

WILL FOUND BUT ESTATE HAS BEEN ALL DISTRIBUTED

MANCHESTER, N. H., June 3.—Papers are being served in a remarkable case, wherein the property of a dead person, after having been distributed among the heirs, is now being recalled because of a will having been discovered among the heirs being made defendants in an attempt to make them return the property which aggregates at the last $50,000. The case will come before the September term of the superior court for trial. The circumstances are reported to be as follows:

Sarah R. Spraulding, a resident of Lowell, Mass., died at her home in that city April 6, 1902, leaving an estate valued at $50,000, and of this amount $30,000 was in cash. She left no relatives nearer than cousins. No will was found, and C. H. Coburn, who was appointed administrator May 27, 1902, proceeded to settle the estate, the work of which he completed in 1905. He divided the property among Lora B. Fraser of Dunbar, N. Y., John Dodge of Amherst, who were next of kin and the only heirs. Isaac Dodge died in 1905 without heirs and his share was distributed between his brother and sister, John Dodge and Mrs. Fraser. John died in 1908, leaving a wife, Austis B. Dodge, and a daughter, Martha J. Carter, willing his personal property to his wife.

In February, 1910, in clearing a vault in the old Lowell national bank a tin box was found bearing the name of Sarah R. Spraulding, and in it was found her will. It provided that Ex-Gov. Frederick T. Greenhalge should be the executor, but being dead John E. Sawyer was appointed administrator. None of the heirs named in the will and Mrs. Sawyer, through Allan M. Wilson of this city, is now bringing suit to recover the property distributed among them and to turn it over in accordance with the provision of the will, which provides $10,000 for the American board of foreign missions, $3,000 for the Massachusetts general hospital, $3,000 for the Seaman's Friend society, several minor legacies and the residue to the Lowell general hospital. The case is without precedent in the New Hampshire courts.

CINCINNATI JUDGE BARS RATS, BANGS, THIN HOSIERY

CINCINNATI, June 1—Hazel Arnold, fifteen, and Ida Thomas, fourteen, were brought before Judge John A. Caldwell, of the juvenile court to-day because they had been saucy to the policeman when officers objected to their alleged actions.

"Young girls like you must not wear rats and bangs and Grecian bands around the hair," said Judge Caldwell, criticizing their appearance. "I propose to do all in my power to break up this kind of costuming by young girls—the kind of dressing that attracts the undue attention of the men. It is one of the greatest causes of juvenile delinquency, and I do not see what any mother is thinking about to allow her daughter to get herself up in any such fashion."

"I believe in modest attire for young girls. It hurts me every time I go along the street, and see a young girl in short dresses wearing fancy slippers and thin, fancy stockings with a slip of a dress and a rat or a Grecian band in her hair, or with her hair bobbed down over her forehead. A girl in a short dress should never wear a low-necked costume."

He continued the cases of the girls for further investigation.

TWO RESCUED AND TWO ARE MISSING

NORTH SYDNEY, N. S., June 2.—The schooner Marconi arrived at North Sydney today from the Newfoundland fishing grounds and landed two men, John Struble and Joseph Lee, who had strayed from their vessel, the schooner Rigel. The men had not been long adrift when rescued and suffered no hardships.

It appears that ill-luck follows the schooner Rigel, which was in port about a week ago to land Capt. John Harvey for medical treatment, and who died shortly after at the Hamilton Hospital here, following an operation for appendicitis. The men landed here say that two other dories belonging to the vessel were adrift at the same time they were, and it was hardly likely that they could have reached the vessel in the face of the gale raging at the time. It was also reported today that disaster has probably overtaken a dory containing two men from the schooner Violet Courtney. The missing men were said to be named Lawrence, father and son.

UNIQUE TRIBUTE TO NOTED PRELATE

Dignitaries of All Denominations to Take Part in Civic Celebration of Cardinal Gibbons' Jubilee—A Recognition of Prelate's Influence For High Ideals in Citizenship.

BALTIMORE, Md., June 3—If the Fifth Regiment Armory in this city was as large as Madison Square Garden it could not accommodate the crowd of persons who have applied for tickets for admission to the jubilee services in honor of Cardinal Gibbons next Tuesday afternoon. The celebration is to commemorate the fiftieth anniversary of the ordination of Cardinal Gibbons to the Priesthood and the twenty-fifth anniversary of the cardinalate.

The committee on arrangements, which includes churchmen of all creed denominations and the various States, mayors of cities and other persons of prominence in every section of the country have been invited to participate. President Taft and ex-president Roosevelt will head the list of speakers. Others who are expected to deliver addresses are Chief Justice White, of the Supreme Court of the United States, Vice President Sherman, Speaker Champ Clark, Governor Crothers of Maryland, Mayor Preston of Baltimore, and Bishop John Gardiner Murray of the Protestant Episcopal diocese of Maryland.

The celebration next Tuesday is to be of a purely civic character and entirely distinct from the ecclesiastical services to be held next fall and in which noted dignitaries of the Roman Catholic Church throughout the world will participate. The present demonstration is designed as a recognition of the influence which Cardinal Gibbons exercised for high ideals in citizenship and patriotism.

The years of life have told lightly upon Cardinal Gibbons, and to look at him one would not imagine that he is in his seventy-seventh year. Never what can be termed robust, a frugal husbandry of his physical powers has more than atoned for what nature did not bestow. His Eminence was born in this city July 23, 1834, of Irish parents. During his boyhood he was taken to Ireland, where he received the elements of the United States it was determined by his parents to consecrate him to the service of God, and he entered St. Charles College, Maryland, where he graduated with distinction in 1857. Thence he went to St. Mary's Seminary, where after taking the usual courses of theology and philosophy, he was ordained a priest June 6, 1861, by Archbishop Kendrick. Father Gibbons was at once assigned to duty, and hard duty at that time, in the city of Baltimore, serving first as an assistant priest at St. Patrick's Church, East Baltimore. Under the famous Father James Dolan. In 1868 he was appointed vicar apostolic of North Carolina. He remained four years in North Carolina and displayed such remarkable administration abilities that on the death of Bishop McGill he was transferred to Richmond, Va., where he was installed bishop in 1872. His administration in Richmond was marked by practical results of the most important character. In 1877 Bishop Gibbons was appointed coadjutor with the right of succession to the late Archbishop Bayley of Baltimore. He was installed archbishop at the cathedral in this city February 19, 1878. He received the red hat of the cardinalate in Rome at the hands of Pope Leo XIII.

The same energy, zeal and great executive ability which characterized Cardinal Gibbons' labors in other spheres have been displayed in the more exalted and responsible office which he fills at present. He is one of the most democratic of men—plain unostentatious and distinguished for good sense in everything he does. He is extremely charitable, and his income does not meet the demands upon it.

A preacher Cardinal Gibbons is always learned and interesting and often eloquent. His sermons he prepares in advance, but he is also a good extempore orator. Having been so long accustomed to figuring in public affairs and conducting the great functions of the church, he is never flustered or nervous, but when he rises to make an address is composed and fluent.

REVISION OF TREATY BY CHINA

ST. PETERSBURG, June 3—Advices from Peking say that China contemplates a revision of the Russo-Chinese treaty of 1881, which expires in August unless it is renewed.

The ultimatum issued recently by Russia with regard to the interpretation of the treaty, was based on the supposition that China would leave her treaty intact, inasmuch as a revision would open up great difficulties and involve the long standing Russian privileges, such as the exclusive right to navigation on the Sungari, exclusive trade in Mongolia. A revision of the treaty would involve new rights which Japan would be certain to demand for herself, as Japan is far more active commercially and diplomatically than this country. Russia considered that China had less to lose by renewing the Russian privileges intact than by curtailing them, but the Chinese policy would be carried out without provoking the question of the re-occupation of Kuldj, as a Russo-Chinese treaty cannot be considered without reference to the events of 1881.

VANCOUVER, June 6.—Between three and four thousand men of the buildings trades out work in what technically they describe as a "Cessation from labor." All the bricklayers are apparently employed. The Street Railway men, teamsters, etc, refused to join the strike.
