Nationalization of British Railways

(Canadian Press Despatch) BIRMINGHAM, England, Sept. 6.—A determined stand for nationalization of the railways of Great Britain was taken today by the Trades Union congress, representing nearly 2,500,000 men. The congress demanded acquisition of the railways by the state, and a vote in their favor for the workers. The project for the creation of a ministry of labor also was approved by a large majority. Assertions made by David Lloyd George, secretary of war, that workers were not doing all they should were denounced unanimously, and it was pointed out that ninety per cent of the workers in the trenches were workmen. Many hard words were spoken in regard to the secretary, and a retraction from him was demanded.

The possibility of industrial conscription was discussed at length, and the congress registered a strong protest against the sending of soldiers to work in factories, unless they were placed on the same footing as civilians in regard to treatment and wages.

No Room for Germans At Congress

(Canadian Press Despatch) BIRMINGHAM, England, Sept. 6.—The proposal made by the American Federation of Labor that a labor and peace congress be held simultaneously at the conclusion of the war was rejected this evening by the trades unionist congress. An ardent discussion was provoked by the talk of co-operation in the American Federation of Labor's plan to hold a labor and peace congress at the same time, owing to the fact that the American proposal includes the bringing together of workers from Germany and her allies. Most of the delegates, in addressing the congress, declared that it was impossible for Britons to meet workers of the central powers for a friendly discussion of the labor program until the German democracy disavowed the "methods of terrorism employed by the German government in submarine and Zeppelin attacks on undefended ships and cities."

William J. Thorne and George Henry Roberts, members of parliament, assumed to express the general view that the workers of Germany were equally responsible with their rulers for the war. They argued that just before the war the German delegates at the Basil international conference promised to oppose military ventures on the part of their government, but that when they returned to Germany they virtually unanimously voted for war credits, and supported every action of the German war party.

While rejecting the idea of German participation in the discussion of labor's claims, the speakers insisted that workers who had fought, sacrificed and paid for the war were entitled to an influential voice in the settlement and should not be left unconsidered as hitherto always had been done.

Whether a congress which will include entente allies, American and other neutral workers organizations will be arranged, had not been decided, but the meetings showed such antipathy toward German and Austrian workers that the proposal from the American Federation of Labor was rejected by a majority of three quarters of a million votes.

The American delegates, William Mahon, of Detroit, Michigan, and Matthew Woll, of Chicago, were present at today's session.

(Canadian Press Despatch) BERLIN, Sept. 6.—The thousands of civilians interned in Germany and England may be released and the difficult problem of concentration camps solved according to a plan now under consideration, it is adopted. The idea is to exchange all civilians on parole not to serve during the war.

For some time the German and British authorities, through the intermediation of the United States ambassador at Berlin, James W. Gerard, have been working on a proposal to exchange all interned civilians, above the military age, forty-five. It was recognized that this would have unsolved the larger problem of the thousands of civilians below that age, whom neither government wishes to retain and support at great expense, although neither is willing to release them as possible recruits for the other's army. While negotiations in regard to the exchange of the older men were hanging fire and new difficulties and delays were arising constantly, it was suddenly discovered the German authorities were willing to take into consideration a proposal for a general exchange under parole.

There still remains a long and difficult road to be travelled, and Great Britain's attitude thus far has not been made known, but it is felt here that the amity and completeness of the solution may appear in the near future.

Stefansson's Work in The Far North

OTTAWA, September 6.—A letter has been received by G. J. Desbarats, deputy minister of naval service from Dr. Anderson of the Stefansson's northern exploration party, who, as recently announced, reached Nome a few weeks ago. The letter gives additional details of the work done by the party and supplies some information as to Stefansson's future movements.

The letter states that Stefansson's plans had been to make a northerly circuit around the new land which he discovered a year ago with the object of discovering its extent and whether any new territory existed north of there. As result of the fact that his ships did not succeed in getting very far north in 1915, however, and of trouble with his dogs the explorer was unable to carry out his design. He had reached his new land last May but it is understood that he will winter at Winter Harbor on Melville Island. The schooner Polar Bear, one of the vessels of the expedition was expected to reach this port this summer and to form a winter base there. Dr. Kenneth G. Chipman one of the members of Dr. Anderson's southern party, who travelled to Edmonton by the overland route, instead of going to Nome with the remainder of his companions, has reached Ottawa and is presenting his report to the Geological Survey department. Mr. Chipman who was chief topographer with the expedition, travelled south by way of the Mackenzie and Athabasca rivers.

Zam-Buk is a powerful germ-destroyer, as well as a powerful healer, and many a case of blood-poisoning could have been avoided had the victim only taken the precaution to use Zam-Buk at first.

Mr. J. F. Immediately I reached home I washed the wound with hot water and Zam-Buk Soap, and then applied Zam-Buk. This soothing balm soon ended the pain, gradually the swelling disappeared, and soon the cut was quite healed."

Zam-Buk is just as good for eczema, old sores, ulcers, boils, pimples, ringworm, scabies and burns. 50c. box, 2 for $1.25, all druggists or Zam-Buk Co., Toronto.
