A Summer Wardrobe . . . fashioned by McCall

The backbone of any wardrobe is a simple suit. Such a one is McCall 6877. Make it in gabardine. Soften its smartly severe lines with a bow-tied blouse. Make your first cotton dress a striped one—use the stripes to point up the exciting new neckline. Come to town in pleats—in a dress that features the longer torso. There's gentle fullness at the rounded neck. Make a summer wardrobe that's all your own—fabrics of your own choice and your own easy-to-use McCall all-printed patterns.
