

LOCAL BRIEFS

THE express did not arrive in the city until 12.15 last night.

DR. CARRUTHERS, of Sackville, formerly at Alberton, arrived in the city yesterday evening and will spend a few days in Prince County visiting friends.

THE GUARDIAN learns that in the course of a few days the Merchants' Bank of P. E. Island will open a branch in Summerside with Mr. J. F. McMillan as agent. The enterprise of Mr. J. M. Davison in thus forwarding the interests of that institution is certainly to be commended. When the proposed branch at Summerside is opened the Merchants' Bank will have four branches in P. E. Island which are located respectively at Souris, Montague, Alberton, and Summerside.

MR. WALLACE SHAW was married yesterday to Miss Florence Caroline Shaw, daughter of Mr. John Shaw. The Rev. Jacob Layton was the minister who officiated, and the wedding was at the residence of the bride's parents, Braskey Point. The bridesmaids were Misses Nettie and Annie Shaw, of North Bedouque, and Dr. Matheson, of Harrington, acted as best man. After the ceremony the bridal party drove to the city with quite a number of invited guests. Mr. and Mrs. Shaw have taken a house on Fitzroy Street.

A VERY happy event occurred last evening at the home of Mrs. Wayman, when her only daughter, Mary Louise, was united in marriage to Mr. Fred Renouff, a popular workman in the tailoring establishment of John McLeod & Co. The bride was becomingly attired in a heliotrope henrietta cloth, trimmed with white taffeta and ribbon to match. She was attended by Miss Bessie Carter, who wore blue silk with chiffon trimming. The groom was supported by Mr. Joseph Kennedy. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. W. McConnell, Pastor of Grace Church. After the ceremony the company sat down to a sumptuous repast, after which the evening was very pleasantly spent. The presents were both numerous and costly. Mr. and Mrs. Renouff will reside on Rochford Square.

CANADA'S TROOPS.

he proceeded to the emigrant shed on the morning of their departure and there found the Islanders as clannish as usual. They were all clustered together waiting the time to arrive for the parade.

Capt. Weeks hurriedly drew them up in a squad and the few Mr. Longworth did not know personally were introduced by the Captain and he had a conversation with each one in reference to their voyage and mission to South Africa.

They were all in good spirits and anxious to sail, and had many messages to send to their parents, relations and friends on the Island. They all expressed their grateful thanks to the people of Charlottetown for the generous manner in which they had been provided with everything necessary for the long voyage and particularly to Councilor Nicholson for his generous contribution of several boxes of tobacco. Having inquired if there was anything else wanted they said no, except a box or two of cigars, which Mr. Longworth sent on board before they sailed.

As the bugle sounded to fall in for parade, he said a hurried good bye to each one in the name of Prince Edward Island, wishing them a speedy voyage and a safe return to their native land.

Mr. Longworth then proceeded to Esplanade Square and was offered a seat on the stand where the Governor General and staff, General Hutton, Premier Laurier and several members of the Government were inspecting each company separately and addresses were being given to the Contingent to which Col. Otter replied.

The ceremony being ended the Contingent formed in line and marched through the city, arriving at the Allam pier about two o'clock, where the S. S. Sardinia was lying ready to receive them. On the promenade in front of the Chateau Frontenac it was estimated that 20,000 people were ready to bid them farewell. At twenty minutes to five the cannons boomed forth from the Citadel and immediately the S. S. Sardinian moved away from her pier and passed slowly right under the view of the immense crowd, with all the yachts and pleasure boats of Quebec surrounding her, with their whistles sounding and flags flying.

It was a magnificent view from the promenade as you looked down on the deck of the ship three hundred feet below, literally packed with the Contingent. It was a sight never to be forgotten. The three cheers that arose from that immense crowd and which were returned by the Contingent is beyond description. The transport was watched by the crowd until she passed out of sight. Next morning she was anchored off Rimouski where Col. Otter was waiting for the latest despatches.

Capt. Weeks' Lieutenant, McLean from St. John, is the youngest officer in the Contingent, but is said to be fully competent to fill the position, having served two years at the military school in Kingston.

Mr. Longworth also had the pleasure of seeing Rev. Mr. Fullerton, before his departure, who appeared in his usual good spirits and wished to be remembered to all his friends in Charlottetown.

There was, however, much sadness mingled with the patriotic enthusiasm of the day, the hotels being crowded with fathers and mothers, brothers and sisters, there to bid farewell for a time at least to their noble sons and relations going forth in defense of their country.

It was estimated that 10,000 visitors were in the city who came from all points between the Atlantic and the Pacific, Ottawa alone sending 1,000 and many thousands were there from Quebec and Montreal.
