

OUTSTANDING EVENTS 1932

Ireland

and merchandises imported from Ireland. Ireland responded by placing an import duty on English goods and giving a bounty for all Irish produce and goods exported.

Japan

The trouble between Japan and China which had marked the close of 1931 was renewed in the new year with greater intensity until all Manchuria's population of 30,000,000 came under Japanese influence.

France

The year 1932 has been one of great political unrest for France. On Feb. 16th Premier Laval found himself unable to carry on the government and an appeal was made to the veteran Painleve to form a Cabinet but this proved beyond his means.

India

India which opened the year with dark clouds closes it with a greater feeling of settlement and security than she has enjoyed for a long time. Gandhi returned to his own country at the close of 1931 and immediately began to give the authorities trouble.

regarded the settlement as a victory for themselves.

Later in the year a Round Table Conference was opened in London but Gandhi was not represented.

A silver lining in the clouds of India was found in the opening of the great Sukkur Dam, with 6,000 miles of canals and over 30,000 miles of water courses which will turn five million acres of desert into fertile land at a cost of over £10,000,000.

Germany

The year just closing has seen a change in the government of Germany for as the stability of the Republic was threatened, President Hindenburg, acting with his powers by the Weimar Constitution has given the most dictatorial powers to the Chancellor with the result that the constitution has been practically suspended and Germany is living under a stern dictatorship.

United States

This has been election year in United States and the campaign for the presidency and the new members of Congress and the Senate have dominated the news in that country. Mr. Hoover declared his intention to run again at the close of 1931 and with Mr. Curtis as Vice-President he received official nomination for the Republican Party at their regular convention.

Music Theatres

working hard and in the right direction in an effort to give good dramatic effort in their community. Just before the end of the year a special version of Hamlet was produced in Montreal for which the settings were designed by His Excellency the Governor-General. Viscount Duncannon played the role of Hamlet.

The old traditions of the variety show and of vaudeville are almost a memory only save some of the smaller theatres.

The screen, achievements of 1932, have been marked by a rapid advance in the art of the talking picture. Several continental inventions were set upon eagerly by Hollywood and turned to good account.

Hollywood shone in various directions. They were particularly successful in some high comedies—"Trouble in Paradise," was a Lubitsch masterpiece in comedy even as "Broken Lullaby" was a Lubitsch masterpiece in the highly dramatic films.

It is hard to forecast what the new year holds in store. One thing is certain. The public wants entertainment—and in these hard times entertainment of the lighter sort that helps forget cares and worries. But a shortage of funds seems likely to keep it away from the playhouse for some time to come.

Production figures of the Japanese fishing companies operating in Kamchatka area have just been released, writes James A. Lang Commercial Secretary in Tokyo, the forthcoming issue of the Commercial Intelligence Journal. The show that the pack of salmon during the season just brought to close consisted of 410,046 cases, red and 712,037 cases of pink salmon. The Japanese pack of pink salmon taken in Japanese waters amounted to 130,995 cases. The greater part of these have been packed in tins and boxes "Japan" and would therefore be available for export to the French market. In addition to the above, approximately 20,000 cases of red salmon were packed at Amori, in northern Japan; and a few small parcels of red salmon were put up by the pink salmon packers but these may be set aside as insignificant. The Japanese packers are entitled to ship 300,000 cases of salmon. France, but this year's pack was very short, and the shortage cannot be made up by Kamchatka "pinks" as these are not eligible for the French market, being classified by the authorities as Russian goods. In an election in Newfoundland P. C. Allardie, defeated Prime Minister Squires and formed a new government.
