

Cure For The Blues

ONE MEDICINE THAT HAS NEVER FAILED

Health Fully Restored and the Joy of Life Regained

When a cheerful, brave, light-hearted woman is suddenly plunged into that perfection of misery, the BLUES, it is a sad picture. It is usually this way: She has been feeling "out of sorts"

Mme. Josephine Riville

for some time; head has ached and back also; has slept poorly, been quite nervous, and nearly fainted once or twice; head dizzy, and heart-beats very fast; then that bearing-down feeling, and during her menstrual period she is exceedingly despondent. Nothing pleases her. Her doctor says: "Cheer up; you have dyspepsia; you will be all right soon."

But she doesn't get "all right," and hope vanishes; then come the brooding, morbid, melancholy, everlasting BLUES.

Don't wait until your sufferings have driven you to despair, with your nerves all shattered and your courage gone, but take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. See what it did for Madame Josephine Riville, Mastai, Que. She writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham—
"I suffered for four years with female troubles—inflammation of the stomach and fallopian tubes which caused me violent pain and often torture, so much so that I could not walk at times and attend to my daily duties. Life was misery to me. I was so blue and despondent I did not know which way to turn for relief. I had tried the doctors but they did not help me. I was advised to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, so I bought a bottle. I am glad that I did so, for I am well and strong to-day and the world looks bright, for I have perfect health, thanks to your medicine."

If you have some derangement of the female organism write Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., for advice.

THE CHARLOTTETOWN GUARDIAN

WEDNESDAY MORNING, APRIL 5, 1905

THE WOES OF THE WEALTHY.

A new terror has arisen in the path of the absurdly rich. With the pathology of money-getting we are all fairly familiar. A man makes a thousand dollars and immediately becomes crazed with the desire to make it two thousand and then four thousand, and so on until he gets so wealthy that he reaches another stage of the disease. He is never wholly relieved of the rabies to make more, but contemporary with this alienation there springs up a lesser but nevertheless a disturbing incitement to give it away.

Nothing easier in the world, one would think. But alas for the contrariness which interferes with and baffles all man's desires, no matter how simple and easy their accomplishment may seem, it appears that giving away money is not as feasible a thing as on the face of it might be supposed. Andrew Carnegie has experienced this perverse current in his efforts not to die disgraced by dying rich.

Municipalities have been cruel enough to look his gift horse so hard in the mouth as to be open to the charge of rudeness. Some have actually refused his largesse. Others have accepted with such hesitation and ill grace that the grand old ironmonger must feel like the good lady who sees the tramp toss her bread and butter over the first convenient fence. He experiences more rebuffs, snubs, and chagrins in giving away his money than ever fell to his lot when making it.

John D. Rockefeller has fallen upon similar evil days. He tried in an unostentatious way to make the American Board of Foreign Missions a gift of $100,000, but immediately it was known stropg' representations were made to the board to reject it. Since that time Mr. Rockefeller has been kept in painful suspense. The board has at length canvassed the subject, but there are still to be two weeks' delay before final action is taken. Mr. Rockefeller, however, will be cheered to learn that a sub-committee of the Prudential Committee has recommended the acceptance of the $100,000.

There are few people of any measure of benevolent feeling who will fall to sympathize with Mr. Rockefeller in his anxiety to give away what he erstwhile gathered with still greater anxiety. When he was making money he found everybody working overtime to prevent him, and now they are equally determined to oppose him in giving it away. There are a few of us, however, above these petty antagonisms, and if Mr. Rockefeller will communicate with this office privately we will guarantee he will encounter no obstacles in any honest and well-meant effort to get rid of $100,000 or such larger sums as may most amply relieve his conscience. Terms cash; no questions asked.—Globe.

An exchange says that a medical authority states that an orator with influenza can spread microbes among an audience for a distance of forty feet. He can spread fallacies of course for an infinitely greater distance. People who are in the habit of going to meetings while the spring thaw is with us would be wise if they kept their minds open and their mouths shut.

At a mass meeting in Alaska a resolution was passed declaring that 60,000 American citizens in that country, who are denied the right of representation in the government of the territory, demand annexation to Canada. If anything, says an exchange, will bring President Roosevelt to time that ought to Canada is getting altogether too popular. The people of the Eastern States are asking for reciprocity with us, and the people of the very West are asking to be annexed. If Uncle Sam is wise he will enquire into the grievances of the Alaskans as soon as possible.

The Secretary of the P. E. I. Development and Tourist Association has been directed to write the Boards of Trade of Georgetown, Souris and Alberton, and also to communicate with the Summerside Improvement and Tourist Association, requesting their co-operation in the endeavour to bring to our Province this summer as large a number of visitors as possible. The result of all sections of the Island working together with this object in view will be the means of accomplishing a greater success than is even anticipated. That the Home Comers' Week and Carnival will be a notable event seems safe to predict, if we may judge by the energy and enthusiasm that is being displayed by the various committees. Their efforts will ensure a program for that celebration which will mean the bringing of many people to this Island, and every assistance that is given is bound in one way or other to benefit those who give such assistance. Everybody should work with this end in view.

The suggestion of The Patriot that some one be assigned the position of answering the telephone at the Railway Station and supplying information regarding movements of trains etc., is an excellent one. The almost incessant ringing of the telephone at the Train Dispatcher's office is a great annoyance when the telegrapher is taking a message and especially if he has to stop to answer, the information asked for is, naturally, not supplied with that detail the inquirer would wish. But small expense would be incurred by placing a boy in charge of the telephone and the result would be satisfactory to many.

A St. Petersburg despatch says that a letter from Vice Admiral Rojestvensky to his wife has been received, and states that the departure of the second Pacific squadron from Madagascar is final, and that it is now on its way to Vladivostok. The admiral wrote that the sailing of the squadron had been fixed for March 19th but naturally he avoided any mention of the route he intended to follow on the voyage afterwards. The admiralty yesterday admitted knowledge of this determination of Vice Admiral Rojestvensky, and stated that no contrary order had been sent him. It is understood that a rendezvous with Vice Admiral Nedogotoff's division of the Baltic squadron is not contemplated.

Most persons regard the remarks of Dr. Osler about the usefulness of man being gone after forty, and being chloroformed after sixty, as more or less facetious. At all events, he has not been taken seriously. Goldwin Smith, however, thinks there is reason to fear that such remarks have done a good deal of mischief. One of the tendencies of the day is to reject or discard from employment middle-aged men and to take on young men in their places who are supposed to have more "push." This in many instances is causing hardships, and adds Mr. Smith, "Osler would remember jokes sometimes produce serious effects, and even when he speaks lightly his authority tells." However, the middle-aged man may take this consolation to himself that the time of his growing old and useless largely depends upon himself. The great undertakings of the world are to-day, as they have always been, in the hands of men who have passed the zenith of their years.

REASON No 21 WHY YOU SHOULD USE Red Rose Tea

Because it is perfectly clean. Wouldn't you like to know that the tea you drink has not been touched by human hand since it was plucked on the plantation?

This is what you get in Red Rose Tea. The old method of rolling and packing tea by hand has been entirely done away with on the tea estates where Red Rose Tea is produced. There, as well as in the blending and packing rooms, machinery—scrupulously clean machinery—is used exclusively.

Red Rose Tea is never touched by hand after being plucked.

This fact alone will help you enjoy drinking it. The Blue Label is recommended.
