Would Throw Up Old Jobs

The interest is manifest not only in the men who are to learn new trades in the vocational training centres of the M. H. C. but by those who have worked for many years at other trades entirely unrelated. Any number of men with money would throw it over to take up motor mechanics if they were given the opportunity.

Motor mechanics is the Mecca for the industrial fancy of the whole Canadian army, it would seem.

The Central Guardian

IT PAYS to buy in this province.

"THE END OF THE WAR" is the subject of Major Macphail's lecture tonight in Market Hall. All seats free. Do not miss it.

A CROWDED HOUSE.— Greeted each presentation of the Common Law at the Prince Edward Theatre yesterday. It is one of the most interesting and dramatic films ever shown here.

LOCAL MEDICAL BOARD.—The local Medical Board, under the presidency of Capt. A. Ross, C. A.M.C., has suspended its sitings in Charlottetown for two weeks. In the interim it will sit at Vernon.

EXEMPTION TRIBUNALS.—At six o'clock last night, when all returns from the country and local tribunals had been received, the Provincial Registrar reported that some 146 exemption pleas had been heard to date. Of this number five were carried to the higher court which is presided over by Justice Fitzgerald.

KENNEDY & CO., O'LEARY.— Want party or parties to invest $1500.00 in the best General Mercantile Country business on Prince Edward Island. One half of the stock to be retained by present owners. The ill health of Mr. Kennedy compels him to retire from active business. For further particulars apply, to Kennedy & Company, O'Leary.

REMEMBERING THE BOYS.—The Ladies Guild of St. James church last night packed and addressed 53 three pound boxes which will be mailed today to each of the 53 surviving sons of the Kirk who are still on duty in France and England or convalescing in hospitals. The Guild has since the boys left home thus kindly remembered them at Christmas and both the boys and their relatives are very grateful for the thoughfulness of their home friends. The boxes contained a pair of socks, eats, sweets and smokes besides kindly greetings from St. James Church.

WEDDING BELLS.—Private John Duggan of Bradalbane and Miss Mary Elizabeth Gunn of Glen River, were quietly married Tuesday evening at 7 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Patterson 222 Richmond St. Rev. J. Dugald McKenzie of Zion Church performed the ceremony. The bride was given away by her father Mr. Kenneth Gunn, Private Duggan was seriously wounded at the Somme, after being at the front for about ten months. After undergoing protracted treatment in hospital, he was honorably discharged and returned to Canada in August of this year. Private and Mrs. Duggan will reside at Bradalbane where they are well and favorable known by a large circle of friends.

FIRE YESTERDAY.—Yesterday forenoon, about ten o'clock a fire broke out in a double barn owned by Mr. J. Stanley Wedlock, on Upper Prince Street, used by W. W. Stanley and W. E. Agnew and located in the rear of the double dwelling occupied by these gentlemen. The fire started from a pile of rubbish which had been set on fire to the westward of the barn. It spread along the dry grass, till it reached the building, then ran along the side, up the roof and into a cupola on top. The firemen promptly responded and soon had the blaze under control. A hole was burned in the west side, and the cupola was demolished by the firemen, after it had been partially burned. The damage was slight and the "all out" signal was rung at eleven o'clock.

VETERANS WOULD PUT CANADA ON WHEELS

M. H. C. Vocational Advisers Find Craze For Motor Driving Among Returned Men

Ask ninety per cent of the men who return to Canada from the front disabled for their former occupation, what they would like to do, and they'll ask for a course in motor mechanics."

Tommy's fed up on walking. He has tramped all over France and England and he's done with "hoofing it," he wants to ride. The mechanical part he knows little about, but the idea of sitting in a closed car bolstered with fourteen inch upholstery and his foot on a brake looks pretty good to him.

Every Man a Chauffeur

The interviewers of the Military Hospitals Commission who take a man's vocational history and hopes on his return to Canada, find that the demand for motor mechanics courses is far in advance of the need Canada will ever have for motor drivers or menders.

It looks to the man who works eight and ten hours a day at shaping veterans future courses, that every fighting man in Canada wants to be a chauffeur. The whole Dominion will have to be motorized to give them jobs.

NO TRICK TO LIFT A CORN RIGHT OUT

Says there is no excuse for cutting corns and inviting lockjaw

Sore corns, hard corns, soft corns or any kind of a corn can harmlessly be lifted right out with the fingers if you will apply directly upon the corn a few drops of freezone, says a Cincinnati authority.

It is claimed that at small cost one can get a quarter of an ounce of freezone at any drug store which is sufficient to rid one's feet of every corn or callus without pain or soreness or the danger of infection.

This simple drug while sticky dries the moment it is applied and does not inflame or even irritate the surrounding tissue.

This announcement will interest many women here, for it is said that the present high-heel footwear is putting corns on practically every woman's feet.

LECTURE TONIGHT.— Hear Major Macphail tonight on the most interesting topic of the day: "The End of the War."

MEDICAL BOARD AT O'LEARY.— Dr. MacPhee, and his association left yesterday for O'Leary where the Medical Board will sit for two weeks.

DON'T MISS.—"The Common Law" possibly the greatest popular priced feature film ever shown in the Maritime Provinces at The Prince Edward today and tonight.

CORRECTION.— In yesterday's Guardian the statement that the Medical Board would resume its sittings at Charlottetown on Monday, Nov. "16th" should have been Monday the 19th.

DO NOT MISS IT.—Few men in Canada have the knowledge or the literary ability of Major Macphail, who lectures tonight on "The End of the War." Do not miss this.

REPRESENTS PROVINCE.— The Honorable Col. S. R. Jenkins, M. D. left yesterday morning for Ottawa where he will represent the Premier and this provence at the conference of the Dominion Military Hospitals Commission.

RAILWAY OFFICIALS RETURN.— Messrs. C. A. Hayes, general manager of Government Railways, L. S. Brown, general superintendant, C. B. Brown, chief engineer, F. O. Conden, divisional engineer, W. N. Lippy, superintendent of car service and Mr. McCoy went to Summerside by special train Tuesday evening and crossed on the car ferrry yesterday morning.

A PLUCKY BOY.—One of the boys who appeared before the local Medical Board last week was a young Scotch country lad who has two brothers now at the front. He is just a mere boy—and the only remaining son on the farm. Though under the eligible age he insisted upon going through his physicial test, stating that one of his brothers who has been wounded, will probably return home shortly and the "young one" stated that if his veteran brother could attend to the farm work when he came home, he (the young lad) would go to France and take his place.

FOR DEFENCE OF CANADA.—A booklet published by the Military Service Council is now being distributed throughout Canada. Many in this city and throughout the Province have received a copy and no doubt many others will be similarly favored. It is hoped everybody into whose hands this booklet falls will read it. It explains fully Great Britain's position in this war, why she went into the war and the obligation of every red blooded man in connection with the war. It also tells what Canada has done and is endeavoring to do to help the Empire and the cause of humanity in the bitterest struggle the world has ever known. Read it.

A POWERFUL PLAY.— Long queues waited last evening for admission to the Prince Edward Theatre to witness the production by Miss Clara Kimball Young of "The Common Law" from the novel of that name by Robert W. Chambers. The audiences were not disappointed. It is a powerful dramatization in which a delicate subject is skilfully and artistically handled by actors in the front rank of their profession. The plot is too well-known to require outlining here: suffice it to say that the heroine is prepared to risk the frowns of Mrs. Grundy in order to keep a promise made under exceptional circumstances, and is saved at the psychological moment by a series of events which lead up to the proverbial happy ending. It is a six reel film and keeps the attention of the spectators rivetted from the opening to the close. It will be repeated this afternoon and evening.

TOGETHER.

We're on the western slope, my dear,
against the sinking sun.
The shades of night are creeping near,
our home is well-nigh won.
Through all the perils of the way,
through all the changing weather.
Unconquered love has crowned the day—you and I together!

In early morning-tide we met, a happy,
happy day!
The evening sees us plodding yet
along our destined way.
Sometimes sharp thorns beset the plain—sometimes it smiled in heather.
But ever love redeemed the pain—you
and I together!

Old comrades now no longer fare, for
they beyond the hill
Lie in a pleasant slumber where the winds are soft and still.
The way grows lone, the pale stars
peep, the moon has slipped
her tether,
The day is gone, the night falls deep
—you and I together!

A DOG'S CEMETERY.

In the garden of the Duke's Head, at Leatherhead, Surrey, there is a dogs' cemetery where marble monuments have been erected to several canine pets. One bears the following inscription: "In memory of dear old Bangle, who departed this life on May 30th, 1902. His end was Peace.

Poor old Bangle! Gone at last,
His mistress felt it when he passed.
Although he would not hurt a mouse,
He was always good to guard the
house."

Another monument is erected to Peter, who died in 1896:—

Here also the body of Peter reposes,
Whose life on this earth was one bed
of roses,
But the muzzling odor came in force
And broke his heart. He died, of course.

Punch is thus commemorated:—

Here lies a dog whose name was Punch:
If you gave him some money he would buy his lunch.

Shot died on February 12th, 1891, and his tombstone bears this inscription:—

Near this spot lies poor old Shot,
Who during his lifetime earned a lot:
But failing at last to fulfil his post,
We thought is best he should give up
the ghost.

REGINALD THE ROAMER entered a baker's shop and in a very weak voice asked for a loaf of bread. As he fished out the money for it he raised tired, bleary eyes, and inquired the distance to the hospital.

"What hospital?" asked the baker.

"Fever hospital," gasped the man, feebly picking up the loaf. "I—I feel sure I've got fever."

The baker jumped. "Get out of my shop," he yelled, "and take your filthy money with you."

"Shall I leave the bread "whined Reginald.

"Take it and go," bawled the baker.

Slowly, staggeringly, reeling as he went, the tramp left the shop. Lorenzo the Lounger waited for him round the nearest corner.

"Now, old boy" said Reginald, it's your turn to work the dodge for some ham at the grocer's and then we can have lunch."

A MODERN INTERPRETATION

It was at the picture show, and "Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm" was the play.

The small boy sat on slightly larger sister's lap, while mother sat in a seat in front.

"Adam Ladd had gone to the big city and returned unspoiled from the fight," so ran the text of the picture narrative at one point.

"What does it say " demanded the small boy for the dozenth time since the show had started.

"It says," answered sister amiably and unhesitatingly, "he went to war and got back without being hurt."
