Now Reported Killed In Action

PLT.-SGT. D. A. MACDONALD

Word has been received by Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Macdonald, 232 Flight Street, that their son, Pte. Sergeant Donald Alastair Macdonald, R. C. A. F., previously reported missing, was killed in action over Koenigsburg, East Prussia, on Aug. 30. Pte. Sgt. Macdonald was twenty-two years of age. He enlisted three years ago and had been on active service overseas for about a year. He was a young man of striking character, and was very popular with his comrades in the Air Force and with his fellow students at Prince of Wales College, where he studied before the war. A brother-in-law is serving overseas with the Royal Canadian Navy. Another brother, Angus L., is at home. To the bereaved family The Guardian extends sincere sympathy.

War Situation Last Night

By ELTON C. FAY (Associated Press War Analyst)
Any final battle to destroy the last vestige of Japanese sea power may be brief but fierce. Naval men, while believing that the war of attrition waged against the enemy's power at sea and in the air has dissipated Japan's chance of victory in any major naval clash, assert, however, that the enemy fleet remains an unknown but dangerous factor.

Wounded Troop Carrier Pilots Showed Courage

Repatriated Airman Tells Of Airborne Operations On D-Day.
OTTAWA, Sept. 18 — (CP) — First story of how wounded D-Day troop carrier pilots showed courage to automatic pilots, swept dangerously low over enemy territory discharging flares, and then gave their lives in crash landings was disclosed here.

Moncton Man Charged With Murder

MONCTON, N. B., Sept. 18 — (CP) — A coroner's jury today found that Mrs. Norma Legor came to her death from gunshot wounds which "in view of the evidence presented were fired by Arthur Alexander Legor," husband of the slain woman.
