FARM of the late D. J. MacLean at Argyle Shore, P.E.I., consisting of 100 acres 65 under cultivation, 35 good woodland. Well watered, buildings in good repair. Apply, Mrs. Jeanette MacLean, Argyle Shore

Each year the I. O. D. E. promotes a Dominion wide contest in English Composition for the Public School pupils of the Capital City of each Province. The object of these competitions is to keep alive the memory of Sarah Maxwell, Principal of the Hochegala School, Montreal, who heroically gave her life in an effort to rescue her small charges from death by fire. The topic of this year's essay was the Coronation. Dr. Howard Smith of this city, who has had considerable experience as a teacher in the schools of Boston, judged the essays. Following are the Prize winners: 1st, Miss Daphne MacPhee Grade 8 West Kent School; 2nd, Miss Jean Hughes, Rochford Square School, Grade 8 3rd, Miss Lilian MacPhee, Grade 8 West Kent School. Miss Daphne MacPhee's composition has been forwarded to Toronto where it will be judged in competition with the best of the other Canadian Provincences.

Forget-Me-Nots

Plant peas at two week intervals. A small vegetable garden can be made to yield twice the ordinary amount of produce if given a proper feeding of plant food.

Tomatoes will take up less room in the garden if trained to stakes or a fence.

Heavenly Blue morning glory will cover an unsightly fence or building in a few weeks time.

Plan for another crop in the rows vacated by radishes, spinach and peas.

Spading should be done with vertical cuts so as to go as deep as possible.

Start head lettuce indoors in a seed-box for best results.

For a hot situation where you want a low-growing flower, try the portulaca.

Most flowers for least effort can be had from petunias and zinnias.

Train your beans to a pole or a fence for maximum yield.

A more orderly garden will result if you will start flowers in seedboxes outdoors. Plants can then be transplanted just where you want them.

Plant gladiolus bulbs at intervals for long season of bloom, or plant different sizes of bulbs—the big ones will bloom first.

The datura or angel's trumpet is an easily grown annual with a pleasant fragrance.

Try a few new vegetables this year such as kail, endive, Oca and salsify are two line reasons.

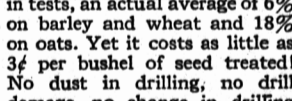

A thoughtful hostess, if she knows the cigarette preference of her dinner guests, puts each guest's favorite brand in front of him.

OF COURSE I'M TREATING ALL THREE!
MY YIELDS LAST YEAR SHOWED HOW NEW IMPROVED CERESAN HELPS OATS, BARLEY AND WHEAT—

"This dust," says a Division of Botany report, "effectively controls the smuts of oats, covered smut of barley, and bunt of wheat. It also improves seed germination." By such disease control, New Improved CERESAN generally increases yields—in tests, an actual average of 6% on barley and wheat and 18% on oats. Yet it costs as little as 3¢ per bushel of seed treated. No dust in drilling, no drill damage, no change in drilling rate. Write now for free Grain Pamphlet and circular describing inexpensive, entirely automatic treatment.

Variations In Suits

With the spring mode definitely launched in favor of suits the separate jacket and skirt combination gains in favor daily. But this year's variety is added to by an amazing new group of "combination" woolsens which blend in color while giving variety in design or texture. Pleated, gored or plain skirts also give variety to this ever-changing sports mode.

Multiplying the variety of suit combinations, the new bolero jacket as well as the gay little jigger coat is now used to replace the sports jacket. Because of their youthfulness and simplicity of styling, these appear in rayer colorings and more daring patterns or combinations. Bold plaids, amusing checks and bright-nubbed tweeds are noted among new jiggers.

Outlets for taking their cue from the immensely popular skating skirt of this past season, the new spring skirts for sportswear are often twirly or gored to extravagant fullness. Others remain slender, and, in fact, make a point of slimmness.

Plants in favor with the popular umbrella tucked skirt still a favorite. Something very new-looking is the new "bolero" skirt which is built high at the waistline, to meet the amusingly short bolero jackets launched by Schiaparelli.

What Is Home Without a Garden

One of the new things in the vegetable garden is a bush pumpkin. Pie pumpkin of good size are borne on compact bushes about the size of an Italian marrow plant, requiring about 4 square feet of space in the garden. This will enable jack-o-lanterns to be grown in small gardens.

It is a maximum with professional gardeners that weaker seedlings of one year give better results than those of two years. If you have to discard, remember this.

Hardy annual flowers may be sown in perennial borders while ground is still soft and frost still frequent.

These hardy annuals are a likely to be injured by cooling as by neglect. They like to start growing in cool, moist weather; they do not like to be covered too deep, when sown, and they need to be given plenty of room to develop.

If you have borders which were cultivated and cleaned up last fall in which you want annuals to grow to provide summer bloom when perennial flowers get scarce, you may scatter seeds of hardy annuals early and they will find cover in the soft soil and germinate under the best condition. If the plants are too thick when they come up they must be thinned, but the excess plants may be moved to another location.

Salpiglossis is one of the hardy annuals which many have trouble growing, and the usual difficulty is too much crowding and cooling. If you cover salpiglossis in the vegetable or picking garden in a row, like radishes, giving it an early start and thinning out the plants, it will reward you with a glorious crop of flowers lasting throughout the summer. It needs only the sort of cultivation you give vegetables.

Sown in the border, it needs the full sun—and dislikes company. Generous plantations in fairly large open places in the border are most likely to succeed.

What are the hardy annuals? There are several thousand of them and a complete list is impossible here. But every flower seed packet should, and most do, state whether the subject is hardy. Of course if you sow seed in the border, you should make a note of it and see that when the seedlings come up they are not ruthlessly destroyed by baries cultivation. There should be something to mark the spot, so the hired man will take warning also.

DAYS WHEN BILLS OPENED AT 5 P. M.

SHERBROOKE, Que., March 30 —In the 41st anniversary number of the Sherbrooke Record the romance of Luke Knowlton, Vermont jurist of the 18th century is told, taken from a Brattleboro, Vt., record book. Luke Knowlton, born in 1738, went in for the study of law and, like his father, became a judge.

There is a record of his ready replies to Deacon Moses Kennedy whose daughter Charlotte (under 10 years of age) was quite willing to marry Luke at once. Her father objected on three grounds, as follows: First, she is too young. Second, I cannot nurse her. Third, I can give her no dower.

The young advocate answered: First, she will grow older every day and so fast in my hands as in yours. Second, you have a wife and other daughters and can do without her better than I can. Third, it is your daughter I want and not a dower. These answers were successful, and the deacon's objections were withdrawn.

In the course of years their family numbered four sons and eight daughters. Abigail, the youngest, appears to have been quite a belle judging from notes and invitations still in existence. An invitation to a ball is interesting compared with hours kept now-days, says M. J. Sanborn in The Record. Note that it began "in the evening at 5 p. m." There was no thought of keeping up the entertainment till breakfast time at restaurant in the good old days.

PAYS TRIBUTE TO V. O. NURSE

MONTREAL, March 30 —The Star has an editorial on "The Little Black Bag" in recognition of the 40th birthday of the Victorian Order of Nurses.

"One of the most valued services the V. O. N. gives is to expectant mothers and to mothers after they have had their first child. Thirty-five per cent of the total number of visits paid were for maternity care. Instruction on this matter is eagerly sought by mothers after they have left the maternity hospital."

"The V. O. N. covers the entire home care of the mother. It is rather an unpleasant reflection upon the civic administration, however, that the city has never contributed a single cent of the V. O. N. in the form of a financial grant in aid since its establishment 40 years ago."

"One highly important service of which the general public is largely unaware is given entirely free. It consists of reporting cases of contagious disease which are discovered through visits to homes and which in many instances might otherwise never be reported and would thus constitute a grave menace to the citizens at large."

NORTH WILTSHIRE WOMEN'S INSTITUTE

The North Wiltshire Women's Institute met at the home of Mrs. Geo. E. MacLean for the March meeting. With the presidential presiding the ode and repeating the Creed in unison. Ten members responded to the roll call by each receiving a pin from the "grab bag." After the minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved, the school committee reported that the school committee had been purchased. The school and sick committees are acting for another month. Lunch committee for April is Mrs. D.A. MacDonald, Mrs. Mitchell and Mrs. Geo. E. MacLean. Correspondence regarding the National Magazine was read. The Government grant was received. The questionnaire on Agriculture was filled out and the following papers read: "Advice on Agriculture," "Poultry Commission," "Bee Keeping for Women," "Rural Life the Master Word," "My Trip to the Coronation" (Gov. DeBolis), and "Burnt Biscuits." The roll call for next meeting, which is to be held at the home of Mrs. D. A. MacDonald, is to be answered by an exchange of bulbs, slips or seeds. The meeting closed by singing the National Anthem.

NEW SHOES BLOSSOM IN LONDON SHOPS

Quite as "fancy dress" as any costume party, clothes are the new shoes that have blossomed brighter than tulip in London shop windows all of a sudden. "Coolies" are shoes with holes punched all over the uppers. "Bofies" are in vivid colors and have soft toe-caps. "Shoockies" are rubber-soled sport shoes with colored welts and leather laces in different colors. Those "nice sensible English shoes" with one strap and a rickety firm hold on the ground will have to look to their laurels.

One of the most ingenious methods of pilot training in the history of aviation has been installed by the Trans Canada Air Lines, Winnipeg, for the training of their pilot personnel. It is the "Link Trainer" and resembles a miniature plane, but contains all the dials and gadgets necessary to get the pilot's fullest reaction to instrument and beam flying. Every pilot in the service will undergo periodical and regular sessions in the Link Trainer. Picture No. 1 shows the Link Trainer and the hood which folds down over the pilot's head. No. 2 shows the pilot seated at the controls with his head phone ready to catch the radio beam signals. No. 3 shows the operator watching the mechanical "crab" which faithfully records on a chart every movement the pilot makes in his "trip" over any specified territory. Through the telephone the instructor can check quickly with the pilot. In the centre is the Trans Canada Air Lines "Flying Maple Leaf" which appears on the nose of all company machines.
