News Briefs From P.W.C.

The young women of P.W.C. are taking an excellent interest in athletics and have now formed a club purposely for those in that institution.

The most ambitious and most courageous young men of our college have organized a wonderful football team and they showed proficiency in this great hobby by winning a decisive victory over their opponents at Saturday's game.

We regret very much to learn that Miss Margaret Woolner, second year student at P.W.C., is at present ill at her home in Rustico.

The social "Students Rendezvous" held in the Little Theatre on Saturday night, October 3 was a real success. The students were entertained by musical selections, dancing, contests, games and singing.

WINS PRIZE AT FORD DEMONSTRATION — Master Jack Sterns, 248 Kent Street was the lucky winner of one full case of Surprise Soap (100 bars), in the guessing contest at Devereaux's Cash Grocery last week. The total number of bars of this soap displayed in the window of Devereaux's Cash Grocery, was 1100 and Jack was the only person to make the correct guess. The drawing took place at eleven o'clock Saturday night.

TRAFFIC ACCIDENT—Hornsby's Bakery wagon was badly damaged when it was in collision with a car on Euston Street about 7.30 Saturday evening. The horse drawn bakery vehicle, driven by Mr. S. Blaquiere, was proceeding east and the car, driven by Coun. H. F. VanDerstine, was going west when the accident occurred. The bakery wagon was overturned against the south curb and broken up considerably, while the horse was cut about the breast and leg. The driver escaped with a shaking up. The car had its headlights broken and some dents put in the fenders. The driver was uninjured.

STORE ENTERED—A small quantity of goods was taken by burglars who entered O. L. Richard's Grocery store on Elm Avenue over the week end. The break was discovered yesterday morning. Entrance was effected through a rear window. The burglars were evidently frightened away as they had some goods gathered up but apparently did not have time to carry them off. Cigarettes were among the items taken.

B. I. S. DRAWS LARGE CROWD—One of the largest crowds of the year was in attendance at the regular week end dance and sport night sponsored by the B.I.S. in their magnificent dance pavilion. The hall after being newly decorated by Mr. Joseph Mahar presented a very fine appearance and many compliments were passed on the blending of colors bringing out the national color of the order. The Orchestra, under the directorship of Miss Florence Howatt, added immensely to the very fine program of dance music. Owing to the illness of Miss Thelma Teed, first string violinist, who has been confined to her home suffering from a heavy cold, Mr. Joseph Callaghan of the firm of L. M. Poole and Co. substituted in the leading violinist role. Mr. Jackie Chipman, second violinist, was as usual outstanding. The other members of this well-known orchestra ably assisted. Mr. John Hogan, leading floor director of the Society, handled the large crowd in a very pleasing manner. It is the intention of the Society to continue these weekly entertainments for the balance of the year. Watch the press for further announcements.

THE BAPTIST CHURCH

At the morning service the Rev. H. L. Denton B. D., taking as his text John 1:10, "He was in the world, and the world was made by him and the world knew him not," preached an illuminating sermon on "In step with the Infinite."

Men are curious about the universe. They seek for its beginnings, its causes, they wonder about its course, they dream of its destiny. Men have thought of it as a self made, self operating machine. In these days the greatest thinkers in the saying of one of them "a great thought" have come back to the words of the wise man of old "In the beginning God." A universe purposeful in its creation and planning and operation tending toward that far off divine event to which the whole creation moves. We believe in this Great Power, how may we know it—appreciate—seize upon it? To this end God appeared to man in human form, so that we may know God through Jesus Christ.

"In the beginning was the word, and the word was with God and the word was God" glimpsed through the ages by men gifted with heavenly insight. It is revealed in the coming of Jesus, God's thought revealed in action. He was in the world, so glorious a gift, it was made by him, so glorious a creation, and the world knew him not, how stark the tragedy. God's world needs a new purpose, that selfish ideals of sectional domination may be dissolved in the love and wisdom and divine leadership of Jesus, the world's only hope.

The morning anthem was Fearis' Magnificat sung by the full choir under the leadership of Miss Vera H. Malcolm Campbell who took up her duties on this occasion with Miss Helen Calbeck at the organ.

Mr. Denton, in his evening message commenced a series of evangelistic sermons with "The Why of Salvation." The anthem of the evening was a beautiful setting of Holmes "Build Thee More Slately Mansions", with the baritone solo taken by Mr. V. L. Dingwell. A full choir gave the anthem an impressive rendering. Communion of the Lord's Supper was observed at the evening service.

ST. JAMES KIRK

The Minister, the Rev. R. Moorhead Legate, D.D., preached at both services in St. James Presbyterian Church yesterday.

Dr. Legate, in his morning sermon, took as his text: "What profit should be have if we pray unto the Almighty" from Job XXI verse 15.

"Prayer is the warm, glowing, pulsating life of religion," the Minister said. "Without prayer we have no religion; with prayer religion fulfills all that it promises to fulfill. Whatever other profits we may get from prayer, one certain result is a change in our character. One who makes prayer a habit differs from those who do not. The habit of prayer is a spiritual training that puts us in the right frame of mind to face difficulties and trouble. If prayer served no other purpose than the effect it has on character, it would be well worth praying. Prayer is a golden chain that binds to the feet of God.

Music for the morning included a solo by Mrs. H. S. Henderson, "Beside Still Waters"—Hamblyn. "The meek will He guide in judgment; and the meek will He teach His way" was the text chosen by Dr. Legate for his evening sermon. The words are from Psalm XXV verse 9, and the minister dwelt enlighteningly on the subject of divine guidance.

To everyone there comes at some time or other the realization of a desire for superior intelligence or guidance. Even to those who possess a goodly share of this world's comforts, life presents its problems. To all who take life seriously, the task that is set, sometimes seems a hard one. We look up beyond us for guidance. If we come to God with receptive souls, He will give us this assistance. He knows better than we do how perplexing life must be to us. God can, and God does guide us, sometimes through our own sanctified common sense, sometimes through the advice of some high-minded friend, and sometimes divine guidance comes to us in what seems to be a miraculous way, just as if we saw some super-human finger pointing the way. But the proud soul will not get God's guidance, because it will not take it, being too confident in its own knowledge.

If we try to bring ourselves into that frame of soul which would submit to His will; if we yielded ourselves to Him, we would discover that God is willing, able, and ready to guide us in our way through life. The validity of the subject of divine guidance turns on the words of our text "The meek will He

CENTRAL CHRISTIAN CHURCH

The services at the Central Christian Church yesterday were conducted by the pastor Rev. S. C. Cooper, Th.M. At the morning service Mr. Cooper preached on the subject, "The Supreme offering of Christ," Text II Chron. 17-16. "Amasiah who willingly offered himself to the Lord." This is the only scrap of testimony concerning Amasiah who was one of Jehoshaphat's mighty men. Henry Drummond has declared that the greatest need of the church is not more men but men of a better brand. The first thing necessary for God's kingdom is wholehearted consecration. God is only made known to the individual in proportion to the flexibility of our will to God. The reason why our offering of ourselves to God has not been sanctified is because we have not followed chronologically God's method of melting our will.

HOLY REDEEMER CHURCH

At the Church of the Most Holy Redeemer yesterday the early masses were celebrated by Rev. H. I. Fleming, C.S.S.R., who preached at all the masses on "Matrimony." The high Mass at 11 o'clock was celebrated by Rev. D. Sullivan, C.S.S.R. Last evening Rev. Fr. Howard preached at the Eucharistic Holy hour service.

Mrs. John Constable of Hunter River died Sunday in her 100th year. The 99-year old woman who lived with her daughter, Mrs. Ross was active despite her advanced age, up until two weeks ago when she fell and suffered a fractured hip. She was also bruised about the body and her ribs were hurt. The funeral will be held today from the home of her son-in-law, Duncan Ross, with interment in Hunter River cemetery.
