SCHLATTER in his address in the Opera House, St John said to the audience; "If Christ came to St. John tonight," he added, "not a church would admit him. If He should preach and heal on the streets as was His custom, He would be arrested, and the board of health and the doctors would ask for his diploma and proceed against him for not practising according to their methods.

THE residences of R. Keltie Jones and P. S. MacNutt, which are to be occupied by the royal party, are receiving many visits from those who have ideas in connection with their decoration. These two residences have been unreservedly placed at the disposal of the local government, with all their fittings. It is understood that in the Jones residence very little change will be necessary, but considerable work will have to be done in the MacNutt house to fit it for its distinguished visitors. Estimates of the work necessary are being prepared by painters and decorators, and it is likely that the contracts will be awarded in a few days.—Globe.

OBITUARY.—Once more death has entered this community, this time taking from our midst the beloved wife of Mr. Hugh MacLean, Dundas. On the first inst. after a long and very painful illness born with Christian fortitude she died in the 25th year of her age. The deceased was a daughter of the late Jonathan McKenzie, and was much esteemed for her kindness and hospitality to all. At her home strangers and sojourners always met with a cordial and Christian welcome. The funeral services were conducted by the Rev. A. Gunn, assisted by Rev. Mr. Maclean, the largest funeral procession ever witnessed in this locality bearing strong testimony to the universal respect entertained for her by all classes. To the bereaved husband, four sons and four daughters who mourn the loss of a faithful wife and kind mother, we tender our heartfelt sympathy. [Examiner and Patriot please copy.]

MR. S. M. McWILLIAMS, Newburyport, in writing to a friend in Charlottetown has the following to say about the stallion race: I was in Beadville yesterday attending the Grand Circuit Meeting, I saw the champion of all trotters, Cresceus, win the free-for-all trot. He made the last quarter of the last mile in 29 1/2 seconds. He was fought to the finish by that grand young trotter Lord Derby Ed. Geers driving Derby. The older horse however was a winner. But Lord Derby is a coming horse and will be looking for that two minute record before he is many years older. The Abbot (2.024) gave an exhibition. He and Cresceus (2.024) race at Charter Oak on Sept. 4th for $7,000.00. The summer has been very hot, and the beaches have been crowded about here.

ALL kinds of stories are being received from the harvesters while en route to the west. One young man in writing to a friend says that the scarcity of milk caused a number to milk a herd of cows grazing near the track. At some points along Lake Superior settlers here found sufficient soil clinging to the side of the rocks to enable them to lay out little garden plots, thus furnishing themselves with fresh vegetables which otherwise would be very difficult to obtain and rather expensive. The hungry excursionists made raids on these little gardens whenever they had an opportunity, thus depriving the isolated settlers of a valuable source of food supply. In one case, however they met a man of iron and blood. A more than usually attractive plot attracted their attention and they started for it in a herd. They had got as far as the fence, which they were to scramble over when the man of might appeared in his cottage door with a shotgun and made the announcement that if they did not return in a very short space of time to whence they came he would make salt sifters of their hides. This was a somewhat startling development, and most of the men turned tail and fled. Some however thought that the man with the gun would not execute his threats, and they stood by the fence and pondered. The man with the gun raised the weapon to his shoulder and fired high. This was sufficient. The men were willing to play Wild West so long as they did all the playing, but when the other side took a hand, and held a gun in it, they straightway resigned and started back to the train. The men from the wild and woolly east are full of their unique experience over the line of the C. P. R. Many of them made an open boast of that they painted the entire line from Ottawa to Fort Williams a bright scarlet hue.

CASE IN PLATTSVILLE

Lady in that Place Proved to Have been Cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

PLATTSVILLE, Ont. Aug. 28 (Special).—The Echo of this place has printed an account of Mrs. J. Barrett's case. Mrs. Barrett was cured of a general nervous weakness by Dodd's Kidney Pills. The following is an extract from the Echo's story, in which Mrs. Barrett's statement is published in her own words. "I was a physical wreck. I could not sleep, had no strength, suffered backache, headache and neuralgia and was nervous and miserable. I was treated by doctors, but their medicines afforded me no relief.
