OYSTER BOUILLON

Twenty-five oysters, one-half tablespoonful of butter, one saltspoonful of pepper, one quart of water, one saltspoonful of celery seed or one head of celery seed or one head of celery chopped.

Wash and drain the oysters, put them into a very hot kettle over the fire, shake, and when the oysters have partly seared drain them, saving the liquor. Chop the oysters, return them to the liquor, put into a double boiler, add the water, the celery seed or celery and pepper, and cook slowly for thirty minutes.

DINNER SWEET

Make one-half pound of good short pastry and roll out very thin. Cut into two even-sized lengths and spread with the mixture given below, place the two strips together. Bake in a hot oven. Sift sugar over and cut into finger-bread.

For the mixture mince six good-sized apples, put them into a basin with three ounces of currants, two ounces of bread crumbs, pinch of mixed spice, grated lemon rind, three ounces of brown sugar, one ounce of melted butter. Mix well together and use as directed.

THERE IS A VAST ARMY of men and women who really never know what it is to enjoy sound, vibrating health—who would be surprised to suddenly gain that exhilarating vitality that robust health brings.

Literally thousands without any particular sickness live in "general debility," as the doctors call it—have headaches, are tired and indifferent. To all such people we say with unmistakable earnestness—"Take Scott's Emulsion after meals for one month and allow its rare oil-foam to enrich and enliven your blood, quicken your circulation, stimulate nutrition, and aid nature to develop that real red-blooded life that means activity, enjoyment, success."

Scott's Emulsion is not a drug, but a pleasant food-foam—free from drugs. One bottle may help you.

PATRIOTIC MEETING

Britain, and he sent his forces in that direction and the name of Marlborough comes out in the country's record. The years come and go and they add themselves together and number 100, and again they number the same ambitious dream; but again, in his judgment the only obstacle in his way was Great Britain. At Waterloo he met the organized forces of the country standing in defence of eternal principles; and then years come and years go and again they number 100, and we have a mighty nation in Europe—an educated nation, a well-equipped nation, possessed of the same dream of world-dominance, indifferent to the rights of weaker peoples, and after years of preparation starting out in the accomplishment of her purpose to find Great Britain standing in her way. (Cheers.) He ventured the opinion that in 100 years from to-day some nation, whether in alliance with Great Britain at this hour or not, if some nation shall have the same dream of world-dominance and shall attempt to carry that dream out, it will find the British nation of 100 years from to-day doing what our men were preparing to do in the opening of the twentieth century! (Cheers.) Great Britain could do nothing less. She had to protect the weak nation, she had to guard her pledged word; she had to safeguard the security of her own Empire; she had to make her contribution that treaties might be honoured and respected; and she had to make her contribution also for this other important thing—that she might not be dominated and controlled by the world. When this great battle shall have been fought out to its final issue, when victory shall have come to us, it will not be the victory of Great Britain, it will not be the victory of the nations allied with Great Britain in this hour of trial. It will be the victory of all humanity making it possible that culture and advancement and liberty might obtain from the rising of the sun to the going down of the same.

The speaker referred to the splendid response made by the men of English-Scottish and Irish birth, fighting side by side in the common cause.

Dr Campbell spoke of the experience of Col. Guthrie, who has returned from the front with 17 wounds, and said that a wounded German officer, taken to a British Red Cross hospital managed by Canadians, had expressed the opinion that Canadians were among the stoutest foes with whom the Germans had contended. The speaker then made an eloquent and forceful appeal for recruits, saying:

"Your country, your Empire needs you; and you Empire needs you; call for your assistance at this hour." In conclusion he referred to the words of Lord George, who says that the need is "munitions and guns," and to Earl Kitchener, whose appeal is for "Men and more men."

It was better, said the Doctor in closing, to die in honour than to live in shame, and he urged on the young men in the audience to come forward and take up arms "for Christ's freedom."

Dr Campbell's address was, as the chairman remarks, one of the best heard in Charlottetown for some time, and he had no doubt that all who had heard the Doctor then would attend his lecture to-night in Hearst Memorial Hall, announcement of which Sir Wilfrid made.

The meeting closed with the singing of the National Anthem.

FORMER ST. JOHN WOMAN GIVES $100,000 ESTATE.

SOUTH BOSTON, Mass., Jan. 28.—Arathema B. Drake, South Boston, celebrated physician and the oldest woman physician in the world, is dead at her quaint war-time home at 35 S. Street. She was in her 89th year. Her fortune, estimated at $100,000, goes to her recently adopted housekeeper, "Tilly" Bailey, of St. John, N. B. Miss Matilda Bailey came to Boston forty years ago, and for forty years has been the constant companion of this aged woman. Dr. Drake was known as the "we doctor." For twenty-five years she has been writing "love letters" on every conceivable phase of love. She knew Abraham Lincoln, Longfellow, Lowell, Holmes, Wm. Lloyd Garrison, Wendell Phillips and many other great Americans. Walt Whitman loved her and proposed to her. She refused him, but always kept his picture on her desk. Tilly Bailey her St. John housekeeper, was once shot in a police station in South Boston. Dr. Drake was with her and dressed her wound. Dr. Drake was an author and historian. She was the first graduate of the Boston College of Physicians and Surgeons. Her fame was international. She outlived every relative and was the last of her line. "Tilly" Bailey will get all she left.

MYSTERIOUS DISAPPEARANCE OF ELDER-DEMPSTER LINER APPAM.

LONDON, Jan. 31.—Since the disappearance of the Waratah in 1909, nothing has so mystified shipping circles as the vanishing of the Appam, the crack boat of the Elder-Dempster Line. The recovery of the smashed lifeboat has increased the fears of the loss of the steamer with all on board as it is considered that any rescuing party would have reported before this.

Shipping men, as a possible explanation of the Appam's disappearance, tentatively broach the theory of German submarines, shut out from the Mediterranean, operating off the west coast of Africa, as well as one of German mines in the Bay of Biscay. About the time communication with the Appam was severed there was a terrific storm in the waters through which she was passing, which would have rendered it hopeless to keep lifeboats afloat.

The Appam called at all ports on the west coast, picking up officials coming home on furlough, and these formed a considerable portion of her passenger list of 166. She also carried a valuable cargo.

Among the passengers booked to sail on the Appam were Sir Edward and Lady Merewether and their suite; Frederick S. James, former acting Colonial Secretary and closely identified with colonial administrative affairs in Africa, and Francis Charles Fuller, who was appointed Chief Commissioner of Ashanti in 1905 and Mrs. Fuller.

Arrivals on a later liner say there were 200 passengers on the Appam when she left Dakar.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together and for years it was supposed to be incurable. Doctors prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Catarrh is a local disease, greatly influenced by constitutional conditions and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is a constitutional remedy, is taken internally and acts thru the blood on the mucous surfaces of the system. One Hundred Dollars reward is offered for any case that Hall's Catarrh Cure fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

Take Iron, Says a Doctor, if You Want Plenty of "Stay There" Strength Like an Athlete!

Ordinary Nuxated Iron Will Make Delicate, Nervous, Rounding People 200 Per Cent. Stronger in Two Weeks' Time, in Many Cases.

NEW YORK, N. Y.—Most people foolishly seem to think they are going to get renewed health and strength from some stimulating medicine, secret nostrum or narcotic drug, said Dr. Sauer, a specialist of this city, when, as a matter of fact, real and true strength can only come from the food you eat. But people often fail to get the strength out of their food because they haven't enough iron in their blood to enable it to change food into living matter. From their weakened nervous condition they know something is wrong, but they can't tell what, so they generally commence doctoring for stomach, liver or kidney trouble or symptoms of some other ailment caused by the lack of iron in the blood. This thing may go on for years, while the patient suffers untold agony. If you are not strong or well, you owe it to yourself to make the following test. See how long you can work or how far you can walk without becoming tired. Next take two five grain tablets of ordinary nuxated iron three times per day after meals for two weeks. Then test your strength again and see for yourself how much you have gained. I have seen dozens of nervous, rounding people who were all the while, double and even triple their strength and endurance and entirely get rid of all symptoms of dyspepsia, liver and other troubles in from ten to fourteen days' time simply by taking iron in the proper form.

NOTE—Nuxated Iron recommended above by Dr. Sauer, is one of the newer organic iron compounds. Unlike the older inorganic iron products, it is easily assimilated, does not injure the teeth, make them black, nor upset the stomach; on the contrary, it is a most potent remedy in nearly all forms of indigestion, as well as for nervous, rounding conditions. The Manufacturers have such great confidence in Nuxated Iron that they offer to forfeit $100.00 out of any charitable institution if they cannot take any man or woman under 60 who lacks iron and increase their strength 200 per cent. or over in four weeks time, provided they have no serious organic trouble. They also offer to refund your money if it does not at least double your strength and endurance in ten days' time. It is dispensed in this city by E. A. Foster, the Central Drug Store, and all other druggists.

ENGLISH WHEN "STRAFFED"

We take from a Sumatra paper a list of some of the words which the German in their patriotic ardor propose to substitute for the English sporting terms formerly in use:

Cricket—Locherballspiel.
Golf—Dreistabenschlagerspiel.
Leg before—Beinenschwindel.
Not out—Nechnichabgemacht.
Wicket—Dreistabeneinrichtung.
Hands—Handsefeler.
Half-time—Halbspielwartspause.
Start—Abgangstelle.
Starter—Hauptabgangstelleaufschichtsvester.

We can now understand the position of the German who says he has no time for sport.

THE GIFT OF INDIA

Is there anything you need that my hands withhold—
Rich gifts of raiment, or grain, or gold?
Lo, I have hung to the east and west
Priceless treasures torn from my breast,
And yielded the sons of my stricken womb
To the drum-beats of duty, the sabre of doom.

Gathered like pearls in their alien graves
Silent they sleep by the Persian waves;
Scattered like shells on Egyptian sands
They lay with pale brows and brave broken hands;
They are strewn like blossoms mown down by chance
On the blood-brown meadows of Flanders and France.

Can ye measure the grief of the tears
I weep
Or compare the woe of the watch I keep?
Or the pride that thrills thro' my heart's despair.
And the hope that comforts the anguish of prayer?
And the far and glorious vision I see
Of the torn, red banners of Victory?

When the terror and tumult of hate shall cease
And life be refashioned on anvils of peace,
And your love shall offer memorial of thanks
To the comrades who fought in the deathless ranks,
And you honor the deeds of the deathless ones,
Remember the blood of my martyred sons.
—Sarajini Naidu (the Indian poetess).
