Mrs. Charles Yeo was then called upon to preside during the impressive ceremony for the installation of new officers, and made the dedicatory prayer, charging all present with a solemn sense of their responsibility. Mrs. Cotton being called to the President's chair, speaking for herself and the new executive, acknowledged the new order almost as a challenge and with an assurance of divine guidance. Mrs. Toombs read the "New Objective" a soul-stirring summons to be up and doing as never before, in renewed consecration and endeavor, which the women of the church accept, "like a mighty army, moves the church of God, with the Cross of Jesus in gon before." Mrs. George Leckhart read a letter from Mrs. Easton, re delegates to Maritime Conference Branch to be held in Charlottetown. By unanimous motion Mrs. Cotton was appointed. Reports were presented from the different officers of the work done during the past year: Treasurer reported $360.70 raised. Recording Secretary reported 12 regular meetings, with an average attendance of 22. Four executive meetings held. Two public meetings held. Two large boxes were packed and sent to Trinidad and Labrador, also one for the mission at Sydney, N. S. Mrs. Salter reported $43.50 raised by the Mission Band during the past year, with 30 annual members and 2 life members. 14 meetings held with an average attendance of 20. After having the reports Mrs. Toombs as Christian Stewardship Secretary made an appeal, that each member carefully and prayerfully bear in mind their givings. Each member should have a holiday bag to receive the 10 cents for each holiday and 10 cents for birthday, and a little extra added as the extra blessings come. It should be a privilege and joy to give inasmuch as we have freely received. Mrs. W. C. MacLeod, at this time, took occasion to move a hearty vote of thanks to the retiring officers, and in particular to Mrs. Thomas Stewart who has so faithfully and efficiently filled the office of Treasurer for the past ten years. All were delighted to welcome three new members, Mrs. Caldwell, Mrs. Brynion, and Mrs. Brook's, surely an encouraging beginning for the new year.—B

Resume Court Argument Today

OTTAWA Jan. 18—(CP)—Argument in the Alberta constitutional case will resume in the Supreme Court of Canada tomorrow with Col. O. M. Biggar, chief counsel for Alberta, continuing his defence of the three bills referred to the court by the Dominion Government.

These measures are to impose a tax on the paid-up capital, reserve funds and undivided profits of banks, to regulate credit institutions and to require newspapers to publish corrective and amplifying statements on any matter published relating to Government policy and to disclose the names of their writers and their sources of information.

All three measures were attacked as unconstitutional last week by counsel for the Dominion government, the banks and the newspapers. Col. Biggar began his argument Friday by contending that most of the criticism of the bills by opposing counsel was irrelevant.

WASHABLE PAINT

A semigloss-finish paint which is practically self proof is on the market. It can be scoured with soap powder, and even pencil marks and match scratches are readily eradicated. Manufactured in a variety of colors, it can be applied to walls, ceilings, woodwork or metal.

Gloves are doing their bit to add to the glamor of formal finery. For evening, there are lovely black suede and satin numbers with sequins or gold scroll designs on cuffs. Some are made entirely of gold kid or shiny sequins in various colors.

Islander Married In North Dakota

Miss Marjorie Olive Stoddart, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Stoddart, Jamestown, became the bride of Dr. Malcolm Birt Docherty of Cardigan, Prince Edward Island, Canada, at a splendid service yesterday afternoon at the home of the bride's brother-in-law and sister, Dr. and Mrs. Wallace Jooos, 302 1-2 Second avenue south.

Before the ceremony Mrs. Jooos sang "Until", by Wilfrid Sanderson, and "Because", by Guy D'Hardelot. As Miss Elaine Strutz played The Bridal Chorus from "Lohengrin", the bride and her attendants descended the stairs at the far end of the living room. They were met at the altar by the bridegroom and his best man, Dr. Jooos.

The vows were exchanged at 5 o'clock before the fireplace, where an improvised altar of balsam and baskets of pink roses and white pom-poms, tied with pink tulle, was arranged. Rev. G. M. Thomas, pastor of the First Congregational Church, read the nuptial service.

The bride wore a gown of ecru lace over deep pink tulle, fashioned princess style, and caught down the front with deep pink velvet bows. The full skirt fell into a slight train, and the puffed sleeves had pink velvet bows on the cuffs. She wore a pink rose in her hair, and pink satin slippers. Her ornaments were a gold heart locket, the gift of Dr. Docherty. The bridal bouquet was of Briar Cliff pink and blue roses, baby's breath and fern.

The bride's only attendant was her young niece, Marilyn Stafne, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Stafne, who was gowned in a blue blue moire taffeta. The junior bridesmaid's gown was fashioned with full floor length skirt, edged with a ruffle and with full puffed sleeves. She carried a bouquet of yellow roses and blue violets and wore a yellow rose in her hair. Her ornament was a gold heart-shaped locket containing a picture of the bride and bridegroom, the gift of the bride.

The flower girl, tiny Beverly Mae Jooos, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Jooos, wore a dress of maize taffeta, made bodice style with scalloped skirt. The sleeves were faced with blue taffeta, and the yoke was touched with rose buds. The little miss wore a tiny heart shaped locket and carried a gold basket of rose petals. Mrs. Stoddart, mother of the bride, was gowned in Burgundy wine velvet.

A three course wedding dinner was served at the Palace balcony at 6.30. The wedding cake, pink and white tapers and pink roses formed the centerpiece.

After a brief wedding trip Dr. and Mrs. Docherty will be at home at Beverly Apartments, Rochester, N. Y. The bride attended Jamestown College, is a graduate of the Kaher School of Nursing, Rochester, Minn., and was affiliated for eight months with the Lying-In Hospital and Children's Memorial hospital, Chicago, Ill.

Dr. Docherty is a graduate of the Prince of Wales College, Charlottetown, Prince Edward Island, and a graduate of Dalhousie University, Halifax, Nova Scotia, having completed his course in both institutions with distinction. He interned at Victoria General Hospital, Halifax, completed his fellowship in pathology at Mayo Clinic and obtained his master's degree at the University of Minnesota this month. He is now first assistant surgical pathologist to Dr. W. C. MacCarty of the Mayo Clinic. In July Dr. Docherty will begin his work as professor of bacteriology and assistant professor of pathology at the Dalhousie University Medical School, Halifax.

Communicates From Air To Mine Shaft

MONTREAL, Que., Jan. 15—Six passengers aboard the Montreal bound central Vermont-Boston-Maine Airways passenger plane, en route from Boston and southern New England points, had the unique experience this afternoon of hearing their pilot and a fellow passenger flying 5,100 feet in the air converse with E. W. Wood, superintendent of a gold mine at Kirkland Lake, Ontario, in a shaft 1,800 feet below the surface of the earth and more than 800 miles away. The occasion was a communications demonstration staged by the Canadian National Telegraphs in connection with the Rotary Club Luncheon in Toronto.

At 1.15 o'clock Capt. Milton H. Anderson, pilot on the regular flight of Central Vermont-Boston-Maine Airways ship from Boston, said, "Hello" to D. E. Gallows, vice-president, Canadian National Telegraphs, at Toronto. Mr. Galloway switched Anderson over to Superintendent Todd who was in a gold mine shaft at Kirkland Lake more than a quarter of a mile below the surface. At the same time several hundred guests of Toronto Rotary as well as the audience of the coast to coast network of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation stations heard the conversation made possible through the use of radio short-wave and the communications system of the Canadian National Telegraphs.

Extension sets of ear-phones had been rigged in the airplane so that passengers on board the commercial air liner listened to all of the two-way conversation demonstration.

After the conversation between the mine superintendent and the plane pilot, General Manager H. A. Carson of the Central Vermont Railway who is vice-president of the Central Vermont-Boston-Maine Airways, and who was a passenger in the plane as was P. J. Johnson, vice-president, Trans-Canada Air Lines, conversed with Mr. Galloway and later with the mine superintendent, explaining that they were flying as passengers in the plane and that at the time of their conversation the plane was approaching St. Hubert Airport on its regular trip from Boston.

The weather was fine, they said, and the communication demonstration very satisfactory. They extended greetings from the Central Vermont-Boston-Maine Airways and Trans-Canada Airways to their Rotary and radio listeners.

Report Express Traffic Increase

MONTREAL, Que., Jan. 7—Reflecting the marked betterment in general business conditions throughout Canada during 1937 the volume of traffic handled by the Canadian National Express over the traffic volume handled during 1936, according to a statement issued today by G. E. Bellerose, general manager.

The increase was not confined to any one territory he said, but was fairly general over the entire country. While the major proportion of the improvement was due to an increase in the volume of general merchandise traffic there were also fair increases in the movements of fresh and salt water fish, domestic and foreign fruit, as well as other perishables usually transported by express.

Mr. Bellerose pointed out that a substantial reduction in charges on packages weighing two to 25 pounds destined to points reached by express in Canada was placed in effect on December 20th, 1937 by the Canadian National and all other express companies operating in Canada. There were corresponding reductions in charges on heavier packages moving between transcontinental points. In keeping with the practice for some years past, a large number of horse-drawn vehicles were withdrawn at several points in eastern and western Canada and replaced by motor trucks. Such changes were made for the purpose of speeding up collection and delivery of express traffic. "So far as can be foreseen at this date," Mr. Bellerose said, "the prospects of increasing express business during 1938 appear to be fairly good."

Directors of Y.M.C.A. Plan Future Work

DUBLIN, Jan. 16 —(CP)—Speculation is still rife concerning the likely candidates of the Fianna Fail Party for the presidency of Ireland under the new constitution. Sean T. O'Kelly, dapper and bespectacled deputy premier in Eamon de Valera's Government, leads the list of "probables," and his nomination is expected to be announced at an early date.

Mr. de Valera himself has declined nomination. If elected, he would be out of active politics for seven years and the Fianna Fail Party, held together largely by his personality, would be hard pressed to find a leader to replace him.

If Mr. O'Kelly is selected, he will enter the list against Alderman Alfred Byrne, popular Lord Mayor of Dublin, who has announced he will stand against any candidate except Mr. de Valera.

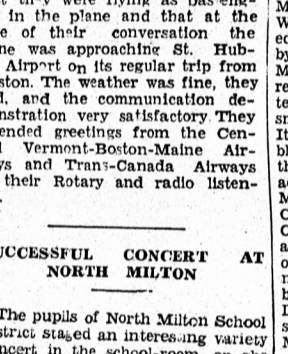

Parlor-Buffer Cars Arrive At Halifax

HALIFAX, N. S., Jan. 15—Two of the new parlor-buffer cars which are to go into service on the day trains between Halifax and Sydney arrived here on the Maritime Express of the Canadian National today.

These parlor-buffer cars are of the air-conditioned type with the interiors finished in natural satinwood. The seats, which are spacious, are of the latest of their type and there is a small compartment underneath each seat for handbags. The lighting fixtures blend with the interior decoration scheme. A completely furnished kitchen provides cooking facilities for buffet meals. Exteriors of the cars are finished in the newly adopted light green color for Canadian National passenger equipment. The new cars should prove very popular with the travelling public.

FORT AUGUSTUS W. I.

The regular monthly meeting of the Fort Augustus Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. Charles Hughes with eleven members and seven visitors present. Meeting opened by singing "For We Are Jolly Good Fellows", followed by roll call which was answered by My Most Embarrassing Moment. Minutes of previous meeting were read and signed. The sick committee then gave their report. Several small bills were ordered to be paid. It was decided to buy two new blinds for the school. A letter of thanks from a member was read acknowledging a letter of sympathy. Mrs. Frances Kelly and Mrs. Joseph Curley were appointed on the Sick Committee and Mrs. Urban Curley and Mrs. Leo Dunne were appointed on the Programme Committee for next month. Next meeting is to be held at the home of Mrs. Leo Dunne, when roll call will be answered by "Means of Saving Money".

FASHION FLASHES

Those with a love for satin should be happy to learn that this shiny material is being used for beach and play clothes this year. A royal blue satin bathing suit would certainly look smart on the southern shores. Black satin is featured in coats, a shorts and shirt outfit, fitted coat and a play suit.

The business part of the meeting being over, the following programme was carried out: quartette by Mrs. Johnnie Jay, Mrs. Johnnie Hughes, Mrs. James Hughes and Mrs. Charles Hughes; solos by Mrs. Carroll Kelly, Mrs. Urban Curley and Inelda MacLellan. A mouth organ solo by Mr. William Fraught. A very dainty lunch was then served by the hostess after which meeting adjourned.

DUBLIN, Jan. 16 —(CP)—Speculation is still rife concerning the likely candidates of the Fianna Fail Party for the presidency of Ireland under the new constitution. Sean T. O'Kelly, dapper and bespectacled deputy premier in Eamon de Valera's Government, leads the list of "probables," and his nomination is expected to be announced at an early date.

Mr. de Valera himself has declined nomination. If elected, he would be out of active politics for seven years and the Fianna Fail Party, held together largely by his personality, would be hard pressed to find a leader to replace him.

If Mr. O'Kelly is selected, he will enter the list against Alderman Alfred Byrne, popular Lord Mayor of Dublin, who has announced he will stand against any candidate except Mr. de Valera.

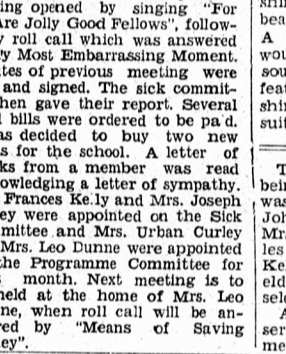

Parlor-Buffer Cars Arrive At Halifax

HALIFAX, N. S., Jan. 15—Two of the new parlor-buffer cars which are to go into service on the day trains between Halifax and Sydney arrived here on the Maritime Express of the Canadian National today.

These parlor-buffer cars are of the air-conditioned type with the interiors finished in natural satinwood. The seats, which are spacious, are of the latest of their type and there is a small compartment underneath each seat for handbags. The lighting fixtures blend with the interior decoration scheme. A completely furnished kitchen provides cooking facilities for buffet meals. Exteriors of the cars are finished in the newly adopted light green color for Canadian National passenger equipment. The new cars should prove very popular with the travelling public.

FASHION FLASHES

Those with a love for satin should be happy to learn that this shiny material is being used for beach and play clothes this year. A royal blue satin bathing suit would certainly look smart on the southern shores. Black satin is featured in coats, a shorts and shirt outfit, fitted coat and a play suit.

The business part of the meeting being over, the following programme was carried out: quartette by Mrs. Johnnie Jay, Mrs. Johnnie Hughes, Mrs. James Hughes and Mrs. Charles Hughes; solos by Mrs. Carroll Kelly, Mrs. Urban Curley and Inelda MacLellan. A mouth organ solo by Mr. William Fraught. A very dainty lunch was then served by the hostess after which meeting adjourned.

Report Express Traffic Increase

MONTREAL, Que., Jan. 7—Reflecting the marked betterment in general business conditions throughout Canada during 1937 the volume of traffic handled by the Canadian National Express over the traffic volume handled during 1936, according to a statement issued today by G. E. Bellerose, general manager.

The increase was not confined to any one territory he said, but was fairly general over the entire country. While the major proportion of the improvement was due to an increase in the volume of general merchandise traffic there were also fair increases in the movements of fresh and salt water fish, domestic and foreign fruit, as well as other perishables usually transported by express.

Mr. Bellerose pointed out that a substantial reduction in charges on packages weighing two to 25 pounds destined to points reached by express in Canada was placed in effect on December 20th, 1937 by the Canadian National and all other express companies operating in Canada. There were corresponding reductions in charges on heavier packages moving between transcontinental points. In keeping with the practice for some years past, a large number of horse-drawn vehicles were withdrawn at several points in eastern and western Canada and replaced by motor trucks. Such changes were made for the purpose of speeding up collection and delivery of express traffic. "So far as can be foreseen at this date," Mr. Bellerose said, "the prospects of increasing express business during 1938 appear to be fairly good."
