THE IMPERIAL CENSUS.

It was Joseph Chamberlain's idea when he was Colonial Secretary, to have an official census of the entire British Empire taken. That great imperialist had passed out of power before the work was completed and the official bluebook containing the census is addressed by the Registrar General to "the Right Honorable John Burns, President of the Local Government Board." Thus a working man of a few years ago has presented the first official census of a vaster Empire than has been.

The imperial census contains not much that was not before pretty generally believed by intelligent imperialists. Its significance lies in the fact that the vague vastness has been something more than confirmed by official verification. The publication of the census has also produced a profound impression upon the world. The French, German, Austrian, Russian, Italian, Japanese and American press have commented upon it with a marked degree of wonder and astonishment.

It is computed that when at the Christian era the decree went forth from Cæsar Augustus that all the world should be taxed, the entire number of the human race living on the earth did not exceed 51,000,000. Malthus, the most eminent of statisticians, is quoted as saying that before the 15th century Europe did not contain more than 30 millions of inhabitants. Europe today with 337 millions is less populous than the Empire over which King Edward rules so wisely and beneficently. But the British Empire of today can only adequately be measured by the world, and here are the latest figures for the comparison:

	British Empire	The World
Land area, sq. miles	11,908,378	52,821,684
Population	388,401,704	1,479,729,400
Pop. to square mile	33.5	28

It is to be observed that the imperial census takes no account of Egypt and the Soudan, which countries are occupied by British troops and administered financially by Lord Cromer. They contain an area of 1,350,000 square miles and a population of about 15 millions. Be it observed also that the imperial census gives the population of the Empire as it was in 1901. In the five years since that date the population has increased considerably beyond the round 400 millions.

It is abundantly clear that King Edward's subjects number more than one fourth of the entire human race and if we may include Egypt and the Soudan, more than one fourth part of the earth's land surface is administered by British authority. British preponderance on the sea whether in naval power or commercial tonnage is equally pronounced. The imperial navy is considerably stronger in ships, men and guns than the next two strongest naval powers, while the British flag flies over half the ships that sail the seven seas engaged in commerce.

Other facts equally remarkable if not so flattering to our sensibilities are that of the 400 millions of the King Emperor's subjects only 51 millions are whites and only 58 millions are Christians. The brown and black peoples are in an immense majority. The Hindus number more than half the total, and they with the Mahometans and Buddhists make up three fourths of the vast aggregate. Such in brief outline are some of the facts established by the Imperial census.

Why should not the Province borrow what it needs from the people of the Province? And why may not the depositors in the Savings Banks have the opportunity to lend a part of the money they now have in those institutions on the undoubted security of the Province at 4 per cent interest?

Coughs, colds, hoarseness, and other throat ailments are quickly relieved by Creosolene tablets, ten cents per box. All druggists.

"TO LONDON BY RAIL."

The New York Times under the caption "To London by Rail," believes that Europe, Asia and America will be connected by rail and a tunnel under Behring Strait, with another tunnel connecting Britain and France, by the time the Panama Canal is completed. This would require the construction of some 3,000 miles of railway on the Russian side and over 1,000 miles on the American side, with a tunnel of about 36 miles under Behring Strait. Referring to the latter work The Times says:

"From an engineering point of view the project presents no terrors whatever. The shortest distance across the strait, from East Cape in Asia, to Prince of Wales Cape, in Alaska, is about thirty-six miles, the latter promontory being almost precisely on the Arctic Circle, the former less than one degree within it. The depth of water varies from 23 to 30 fathoms. These figures present to modern engineers only what is vulgarly known as a cinch."

With such stupendous undertakings going on and projected about the world the Tunnel from this Island to the Mainland becomes but a small undertaking in comparison, and it has been demonstrated beyond dispute that it would fully repay the interest on its cost with the expense of operating.

Mr. Justice Hodgson in the letter which appears in another column takes strong ground against the clause in the Insurance Bill which takes away an important safeguard for the protection of the wife as beneficiary. This was the main point of The Guardian's first objection to the Bill.

The letter from our esteemed townsman M. P. Hogan shows the interest taken in the sanitary condition of the City by intelligent and progressive citizens. We now understand that the Board of Health and Commissioners of Water Supply and Sewerage are now looking into the matters touched upon in this letter.

Daniel W. Morrissey of Georgetown has addressed a letter to the Editor of The Guardian through the columns of The Patriot setting forth what to his mind are insuperable obstacles to the winter steamers coming to this port in the winter time. Mr. Morrissey has chosen aptly the vehicle through which to make public his efforts to discredit this port. These facts remain. A few years ago the Stanley came to this port in the middle of a much severer winter than that of 1906. The winter steamers which have repeatedly got into serious trouble in entering Georgetown have not yet had an accident in coming to Charlottetown. The Navigation Company is most careful and successful in the management of its steamers, and they are built for summer traffic only, and yet these steamers sometimes leave Charlottetown in the spring before the winter steamers come hither. Such facts Mr. Morrissey ignores. They knock the bottom out of his very long, discursive and rather rambling letter.

NEW CARPETS!

UP ON OUR SECOND FLOOR where the light is best and brightest, the new carpets are gathered for your inspection. Never was such art displayed as in these new designs, and never were the colorings so artistically blended before—

Exclusive patterns every one of them, and above everything else dependable, you never yet got a carpet at Paton's that got faded, or worn, before you had a right to expect it should be—

Carpets cost a heap of money; too much for you to afford to buy an inferior grade, even at a few cents a yard less in price. We make no attempt to give you "A whole lot for your money,"—fresh, new, reliable carpets, the best real values you can get are the kind we offer, and if you pay less than our fair prices, there's something wrong with the carpets—

You should't do any carpet buying without first seeing the extensive and handsome display we have here.

THE CANADA LIFE ASSURANCE CO.

Sydney, March 20th, 1906.

W. K. ROGERS, Esq.,
Canada Life Assurance Co.,
Charlottetown, P. E. Island.

Dear Sir:—In August 1871 I took out a long term endowment policy for $1000. In the Canada Life, the annual premium being $26.40. Every five years since then without a single exception the Company have advised me of an increased amount of insurance added to my policy and to-day you hand me the Company's check for $1,516.32 which is for $600.00 more than the amount I have paid in premiums. When I consider that I have been insured all this time for an average amount of about $1200.00 and that I now receive such excellent cash returns, I feel that I have been most liberally dealt with and wish the Company the success it so well merits.

Your explanation and statement re change of reserve basis showing that I would have received over $100.00 more had this not been made, is unnecessary. I am well satisfied with what I received.

Yours truly,
P. BLAKE.
