Final Meeting Of Radio Committee

OTTAWA, May 5—(By the Canadian Press)—The House committee on radio broadcasting will hold what is hoped to prove its final meeting tomorrow afternoon to complete work on the draft of the report it will present to Parliament. The report itself is likely to be presented to the House early next week, and the general expectation is that it will be in a form that will permit immediate legislation being introduced.

As the committee of nine, under the chairmanship of Hon. Dr. Raymond Morand, (Cons., Essex East), is believed to be about equally divided between public and private ownership, the report is expected to recommend a system of broadcasting that will include a greatly increased measure of Government control.

OBJECT LESSON

Britons and Canadians had come "to learn golfing and distinguish between aquarium and appleblossom cocktails" have been completely dissipated through the delegates' determination to secure every bit of information relevant to their objective—the promotion of trade. In fact, the visiting parliamentarians have been likened to hounds with their noses to the ground, not on the scent of the fox of Empire commerce. One native Bermudian today gave as his opinion that no least item had escaped the attention of the visitors. They were devouring everything of trade value with avidity. Every Bermudian possible was being put through the "third degree" and the fullest possible cross-examination was the order of the day.

Informal conferences were being carried on in connection with Bermuda's imports and exports, industries, climate and prevailing salaries, the distribution of goods, cost of living, tourist traffic, cost of government and development projects, and history of the island. British preferences, tariffs, and future Bermudian policies, shipping services, communications and salesmanship, together with questions of state have come within the range of the information sought.

Comparison of prices on home-grown tomatoes, onions, peas, milk, butter and potatoes, with the imported article has forced Bermudians to conclude that Canadians are expert blue book authorities.

Today's proceedings were mainly informal, giving opportunity for individual fact-gathering. The Cavalier's arrival, amid surroundings almost unbelievably beautiful, was one of the most inspiring sights yet experienced by the visitors. The steamers go 1,000 miles south, to Jamaica to load bananas before returning to Canada.

Tomorrow the delegations will go into conference on the questions of Empire currency, use of sterling in Bermuda, and the possibility of substituting Canadian currency for sterling in the island.

THE FEDERAL PARLIAMENT

OTTAWA, May 5—(By the Canadian Press)—Provision for the formation of livestock record associations is provided in a bill introduced in the House of Commons yesterday by Hon. Robert Weir, Minister of Agriculture. The original act of 1900, permitted formation of these bodies for the collection of livestock records, but the act of 1912 repealed the authority and made provision for a national livestock records board. The bill, Mr. Weir said, was the outcome of twenty years of administrative difficulties, and would restore the privileges enjoyed by the livestock associations prior to 1912.

representative, signed in his home, where he is recuperating from wounds inflicted by a group of students who attacked him Tuesday because they thought he was going to approve a peace in which China would be the loser.

The closest thing to a ceremony such as usually marks the signing of such an international agreement took place at the British Consulate, where Sir Miles W. Lampson, British Minister to China and leader among the peace negotiators, and the representatives of other neutral parties, affixed their signatures. An unofficial version of the armistice indicated that both the Japanese and Chinese had compromised. Japan apparently avoided any definite commitment concerning the date for completing evacuation, although it was understood that the Japanese negotiators undertook to get their troops moved within a month. The Chinese succeeded in winning their demand that the Japanese retire from their present positions into the International Settlement, although certain exceptions were made, notably in regard to Hongkew and Woosung.

Quakes Felt In New Zealand

WELLINGTON, N. Z., May 6. (Friday)—(Canadian Press Cable)—Two earthquakes last night alarmed the population in the district of Hawke's Bay on the east side of the North Island in the New Zealand group, but a check up of the vicinity this morning had revealed no casualties.

The first shock, which occurred at 7:15 in the evening, broke several shop windows in Hastings and caused panic among women patients in the hospital. The second tremor equally severe as the first, came at 11:15 and shook down numerous chimneys in the township of Tara-dale where property damage today appeared to have been heaviest. Shopkeepers throughout the district lost heavily through breakage of windows and fragile wares.

Residents rushed into the streets in great alarm and remained out of doors for two hours before they considered it safe to return to their homes. Interruption of electric current plunged the district into darkness and added to the general confusion.

land, Times, in addressing daily newspaper publishers of Canada here tonight.

In a masterly exposition of the cause and effect of the present world depression, Sir Willmott expressed the opinion the British Commonwealth of Nations would lead the world to recovery, since a certain political shrewdness and hard common-sense was ingrained in the people of the Commonwealth.

"We are to be asked not to forsake our interest, but to meet in the common interest of us all," he said of the Empire conference at Ottawa next July. "This may require some sacrifices, but these would eventually strengthen our individual interests. This is the test which is to be put to us, and I am certain we will emerge with something hopeful because of that shrewd political sense which resides in us."

In passing, Sir Willmott brought the greetings of the Associated Press to the Canadian Press and Canadian Daily Newspapers Association, whom he addressed at the joint meeting. The Canadian bodies concluded their annual meetings today.

E. C. Nicholas, Editor of the Victoria, B. C. Times, expressed the appreciation of the publishers to Sir Willmott, declaring his address had been a most inspiring and arresting one.

There had been talk of dissolution of the Canadian Press and Canadian Daily Newspapers Association, he said, but this would be a step charged with unutterable menace to the unity of the Dominion. "I can conceive of no greater disaster," he declared. There was no limit to the destiny of this country if unity remained intact.

however, are determined to adhere strictly to nationalistic economic policies they will further restrict not only their own trade but international commerce as well, the report warned. If they decide to stand alone instead of cooperating with the partners in the Commonwealth then each one must fall eventually under the dominance of some foreign economic group, "however attached by sentiment to the ideal the Empire it may be."

The Federation declared the fiscal system of the Empire must be upon a foundation of intra-Empire preferences. Disaster would follow if the various delegations should go to Ottawa simply as sellers intent on bargains. The British Government, the report suggested, should decide what advantages can offer in the British market—the Dominions' producers and the main, these clearly must be respect to primary products. "It is obvious however," the report added, "that if the Empire trade policy is to be based on the principle of mutual benefit the continued development of such advantages in the United Kingdom market must depend on adoption of a similar policy by individual Dominions overseas." The fostering of uneconomic production is unsound, the report stressed.

MR. ARCHIBALD STEWART

In writing funeral notices it is almost the universal practice to say that a gloom was cast over the whole community by the death of the person to whom reference is made. Yet this much used expression is the only one which truly describes the effect produced when it became known that Mr. Archibald Stewart, Charlottetown, formerly of Argyle Shore and son of the late Douglas Stewart and Mary Campbell, had passed away to his higher and eternal life on Tuesday morning April 12, 1932, after a lingering illness of about 6 months' duration. The members of every household in Argyle Shore and vicinity to whom he was well known and where he lived a long and well spent life of over sixty years, felt a sense of personal bereavement. Mr. Stewart was one of those men who are universally beloved, who are sources of strength, comfort and joy to all those who have the privilege of knowing them. In the home where he was a brother and uncle he was a brother and uncle indeed. His memory will be ever green in the minds of all who had known him. During his illness notwithstanding the severe suffering endured, he always looked on the brighter side of life and resting in the secure promise for a risen lord his passing was a blessed release from the bondage of flesh to that broader and higher life of which he so often spoke to those of the home around him. Mr. Stewart was a member of the Church of Scotland and was well versed in scripture. There are left to mourn six brothers, Mr. Ewen Stewart of Banff, Alta. Dougall of Chicago, Alexander of Los Angeles, Charles of Boston, John William of Auburn, Mass and Donald of Charlottetown, besides the family of his brother
