—KENSINGTON NOTES — Instead of the traditional way of celebrating Hallowe'en, the boys of Kensington School tried something new when they visited the citizens in their homes, and asked them to "shell out" for the Milk for Britain Fund. 35 boys, from 10 to 15, took part, selling about $95.00 worth of tickets. This raid was carried through in such a praiseworthy manner, that the leading citizens saw fit to give the fellows a hot supper at Nellie's Restaurant on Nov. 2nd. A happier crowd never sat down to eat, and they showed their pleasure by tendering Mrs. Burns a vote of thanks which was moved by James Saunders, Jr. They also thanked their good friend Mr. "Herbie" McEwen for the special treats he provided, to which he replied, giving them pointers on unselfishness. A useful talk was given by Mr. Coady, the principal, followed by J. A. MacKenzie on Friendship and Co-operation. A strenuous hour's work was put in by Mr. Boyd Bearsto, who provided the games and pastime for the occasion. Some one suggested a canvass next year for milk for Chinese children.

Canadian Legion Scores

Canadian Legion out of its experiences of the last war and sound analysis of the requirements of modern war, demanded that universal conscription in time of war become a settled matter of national policy.

"Had the Legion's position taken at that time been accepted in the calm atmosphere of peace as a matter of national policy, the issue which now has divided our nation in time of war would not have arisen. That stand of the Legion was reiterated by the Dominion Executive Council at the outbreak of war: by the Dominion convention in 1940; its call for total war in October of 1941 was endorsed by over 500 other Canadian organizations; by the Dominion convention in Winnipeg in 1942; and again in Vancouver in 1944.

"Despite our conviction that this was the only fair and sensible way of meeting the demands of modern war, the Legion has co-operated fully in the plans and policies of the Government regarding manpower, although we were convinced they were inadequate, unjust, and doomed to ultimate failure.

Time Has "Definitely Come"

"Since 'D' day the heavy casualties suffered by our armies in Europe have underlined the requirements for total war and we feel it our solemn obligation as a national organization with a definite and particular obligation to the men now serving and their loved ones at home, as well as to the nation as a whole, to reiterate our deep conviction that the time has definitely come when the army of trained soldiers at present inactive in Canada should become immediately available for reinforcements overseas and all further call-ups be for general service.

"We are also convinced by our contacts throughout the Dominion that there are thousands of men across this country who have received exemption on the ground of being engaged in work of national importance whose cases should be revalued in the light of existing circumstances. There are many things which suggest that exemptions have been granted on inadequate grounds, and that a drastic and equitable re-examination would add considerably to our available resources in fighting personnel. This is particularly true since there are thousands of men with overseas service who have been discharged and now are available to fill these essential positions.

National Unity

"The Legion as a national organization is profoundly concerned with the problem of national unity. We realize acutely the deep cleavages which have been revealed in our national structure and we have no desire to deepen those cleavages.

"However, our concept of national unity is not that of an amorphous conglomeration of people, whose only policy is that of refusing to take a stand on issues where there is divergence of opinion, but rather of a nation with definite characteristics, committed to a definite way of life, the product of our traditions and our common aspirations.

"Fundamental unity must be unity in the common task. It is an achievement, not an accident. No greater task, no greater need, has ever confronted our country than that involved in the struggle against Nazi domination. If national unity is to be a reality and not a shibboleth then positive and courageous commitment to that great task is imperative. To abstain from such commitment out of political deference to local prejudice and sentiment is to deny our nationhood and our destiny.

"A more farsighted and adequate program would demand a definite policy based on national interest, justice and moral principles. We believe that the Canadian public, as evidenced by the plebiscite of 1942, is anxious for such a policy and demand this leadership on the part of the Government.

"We repudiate the purely provincial view expressed for the Government by the Minister of Justice in a recent speech, when he indicated that, unless French-Canada's views prevailed, his countrymen would feel betrayed. Surely the Government has a sense of obligation for Canada as a whole and to those gallant French-Canadians, whose achievements on the continent of Europe are writing an imperishable page in our national tradition the issue is not sectional or provincial—but Canada—and it is for Canada we speak."

Monthly Meeting Of Local C. W. L. Sub-Division Held

The November general meeting of the Charlottetown sub-division of the C.W.L. was held last evening with the president, Mrs. W. J. MacMillan in the chair and the chaplain, Rev. L.A. Dougan present.

Following the recitation of the League prayer the business meeting opened with the reading and adoption of the minutes of the previous meeting and the treasurer's report, which showed a satisfactory bank balance.

Corespondence was received from the following: Mrs. J. Austin Murphy, diocesan president, conveying an inspiring message to the sub-division; Semn. J.F. Flynn, Halifax, with thanks for box received from the League; Miss Rosalie Kiggins, Capt. 8th Co. Girl Guides, thanks for assistance in work; Miss Ellie Gillis, diocesan convener, war work; Mrs. Katherine Kelly, former secretary with appreciation to sub-division for gifts; Mrs. Madeline Peters, expressing thanks for sympathy received; and a letter from the convener of national magazine, "The Canadian League."

Reports were received from conveners as follows: war work, Mrs. J.E. Cullen; institutions, Mrs. S.G. Peppin; Girl Guides, Mrs. J. D. MacGulgan; study clubs, Mrs. A.J. Howatt; citizenship, Mrs. G. Parnell McMahon; membership, Mrs. J.H. Blanchard; sick visiting, Mrs. Henry Curran; press, Mrs. Frank Murray.

A summary of the work of the above committees shows that several boxes with a variety of contents have been sent to the boys overseas and a quantity of writing materials to the navy on the home front, while the sponsoring of communion breakfasts is a special feature of the sub-division's patriotic endeavour. Ditty bags for the merchant marine will be filled as usual and knitting will begin at once to supply woolen comforts for merchant sailors.

Plans were made to supply needed religious articles for inmates at the Infirmary.

A new Brownie Pack has been formed at North Rustico and the Girl Guides Convener, who is divisional commisioner, reported that four girls from the newly formed pack attended the patrol leaders conference held recently in the City. This proved a highly successfull venture and will stimulate interest in the work of guiding. Several groups have been organized for study clubs and work in this line will commence when the necessary literature is obtained concerning the subject matter.

An interesting report along the lines of citizenship was given by the convener. A large number of women from the sub-division aided in the distribution of ration books in October. As a delegate to the annual meeting of the T. B. League the convener told of the splendid work being done and the further program in view, in facilitating case finding through the new mobile x-ray unit.

Sub-division membership is steadily increasing and plans were discussed and formed for the most effective method of carrying out the various endeavours sponsored by the sub-division.

• Nearly a million Canadian men and women in the armed services of the Dominion, more than a million in war industry, and all the others on the home front—have one goal in sight, a complete and speedy victory.

Teamwork counts as never before, for now the game is in its final, crucial stages. We must all put forth extra effort, use even more of our resources, to make the finish swift and sure.

It is urgent that in this Seventh Victory Loan we each buy at least one more bond than we bought before. It is our duty to our teammates; our duty to our children who will enjoy the fruits of victory. Let us do our duty gladly, that we may earn our place on our winning team.

Fifty dollars were voted to aid the work of social service, also ten dollars to assist the Miriam Club. The Sisters of social service supervise this laudable youth program.

The work of sewing for the needy will commence Thursday afternoon at the workroom on Pownal St., and the president asked members to assist. She stated that a number of grarments have been contributed and goods obtained for sewing.

The chaplain, Rev Father Dougan, spoke with sincere appreciation of the good works which have been sponsored by the League, with special reference to communion breakfasts, and the many kindnesses shown to the boys in service while stationed in Charlottetown. Letters received from recipients show sincere appreciation of this. The chaplain encouraged the members to continue this good work which contributes in no small measure to the morale of the men in active service.

Father Of Queen Elizabeth Is Dead

LONDON, Nov. 7 — (CP) — The Earl of Strathmore, 89, father of Queen Elizabeth, died at 6 a.m. today at Glamis Castle, his home in Forfarshire, Scotland.

Lord Strathmore had been ill for about a month. His condition took a serious turn last week-end and he was reported dangerously ill las night.

Although he had been in failing health for some time the critical turn in his condition came unexpectedly. News of his death was conveyed to the Queen early today.

The 14th Earl of Strathmore and Kinghorne, whose daughter, Lady Elizabeth Bowes-Lyon became the first commoner queen of England since Henry VIII married Katherine Parr in the 16th century, was of a retiring nature, and had preferred living amid the heath-clad Scottish hills to court life in London.

"We have never aspired to court circles," he said in 1923 when his daughter married the then Duke of York. He described the match as "a marriage of love" between "an angelic girl," and "a fine fellow and a clean Englishman."

Sir Claude George Bowes-Lyon succeeded to the title of Lord Strathmore in 1904. He came of a family which long had played a major part in Scotlands history, tracing his descent from the Lady of Glamis, a daughter of Robert II of Scotland.

His ancestral home, Glamis Castle, also had survived much stormy Scottish history. Although the present building dates largely from the 17th century, much of the medieval stronghold, where — it is related the chronicles upon which Shakespeare based his play —MacBeth murdered Duncan and seized his throne, still stands.

In 1862 he married Nina Cavendish-Bentinck, a member of the family of the Duke of Portland.

She predeceased him some years ago.

Lord Strathmore's death brought the second bereavement to the Royal Family in less than a fortnight. The court was due Thursday to go out of mourning for the death of Princess Beatrice, great-aunt of King George and last surviving child of Queen Victoria.
