when he had no one under suspicion.

"In this case the officer did not even know what he had been sent to investigate," he said.

Magistrate R.E. Inglish ruled against defence counsel.

Earlier, Albert Luffman, who said he did odd jobs for Mrs. Saccary, testified that Shiers had threatened to hit the widow with an armature from a garage near her home.

He said Shiers had made the threat during a drinking bout in the garage the night before the slaying.

"I grabbed it (the armature) from him and threw it into a corner," Luffman declared. "I said, 'Dougie, don't get yourself in trouble.'"

Medical testimony was that Shiers had been drinking before his death.

Biggar on the evening of August 5, 1947, near Beach Grove Inn. Miss Biggar died in the Prince Edward Island Hospital shortly after having been thrown out of Green's car which turned over on the highway. Preliminary evidence showed that two other passengers were in the car with Green and Miss Biggar at the time of the accident.

The charges of receiving stolen goods and of arson resulted from the destruction by fire on Sept. 21, 1947, at Pleasant Grove of a house occupied by Mr. Randolph Murray and the property of J. Parker Hooper, Charlottetown.

Livingston is accused of having stolen a wallet containing $120 from a fellow-worker.

The Grand Jury spent the whole of yesterday in considering the bills of indictment and will inspect the Government buildings—Queen's County Jail, the Provincial Infirmary, and Falconwood Hospital—beginning at 10:30 this morning.

Trial of the criminal cases will open next Monday.

Fines Reduced

In the Prohibition appeal of Aeneas MacDonald, the Chief Justice Thane A. Campbell reduced the penalty of $250 to $200. The same appellant's appeal on a conviction for being drunk and disorderly was reduced from a jail sentence of 20 days without the option of a fine to a fine of $20. In both cases G. R. Holmes, K.C., appeared for the Crown and Lester O'Donnell for the appellant.

The Prohibition appeal of John Joseph Watts against a fine of $70 was disposed of by the Chief Justice reducing the sentence to $45 or one month in jail. G. R. Holmes appeared for the respondent and Lester O'Donnell for the appellant.

Oscar Marshall, sentenced in the Magistrate's Court to 30 days in jail for drunken driving, had his penalty reduced by the Chief Justice to seven days. Mr. Holmes and Mr. O'Donnell for the respondent and appellant respectively.

Court resumes this morning at 10:30.

Court Comments On Excessive Use Of Liquor

If the practice of excessive use of alcoholic liquors for beverage purposes were abandoned by the citizens of the Province, the law enforcement officers would have very little to do, Chief Justice Thane A. Campbell said yesterday in his address to the Grand Jury at the opening of the Supreme Court in Charlottetown.

His Lordship, in commenting on the fact that 142 prisoners had been admitted to the Queen's County jail since the last sitting in June of the Supreme Court for Queen's County, said that 102 persons of that number had received jail sentences for being either drunk and disorderly or drunk and incapable.

Included among the 142 charges for which jail sentences had been meted out, were 10 for theft, seven for driving motor vehicles while intoxicated, two for property damage, and two for breaking and entering. "I have no doubt at all," the Chief Justice said; "that most of those offences against the law are attributable, directly or indirectly, to over indulgence in the use of intoxicating liquors."

In commenting on the bills of indictment, His Lordship told the Grand Jury that they were not to concern themselves with the probable guilt or innocence of the persons against whom the bills were brought. As they only had the evidence of the Crown to consider, it was merely their duty to determine whether or not there was sufficient evidence against the persons mentioned to justify their being tried by a petit jury.

After having disposed of this business it was the duty of the Grand Jury, His Lordship said, to inspect such Government buildings as the Queen's County Jail, the Provincial Infirmary, and Falconwood Hospital and to bring in such reasonable and practical recommendations as they might deem advisable both for the welfare of the patients or inmates in those institutions and the improvement of the various buildings.

Montreal Gambler Appeals Sentence

MONTREAL, Jan. 13— (CP)— Harry Ship, 34, big-time betting house keeper who successfully delayed his trial for a year, was sentenced today to six months in jail. But two hours later he was free again, having filed an appeal and been granted $5,000 bail by Mr. Justice Severin Letourneau of Appeal Court.

In addition to the six-months sentence, imposed by Recorder E. J. McManamy who said "this is the first case of a real owner to be tried in our courts," Ship was ordered to post $20,000 security at expiration of his jail term to keep the peace for two years. In case of default he would have to serve an additional year in jail.

Ship was convicted last week on three counts in connection with his operation of an elaborate betting place at 906 St. Catherine Street East dating back to September, 1946. The sentences on the three counts run concurrently.

KINGSTON W. I.

The regular monthly meeting of the Kingston W. I. was held on Thursday, January 8th, with Mrs. Whitfield Yeo as hostess. The meeting opened with the singing of the Ode followed by the reading of the Creed in unison. Roll call was responded to by ten members. Two visitors being also present. The proposed Jubilee Endowment Fund was brought up in the New Business, and it was agreed that it be left for further consideration. Drama Festival and further discussion took place about the play. A Play Committee was appointed with Mrs. Whitefield Yeo and Mrs. Zylpha Newson as directors and Mrs. Merril Green, Mrs. Heber Campbell and Mrs. Calvin Holmes on the committee. They agreed to hold a meeting at Mrs. Whitfield Yeo's concerning the same. The School Committee reported that they had visited the school and that they bought what was desired.

A card of thanks was recieved from the Salvation Army for the help recieved from the Kingston W. I. during their campaign. The receipt for the donation to the T. B. League was received and all bills were paid. Mrs. Tyrus Holmes was appointed to buy gifts for the new Babies.

The next meeting is to be held at the home of Mrs. Bertram Willis. Lunch committee, Mrs. Bertram Willis and Miss Roma Rodd. It was then decided that the Roll Call for next meeting be answered with flour bags and print cotton. The meeting closed with "God Save The King," after which Mrs. Calvin Holmes entertained with a program which provided much enjoyment to all. Refreshments were served.

SLIGHT ACCIDENT— A slight accident occurred in the City last evening about 7.30 when a truck travelling west on Euston Street side-swiped a car proceeding east on the same street. The car received slight damage to its left front fender.

FIREMEN CALLED—City firemen were called out at two o'clock yesterday afternoon to attend to a flue fire at the Vendome Hotel on Kent Street. No damage was reported.

CARS TAGGED — Eight cars, parked on the wrong side of the street near the curling rink on Euston Street, were tagged by City Police yesterday evening. Chief of Police Birtwistle said last night that his Department had received several complaints from residents that motorists were violating the City traffic by-laws in that vicinity and that the regulations would be strictly enforced. Parking on the south side of Euston Street is contrary to the traffic regulations, the Chief said.

"New Look" In Women's Clothing Is Criticized

TORONTO, Jan. 13 — (CP)— The "new look" in women's clothing was criticized tonight by Rev. J. R. Mutchmor, Secretary of Evangelism and Social Service of the United Church of Canada, as he told a church meeting that controls, needed in winning the war, "are essentials also for winning the peace."

"It is painfully clear now that North American producers will not and cannot do their part to rebuild the world if the threat of inflation is not dispelled at once," he told a Toronto West Presbytery meeting in a prepared address.

"Controls must be put into force at once and on all fronts—prices, wages, profits and dividends. The argument that supply and demand alone will do it is fallacious.

"As matters stand today there is enough extra cloth in the 'ripples' of North American women's coats to provide half the small children of Western Europe with new winter overcoats. . . .so it has been along the whole line of mounting prices, record high profits and rapidly-rising living costs. . . ."

Dr. Mutchmor said the Protestant Churches of North America at war's end "by common effort delivered the United States from its political isolationism" and did much to put that country into the United Nations."

Today these Churches have a four-fold world order task:

1. Repaying for the first assembly of the World Council of Churches which meets in Amsterdam next August.

2. A vast voluntary relief effort, sending food, clothing and other supplies to the United Kingdom and elsewhere.

3. Fighting against inflation at home.

4. Supporting the Marshall plan —"and this support is the best single guarantee that this program will be put into operation."

Report B. C. Coal Miners To Strike

VANCOUVER, Jan. 13 —(CP)— The Vancouver Sun said today coal mines in British Columbia will be closed by a strike after Wednesday.

It credited the report to officials of the United Mine Workers of America who were reported in Vancouver today en route to Union Headquarters in Nanaimo.

The newspaper said the shutdown would include all Vancouver Island and mainland mines.

A Union spokesman was reported to have said a "no-contract-no-work" order would be sent out immediately.

Earlier, reports from both Calgary, the U.M.W.A., district headquarters, and from Nanaimo said British Columbia mines would not be affected by the strike in Alberta, ordered following a breakdown in contract negotiations.

AIR SERVICE DISRUPTED— Poor visibility forced the return of the late Moncton-Summerside-Charlottetown Maritime Central Airways plane to Summerside Airport last evening. The plane had made its stop at Summerside, and then continued on to Charlottetown where poor visibility over the local port made landing too risky, and was obliged to return to Summerside. The passengers and mail were later brought to Charlottetown by taxi. The plane is expected to arrive at the local airport early this morning, weather permitting. The afternoon plane bound from here to Halifax was also forced to terminate its trip at New Glasgow, N. S., for the same reason, and passengers were obliged to entrain from there to Halifax.

Pair Suspected In Ontario Holdup

TORONTO, Jan. 13 —(CP)—Two men who gave their names as James Martin and Edward Williams, both 25, were held tonight on vagrancy charges and police said they would be questioned in connection with the attempted hold-up of a grocery store at Thornton, 45 miles north of here.

Police said the men, whose hometowns were not available, were chased by police and citizens in automobiles from Thornton to suburban North York township late today. They were taken into custody when they stopped to buy gasoline at a service station near Toronto's northwestern outskirts.

The capture put an end to reports, current when the chase started, that the men might be Ulysse Lauzon and Donald (Mickey) McDonald who escaped last Aug. 18 from Kingston Penitentiary. Police said the men apprehended in the automobile bore no resemblance to the escaped convicts.

Speculation On Transfer Of Marines To Mediterranean

By J. M. Roberts, Jr.
Associated Press News Analyst

We now have had almost as many differing official explanations of shipment of 1,000 United States Marines to the Mediterranean as there have been days since the transports were loaded Jan. 5.

The policy of secrecy on the movement, and the subsequent varieties of explanation when secrecy failed, served to create a "situation" around something that might as well be regarded, from here on out, as a normal part of the attention of the United States to its new position in the world.

America's interest in China has been so long established that movement of Marines back and forth has been a commonplace for years. The Mediterranean is likewise a fixed position of American interest now, and we might as well get used to it. We are in it for oil, and for the defence of our own and Britain's interests throughout the Middle East. But above everything else we are in it to prevent Communist aggression.

Dispatch of additional troops to the area does not mean that war is expected. Instead, it is more of a warning of how serious the United States considers the continuation of provocations which, if somebody slips, could lead to war.

Bombardment of Greek positions from across the Albanian border already has led to the suggestion that the United Nations General Assembly be called. Greece wants either American or international troops to seal her borders to keep guerrillas from returning after her own army has driven them out, and to forestall the possibility of Yugoslav or Bulgarian moves to take over Greek Macedonia or Thrace.

Five thousand United States troops in Trieste face constant provocations from 100,000 crack Yugoslav troops across a poorly defined border. Their position might be seriously endangered if Russia chooses this spring to attempt to set up a Communist Government in Northern Italy, as it has attempted in Greece.

If Britain cannot do so, it will be up to the United States to keep open the oil pipelines which traverse the Middle Eastern land bridge for which the Jews and Arabs are contending. Stoppage of those supplies would just about wreck all chances for rehabilitation of Western Europe and maintenance of our own economy.

State Secretary Marshall, with regard to the Marine shipments, remarks quietly that the United States is doing no more than is required by its diplomatic position. This diplomatic position has not been deliberately created. The Second World War left vacuums in the international order into which the United States has been forced to step to prevent them from being occupied by threatening elements. We can fret, if we wish, over some of the moralities involved. The situation is just a fact. And self-defence has long taken priority over morality.

Monthly Meeting Of Local C.W.L. Sub-Division

The regular monthly meeting of Charlottetown sub-division C.W.L. was held Tuesday evening, January 13th, in the League Hall. The president, Mrs. G. Parnell McMahon presided, and recited the prayer.

Minutes of preceding executive and regular monthly meetings were approved as read by the secretary, Miss Vessey. The financial statement was submitted by Miss Bradley and showed a satisfactory balance on hand.

Correspondence read by Mrs. McTague included letters of appreciation for sympathy extended from the family of the late John Murray, and that of Mrs. Catherine Herrell (per Mrs. S. Trainor). Sister M. Loyola, Sacred Heart Home., Mrs. S. Garrett, Matron of Infirmary, and His Excellency Bishop Boyle, with appreciation expressed for Christmas gifts, and the work of the League along charitable lines.

A letter from Miss Iphigenie Arsenault thanked the sub-division for financial assistance to the Girl Guide camp and interest in this work.

Conveners present who presented reports on the work of their respective committees were: — Mrs. J.B. Blake, education; Mrs. Lorne Noonan, membership; Mrs. Frank Walker, institutions; Mrs. W.J.P. MacMillan, citizenship; Mrs. S. Benoit, social service; Mrs. Peter Holland, book review; Mrs. Preston Hillier, Girl Guides; Mrs. S. Trainor, sick visiting; Mrs. Frank Murray, press.

Satisfactory progress is being made along educational lines. A splendid report regarding the Christmas charities work was submitted by the convener who extended thanks to all who gave such generous donations toward this worthy activity. In all 263 bags of candy, fruit, etc., were packed by the committee, 213 of which were sent to the Infirmary and 50 to the Sacred Heart Home. Boxes of fruit and candy were given to Social Service, the Monastery and Sisters in Hospital. 185 magazines and papers were sent to the various institutions.

Appreciation was extended by the president to Mrs. Walker for the success of this good work, which helped to make Christmas happy for many who would otherwise be lonely.

Sewing for Social Service requirements is being done at headquarters, a number of children's garments having been made and repaired. Members were asked to help by sewing or contributions of clothing. New Canadians have been contacted on arrival here, this work being capably convened under citizenship. The 8th Company of Girl Guides donated Christmas dinners to several families, and 39 girls attended the training class for Guides.

It was decided to place a book in the Public Library. The title of the book selected "Miracle of the Bells" by Russel Janney McLeod, and this will be available for readers very soon. Meetings receive due publicity in the press, a gesture of good will which is appreciated.

Suggestions for financing League works were submitted by the president for discussion, and tentative plans made for carrying out same.

The President spoke of the great honor which had been conferred by His Holiness Pius XII, on Hon. Dr. W.J.P. MacMillan, — Knight Commander of St. Gregory the Great, and voiced the happy sentiments and congratulations of League members to the recipient, which were were further extended to the esteemed sub-division member, Mrs. McMillan. It was decided that appreciation and congratulations be further expressed in the form of a resolution to Hon. Dr. MacMillan.

Several new members were introduced and welcomed by the president, after which the meeting adjourned.

Guardsmen To Provide Louis Sparring Partners

By Jim Chambers

LONDON, Jan. 13 — (AP) —It's a tradition in the British Army that Guardsmen will take on anything or anybody, any time, anywhere.

Thirty of these husky young soldiers from Wellington barracks, close by Buckingham Palace, now are grooming for the honor of being socked on the chin by Joe Louis when he comes to London next month to give exhibitions of training and sparring.

Harry Seff, promoter of the "health-and-holidays" exhibition at which the Brown Bomber will be one of the feature acts, said today he won't have any trouble getting sparring partners for the champ.

Louis cannot get permission to bring into the country more than two of his own training staff.

Seff said: "I've already had offers from 30 soldiers from the Brigade of Guards to step in with Joe. These lads, many of them over six feet tall—the minimum height for a Guardsman is five feet, 10 inches —all weigh from 170 to 190 pounds.

"They've heard all about Joe's left jabs and right crosses, but if any of them get knocked silly—well, they'll regard it as an honor for the rest of their lives."

In addition to the army sluggers, Seff expects to have plenty of up-and-coming professional heavyweights to put in the ring against Louis, who is scheduled to do three workouts daily. Only at one of them each day will he be called upon to do any sparring.

Seff has contracted to pay Louis £20,000 ($80,000) for his month's work. He's not worrying about getting it back. He figures that the 1,050 seats around the ring will be filled at every session at prices ranging from about 50 cents to $4.50.

Britain To Give Secret Report On Palestine

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y., Jan. 13 —(AP) — The United Nations announced tonight that Britain will give the U.N. a secret report tomorrow on British plans for withdrawal from Palestine.

British delegate Sir Alexander Cadogan, a U.N. spokesman said, has asked the Palestine Partition Commission to guarantee absolute secrecy. The Commission agreed.

The U.N. spokesman said that Sir Alexander, in asking that his statement be guaranteed confidential treatment, told the U.N. secretariat that the matter is so delicate that he would like to avoid any aggravation.

Fist Fights In French Parliament

PARIS, Jan. 13 —(AP)— Fist fights among the deputies threw a session of the National Assembly into an uproar tonight and the Communists, fighting for a key legislative office, broke up the meeting.

A Communist decision to insist on the re'election of Jacques Duclos as first vice-president caused the uproar.

As first vice-president, Duclos would be in line to succeed the presiding officer of the Assembly if anything happened to 76-year-old Edouard Herriot, former premier, who was re-elected Assembly president earlier in the same session.

Fighting also preceded the vote on the presidency which Herriot won by 317 votes to 124 for Communist Raoul Calas.
