PASSED AWAY—The death occurred Saturday afternoon at Sherwood of Mrs. John B. Roper. Mrs. Roper, who was 59 years of age, had been ill for about two months. She was a daughter of the late William Harper of Charlottetown. She leaves to mourn a husband and four sons, Percy, Arthur H., Fred and Gordon. Also two brothers, George Harper, East Royalty and Thomas Harper, of Charlottetown. The funeral takes place this Monday afternoon at 2 p.m. at Sherwood Cemetery.

BATHURST, N. B., March 19.—Word received here about noon today announced the death at Montreal of Mr. L. R. Howard. The late Mr. Howard was for over twenty years connected with the business and fraternal life in Bathurst, coming here from Port Elgin in April, 1910 he conducted a tailoring business until last August, when ill-health obliged him to retire. Later in the fall he went to Calais, Maine, to spend some time with a daughter. A few weeks ago he went to Montreal where other members of the family are, and entered a hospital for treatment, where he passed away unexpectedly this morning. While in Bathurst he was for many years a member of the volunteer fire department, an enthusiastic courier and a member of Lodge Saint John No. 27 A. F. and A. M. Besides his wife, who is now in Montreal, there are five daughters, Mrs. Frank Elhation, Mrs. Gilbert Landry, Bathurst; Mrs. K. C. Weed, Calais, Maine; Misses Gladys and Evelyn Howard, Montreal, and one son, Basil, also in Montreal; also one sister, Mrs. Cowan, of Norfolk, Mass. The deceased was born in Kensington, P. E. I., January 24th, 1871. The remains are being brought to Bathurst for interment and it is expected the funeral will be Saturday afternoon, although final arrangements have not been completed.

Mr. R. E. Spillet is informed by letter from a son of T. J. Dillon that his father passed on the 16th inst. in Toronto. It appears that the deceased had a stroke early in the month and evidently did not recover from it. To the many friends in this Province of the late T. J. Dillon this comes as sad news. He came here in 1892 to take charge of the new dairy movement promoted by the late Dairy Commission, Jas. W. Robertson being put in charge of the New Perth Cheese Factory. In addition to that position he was required to render assistance in the starting of cheese factories in many other sections, particularly in King's County, and later in all parts of the Province. Mr. Dillon was well equipped for such work, as he was an expert cheese and butter maker and was a gifted platform speaker. Being of an ardent, enthusiastic temperament he soon boomed dairy farming on the advanced co-operative plan. True, he had valuable assistance, but he was the real dynamo of the movement. He continued in the Dominion Government Service till 1896 when he started the export business of cheese and butter and shortly after formed a partnership with Mr. Spillet under the name of Dillon and Spillet. Later Mr. Dillon moved to Ontario but continued his interest in the firm. As he became interested in several enterprises in Ontario, he gave up his intention of returning here and then sold out to Mr. Spillet who has continued the business under the same firm name. Time flies. It does not seem like 40 years since Dillon, as he was known to us, came on his mission among us, and although his impetuosity made us tired sometimes, we soon found that he was the soul of honour and kind to a fault. Honest, why Dillon could not commit a dishonest act "even if he tried to." The sympathy of his many friends in this Province goes out to his estimable life partner and family in their trying bereavement.

THREATENED ELECTRIC POWER COMPETITION—A meeting of electric power users is to be held in the Board of Trade Rooms tonight to consider a proposal by Morse-Fairbanks of Canada Ltd., to start an electric power station in Charlottetown. The firms propose that by the scheme they submit users will get their power about 50 per cent cheaper than the rate they now pay.

At 4 a. m. fourteen years ago today Ludendorff opened his great offensive against the fog enveloped British front line of over sixty miles from Lens in the North to below St. Quentin in the South. The British north front was held by the III. Army under Sir Julian Byng, consisting of 15 Infantry Divisions, while the southern half of the line was held by the V. Army, under General Gough, and consisted of 14 Infantry and 3 Cavalry Divisions, which like Byng's Divisions were all terribly under strength and tired out from long service. The V. Army front had just been taken over from the French and no defence lines had been completed, although they were under construction. Against this portion of the line the Germans threw 49 fresh Divisions, trained for open warfare.

Britain had 100,000 less fighting men in France at this time than she had in 1917, and these were not trained for open warfare, as they had long been engaged in trench warfare.

Under this overwhelming attack the V. Army cracked and the British armies were rolled back to Albert, which was captured on the 27th March. This however, was the high water mark of the German success. The line held and prevented Ludendorff from gaining his objective, the capturing of armies and so separating the British and French armies and his determination to then defeat the British army and push it back to the channel ports and then turn south and defeat the French.

Those were anxious days. Days never to be forgotten. Days when the French civilians aged and young, were forced from their homes to become refugees seeking rest at night on the roadsides and fields.

The spirit of the British army was not broken. It accepted Haig's message of 11th April and with its back to the wall it fought on until 28th April when the great German attack had spent itself notwithstanding that Ludendorff had by this time thrown no less than 141 Divisions against the British who could only muster 59 Infantry and 3 Cavalry Divisions, which for the most part were almost worn out from long and continued service.

The British Army was then re-organized and trained for open warfare and prepared for the great and final advances of the following August which ended in victory on November 11th, 1918. T.E.M.

A proposal to establish a County Academy at Summerside will be submitted to the Provincial Government today by a delegation representing the Summerside School Board, the Town Council and Board of Trade. The brief to be submitted proposes:

School makes provision for the teaching of Grades 11 and 12, submitting to the scheme of common leaving examinations for the Maritime Provinces acceptable for University Matriculation, as outlined by the Carnegie Advisory Committee, or the standard of examinations set for 1st and 2nd year Prince of Wales College Students.

(2) That the School Board undertakes to employ an additional staff of not less than three nor more than five qualified instructors to carry on the work.

(3) That the Town will do the necessary construction work.

The following requests are made in the brief:

(1) Will the Government and Board of Education recognize the standard?

(2) Will the Government of P. E. Island make the Summerside High School the Academy for Prince County, and the County the student constituency for the Academy?

(3) Will the Government pay the salaries of the Professors so engaged by the Summerside School Board as is now done at Prince of Wales College?

(4) Will the Government pay the cost of construction that will be required to make Summerside High School an Academy for the said County of Prince, in whole, or if the Town does the work, in part?

If the Government approves the above proposals, legislation will have to be passed enabling the Summerside School Board to spend more than $10,000 annually as allowed under the present act.

The request of Dr. J. S. Jenkins for the backing of the City in the issuance of a $15,000 mortgage on the Upton Airport was considered at a special meeting of the City Council held last evening, at which Mayor Stewart presided.

A letter from Dr. Jenkins was read by the City Clerk. It states that the valuation of the airport at present ($25,000) was low, compared with that of other Maritime Airports and he wished to raise a $15,000 mortgage on the airport for further improvements. Seeing that the airport was an enterprise of public interest he felt that the city should guarantee the bonds, thus enabling him to obtain a better rate of interest on them. He accordingly asked the Council to consider the matter.

The following resolution, moved by Councillor Kennedy and seconded by Councillor Trainor was then passed:

"In view of the fact that the City is not in a position legally to guarantee the bonds re Airport as asked by Dr. Jenkins his request cannot be considered."

There being no further business the meeting adjourned.

Mr. Carruthers had little to say about the sales, except that prices remain firm. The Paris sale was on Jan. 11th. There was a special sale in London just previous to the regular winter sales. While in London Mr. Carruthers visited the British Trade Fair at the White City, London. Canadian products were well represented there and the Canadian National Silver Fox Breeders' Association had an exhibit of eight skins of the finest texture and sheen in a booth just inside the main entrance to the Canadian pavilion and opposite the Canadian National Railways exhibit. The booth of the C. N. S. F. B. A. was very attractively arranged and created a good deal of interest. The skins will also be shown at all the major exhibitions in Great Britain during the coming summer. Mr. Carruthers says that much interest is being taken by Britishers in fur farming and there are many fox farms there, but he did not think the climate was as well adapted as Prince Edward Island for the raising of good fur. General conditions in France, Mr. Carruthers said, are not good and there is considerable unemployment. In England there is some improvement, although the unemployment problem is still a very serious one.
