The first carload of potatoes to leave the Island this year was shipped from Bradalbane Station on Thursday last by Messrs B. W. and D. F. Taylor of Cranville. They were Canada No 1. Cobblers and were dug from 3 1/2 acres, graded, hauled 5 miles by motor truck, loaded and shipped to Boston in an ice refrigerator car in which a special air space was built, in the record time of 48 hours from commencing to dig in the field. The shipment was handled by Messrs Jenkins Bros., potato exporters, Millville, P. E. I.

FISHERMENS LUCK—The story is told of a fishing party of three, two gentlemen from the States and one from the Island who started for the western part of the Island from Summerside yesterday with high hopes of landing a good mess of the speckled beauties. When they came to O'Leary their car skidded in the gravel and overturned, injuring the local man to such an extent that he had to be taken to the Prince County Hospital. The other two members of the party, after returning with their car, which was towed into town, violated one of the Provincial or town ordinances and spent the night in jail. With one car in the hospital, two in jail and the other car in the garage, the trip no doubt produced an unusual number of thrills for a fishing trip. If the story were authentic as related—Summerside Pioneer.

Disease Spreads In Ottawa

(Canadian Press)

OTTAWA, Sept. 7.—The most alarming increase which has occurred in any 24 hour period since infantile paralysis started to spread in the capital late in July, was recorded yesterday when ten new patients were admitted to hospital. Since July 28 sixty five cases of the disease have been recorded at the civil health office. Two deaths attributable to paralysis have occurred during the last month.

WHERE THE WORLD BEGAN

CAPE TOWN, South Africa, Sept. 7.—That Africa is the "Mother Continent" from which the others "drifted" in the early stages of the world was one of the most important suggestions put forward at the recent meeting of the British and South African Associations for the Advancement of Science. "If geology," said J. H. Hofmeyr, president of the South African Association, "can establish the hypothesis that Africa is the mother continent, it will give a new orientation to many branches of scientific activity."

Wheatley River Memorial Service Yesterday

A memorial service attended by almost a thousand people was held yesterday at the Wheatley River war memorial—the first since its erection in 1925—recalling to mind the twelve who gave their lives to their country during the struggle of 1914-1918. Rev. Geo. C. Taylor, a former chaplain of the 105th regiment was the speaker.

In opening his address Rev. Mr. Taylor reviewed the steps leading up to war—Germany's violation of the neutrality of Belgium, the coming of Britain to the rescue, in spite of disruption with the Empire, and Canada's splendid response, showing that although her people enjoyed the privilege of British citizenship they were alive to its responsibilities. The speaker referred to the spirit in which our men enlisted—one of honour, obligation, and sacrifice—a spirit which could not be resisted, not as some have said, with the idea that the war would be over before an opportunity of active service arose. Mr. Taylor stated that he, as chaplain, had a chance to see Island soldiers at their best. They face privation like true heroes, and without mutiny or insurrection, conditions which sometimes occur even in the best of regiments.

The speaker cited interesting examples of the self sacrificing nature of the Canadians' service. On one occasion, he crawled up the face of Hill 70 under fire, with a bottle of water for wounded men who were lying in a shell hole. The bottle was passed from hand to hand and, although with the raging threat known only to wounded men each could have drunk it all, the bottle came back with some water still in it.

Again in the cold at Passchendaele a wounded man sacrificed his hot coffee for the sake of a wounded companion behind. Canada must never forget the sacrifices of the war as it should be among the most wonderful of her traditions. During the last hundred days, four Canadian divisions defeated 47 divisions of Germans. At Ypres a monument has been erected to the 69,000 unknown allied soldiers who died there. Canada carries the very plums of what has been done at Ypres. Haig's message, "Hang on, Canadians, the eyes of the world are upon you" will echo through the ages. During the war the Canadians gained the reputation of bulldog tenacity—once a foothold was gained on a place the grip was never relinquished. Vimy Ridge was lost twice by the French and once by the British, but when the Canadians retook this stronghold it was never again recaptured. Hill 70 too, was taken and held. Sometimes the line bent, but it was never broken. Every section of the Allied forces had attempted to capture Passchendaele; the Canadians alone were successful. Again at Amiens the Canadians accomplished the impossible and caused "a black day for Germany" as Ludendorff later referred to it. Canada cannot afford to let such great events go out of her mind, although the greatest things have cost the most. The lives of the Canadian soldiers were given, not lost, as few expected ever to return.

The League of Nations, said Mr. Taylor, cannot prevent war; such measures have failed all through history. Until humanity is changed, until selfishness is banished from the human race we shall have war. The best preparation in the emergency of a war is to create a spirit of patriotism in the people. Our country is living for and worth dying for. We must always be on the alert for another catastrophe. Britain, we can rest assured, will never attack except in defense of the defenseless.

After the address the Legion Band rendered several selections which were greatly appreciated. Mr. Leo Dobson gave a vocal solo in his usual effective style. At the close of the service Mr. J. H. Buntain extended the thanks of the district to Rev. Mr. Taylor, to the Legion Band and to Major D. A. MacDonald through whose efforts the service was made possible. The Legion Band was later entertained by Major MacDonald at St. Julien Farm where an ample repast was served.

A feature worthy of note is the fitting memorial at Wheatley River where yesterday's service was held. The tablet bears the following inscription.

Young Peoples Conference Held In Summerside

The third annual Young Peoples conference for the Churches of Christ on Prince Edward Island opened in Summerside on Saturday afternoon at four o'clock in the Central Christian Church. Forty seven delegates registered and there was a large gathering from the various congregations of the church throughout the province. At six o'clock everyone sat down to a delightful supper provided by the young people of the Summerside church. Camp fire songs were sung at the table and also later at the commencement of the evening session in the church.

The evening session was presided over by Miss Beatrice Rayner of Tignish, vice-president, in the regrettable absence of the president, Mr. Fred Norton who is ill. The proceedings opened with an address of welcome to the visitors by Mr. Ira Crozier, president of the Summerside Young Peoples Society, which was replied to by Miss Emily Platts, the newly elected camp president.

The speakers of the evening were Miss Marion V. Royce, B. A. Supt. of Religious Education, for the Church of Christ in Canada at Toronto, and Miss K. W. MacArthur, B. A., vice-principal of the college of the Church of Christ in Toronto. Miss MacArthur was the first speaker and explained the theme of the conference was our heritage. Miss MacArthur in very fluent language gave a most interesting outline of the birth of the Church of Christ in America. In the middle of the eighteenth century she said a great movement called The Great Awakening took place in Europe and there was a great increase of evangelistic work. This quickening of religious interest was felt in America at the beginning of the nineteenth century, an emotional reaction from the indifference on religious matters.

Amongst the staunch old pioneers who were building up the west at that period was Mr. Thomas Campbell who came from Scotland in 1807 and brought with him the broad spirit of christian unity which had taken a great hold in his native land. In 1809 a christian association was formed in Washington and in September of that year Mr. Campbell gave an outstanding speech which as a means of setting up this as a group which formed the Church of Christ. Simple christianity was his motto from which none were excluded.

His son, Mr. Alex Campbell, who came out in 1810 with other members of the family most enthusiastically cooperated with his father and their combined efforts resulted in the establishment of the Church of Christ at Washington in 1811 when communion was first taken.

Mr. James Black, a shepherd boy from Scotland, who had become a school master there, on being asked to sign a pledge to the established church came under the influence of this great religious movement and migrated to Canada and settled in Ontario and was largely instrumental in establishing the Church of Christ in Canada.

Mr. Donald Crawford, of New Glasgow, P. E. I. and Mr. Archibald Maclean, who was born in Summerside and Dr. John Knox, were pioneer leaders of the Christian church of this province. Miss MacArthur closed her address by admonishing the young people to uphold and extend the great heritage which had been handed down to them.

Miss Royce opened her address with the hymn, Faith Of Our Fathers. She then proceeded in beautiful language to stress the importance of keeping in mind the differentials of the christian from the other churches. It is good for the young people to think seriously of these things and not to take the doctrine for granted as she had been inclined to do, as she had grown up in an atmosphere in which these things were taken for granted. Her great grandfather having been the secretary of the movement in Ontario Miss Royce told the young people that they should remember that the Christian church was the fifth largest religious group in Canada and the largest church born in America. The essential differentials were outlined as some length. The first was the traditional weekly communion service from which no person was debarred who professed Christ; second, baptism by immersion, symbolic of burial with Jesus in baptism and rising to walk with Him in life. Third, no creed required for entry into the Christian church other than the belief in Christ. Fourth, the complete democracy of the organization in which every one is equally responsible for the welfare of the church.

On Sunday the conference opened with bible school at 10 o'clock with a

Both the morning and evening services were splendidly attended and were both of deep spiritual refreshing. The choir re-assembled in goodly numbers and the two anthems which they rendered were greatly appreciated, but there were special added features to the service of praise. In the morning Miss Lena McLure sang in a delightful manner "O Divine Redeemer" and in the evening Mr. Robert Messervey rendered by special request the solo, "It is enough" from Mendelssohn's "Elijah" and also a second solo "Softly Now the Light of Day." At the close of the evening service, Rev. Mr. Brown expressed the thanks of the congregation to both these talented artists for the rich contribution they had made to the day's worship.

Rev. Dr. Ramsay gave the Communion address at the morning service from Neh. 2-18 and 4-6. "Let Us Rise Up and Build." "So build we the Wall for the people had a mind to work." The speaker issued a call for service and prayer in the building up of the new Jerusalem, that spiritual structure in which our hopes and visions are fixed. Rise up and build. There is work for everyone. At the Communion service which followed about 300 advanced to the Communion rail.

Rev. Mr. Brown at night spoke from the text Mark 1-18 "And straightway he called them." "Jesus is a mighty factor in the lives of men today.
