GREEKS CAUSE CONCERN IN BRITAIN

Official Declares British Would Disfavor Change of Govt.

(Canadian Press)
ATHENS, Nov. 4.—Newspapers quote the British Charge D'affaires Bentinck as saying that while Great Britain does not wish to interfere in Greek internal affairs, the British government would view with serious uneasiness any movement aiming at the overthrow of the dynasty.

A despatch from Athens on October 31 reported that at an important cabinet meeting it had been agreed that time was ripe for a change in the form of government.

Greek newspapers drew from this information that a republic was to be proclaimed but it was semi-officially stated that party leaders who attended the meeting opposed a change from the present revolutionary government and that all concurred in approving the overthrow of King Constantine.

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—"Wild Bill" Lovett, one of New York's most feared two-gun gangsters, who, though under arrest a score of times always escaped conviction, died yesterday with a bullet wound in the neck and his head beaten to a pulp. A policeman, prowling around a squalid, weather-beaten tenement in the factory region under the shadow of Brooklyn bridge, found the gangster in a rear room where he had camped for the night to sleep off a drink. Apparently the leader of the "White Hand gang" that for years had worked in the Red Hook district of Brooklyn, had been done to death in his slumber.

SCHEME TO AID DEVELOPMENT WORK AMONG DOMINIONS

British Parliament Will Shortly Be Asked to Make Effective its Offer of Credit

(Canadian Press)
LONDON, Nov. 4.—The British government intends to bring down legislation at the coming session of Parliament to make effective its offer of credit for development work in the Dominions and crown colonies. This was intimated at the economic conference this afternoon when a committee report on the scheme was adopted. Some additional details were given. The credit is to be in the form of a loan toward interest charges on money raised for capital expenditure on such undertakings as power, light, water drainage and so forth whether publicly or privately controlled.

Assistance would be in respect of expenditures on orders placed in Great Britain and in anticipation of work which otherwise would not be undertaken for some years. The maximum loan will be three quarters of interest charges for a period of five years and during this period the loan itself bears no interest in order to qualify a scheme must be accepted by the Imperial Government within the next three years. Priority will be given schemes involving the earliest placing of orders.

EIGHTH SIGNAL COMPANY IS COMMENDED

Major Keith Rogers, Officer Commanding No. 8 Signal Company, received a letter yesterday regarding the annual inspection of his unit, as follows:

"The Honourable, the Minister and Defence Council desire to convey to the Officer Commanding and all ranks of No. 8 Signal Company their congratulations on the excellent showing made by the Company at the annual inspection on 6th July, 1923, when the inspecting officer reported that the unit was very steady on parade and showed excellent discipline, the cable section being particularly good and that all ranks presented a smart and clean appearance and all movements during the inspection were carried out very creditably."

The technical training in signaling and telegraphy also showed splendid results and all ranks did well in their technical examinations.

Immediately after camp, Sergt. A. D. McMaster was sent to the Royal Canadian School of Signals at Camp Borden, where in competition with permanent force and active militia all over Canada he won first place. This gave Sergt. McMaster the certificate of the Royal Canadian School of Signals, as Assistant Instructor (Digital Method) and reflected great honor on No. 8 Signal Company in producing such an efficient N.C.O.

FINDS FILIPINO LEPERS NEED BETTER FOOD

MANILA, Nov. 2.—A better organized kitchen service, with an executive familiar with the science of dietetics at its head, is considered urgent in connection with the work being carried on in the Caltson Colony for the relief of the 5,000 lepers there.

In connection with the kitchen service is deficient, according to an investigator, the food being unbalanced and inadequately prepared and served. With hardly an increase in the expenses of the food supply of the colony, the kitchen service could be improved if a capable dietitian were placed at its head, it is said.

The investigator found that there is need of thoroughly cooked food for the lepers, served about five or six times a day in small quantities.

BALDWIN DECLARES DRASTIC MEASURES ONLY WILL SOLVE PROBLEM OF UNEMPLOYMENT

Says That Period of Observation of the Nation's Affairs is now Passed—Outlines the Methods by Which He Proposes to Meet the Situation and Invites others to Set Forth Their Policy.

(Canadian Press)
MANCHESTER, Nov. 4.—Premier Baldwin in his speech here tonight described that drastic measures were required to solve Great Britain's problem of widespread unemployment. He had never been a doctrinaire economist, and he regarded the economic system as one of expediency rather than principle, but he added, "The period of observation is past. I find myself here with my mind made up that if we are to attack the problem of unemployment we must have recourse to radical and drastic measures."

The Prime Minister also developed his protectionist policy somewhat further. He said he proposed to put a tax on manufactured goods with special regard to those imports which caused the greatest amount of unemployment, to give substantial preference to the Dominions but not to tax meats. He declared that the government was dealing with an absolutely new post-war problem for which nothing before the war served as any guide.

"We are living in a camouflaged peace, and no war in our history has had such economic reactions as the late war," said the Premier. "Nobody is able to predict when stability will return to Europe. Therefore Great Britain must rely upon itself and look to its own future. We shall never make other nations lower their tariffs by waiting."

Declaring that the exportation of cotton spinning machinery to the Far East had put a weapon of competition into the hands of cheap labor, Mr. Baldwin said: "Aside from two thousand dollars worth of jewelry and it is known now that at the very time of his so-called marriage he was courting a pretty English girl whom he married a day or two after he deserted his widow."

After this wedding he again suddenly disappeared, excusing himself on this occasion by the pressure of sudden domestic business. The following day he introduced himself to a lady at the Ritz, excusing himself on the grounds his latest fiancée had been killed by a fall from her horse while hunting. Courtship here was again swift and successful for he disappeared after many tall stories about his certain Premier King, with all negligible property of his latest attachment.

He was last seen at Southampton and it is suspected he might have boarded a vessel that sailed a few days ago for a Canadian port.

BRITISH POLICE IN SEARCH FOR SOLDIER OF FORTUNE

Claiming Close Relationship with the Canadian Premier but Believed to be a Native of Czecho Slovakia this Adventurous Fortune Seeker Has Already Led Several to Altar Rail and is now Coming to Canada For Further Conquests.

(British United Press)
LONDON, Nov. 4.—The police of a hundred cities are acting in collaboration with the best detectives of Scotland Yard in combing England and Wales for Scotland for a man representing himself as a wealthy Canadian and first cousin of McKenzie King. He has a penchant for marrying girls for money or savings, and his latest wife has been deserted after the adventurer got away with $10,000. Claiming to be James King the real name of this plausible gentleman is said to be Richard Sigmund and it is said he is a native of Czecho Slovakia who is well known both to Austrian and German police.

Sigmund jumped into the limelight by marrying Mrs. Shodden a wealthy American widow after a whirlwind courtship of less than two weeks. On this occasion Sigmund disappeared from the hotel in which the honeymoon pair were staying after he got possession of two thousand dollars worth of jewelry and it is known now that at the very time of his so-called marriage he was courting a pretty English girl whom he married a day or two after he deserted his widow.

After this wedding he again suddenly disappeared, excusing himself on this occasion by the pressure of sudden domestic business. The following day he introduced himself to a lady at the Ritz, excusing himself on the grounds his latest fiancée had been killed by a fall from her horse while hunting. Courtship here was again swift and successful for he disappeared after many tall stories about his certain Premier King, with all negligible property of his latest attachment.

He was last seen at Southampton and it is suspected he might have boarded a vessel that sailed a few days ago for a Canadian port.

GERMAN SOCIALIST MEMBERS LEAVE THE CABINET

Chancellor Stresemann Informs Emis-saries That Their Demands Are Ill-timed

(Canadian Press)
BERLIN, Nov. 4.—Chancellor Stresemann's northern four-party coalition cabinet which the outgoing chancellor resurrected from the last parliamentary crisis, lost one of its chief pillars tonight when the Socialists at a party caucus voted to recall their three ministers from the cabinet.

The defection of the Socialists from the government with which they never were in complete accord from the moment they were coaxed back into it a month ago, followed two days of waiting for the Chancellor's reply to their ultimatum embodying a series of demands which, obviously had been forced upon the party's recalcitrant minority by the clamorous left wing.

The vote of the Socialists to withdraw from the coalition was carried by a big majority. They are represented in the cabinet by Wilhelm Sollmann, Minister of the Interior; Gustav Radbruch, Minister of Justice; and Robt. Smid, Minister of Reconstruction.

Dr. Stresemann has been indisposed for the last two days but is suspected of having given the program of the radicals' nature thought in the quiet of his private chambers, and when the party's emissaries called this afternoon he briefly informed them that their ultimatum was ill-timed, wholly infeasible in the present situation, and that it behooved their party, as an integral component part of the coalition to hold back with such procedure while the nation was passing through a grave internal crisis which was further augmented by complicated foreign relations.

The Chancellor's reply brought a swift rejoinder from the Socialists tonight when in party caucus and after brief debate they voted in favor of recalling their ministers and withdrawing from the cabinet.

TURKISH EMBASSY IN LONDON CLOSED SINCE 1914, TO REOPEN

LONDON, Nov. 3.—It is expected that the Turkish embassy which has been closed since 1914 will be reopened soon. The Embassy which is in Portland Place presents a glibly exterior for it has remained untouched all these years. A solitary caretaker has been in charge of the building and he stated today that the furniture was just as it had been left in 1914. He complained that he had been without wages for months but he expected his little account would be satisfactorily settled.

HUNTER HAS LIVELY RUN

(By Dominion News Service)
CAPE TOWN, Nov. 4.—How many visitors to the London Zoo logical Gardens give a thought to the dangers which beset the men who keep the "Zoo" supplied with wild animals?

A young Dutchman, Van Rooyen, set out with his brother to capture giraffes in Rhodesia, and found the district infested with lions. Traps were set and one went off. On going to the spot van Rooyen found a huge lion lying in the grass. Thinking the animal powerless he dismounted and fired at the lion's jaw. Simultaneously the beast leaped at him, and in spite of a maimed leg cleared 15 yards in two bounds. The boy, hauled, but van Rooyen grasped one of the stirrup leathers and ran alongside, jumping over the bushes which covered the ground. A race for life ensued, but with tremendous bounds the lion overtook the man, bit his left arm near the shoulder, and clawed his back.

Van Rooyen had been accompanied by six natives; five had taken refuge in trees, but the sixth, who was mounted, called up the dogs and the wounded lion took itself off.

Van Rooyen was carried back to camp and is making good progress.
