a third reading.

On the motion of Hon. Mr. Arsenault the bill amending the Act incorporating the Sampson Silver Black Fox Co., Ltd., was read a third time and passed. Hon. Mr. McNEILL moved that the House resolve itself into Committee, Mr. Buntain in the chair, to consider further the bill amending the Summerside Incorporation Act. The bill was agreed to and ordered to a third reading.

On the motion of the Premier the bill amending the Election Act 1913 was read a third time and passed.

The bill amending the Common Law Procedure Act was read a third time and passed. A bill entitled "An Act to enable the Supreme Court of Judicature to give relief against adverse claims made against sheriff and other persons having no interest in the subject of such claims"; the "Fox Enrolment Act" were read a third time.

Hon. Mr. McKINNON moved the second reading of a bill amending the Prince Edward Co-operative Egg and Poultry Association. The House in Committee, Mr. Dobie in the chair, considered the bill, which was agreed to and ordered to a third reading.

The bill amending the Charlottetown Incorporation Act was then, on the motion of Mr. A. A. McDonald, read a third time and passed.

Hon. Mr. MYERS moved the third reading of a bill incorporating the Grahams Road Hall Co., Ltd. The bill was passed.

The Premier then introduced the "Appropriation Act 1915," which was read a first time. It was read a second time, and the House in Committee, Mr. Dobie in the chair, considered the bill, which was agreed to, read a third time and passed.

Mr. A. A. McDONALD, chairman of the Committee on Printing and Binding of the journals of the House, presented the report of the Committee, which accepted the tender of Archibald Irwin. There was one other tendered, C. B. Murley.

The Premier moved the third reading of a bill amending the Acts imposing certain taxes on certain companies, Associations and Brewers. The bill was passed.

Hon. J. A. McDONALD then moved that the House resolve itself into Committee, Mr. Buntain in the chair, to take into consideration Grants to Paupers.

Thereafter the House adjourned till 10 a.m. Saturday.

INDEPENDENT ORDER OF ODDFELLOWS

1819 96th Anniversary 1915
(Written by G. S. R.)

Although we are passing through a series of the most troublous times the world has ever seen, we are glad to divert our attention for a short period to look over other matters than warfare, some other news than that of the slaughter, devastation, and deaths of barbarians that are taking place at this time within the zone of the European war.

We are again called upon at this time to join with the members of the Independent Order of Oddfellows in celebrating the 96th anniversary of the founding of the Order. The privileges of doing this are those of joy and pride, both to its membership and to the general public, because of the noble and glorious work it has been engaged in since its institution.

Organized as it is upon the cardinal principles of Friendship, Love and Truth, supplemented and assisted by the additional mottoes of faith, hope and charity, it assumes its position at the foremost place among the fraternal societies of the world, taking a leading part in the great work that remains to be performed in the large field of operation open to them.

The principle work to engage the attention of a fraternal society, which has for its object the amelioration of the human race, is upon the sublime principles of benevolence and charity. With this object in view a society must adopt plans that will serve the two-fold purpose of stimulating benevolence among its members, so that the very best results may be had from any sort of benevolent enterprise that may be from time to time, undertaken by a society. It cannot be expected from a membership so large as that enjoyed by the Oddfellows, that all are going to remain in good health at all times, that adversity is never going to demand admittance at our door or that misfortune's icy smile is not going to interfere with us. We are sure to have our troubles, those incident to human life, and it is our duty as an organized body laboring in the interest of humanity to make man's burden as light as it is possible for it to be, by the combined assistance of his brethren.

For this purpose the Independent Order of Oddfellows have instituted a suitable sick benefit system, with the easy reach of all so that a brother in sickness or distress has recourse to financial aid without his seeking a contribution from the hands of a purely charitable enterprise. In addition to this there are Homes maintained by the Order for the reception of a brother should he become aged, disabled or indigent, for his widow and orphan should he obey the silent call and leave them without visible means of support; for orphan children should be cared for, where the father is not fitted with education, etc., for the battle of life. The amount of money, running as it does into millions, and the number of Homes at present, under the care and supervision of the Order, are practical demonstrations to prove that the commands of Oddfellowship exact from its members which it is expected to be strictly adhered to "To visit the sick, to relieve the distressed, to bury the dead and educate the orphan," are being readily carried out in every part of the jurisdiction where the seed of Oddfellowship has been planted.

In all parts of the world where the Order is represented, its exponents are busy at this time reviewing its history in strict accord with the obligations we have assumed, and the responsibility thereto, and take for our life examples the many little patterns by which the lessons of Friendship and Comradeship can be successfully utilized, we must ever find ourselves on the side of justice and mercy, and be ready at all times to do our utmost to achieve the result for which our organization has been instituted, and for the further prominence of the Three Links emblematic of Friendship, Love and Truth.

The members of the Charlottetown Lodges will parade in a body to the First Baptist Church on Prince Street, on Sunday, April 25th, at 11 a. m., where the Rev. Z. L. Fash will deliver a sermon suitable to the occasion. On Monday evening, the 26th inst., a reunion smoker will be held in Oddfellows Hall.

ROYAL BOY'S MISTAKE WORTH MUCH MONEY

LONDON, April 19.—Portraits of notable people were the centre of interest at the Red Cross sale at Christie's today. A head of the Prince of Wales drawn from life by Edwin A. Abbey in 1904 for an official picture of King Edward's coronation sold for $310. The study bears two signatures of the Prince, this being explained by the fact that his Royal Highness in signing the name began to write too near the edge of the paper, a boyish mistake that unintentionally enhanced the value of the picture. A pencil study of Assiuth made in 1902 by the Duchess of Rutland was bought for $25 and a signed portrait of Lord Fisher, bearing the inscription: "Shall not the Judge of all the earth do right? Fisher, Admiral of the fleet, February 4, 1915," sold for $110. Given by Lady Beatty, a signed photograph of her husband brought $20. An etching of Rheims Cathedral before the bombardment, by A. H. Haig, was knocked down for $200. Altogether, the day's sales realized $7,075, bringing the total to $114,025.

panions so worthy of our imitation, and from whom such an example of earthly significance emanates so strong and appealing.

We must admit that the name, Comradeship, is to us of immense importance. Friendship in company with Comradeship compose the central pillars from which we must expect to draw our greatest amount of strength. We must regard them as our mottoes and watchwords for renewed action. We must not let the troublous times through which we are now passing cause us to falter at our work. We must expect reverses of all kinds to gather with other difficulties new to us. But if we make up our minds to live in strict accord with the obligations we have assumed, and the responsibility thereto, and take for our life examples the many little patterns by which the lessons of Friendship and Comradeship can be successfully utilized, we must ever find ourselves on the side of justice and mercy, and be ready at all times to do our utmost to achieve the result for which our organization has been instituted, and for the further prominence of the Three Links emblematic of Friendship, Love and Truth.
