Huge Display Planned At British Fair

LONDON, March 29—(Reuters)—
A giant vacuum cleaner with an intake of 1 1-2 tons of dust an hour will be one of the many exhibits at the British industries fair which opens here and in Birmingham May 3.
Twenty-six miles of exhibition stands, covering 1,000,000 square feet of floor space, have been planned to show off for 11 days British goods to thousands of trade buyers from all over the world.
Among the exhibits, which range from bobby pins to heavy machinery, are such items as a rock that feels to the touch like a baby, an eight-pound portable typewriter only two inches high, a waterproof and fireproof fabric made of glass, a collapsible cocktail bar, a machine capable of washing 1,000 glasses an hour, and a safety device for gas taps.
In the jewelry section the largest uncut diamond in the world, the 770-carat stone found in Sierra Leone in January, 1945, will be exhibited. Diamonds presented to Princess Elizabeth as wedding presents also will be on exhibit.
Thousands of letters received by the Board of Trade, the organizers, indicate unusually widespread interest, a spokesman said. Notices accepting invitations to attend have been received from about 200 trade centres but no reply has been received to an invitation sent to Russia.
More than a thousand would-be exhibitors are on a waiting list. The fair will be in two parts. Heavier industries will be represented by 1,100 manufacturers at Birmingham and the lighter industries will be shown by 2,300 exhibitors in the great exhibition halls at Earls Court and Olympia, West London.
