Saint Dunstan's Ruggers Come From Behind To Win Intercollegiate Title

St. Dunstan's University Intermediates came from behind yesterday to earn a 6-6 draw with Prince of Wales College and capture the Island Intercollegiate football championship in an exciting game on the C. A. A. Grounds.

Prince of Wales, last year's title-holders, had to win to stay in the series while the Saints, with a draw and a win, needed only another draw to garner the crown.

The city collegians hammered at the University goal-line almost continually in the first half and succeeded in scoring two tries which went unconverted. Tom Doyle plunged over first from a line-out on the five-yard line and the second by Vernon MacDonald also resulted from a line-out a few minutes later. Near the end of the opening session St. Dunstan's broke away at midfield in a dribbling attack along the touch-line and O'Brien fell on the ball in the corner to chalk up the University's first score.

Beavers Win From Maroons

(By The Canadian Press)

SAIN TJOHN, N. B., Nov. 8.—Saint John Beavers and Moncton Maroons opened the hockey season here tonight, Beavers winning 6-3. Four goals in a seven-minute attack in the second period sewed up the first contest of a seven-game series to be played before the Southern New Brunswick League schedule gets underway.

"Swede" Olsen, high scorer of the night, Vince Livingston, Harry Doran and Bobby Beaton slammed home goals in the middle session while Maroons were tied up in their own blue-line zone.

Bastarache and Burgess tallied the opening goals to give the Moncton pucksters a 2-1 lead. Olsen scored the Beavers' lone goal in the first period, Livingston and Ingraham getting one apiece in the third.

Tiny Herman Continues To Lead Scorers

(C.P. By Guardian's Special Wire)

TORONTO, Nov. 8.—Tiny Herman's hold on first place among scorers in the Interprovincial Rugby Football Union was threatened severely last week but the big Ottawa lineman is still on top, statistics showed tonight.

Herman, former Halifax Wanderer, booted three singles Saturday when his team defeated Hamilton 14-4 and boosted his total for the year to 19 points. Tommy Burns' two field goals for Montreal Indians brought him to within three points of Herman and the league's scoring leadership likely will be decided next Saturday when Indians and Roughriders clash in the final regular game of the season.

U.S. Football Rule Changes Are Favored

(By Alan Gould, Associated Press Sports Editor)

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—The collegiate gridiron defence, featuring such unorthodox measures as the five-man line, has gained the upper hand this season to such an extent that, unless offensive ingenuity develops more rebuttal, the United States Football Rules Committee will be asked to do something about it.

"It's the coaches who think there's danger of the game becoming unbalanced in favor of the defence. The veteran Glenn Schoey (Pop) Warner of Temple spoke up strongly today in favor of rules revision calculated to give the offense more of a "break". His views were quickly backed up by Columbia's Lou Little, chairman of the Rules Committee of the American Football Coaches' Association.

Speaking before the Football Writers' Association, Warner said: "The defence has progressed, especially this year, to a much greater extent than the offense. Some teams use two or three defensive formations in the same game. The colleges are learning new tricks from the professionals. "We have had this season more scoreless ties than I can ever recall (Pop's own team has played three). It's getting so tough to score that it seems to me the rules-makers should consider doing something to help."

Warner offered three suggestions designed to help the offense: (1) Legislation to compel the defence to keep six men on the line of scrimmage; (2) Adoption of the professional rule permitting forward passing from any point behind the scrimmage line (instead of the present five-yard limit); and (3) Restore the goal posts to the goal line.

Little suggested the solution of current problems for the offense may be the abandonment of the "huddle" system of signal-calling in favor of the old-fashioned quarterback method.

"The offense then could vary its strategy to take advantage of the defensive lineup," said Little, "but if it isn't effective, there's not much doubt the coaches will want remedial legislation."

GREAT FUTURE

of tea and spices has familiarized the little island of Ceylon to the entire civilized world, and the gold rush in 1898 brought the Yukon, with its little temporary town of Dawson City, before the gaze of mankind. Kimberley would never have been a name familiar to geography had it not been for the great diamond mines, and so we could go on with illustration after illustration to show that something of great importance in the realm of things of great value must link themselves with the name of a place before it becomes recognized by the people who read, and talk, and write.

As far back as the year 1870, a charter of tremendous range was given by the then-existing monarch of England to a company of noblemen for the purpose of trading in furs in the North American Continent, and as civilization progressed, and the wooded barriers were pushed back, furs to decorate the garments, and adorn the necks of ladies of fashion have been more and more eagerly sought.

In the year just past $550,000,000 worth of raw furs were consumed in the United States of America alone, and whilst we have no comprehensive figures to cover the fur trade of the entire civilized world it must have reached a colossal sum.

As the territory of the great Hudson Bay Company became more and more restricted by the advent of civilization and agriculture, and the wanton destruction of fur-bearing animals for their furs, the great Hudson Bay Company realized that they were soon to be forced into the position of a nearly extinct income and eventually extinction. Lord Strathcona, who in the early seventies was head of the company in this country, saw the eclipse of the organization over which he presided and, with great foresight he set out to endeavour to breed in captivity the most valuable fur-bearing animal known to the trade, the silver black fox. Unfortunately his experiments on Anticosti Island met with no success, and after three years were abandoned and silver fox ranching in captivity was not again brought before the public attention until the information began to leak out that the Honorable Charles Dalton and a few confederates were making real money in successful breeding this highly-prized animal. From this small beginning on the part of a few pioneers in 1882 has sprung up an industry that has blazoned the name of Prince Edward Island on the fur-mans of the world; so much so that today, from the 1st of November onward by freight and by express and by mail, and even by aeroplane thousands of skins are pouring into the buyers who establish themselves for a few weeks, and the fur marketing organizations who work co-operatively with the producers in advantageous places their pelts on the world's best markets.

The growth of the fox industry has had no parallel in the scientific breeding of animals, nor has any industry of its size in such a short space of time attracted so many wealthy participants and yet even today, after pessimists have been crying "blue ruin" and the absolute end of this infant industry, the actual quantities of silver fox produced all over the world

Camera Floored In Workout

(C.P. Havas, By Guardian's Special Wire)

PARIS, Nov. 8.—Boxing circles were divided tonight as to whether one of Primo Carnera's sparring partners could claim a "technical knockout" over the one time world's heavyweight champion.

The "Man Mountain" was doing his daily stunt for newspapermen Saturday with the French boxer Delleau. Carnera, over-confident, left himself wide open and was sent to the canvas with an uppercut.

The one-time champion wasn't out, but he decided to call it quits for the day and returned to his hotel.

Canadiens Favored Against Black Hawks Tonight In Finale To League Openers

(C.P. By Guardian's Special Wire)

MONTRÉAL, Nov. 8.—The last of the National Hockey League's openers will be staged tomorrow night when Montreal Canadiens play host to Manager Bill Stewart's Chicago Black Hawks.

With Canadiens in action—the first league test for the Flying Frenchmen this season—all clubs will have been on display at least once.

The game will be the second for the Windy City team and unless they show more power than in the opener when New York Americans kept them out 3-0 Canadiens should come through with a victory.

The Frenchmen, with Babe Sebert showing the same sort of power that carried him to A-1-Star rating last year, have demonstrated in practice games they will be hard to keep from another sectional title.

Hawks on the other hand, even with a new manager and a number of new players, looked none too powerful in the first game. Stewart however did not place much faith that portance on the opener and promise his squad would do better in their next test.

The Chicago-Canadien tilt is the only one schedule for tomorrow.

21 Players Seek Berth With Wolverines

(C. P. by Guardian's Special Wire)

players turned out tonight for HALIFAX, Nov. 8.—Twenty one Halifax Wolverines' first 1937 hockey practice and went through their paces under the eye of manager Gerald (Sham) Hanrahan.

Neither Vince Ferguson nor Chummie Lawlor of the Wolverines 1935 edition which won the Allan Cup, turned out tonight.

The secretary read a letter from Curtis MacKay, District Governor, with reference to the dates of the 1938 District Convention, which will be held at Saint John, and May 25 and 26 were the dates favored. The collection for the Shang-hai Rotary Club was also referred to.

I learned about tobacco from him!

There is no other tobacco just like Old Chum

● I'll never forget that bright sunny morning in Victoria, B.C. A fresh, balmy breeze was blowing in from the sea. I was staying for a few days at the Empress Hotel, enjoying one of the most beautiful cities in the world. And a stranger beside me in the garden of the hotel had just lit his after-breakfast pipe.

Good Old Chum! That was my first introduction. "Pardon me," I said, "but that is a most delightful aroma. Might I ask what tobacco you are smoking?" "Old Chum," said he. "Have a pipeful."

I've smoked Old Chum ever since. Mild... mellow, flake cut Virginia leaf—I have never tired of Old Chum and I never will. That's why I say—"Once an Old Chum smoker always an Old Chum smoker."
