COLD wind with all its chilliness called around yesterday and made its presence felt after its few days absence. We have had some warm, nice summer days, but yesterday was unreasonable, according to the wise ones. Everyone was chilled and longed for the return of the summer days. To-day the pros announce a better bill of fare and many will be going to the country to spend Sunday. Many will take advantage of the trip to Victoria by the S. S. Jacques Carter to spend a few hours outing. The outing is a pleasant one and any person having a few hours to spare could not do better than to take a sail to Victoria.
