

CANDY
MOIRS X X X BULK AND BOX
Excellent Assortment 40 KINDS
Let us satisfy your sweet tooth. You will find your special kind of Moirs here. We have just received a large and fresh assortment from the Manufacturers. Your special kind is here. Our Box assortment is complete.
TRY US FOR CANDY.
J. Ernest H. Worth
142 Prince Street. Phone 82.

Advertising Rates—Payable In Advance
Central Guardian locals, 4c. per word; Western and Eastern locals, 2c. per word; Announcements and Coming Events, 2c. per word; Classified, 2c. per word; In Memoriam Notices, 7c. per inch; Lists of Floral and Spiritual Offerings, Cards, etc., 4c. per name; Letters of Condolence, 7c. per inch; Notices of Thanks and Appreciation, 7c. per inch or 4c. per word. Other rates on applications.

Agents Wanted
WANTED—2c per word, three insertions for the price of two, strictly payable in advance.

Agents Wanted
THOUSAND PEOPLE MADE money last year selling "Imperial" Christmas Cards; established 18 years; write British Canadian Publishing Co., Ltd., 426 Patrick Building, Toronto.
A. W. 9-W-P-M-ti-Sept. 30.

Agents Wanted
WANTED—MAN OR woman to travel and appoint agents for old-established house in business in Toronto forty-two years. Position permanent. Write for particulars, expense allowed. etc. Winston Co., Toronto.
A. W. 8-10-w-ti-Sept. 28.

Agents Wanted
WANTED IN EVERY TOWN IN Canada to sell Personal Christmas Cards One-Dollar-Dozen up. Surprising values, low prices, quick easy sale, big earnings, also low prices on boxed assortment. Send for sample book now. Premier Art Guild, Wellington & York, Toronto. A. W. 9-1-ti-30.

Situations Vacant
TO FARMERS—WORK ON FARM wanted by energetic, experienced young man (24), teetotaler and non-smoker, brought up on farm. Moderate wage. Apply R. W. care Guardian. 5385-9-22-61.

Miscellaneous
JOHN ALFRED McDONALD, Professional Land Surveyor, Hermanville, (R. 3, Souris.)
JUST ARRIVED—A CHOICE CARLOAD of horses, workers and drivers, for sale at Wellington MacNeill's Stables, Buntain & Bell's Wharf. 5477-9-27-31.

For Sale
CARDBOARD SUITABLE FOR lining outhouses, etc., 1c. per sheet. Guardian office.

FOR SALE—HOME JEWEL
Kitchen Stove. 83 Elm Avenue. 5502-9-28-21.

FOR RENT—MEAT STORE.
Apply E. N. Kays, 18 Upper Queen Street. 5498-9-28-31.

FOR SALE—ONE SMALL COOKING
range new. One Happy Thought range also new. Apply to 89 Rochford Street.

FOR SALE—IN GOOD RESIDENTIAL section, nice building lot 50 x 75. Apply to H. F. McPhee. 5442-9-24-41.

FOR SALE—OLD PAPERS, 6 cents bundle. Guardian office. 2-4-tf.

FOR SALE, TO LET, BOARD AND room signs on hand at Guardian Office.

FOR SALE—PUREBRED SHORThorn Bull 2 years old, quiet and in good condition. Priced to sell. Victor Howatt, Tryon, P. E. I., Canada. 5480-9-28-31.

FOR SALE BY TENDER, MURRAY
Harbor Fox Ranch, consisting of forty pens. Tenders will be received until noon Saturday, October 8th. P. W. Le Lacheur, John E. Winsloe, Liquidators. 5488-9-28-41.

Employment Wanted
WANTED—WORK ON FARM BY experienced man. Will take horses in payment. Apply Guardian. 5482-9-28-31.

Personal
PRIVATE KINDERGARTENS pay. Advice given free by the Canadian Kindergarten Institute, Toronto (10).
Personal 9-21-24-28-30.

Wanted
ROOM AND BOARD IN PRIVATE home. Apply Guardian. 5495-9-28-21.

Dr. W. R. Carson
CHIROPRACTOR
Three Year Palmer Graduate
124 Prince St. Phone 1872
Home Calls Made.

CENTRAL GUARDIAN
This is reserved for news, but advertisements of a news character may be inserted at the rate of 4c. per word, strictly payable in advance.
OCTOBER 27th. — Reserve date for St. James Church Annual Halloween Tea. 5479-9-28-11.

WINSLOE UNITED CHURCH services on Sunday, Oct. 2nd as follows: Winsloe North, 11; Winsloe South, 3; Highfield, 7. Rev. L. J. Leard, Minister.

POLICE COURT—At the Police Court yesterday morning, a man charged with driving a car while intoxicated, within meaning of the prohibition act, was fined $10 and costs or 20 days, had his car impounded for three months, and his license cancelled. In a case of driving without lights and other than careful manner, the offender was fined $10 and costs or 10 days. A man charged with using abusive language was bound over to keep the peace and fined $2 or 5 days. A man convicted for operating a motor vehicle to the common danger was remanded until Saturday for sentence. For non-payment of dog tax, two offenders were fined $2 and costs or 5 days and $5 or 5 days respectively.

BANKER HONORED—Accompanied by his wife and family, U. J. Pinaud, formerly accountant with the Bank of Nova Scotia this city, left by motor Saturday morning for Albany, P. E. I., where he takes over the management of the branch there. Mr. Pinaud came to Sydney from Charlottetown, four years ago and during his residence acquired many friends and acquaintances who will learn of his promotion with a great deal of pleasure. On Friday afternoon, the eve of his departure for the Island, he was presented with a desk set by the staff of the bank. Presentation was made by W. L. Carson, manager, who delivered an appropriate address, followed by short speeches by other members of the staff. Mr. Pinaud is succeeded here by G. M. Hamilton, formerly of the inspection department, Toronto.—Sydney Post.

Soft corns and warts are ugly, painful and irritating. Remove them quickly and surely with Douglas' Egyptian Liniment.

PERSONALS
Mrs. W. D. Brehaut, Alexandra, was in the City yesterday.
Mr. Alan "Toby" MacMillan left yesterday for Wolfville, N. S. to attend Acadia University.
Mrs. H. A. C. Scarth left yesterday morning on a visit to relatives in Montreal, Quebec and Sherbrook.
Mr. Arthur Lamb, of Springfield, accompanied by his sister, Miss Ruth, motored to the city Friday.
his return had got as far as Kamloops when he took ill and was taken to the Kamloops hospital. He died within a few hours of admittance, the cause being angina pectoris.
Messages of sympathy were received by Mrs. Muncey and family from S. J. Hungerford, acting president of the Canadian National Railways, A. E. Warren, vice president, with headquarters at Winnipeg and many other officials from all parts of the system.
Honorary pall bearers were B. T. Chappell, general superintendent; J. M. Macrae, general freight agent; G. A. McNicholl, general passenger agent; K. J. Burns, secretary Vancouver Harbor Commission; F. C. Meyers, freight and passenger agent, Great Northern and W. E. Cline, superintendent of transportation, Canadian Pacific Railway.
Every branch of the railway in British Columbia was represented and officials were present from every department, as well as from the railway brotherhoods. Many flowers were needed to carry the flow-ers from the chapel to the cemetery.

PERSONALS
Mrs. W. D. Brehaut, Alexandra, was in the City yesterday.
Mr. Alan "Toby" MacMillan left yesterday for Wolfville, N. S. to attend Acadia University.
Mrs. H. A. C. Scarth left yesterday morning on a visit to relatives in Montreal, Quebec and Sherbrook.
Mr. Arthur Lamb, of Springfield, accompanied by his sister, Miss Ruth, motored to the city Friday.
his return had got as far as Kamloops when he took ill and was taken to the Kamloops hospital. He died within a few hours of admittance, the cause being angina pectoris.
Messages of sympathy were received by Mrs. Muncey and family from S. J. Hungerford, acting president of the Canadian National Railways, A. E. Warren, vice president, with headquarters at Winnipeg and many other officials from all parts of the system.
Honorary pall bearers were B. T. Chappell, general superintendent; J. M. Macrae, general freight agent; G. A. McNicholl, general passenger agent; K. J. Burns, secretary Vancouver Harbor Commission; F. C. Meyers, freight and passenger agent, Great Northern and W. E. Cline, superintendent of transportation, Canadian Pacific Railway.
Every branch of the railway in British Columbia was represented and officials were present from every department, as well as from the railway brotherhoods. Many flowers were needed to carry the flow-ers from the chapel to the cemetery.

PERSONALS
Mrs. W. D. Brehaut, Alexandra, was in the City yesterday.
Mr. Alan "Toby" MacMillan left yesterday for Wolfville, N. S. to attend Acadia University.
Mrs. H. A. C. Scarth left yesterday morning on a visit to relatives in Montreal, Quebec and Sherbrook.
Mr. Arthur Lamb, of Springfield, accompanied by his sister, Miss Ruth, motored to the city Friday.
his return had got as far as Kamloops when he took ill and was taken to the Kamloops hospital. He died within a few hours of admittance, the cause being angina pectoris.
Messages of sympathy were received by Mrs. Muncey and family from S. J. Hungerford, acting president of the Canadian National Railways, A. E. Warren, vice president, with headquarters at Winnipeg and many other officials from all parts of the system.
Honorary pall bearers were B. T. Chappell, general superintendent; J. M. Macrae, general freight agent; G. A. McNicholl, general passenger agent; K. J. Burns, secretary Vancouver Harbor Commission; F. C. Meyers, freight and passenger agent, Great Northern and W. E. Cline, superintendent of transportation, Canadian Pacific Railway.
Every branch of the railway in British Columbia was represented and officials were present from every department, as well as from the railway brotherhoods. Many flowers were needed to carry the flow-ers from the chapel to the cemetery.

PERSONALS
Mrs. W. D. Brehaut, Alexandra, was in the City yesterday.
Mr. Alan "Toby" MacMillan left yesterday for Wolfville, N. S. to attend Acadia University.
Mrs. H. A. C. Scarth left yesterday morning on a visit to relatives in Montreal, Quebec and Sherbrook.
Mr. Arthur Lamb, of Springfield, accompanied by his sister, Miss Ruth, motored to the city Friday.
his return had got as far as Kamloops when he took ill and was taken to the Kamloops hospital. He died within a few hours of admittance, the cause being angina pectoris.
Messages of sympathy were received by Mrs. Muncey and family from S. J. Hungerford, acting president of the Canadian National Railways, A. E. Warren, vice president, with headquarters at Winnipeg and many other officials from all parts of the system.
Honorary pall bearers were B. T. Chappell, general superintendent; J. M. Macrae, general freight agent; G. A. McNicholl, general passenger agent; K. J. Burns, secretary Vancouver Harbor Commission; F. C. Meyers, freight and passenger agent, Great Northern and W. E. Cline, superintendent of transportation, Canadian Pacific Railway.
Every branch of the railway in British Columbia was represented and officials were present from every department, as well as from the railway brotherhoods. Many flowers were needed to carry the flow-ers from the chapel to the cemetery.

PERSONALS
Mrs. W. D. Brehaut, Alexandra, was in the City yesterday.
Mr. Alan "Toby" MacMillan left yesterday for Wolfville, N. S. to attend Acadia University.
Mrs. H. A. C. Scarth left yesterday morning on a visit to relatives in Montreal, Quebec and Sherbrook.
Mr. Arthur Lamb, of Springfield, accompanied by his sister, Miss Ruth, motored to the city Friday.
his return had got as far as Kamloops when he took ill and was taken to the Kamloops hospital. He died within a few hours of admittance, the cause being angina pectoris.
Messages of sympathy were received by Mrs. Muncey and family from S. J. Hungerford, acting president of the Canadian National Railways, A. E. Warren, vice president, with headquarters at Winnipeg and many other officials from all parts of the system.
Honorary pall bearers were B. T. Chappell, general superintendent; J. M. Macrae, general freight agent; G. A. McNicholl, general passenger agent; K. J. Burns, secretary Vancouver Harbor Commission; F. C. Meyers, freight and passenger agent, Great Northern and W. E. Cline, superintendent of transportation, Canadian Pacific Railway.
Every branch of the railway in British Columbia was represented and officials were present from every department, as well as from the railway brotherhoods. Many flowers were needed to carry the flow-ers from the chapel to the cemetery.

PERSONALS
Mrs. W. D. Brehaut, Alexandra, was in the City yesterday.
Mr. Alan "Toby" MacMillan left yesterday for Wolfville, N. S. to attend Acadia University.
Mrs. H. A. C. Scarth left yesterday morning on a visit to relatives in Montreal, Quebec and Sherbrook.
Mr. Arthur Lamb, of Springfield, accompanied by his sister, Miss Ruth, motored to the city Friday.
his return had got as far as Kamloops when he took ill and was taken to the Kamloops hospital. He died within a few hours of admittance, the cause being angina pectoris.
Messages of sympathy were received by Mrs. Muncey and family from S. J. Hungerford, acting president of the Canadian National Railways, A. E. Warren, vice president, with headquarters at Winnipeg and many other officials from all parts of the system.
Honorary pall bearers were B. T. Chappell, general superintendent; J. M. Macrae, general freight agent; G. A. McNicholl, general passenger agent; K. J. Burns, secretary Vancouver Harbor Commission; F. C. Meyers, freight and passenger agent, Great Northern and W. E. Cline, superintendent of transportation, Canadian Pacific Railway.
Every branch of the railway in British Columbia was represented and officials were present from every department, as well as from the railway brotherhoods. Many flowers were needed to carry the flow-ers from the chapel to the cemetery.

PERSONALS
Mrs. W. D. Brehaut, Alexandra, was in the City yesterday.
Mr. Alan "Toby" MacMillan left yesterday for Wolfville, N. S. to attend Acadia University.
Mrs. H. A. C. Scarth left yesterday morning on a visit to relatives in Montreal, Quebec and Sherbrook.
Mr. Arthur Lamb, of Springfield, accompanied by his sister, Miss Ruth, motored to the city Friday.
his return had got as far as Kamloops when he took ill and was taken to the Kamloops hospital. He died within a few hours of admittance, the cause being angina pectoris.
Messages of sympathy were received by Mrs. Muncey and family from S. J. Hungerford, acting president of the Canadian National Railways, A. E. Warren, vice president, with headquarters at Winnipeg and many other officials from all parts of the system.
Honorary pall bearers were B. T. Chappell, general superintendent; J. M. Macrae, general freight agent; G. A. McNicholl, general passenger agent; K. J. Burns, secretary Vancouver Harbor Commission; F. C. Meyers, freight and passenger agent, Great Northern and W. E. Cline, superintendent of transportation, Canadian Pacific Railway.
Every branch of the railway in British Columbia was represented and officials were present from every department, as well as from the railway brotherhoods. Many flowers were needed to carry the flow-ers from the chapel to the cemetery.

PERSONALS
Mrs. W. D. Brehaut, Alexandra, was in the City yesterday.
Mr. Alan "Toby" MacMillan left yesterday for Wolfville, N. S. to attend Acadia University.
Mrs. H. A. C. Scarth left yesterday morning on a visit to relatives in Montreal, Quebec and Sherbrook.
Mr. Arthur Lamb, of Springfield, accompanied by his sister, Miss Ruth, motored to the city Friday.
his return had got as far as Kamloops when he took ill and was taken to the Kamloops hospital. He died within a few hours of admittance, the cause being angina pectoris.
Messages of sympathy were received by Mrs. Muncey and family from S. J. Hungerford, acting president of the Canadian National Railways, A. E. Warren, vice president, with headquarters at Winnipeg and many other officials from all parts of the system.
Honorary pall bearers were B. T. Chappell, general superintendent; J. M. Macrae, general freight agent; G. A. McNicholl, general passenger agent; K. J. Burns, secretary Vancouver Harbor Commission; F. C. Meyers, freight and passenger agent, Great Northern and W. E. Cline, superintendent of transportation, Canadian Pacific Railway.
Every branch of the railway in British Columbia was represented and officials were present from every department, as well as from the railway brotherhoods. Many flowers were needed to carry the flow-ers from the chapel to the cemetery.

PERSONALS
Mrs. W. D. Brehaut, Alexandra, was in the City yesterday.
Mr. Alan "Toby" MacMillan left yesterday for Wolfville, N. S. to attend Acadia University.
Mrs. H. A. C. Scarth left yesterday morning on a visit to relatives in Montreal, Quebec and Sherbrook.
Mr. Arthur Lamb, of Springfield, accompanied by his sister, Miss Ruth, motored to the city Friday.
his return had got as far as Kamloops when he took ill and was taken to the Kamloops hospital. He died within a few hours of admittance, the cause being angina pectoris.
Messages of sympathy were received by Mrs. Muncey and family from S. J. Hungerford, acting president of the Canadian National Railways, A. E. Warren, vice president, with headquarters at Winnipeg and many other officials from all parts of the system.
Honorary pall bearers were B. T. Chappell, general superintendent; J. M. Macrae, general freight agent; G. A. McNicholl, general passenger agent; K. J. Burns, secretary Vancouver Harbor Commission; F. C. Meyers, freight and passenger agent, Great Northern and W. E. Cline, superintendent of transportation, Canadian Pacific Railway.
Every branch of the railway in British Columbia was represented and officials were present from every department, as well as from the railway brotherhoods. Many flowers were needed to carry the flow-ers from the chapel to the cemetery.

PERSONALS
Mrs. W. D. Brehaut, Alexandra, was in the City yesterday.
Mr. Alan "Toby" MacMillan left yesterday for Wolfville, N. S. to attend Acadia University.
Mrs. H. A. C. Scarth left yesterday morning on a visit to relatives in Montreal, Quebec and Sherbrook.
Mr. Arthur Lamb, of Springfield, accompanied by his sister, Miss Ruth, motored to the city Friday.
his return had got as far as Kamloops when he took ill and was taken to the Kamloops hospital. He died within a few hours of admittance, the cause being angina pectoris.
Messages of sympathy were received by Mrs. Muncey and family from S. J. Hungerford, acting president of the Canadian National Railways, A. E. Warren, vice president, with headquarters at Winnipeg and many other officials from all parts of the system.
Honorary pall bearers were B. T. Chappell, general superintendent; J. M. Macrae, general freight agent; G. A. McNicholl, general passenger agent; K. J. Burns, secretary Vancouver Harbor Commission; F. C. Meyers, freight and passenger agent, Great Northern and W. E. Cline, superintendent of transportation, Canadian Pacific Railway.
Every branch of the railway in British Columbia was represented and officials were present from every department, as well as from the railway brotherhoods. Many flowers were needed to carry the flow-ers from the chapel to the cemetery.

PERSONALS
Mrs. W. D. Brehaut, Alexandra, was in the City yesterday.
Mr. Alan "Toby" MacMillan left yesterday for Wolfville, N. S. to attend Acadia University.
Mrs. H. A. C. Scarth left yesterday morning on a visit to relatives in Montreal, Quebec and Sherbrook.
Mr. Arthur Lamb, of Springfield, accompanied by his sister, Miss Ruth, motored to the city Friday.
his return had got as far as Kamloops when he took ill and was taken to the Kamloops hospital. He died within a few hours of admittance, the cause being angina pectoris.
Messages of sympathy were received by Mrs. Muncey and family from S. J. Hungerford, acting president of the Canadian National Railways, A. E. Warren, vice president, with headquarters at Winnipeg and many other officials from all parts of the system.
Honorary pall bearers were B. T. Chappell, general superintendent; J. M. Macrae, general freight agent; G. A. McNicholl, general passenger agent; K. J. Burns, secretary Vancouver Harbor Commission; F. C. Meyers, freight and passenger agent, Great Northern and W. E. Cline, superintendent of transportation, Canadian Pacific Railway.
Every branch of the railway in British Columbia was represented and officials were present from every department, as well as from the railway brotherhoods. Many flowers were needed to carry the flow-ers from the chapel to the cemetery.

MACLEOD OF MACLEOD
MacLeod of MacLeod, whose death occurred in the Old Land a few days ago, was 23rd Chief of Clan MacLeod.
The old chieftain was known to vast numbers of the MacLeod clan scattered far and wide over the face of the earth. He was born on July 27, 1839. Norman Magnus was the eldest son of Norman, the 22nd Chief, and Louise, daughter of the 13th Baron St. John of Bletso. He was educated at Harrow, and in 1858 joined the old 74th (Highlanders) Regiment. During the three years of his service in India he acted as Aide-de-Camp to General Sir Hope Grant, Commander-in-Chief of the Presidency of Madras. He accompanied his regiment to Gibraltar in 1869, and to Malta in 1872, in which year he retired with the rank of Captain.
In 1873 MacLeod accompanied the British Expedition sent out to crown Cetewayo King of the Zulus. In 1874 he went to India on behalf of the Natal Government, in order to arrange for the resumption of Indian immigration to the Colony, and on his return to Natal he was appointed a member of the Executive Council and Protector of Immigrants.
The first shipload of immigrants was conveyed to South Africa under the instructions given to him, and he used to recall how, when he protested at the shipping office against the proposed charge for transport on the ground that it was as much as it would have been to the West Indies, he was told that the shipping office, being ignorant itself as to the whereabouts of Natal, had cabled to London and that Natal was in the West Indies!
During this period of his life his love of travel and sport led him on hunting expeditions to the Zambesi, where he had many thrilling adventures and hair-breadth escapes. He even declined the post of Acting Colonial Secretary in order to take part in an expedition of some 15 months' duration to the Victoria Falls and the Barotse country. He had the gift of understanding and influencing the native, and this gift stood his country in good stead when, during the Zulu War, he was appointed by Sir Bartle Frere, Political Agent among the Swazis of the Transvaal border.
He was not only successful in restraining the Swazis from rising against the white man, but, after the war, was actually able to lead in person an army of 8,000 of them to the attack on the stronghold of the Basuto chief, Sekukuni, when there was severe fighting between the Basutos and the force commanded by Sir Garnet Wolseley. For these services he received the Zulu War Medal and the C. M. G.
In 1880 MacLeod returned home, and in 1885 he succeeded his father as Chief and as owner of Dunvegan Castle. He is succeeded as Chief by his brother Sir Reginald MacLeod, K. C. B.
Scottish history teems with deeds great and small, principally great, of course, of the MacLeods, direct and indirect from the days of the first chieftain. The castle of Dunvegan, of the MacLeods of MacLeod, was erected in the 9th century, and extended by later chieftains, especially by Rory More, who was knighted by James VI. Built on a rocky promontory, which is difficult of access, the fortress must have been almost impregnable in the days of clan warfare. Among the interesting relics in it is a drinking horn which held two quarts (whiskey) and had to be drained at a single draught by the new chief before he could wield authority. Just how Sir Reginald has survived the latest ordeal the cables say naught; one certainty is that there are other MacLeods who might give him a hand.
Skye, the argest island of the Inner Hebrides, is where the MacLeods made a lot of Scottish history. In 1841, 23,062 Heilan' men were there. In 1901 the population had been reduced to 13,833, 2,858 of whom spoke Gaelic only, the remainder speaking both Gaelic and English. The fact that once upon a time Skye supplied more soldiers to the British army than any other area of similar size and population may have had something to do with decimation. Then there was the hardship of life among the crofters, many of whom, fortunately, migrated to Canada. Skye is a hilly country. "MacLeod's Tables" and those pyramidal rocks rising out of the sea, "MacLeod's Maidens"—the MacLeods had a way of calling things after themselves—are known wherever the name MacLeod has been transplanted. The MacLeods reached out to St. Kilda, in their possession for hundreds of years. Indeed, where didn't they go.

MACLEOD OF MACLEOD
MacLeod of MacLeod, whose death occurred in the Old Land a few days ago, was 23rd Chief of Clan MacLeod.
The old chieftain was known to vast numbers of the MacLeod clan scattered far and wide over the face of the earth. He was born on July 27, 1839. Norman Magnus was the eldest son of Norman, the 22nd Chief, and Louise, daughter of the 13th Baron St. John of Bletso. He was educated at Harrow, and in 1858 joined the old 74th (Highlanders) Regiment. During the three years of his service in India he acted as Aide-de-Camp to General Sir Hope Grant, Commander-in-Chief of the Presidency of Madras. He accompanied his regiment to Gibraltar in 1869, and to Malta in 1872, in which year he retired with the rank of Captain.
In 1873 MacLeod accompanied the British Expedition sent out to crown Cetewayo King of the Zulus. In 1874 he went to India on behalf of the Natal Government, in order to arrange for the resumption of Indian immigration to the Colony, and on his return to Natal he was appointed a member of the Executive Council and Protector of Immigrants.
The first shipload of immigrants was conveyed to South Africa under the instructions given to him, and he used to recall how, when he protested at the shipping office against the proposed charge for transport on the ground that it was as much as it would have been to the West Indies, he was told that the shipping office, being ignorant itself as to the whereabouts of Natal, had cabled to London and that Natal was in the West Indies!
During this period of his life his love of travel and sport led him on hunting expeditions to the Zambesi, where he had many thrilling adventures and hair-breadth escapes. He even declined the post of Acting Colonial Secretary in order to take part in an expedition of some 15 months' duration to the Victoria Falls and the Barotse country. He had the gift of understanding and influencing the native, and this gift stood his country in good stead when, during the Zulu War, he was appointed by Sir Bartle Frere, Political Agent among the Swazis of the Transvaal border.
He was not only successful in restraining the Swazis from rising against the white man, but, after the war, was actually able to lead in person an army of 8,000 of them to the attack on the stronghold of the Basuto chief, Sekukuni, when there was severe fighting between the Basutos and the force commanded by Sir Garnet Wolseley. For these services he received the Zulu War Medal and the C. M. G.
In 1880 MacLeod returned home, and in 1885 he succeeded his father as Chief and as owner of Dunvegan Castle. He is succeeded as Chief by his brother Sir Reginald MacLeod, K. C. B.
Scottish history teems with deeds great and small, principally great, of course, of the MacLeods, direct and indirect from the days of the first chieftain. The castle of Dunvegan, of the MacLeods of MacLeod, was erected in the 9th century, and extended by later chieftains, especially by Rory More, who was knighted by James VI. Built on a rocky promontory, which is difficult of access, the fortress must have been almost impregnable in the days of clan warfare. Among the interesting relics in it is a drinking horn which held two quarts (whiskey) and had to be drained at a single draught by the new chief before he could wield authority. Just how Sir Reginald has survived the latest ordeal the cables say naught; one certainty is that there are other MacLeods who might give him a hand.
Skye, the argest island of the Inner Hebrides, is where the MacLeods made a lot of Scottish history. In 1841, 23,062 Heilan' men were there. In 1901 the population had been reduced to 13,833, 2,858 of whom spoke Gaelic only, the remainder speaking both Gaelic and English. The fact that once upon a time Skye supplied more soldiers to the British army than any other area of similar size and population may have had something to do with decimation. Then there was the hardship of life among the crofters, many of whom, fortunately, migrated to Canada. Skye is a hilly country. "MacLeod's Tables" and those pyramidal rocks rising out of the sea, "MacLeod's Maidens"—the MacLeods had a way of calling things after themselves—are known wherever the name MacLeod has been transplanted. The MacLeods reached out to St. Kilda, in their possession for hundreds of years. Indeed, where didn't they go.

MACLEOD OF MACLEOD
MacLeod of MacLeod, whose death occurred in the Old Land a few days ago, was 23rd Chief of Clan MacLeod.
The old chieftain was known to vast numbers of the MacLeod clan scattered far and wide over the face of the earth. He was born on July 27, 1839. Norman Magnus was the eldest son of Norman, the 22nd Chief, and Louise, daughter of the 13th Baron St. John of Bletso. He was educated at Harrow, and in 1858 joined the old 74th (Highlanders) Regiment. During the three years of his service in India he acted as Aide-de-Camp to General Sir Hope Grant, Commander-in-Chief of the Presidency of Madras. He accompanied his regiment to Gibraltar in 1869, and to Malta in 1872, in which year he retired with the rank of Captain.
In 1873 MacLeod accompanied the British Expedition sent out to crown Cetewayo King of the Zulus. In 1874 he went to India on behalf of the Natal Government, in order to arrange for the resumption of Indian immigration to the Colony, and on his return to Natal he was appointed a member of the Executive Council and Protector of Immigrants.
The first shipload of immigrants was conveyed to South Africa under the instructions given to him, and he used to recall how, when he protested at the shipping office against the proposed charge for transport on the ground that it was as much as it would have been to the West Indies, he was told that the shipping office, being ignorant itself as to the whereabouts of Natal, had cabled to London and that Natal was in the West Indies!
During this period of his life his love of travel and sport led him on hunting expeditions to the Zambesi, where he had many thrilling adventures and hair-breadth escapes. He even declined the post of Acting Colonial Secretary in order to take part in an expedition of some 15 months' duration to the Victoria Falls and the Barotse country. He had the gift of understanding and influencing the native, and this gift stood his country in good stead when, during the Zulu War, he was appointed by Sir Bartle Frere, Political Agent among the Swazis of the Transvaal border.
He was not only successful in restraining the Swazis from rising against the white man, but, after the war, was actually able to lead in person an army of 8,000 of them to the attack on the stronghold of the Basuto chief, Sekukuni, when there was severe fighting between the Basutos and the force commanded by Sir Garnet Wolseley. For these services he received the Zulu War Medal and the C. M. G.
In 1880 MacLeod returned home, and in 1885 he succeeded his father as Chief and as owner of Dunvegan Castle. He is succeeded as Chief by his brother Sir Reginald MacLeod, K. C. B.
Scottish history teems with deeds great and small, principally great, of course, of the MacLeods, direct and indirect from the days of the first chieftain. The castle of Dunvegan, of the MacLeods of MacLeod, was erected in the 9th century, and extended by later chieftains, especially by Rory More, who was knighted by James VI. Built on a rocky promontory, which is difficult of access, the fortress must have been almost impregnable in the days of clan warfare. Among the interesting relics in it is a drinking horn which held two quarts (whiskey) and had to be drained at a single draught by the new chief before he could wield authority. Just how Sir Reginald has survived the latest ordeal the cables say naught; one certainty is that there are other MacLeods who might give him a hand.
Skye, the argest island of the Inner Hebrides, is where the MacLeods made a lot of Scottish history. In 1841, 23,062 Heilan' men were there. In 1901 the population had been reduced to 13,833, 2,858 of whom spoke Gaelic only, the remainder speaking both Gaelic and English. The fact that once upon a time Skye supplied more soldiers to the British army than any other area of similar size and population may have had something to do with decimation. Then there was the hardship of life among the crofters, many of whom, fortunately, migrated to Canada. Skye is a hilly country. "MacLeod's Tables" and those pyramidal rocks rising out of the sea, "MacLeod's Maidens"—the MacLeods had a way of calling things after themselves—are known wherever the name MacLeod has been transplanted. The MacLeods reached out to St. Kilda, in their possession for hundreds of years. Indeed, where didn't they go.

MACLEOD OF MACLEOD
MacLeod of MacLeod, whose death occurred in the Old Land a few days ago, was 23rd Chief of Clan MacLeod.
The old chieftain was known to vast numbers of the MacLeod clan scattered far and wide over the face of the earth. He was born on July 27, 1839. Norman Magnus was the eldest son of Norman, the 22nd Chief, and Louise, daughter of the 13th Baron St. John of Bletso. He was educated at Harrow, and in 1858 joined the old 74th (Highlanders) Regiment. During the three years of his service in India he acted as Aide-de-Camp to General Sir Hope Grant, Commander-in-Chief of the Presidency of Madras. He accompanied his regiment to Gibraltar in 1869, and to Malta in 1872, in which year he retired with the rank of Captain.
In 1873 MacLeod accompanied the British Expedition sent out to crown Cetewayo King of the Zulus. In 1874 he went to India on behalf of the Natal Government, in order to arrange for the resumption of Indian immigration to the Colony, and on his return to Natal he was appointed a member of the Executive Council and Protector of Immigrants.
The first shipload of immigrants was conveyed to South Africa under the instructions given to him, and he used to recall how, when he protested at the shipping office against the proposed charge for transport on the ground that it was as much as it would have been to the West Indies, he was told that the shipping office, being ignorant itself as to the whereabouts of Natal, had cabled to London and that Natal was in the West Indies!
During this period of his life his love of travel and sport led him on hunting expeditions to the Zambesi, where he had many thrilling adventures and hair-breadth escapes. He even declined the post of Acting Colonial Secretary in order to take part in an expedition of some 15 months' duration to the Victoria Falls and the Barotse country. He had the gift of understanding and influencing the native, and this gift stood his country in good stead when, during the Zulu War, he was appointed by Sir Bartle Frere, Political Agent among the Swazis of the Transvaal border.
He was not only successful in restraining the Swazis from rising against the white man, but, after the war, was actually able to lead in person an army of 8,000 of them to the attack on the stronghold of the Basuto chief, Sekukuni, when there was severe fighting between the Basutos and the force commanded by Sir Garnet Wolseley. For these services he received the Zulu War Medal and the C. M. G.
In 1880 MacLeod returned home, and in 1885 he succeeded his father as Chief and as owner of Dunvegan Castle. He is succeeded as Chief by his brother Sir Reginald MacLeod, K. C. B.
Scottish history teems with deeds great and small, principally great, of course, of the MacLeods, direct and indirect from the days of the first chieftain. The castle of Dunvegan, of the MacLeods of MacLeod, was erected in the 9th century, and extended by later chieftains, especially by Rory More, who was knighted by James VI. Built on a rocky promontory, which is difficult of access, the fortress must have been almost impregnable in the days of clan warfare. Among the interesting relics in it is a drinking horn which held two quarts (whiskey) and had to be drained at a single draught by the new chief before he could wield authority. Just how Sir Reginald has survived the latest ordeal the cables say naught; one certainty is that there are other MacLeods who might give him a hand.
Skye, the argest island of the Inner Hebrides, is where the MacLeods made a lot of Scottish history. In 1841, 23,062 Heilan' men were there. In 1901 the population had been reduced to 13,833, 2,858 of whom spoke Gaelic only, the remainder speaking both Gaelic and English. The fact that once upon a time Skye supplied more soldiers to the British army than any other area of similar size and population may have had something to do with decimation. Then there was the hardship of life among the crofters, many of whom, fortunately, migrated to Canada. Skye is a hilly country. "MacLeod's Tables" and those pyramidal rocks rising out of the sea, "MacLeod's Maidens"—the MacLeods had a way of calling things after themselves—are known wherever the name MacLeod has been transplanted. The MacLeods reached out to St. Kilda, in their possession for hundreds of years. Indeed, where didn't they go.

MACLEOD OF MACLEOD
MacLeod of MacLeod, whose death occurred in the Old Land a few days ago, was 23rd Chief of Clan MacLeod.
The old chieftain was known to vast numbers of the MacLeod clan scattered far and wide over the face of the earth. He was born on July 27, 1839. Norman Magnus was the eldest son of Norman, the 22nd Chief, and Louise, daughter of the 13th Baron St. John of Bletso. He was educated at Harrow, and in 1858 joined the old 74th (Highlanders) Regiment. During the three years of his service in India he acted as Aide-de-Camp to General Sir Hope Grant, Commander-in-Chief of the Presidency of Madras. He accompanied his regiment to Gibraltar in 1869, and to Malta in 1872, in which year he retired with the rank of Captain.
In 1873 MacLeod accompanied the British Expedition sent out to crown Cetewayo King of the Zulus. In 1874 he went to India on behalf of the Natal Government, in order to arrange for the resumption of Indian immigration to the Colony, and on his return to Natal he was appointed a member of the Executive Council and Protector of Immigrants.
The first shipload of immigrants was conveyed to South Africa under the instructions given to him, and he used to recall how, when he protested at the shipping office against the proposed charge for transport on the ground that it was as much as it would have been to the West Indies, he was told that the shipping office, being ignorant itself as to the whereabouts of Natal, had cabled to London and that Natal was in the West Indies!
During this period of his life his love of travel and sport led him on hunting expeditions to the Zambesi, where he had many thrilling adventures and hair-breadth escapes. He even declined the post of Acting Colonial Secretary in order to take part in an expedition of some 15 months' duration to the Victoria Falls and the Barotse country. He had the gift of understanding and influencing the native, and this gift stood his country in good stead when, during the Zulu War, he was appointed by Sir Bartle Frere, Political Agent among the Swazis of the Transvaal border.
He was not only successful in restraining the Swazis from rising against the white man, but, after the war, was actually able to lead in person an army of 8,000 of them to the attack on the stronghold of the Basuto chief, Sekukuni, when there was severe fighting between the Basutos and the force commanded by Sir Garnet Wolseley. For these services he received the Zulu War Medal and the C. M. G.
In 1880 MacLeod returned home, and in 1885 he succeeded his father as Chief and as owner of Dunvegan Castle. He is succeeded as Chief by his brother Sir Reginald MacLeod, K. C. B.
Scottish history teems with deeds great and small, principally great, of course, of the MacLeods, direct and indirect from the days of the first chieftain. The castle of Dunvegan, of the MacLeods of MacLeod, was erected in the 9th century, and extended by later chieftains, especially by Rory More, who was knighted by James VI. Built on a rocky promontory, which is difficult of access, the fortress must have been almost impregnable in the days of clan warfare. Among the interesting relics in it is a drinking horn which held two quarts (whiskey) and had to be drained at a single draught by the new chief before he could wield authority. Just how Sir Reginald has survived the latest ordeal the cables say naught; one certainty is that there are other MacLeods who might give him a hand.
Skye, the argest island of the Inner Hebrides, is where the MacLeods made a lot of Scottish history. In 1841, 23,062 Heilan' men were there. In 1901 the population had been reduced to 13,833, 2,858 of whom spoke Gaelic only, the