Receives Word Of Sister's Death

Mrs. William N. Huestis, Summerside, received a telegram on Wednesday conveying the sad news that her sister, Mrs. James Hartigan of Boston had passed away that morning at 8.30. There were no particulars. The funeral will be held on Friday from her late home in Boston.

Mrs. Hartigan was formerly Miss Mary Jane Ramsay of Lot 11, and many Island friends will be grieved to hear of her passing. Much sympathy is extended to Mrs. Huestis, as this is the second bereavement she has been called upon to bear. Her sister, Mrs. William of Tyne Valley having passed away quite recently.—S.

Robertson-Barlow Nuptials

A very pretty wedding was solemnized on Wednesday, May 22nd, at 4.30 p. m. at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Eidon Robertson, Eustace Street, Summerside, when their daughter, Tillie Ethel, became the bride of Mr. Guy Barlow son of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Barlow of Wellington, P. E. Island.

The color scheme in the living room and dining room was yellow and white. The bridal arch was prettily trimmed with running spruce and daffodils.

Rev. Carlisle Waterworth performed the ceremony in the presence of the immediate relatives and friends.

The bride, who was given away by her father, looked very winsome in a navy blue ensemble with matching hat and accessories. She carried a lovely bouquet of pink roses.

Her sister, Miss Frances, was bridesmaid, and was dressed in pale blue and white and carried a bouquet of pink carnations.

The groom was ably supported by Mr. Elmer Offer of Charlottetown.

As the bridal party entered the room Miss Pauline Coulson, niece of the groom played the wedding march. During the signing of the register, Mrs. Maurice Mill, sister of the bride, sang "O Promise Me".

After the ceremony supper was served to the guests. Later that evening the happy young couple left on a short honeymoon to the eastern part of the Island. Mr. and Mrs. Barlow will make their home in Summerside.

Previous to her marriage the bride who is a popular member of the Summerside Telephone staff, was tendered a shower by the Telephone staff and the Girls Club of the Presbyterian Church, when she was the recipient of many lovely gifts.

The Guardian joins in extending the warmest congratulations to the happy couple.

Among the out of town guests at the wedding were, Mrs. Harold Moore, Charlottetown; Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Stewart, Cavendish; Mr. and Mrs. A. Connell, Wellington; Mr. and Mrs. John Coulson, Sea View; Mr. and Mrs. D. MacLeod and Mrs. Smith, Victoria West.—S.

Inquiry Into Allegation Charge Opens

(C.P. By Guardian's Special Wire) OTTAWA, May 30.—Miss Agnes Macphail, member of Parliament for Southeast Grey, will be allowed the widest latitude in her attempt to prove that Inspector J. D. Dawson of the penitentiaries branch used abusive language about her in conversation with a convict at Kingston Penitentiary, Judge J. A. Daily ruled today. The judge began his inquiry as a Royal Commission into the truth of the allegation by ordering the penitentiary officials to allow Miss Macphail and her counsel to read departmental files.

The inquiry arises out of statements made by A. G. Hall, an ex-convict, who said Inspector Dawson told him "Aggie made a damn fool of herself in the House of Commons."

No witnesses were called today but J. C. McRuer, counsel for Miss Macphail, made an unsuccessful attempt to widen the scope of the inquiry to all circumstances surrounding and leading up to the alleged statements. The judge said he would only concern himself with the truth of the statement.

Elimination War Profits Requested

(Canadian Press Wire) Elimination of the profit motive from the manufacture of arms and war materials as requested by a committee's resolution at the one day conference today was a feature of three Ontario United Church conferences.

At Stratford the London conference, without discussion, passed the "peace and war" clauses of the report of the Social Service and Extension Committee in contrast to the lengthy discussion which greeted it at yesterday's first introduction.

Decline in the income of the Bay of Quinte conference was viewed with alarm by the delegates at Pelham while at the Hamilton conference in Georgetown, Alex. McLarney, of Georgetown, elected president of the Laymen's Association.

The London conference urged the Church should endeavor to "teach people the sinfulness of making money out of the carnage of war." The committee ministers in time of war should not serve as military chaplains and the Church should not "sanction the instruction in militarism or in the technique of war in the church, schools or universities."

Another section of the committee's report stated "realizing that the law of God is superior to the law of the State we recommend that the conference declare that the government should recognize the right of the individual citizen to refuse military service on the grounds of Christian conscience."

In the event of war, the report said, the Church should petition the Canadian Government "to use its utmost influence in shaping the policies of the British Empire towards peace and non-resistance."

Bay of Quinte conference income had declined $10,582 to $125,362 in 1934, reported H. W. Ackerman, of Belleville, a member of the Missionary and Maintenance Committee.

In addition to the depression the decline in revenue, the committee "sympathetic of a decline in missionary enthusiasm and in the acceptance of the principals of Christian stewardship."

Rev. Dr. Robert Laird, Toronto, Treasurer of the United Church of Canada, sounded a warning concerning the seriousness of the financial situation of the conference.

Sees Market For Lumber In Central America

(C.P. By Guardian's Special Wire) MONTREAL, May 30.—Increasing shares in the lumber markets of Central America is falling to Canadian exporters, J. A. Strong, former Canadian Trade Commissioner at Panama City stated here today. Mr. Strong is in this city to make contracts with business men before taking up his new duties as trade commissioner to Argentina and Uruguay.

Panama, he said, was particularly interested in buying railway ties and piling. It also desired newspaper and other paper products. Included in the Panama district he had served, he said were the countries of Colombia, Venezuela, Costa Rica, Nicaragua, Panama, and the Dutch West Indies. In all these nations there has been improvement in business conditions, he stated. "Exchange restrictions which have made business difficult in recent years are gradually being relaxed. Exports from Canada to these countries reached a total of $1,636,475 in 1934, an increase of 40 per cent as compared with the previous year."

Canadians Show Well In Practice

(C. P. Cable By Guardian's Special Wire) GLENAGLES, Scotland, May 30.—Two London, Ont., golfers carded the lowest scores today as the team of touring Canadian players practised over the King's Course here.

In a morning round, C. Ross "Sandy" Morrison tallied a 68 and in the afternoon Jack Nash duplicated that score. Somerville and Ken Black and four others went around in 73. The Montreal pair, Gordon Taylor and Edwin Innes, carded 75 and 77 respectively. Bud Donovan did not complete the round.

Other morning scores were: Taylor 69; Moore 70; Innes 71; Donovan 73; Nash 74; Black and Phil Farley, 75; Ross, 76.

I.O.D.E. Awards Essay Prize

The regular monthly meeting of the Summerside Chapter of the I. O. D. E., was held on Wednesday afternoon, Miss Hunt, the Regent, presiding. There was a very good attendance. Two new members were received.

The prize for the "Ada Memorial" essay was awarded to John Downing. His subject was "Prince Edward Island." James Clark received "Honourable Mention."

Mrs. C. D. MacCallum read an interesting paper on the "Acadians of River Plate," dealing with the Acadians in Prince County. The Chapter have undertaken to have charge of the Red Cross Campaign in Summerside which will be held during the week of June 14th. It was decided to continue the supply of milk to the school children until the close of the school year. A vote of thanks was extended to Mr. and Mrs. B. W. Robinson for the loan of their house for the Jubilee tea.—S.

Closing Addresses In Murder Case

(By Guardian's Special Wire) LONDON, May 30.—The Bourne-mouth "triangle murder case" will go to the jury tomorrow, less than 18 days after its opening in the Old Bailey, which has been besieged by ever-increasing crowds.

Ten men and two women will deliberate the fate of 38-year-old Mrs. Alma Rattenbury and her lover, 18-year-old George Percy Stoner, accused of the murder of the woman's elderly husband, Francis Mawson Rattenbury, architect who lived in Canada for many years.

Closing addresses by counsel for both of the accused sought to pin the malice-murder of the aged Rattenbury on to Stoner with the plea that he was insane with drugs and with jealousy of his admitted mistress at the time. The Crown contended Stoner was perfectly aware of his actions and that both were guilty, that both had a hand in the attack, which resulted in Rattenbury's death.

Many Suitors Mentioned

Since the age of 17, athletic Ingrid has been linked by court gossip with more than half a dozen potential royal-blooded husbands, ranging from the bachelor sons of King George V. to ordinary noblemen and even to her present fiancé, Dame Rumer first betrothed Ingrid with her cousin Frederik in 1918, and then apparently lost sight of him until the present.

Thus her first wooer, heir to the throne of Denmark, finally becomes Ingrid's husband.

Early because of so many "false starts" and partly due to the fact that Ingrid is only the second royal grandchild of King Gustav in recent years to escape the "stigma" of wedding a commoner, the nuptials uniting Sweden and Denmark's royal family's once again are dwarfed in magnitude only by the recent ceremony when the Duke and Duchess of Kent were wed last year.

The wedding is, of course, a royal show. It stands out in contrast, for stern-faced King Gustav gave no such royal show when his "erring" grandchildren romped away from parental and royal discipline and married commoners.

Most Sought Of All European Princesses Weds Prince Who Was First To Woo Her

(By Harry Levin) (Canadian Press Canadian Writer) STOCKHOLM, Sweden, May 28.—Royalty and commoner alike in Sweden are pleased over the marriage of Princess Ingrid and Prince Frederik, Crown Prince of Denmark, her third cousin, on Friday, May 24. She is a popular princess, well liked by the people. The Socialistist city government has decorated the streets lavishly in her honor.

The wedding of blonde, automobile driving Ingrid to Frederik, who wears more than a foot above her, will serve to end the former popular game of deciding which European princeling was to walk the aisle with the granddaughter of Sweden's monarch, Gustav Adolphus V.

Popular In England

In England, where she visits her maternal grandfather, the aged Duke of Connaught, uncle to King George V, she always is saluted by the populace with a fervor quite like the applause given the British royal family itself. Frequently sharp-eyed Londoners have spied Ingrid manoeuvring her tiny car through the city's dense traffic mazes with one of her cousin English princesses as her passenger.

Once in 1932 when Ingrid's name was especially linked with Prince George (now the Duke of Kent) she had flown mysteriously by aeroplane from Belgium over to England and had set the fashionable world ablaze with gossip.

Alliance Favored

Actually, however, Sweden has looked with more favor on a Scandinavian alliance. Thus, the union with Crown Prince Frederik has been immensely popular. When her fiancé, almost 11 years her senior, gave her the famed betrothal kiss, Scandinavian news came from Scandavia, their films for special newspaper editions. Part of the enthusiasm at the ceremony, however, was dampened when Frederik's mother, Queen Wilhelmine of Denmark, collapsed and was rushed away to undergo an emergency operation.

"Love match" is the phrase usually hurled at royal weddings. Usually they are nothing of the kind, court gossip say. Yet in the case of these Scandinavian romancers, the story goes that Prince Frederik insisted that the wooing take place at the Riviera near the fashionable resort Cannes. That's the "love" content with, they tell you. Why? Because it was at this spot that Frederik's father and mother, the King and Queen of Denmark, first met as lovers.

It's most convenient--- HOLMAN'S "CASH WEEKLY PLAN" OF BUYING GROCERIES

"I order what I want throughout the week—then pay up at the office on Saturday. It's really a more dignified way of Groceries, you know—saves such a lot of bother."

"Yes—I find it best to shop there every week. Save the pennies and the dollars take care of themselves, they say. And you certainly save at Holman's. Everything's fresh—lots of variety—clerks polite—all makes shopping there so nice."

NRA Future Still Muddled

(A. P. by Guardian's Special Wire) WASHINGTON, May 30.—A mounting tabulation of price-cuts and wage slashes was maintaining today at NRA headquarters, while President Roosevelt still felt for the public before deciding what to do about NRA.

Mr. Roosevelt went into the muddled situation with Donald Richberg, Secretary of Labor, Frances Perkins and members of the National Industrial Recovery Board in a two-hour conference which discussed remedies generally but reached no conclusion.

Mr. Roosevelt said that some announcement might be expected from Mr. Roosevelt tomorrow although even that was still uncertain and was based principally on the fact he has a press conference scheduled for tomorrow morning.

Richberg disclosed the compilation of code abandonments which his aides at NRA were tabulating. The plan is, he said, to make this record public, as a specific example of the immediate results following from the Supreme Court's decision that NRA's code structure was unconstitutional and therefore void.

League Of Nations Society In Convention

(C. P. by Guardian's Special Wire) OTTAWA, May 30.—With delegates from the nine provinces and guest speakers from the United States the annual convention of the League of Nations Society in Canada opens here tomorrow and continues until Saturday.

American speakers are Dr. Charles M. Eichelberger, secretary of the United States Society and Dr. R. L. Buell, President of the Foreign Policy Society of the United States, both of New York City.

Among the various organizations which are included in the society's membership and will be represented here are: Canadian Chamber of Commerce, Canadian Manufacturers Association, Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire, Women's International League for Peace and Freedom, National Council of Women, Canadian Girl Guides Association, Trades and Labor Congress of Canada, Civil Service Federation, Civil Service Association and Canadian Co-operative Wheat Producers, Limited.

Boxers Will Not Enter Tourney

(C.P. By Guardian's Special Wire) AMHERST, N. S., May 30.—Neither Art Jardine nor Gus Hurley, MacCauley, N. S., sluggers is in good enough shape to take part in the New Brunswick boxing tournament tomorrow.

Jardine, Maritime lightweight champion, and Hurley, classy Nova Scotia welter, both said tonight they would not be making the trip to Saint John. They just got back home this week after making an unsuccessful attempt to hitch-hike to the Canadian boxing champion-

TESTIMONIAL TO FORMER ISLANDER

The pleasant home of Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Wilbur, 39 Prescott Street, Somerville, Mass., was the scene of a very interesting event on Friday evening last when a social occasion was given in honor of Mr. Norman MacLean, who graduates with credit and distinction next week from Gordon Bible College of Theology and Missions, Boston, where he has taken the full four years course of theological study for the ministry of the Word.

The occasion was brought together a happy company of about fifty guests, most of whom were intimately associated with him in the activities of the Church of Scotland of Cambridge, during the ministry of Dr. J. W. S. Lowry. A very enjoyable complimentary address was read to Norman by a fellow student, Mr. J. Sanborn, and a purse of a handsome sum was handed to him. A beautiful cake, richly decorated with the college colors and inscribed on it, "Gordon Graduation, 1935" was also given to the esteemed graduate.

Mr. MacLean, who was taken completely by surprise, made a fitting reply of grateful appreciation of the kindness of his friends.

A beautiful repast was served by the ladies and a very pleasant social and musical program was enjoyed.

Among the many contributors and those present at the testimonial were Mr. and Mrs. James W. Lowe, Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Dennis, Peter and Mrs. Murchison, ships at Edmonton earlier in the month.

They are planning to take part in the Maritime meet at Sydney, N. S., in July if they do not own seasonal they said.

N.S. Youth Dies After Auto-Cycle Collision

(C. P. by Guardian's Special Wire) DARTMOUTH, N. S., May 30.—"I'll never live to be 17 years old," young Garnet Wambolt told his mother yesterday.

He was fatally injured today, the day before his 17th birthday, when a car driven by Ralph S. Gates, Dartmouth bank manager, struck him as he drew his bicycle up to a curb to give a friend a match.

Gates, who at the time was taking an examination for a driver's license, was charged with manslaughter this afternoon, following a preliminary examination. He was later released on $1500 bail.

Garnet Wambolt died only a few minutes after the accident, from severe internal injuries. No bones were broken and there were only light scratches on his face.
