'YELLOW BIRD' TOOK OFF FOR PARIS

Monoplane Passed Over American Steamship at 5.45 p. m. About 850 Miles East of Old Orchard.

(Canadian Press)
S. S. WYTHEVILLE, AT SEA, June 13.—(Special to the Associated Press)—The monoplane "Yellow Bird" passed over the American steamship Wytheville at 5.45 p. m. E. S. T., latitude 41.09 north, 49.40 west, all o. k. (Signed) Culver, Master. The position reported by Captain Culver is about 850 miles east and slightly south of Old Orchard. It is about 300 miles south and somewhat east of Cape Sable. The aviators had then been in the air about eight and a half hours and thus appeared to have averaged about 100 miles an hour.

JURY DISAGREED AND WERE DISCHARGED

Prisoner, Robert MacKenzie, Admitted to Bail on the Condition That He Appear When Called Upon.

When the Supreme Court resumed at Summerside yesterday morning His Lordship Chief Justice Matheson charged the jury in the case of the King versus Robert MacKenzie, explaining that the charge against the prisoner was of the violation of a provincial but of a dominion charter. His Lordship said that our laws are the safeguard of our liberty. They are essential to our well being and to the maintenance of the public service. The jury must approach this matter not with any bias against law, but as law abiding citizens charged to uphold the law. This law is against the importation of liquor without payment of duty. The Crown must prove that the goods in question were dutiable. The Crown must prove that the accused harbored, kept or concealed these goods. These two things must be proven and if they are, then the law provides that the goods were imported into Canada and that the duties were not paid. The burden is upon the accused to prove that they were not imported. If he claims they were not imported the burden is upon the accused to show that the duties were paid. If his defense is that duty was paid the crown must prove that the goods were dutiable, 250 1/2 gallons—287 1/2 proof gallons. The duty was payable when the goods were entered on importation into Canada. There is the evidence of an official specially qualified to speak on such a matter. He said the duty would be over $2,000. Were the goods harbored, kept or concealed, by the accused? This is an offence that the administration of the customs law find necessary to enforce if the revenues are to be protected. One element in the distribution of contraband is the one who harbors contraband goods. It is therefore against the law not only to smuggle goods, but also to harbor them. Did the accused commit that offense? He tells that he has a little farm with a number of outbuildings, including a barn with a shed attached. In the shed this liquor was found. He knew it was there. Was it being harbored or concealed. Mr. Platts, Excise Officer, with Mr. Mann and Mr. Baker conducted the search. Mr. Platts had an iron rod with which he searched a mow of straw in the shed. He touched something that felt or sounded like a wooden keg. He removed the straw. It was settled down finally about six feet deep covering the whole area in which the kegs were placed burying them there. The prisoner acted very well. He helped to remove the straw. There was a large quantity of rum concealed in the outbuildings of the accused.

MURRAY MAY SUCCEED SIR ESME HOWARD

Noted Oxford Professor Mentioned as British Ambassador to the United States.

(Special to the Guardian)
WASHINGTON, June 13.—Sir Gilbert Murray, noted professor at Oxford University, is being mentioned as a possible successor to Sir Esme Howard as British ambassador to the United States. Unofficial word to this effect has been circulated in diplomatic circles here on the heels of reports that the Labor government is casting about for a new envoy to this country. The name of Sir Gilbert has been unofficially put forward here as a tentative feeler in American congressional circles. Inquiries have been entirely unofficial and no word has come through the British Embassy. The British Labor government would prefer to send a Laborite as ambassador but in the event no suitable candidate is available would turn to the Liberals. Sir Gilbert is known as a Liberal. It is understood the Labor government would prefer to send an outstanding figure in public life rather than a career diplomat.

OLD ORCHARD, Maine, June 13.—The monoplane "Yellow Bird" took off from the beach here at 10.08 a. m. (E. S. T.) and headed out across the Atlantic for Paris. The French fliers had mapped two alternative courses to Paris, the choice of either depending on weather conditions. One going northeast of latitude 47, longitude 29, then to Paris, the other south-east to the Island of Fayal, Azores, east to the northern

PROTESTS DISTRIBUTION OF FISHING BOUNTY

B. C. Member Declares a Proportion of the Amount Should Go to Pacific Coast Fishermen.

(From Our Own Correspondent)
OTTAWA, June 13.—To expedite prorogation the House sat last evening until midnight with a draft of estimates put through and a lot of debate, some of it rather warm. It was mainly on the Labor estimates. Just when the premier of Quebec was across the river in Hull receiving the freedom of the city Mr. Poulton staged another attack on him, finding labor conditions in Quebec not to his liking and blaming the premier for it. Another episode took place from a head-on collision between Mr. Manion and Mr. Heenan in regard to the case of Mrs. Mary Ellen Smith. Mrs. Smith was a delegate to the International Labor Congress at Geneva. Enroute she stopped off here and made a speech. Dr. Manion gave the pedigree of the lady and particularly emphasized the claim that while drawing government expense money should not talk politically. The Minister of Labor warmly defended the lady and quoted a resolution of the National Council as warmly approving her selection. Considerable cross firing occurred between the member for Fort William and the minister as to what the former had said and what he had not said. Finally someone got up to say that Mary Ellen Smith had as much right to talk when on a government junk as Dr. Manion had to talk politics in parliament when a member of the Ontario Liquor Control Board. There was recurrent splutters of fireworks

EXPORT BOUNTY PLAN TO BE VOTED ON

Senator Brookhart Predicts Formation of New Political Party Unless Plan is Finally Adopted.

(Special to the Guardian)
WASHINGTON, June 13.—This morning the Senate Finance Committee began public hearings on the tariff bill, which will continue for at least a month. The hearing was before the full committee, but most of the testimony hereafter will be taken by sub-committees to which various schedules have been assigned. The agricultural schedule in which Canadian exporters are mainly interested, will come up for consideration next week commencing on Monday the seventeenth. Echoes of the Farm Relief Bill were heard in the Senate today, when Senator Brookhart, Republican, Iowa, predicted the formation of a new political party unless the export bounty on agricultural products was finally adopted. Mr. Brookhart intimated that he would vote for the farm bill without the bounty rather than see the bill defeated, but that he would insist upon the bounty being incorporated in the tariff bill. If President Hoover vetoed the tariff bill because it contained the export bounty, it would be high time, he said, for the Progressive element of the country to form a third party. Meanwhile House leaders were summoning absent members to Washington by telegraph and predicted a vote in the House tomorrow on the export bounty plan. Should the House reject the plan the Senate will no longer insist and the bill without the bounty may soon be signed by the president. An informal colloquy over tariff on the floor of the Senate today, disclosed a sharp line of cleavage between the regular Republicans and the insurgents from the west. Senator Jim Watson, Republican floor leader, advocated a general tariff revision while Senator Borah contended that the tariff changes should be limited to agricultural products. PLAN REJECTED

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 13.—The House today backed up the views of President Hoover by rejecting the export debenture plan of farm relief.
