We often think of days gone by. When we were all together. The shadow o'er our lives is cast. Our loved one gone forever. How much we loved him none may know. It seemed so hard that he must go. The blow was sharp and so severe. To part with him we loved so dear. Off we see amidst our tears. His smiling face so full of cheer. When we leave this world of care. We will find our missing loved one in our Father's mansion fair.

IN MEMORIAM
In loving memory of Jean MacLeod, who died March 26th, 1919. Aged 17 years.

Eight sad years today have passed. Since we saw our dear one last. 'Twas a bitter grief, a shock severe. To part with her, whom we loved so dear.

No more her kindly word we'll hear. Nor see her welcome smile. But cherished memories hold her dear. That made life all worth while.

Not one knows the silent heartache. Only those who have lost can tell. Of the grief that's borne in silence. For the one we loved so well.

IN MEMORIAM
MRS ELIZABETH MACPHERSON
Another of those valued links that bind the present day with those of earlier generation was severed by the hand of Death when, at St. Margaret's at the parochial house there, on the morning of Tuesday, Feb. 15th, Mrs. Elizabeth MacPherson passed to her eternal reward at the advanced age of 82 years.

Deceased was the widow of the late Neil MacPherson of Ulgie, who predeceased her by twenty-one years. On the appointment of her son, the Rev. Kenneth C. MacPherson, to the pastorate of St. Margaret's, King's County, over twenty years ago, she took up her residence with him and remained for the balance of her "allotted span" in charge of the household there. In all the various interests that naturally centre in such a home she always took an active, although unobtrusive, part. Capable and industrious in all that appertained to her own particular duties, her ample exercise at all times a most beneficial influence in the material sense, while her kindly personality won, and held, acquaintanceships which ripened into enduring friendships. Of a high order of intelligence, she took the greatest interest not only in current happenings, but also in all that had to do with the earlier incidents of pioneering in various sections of the province, and up to the eve of her final illness could relate most accurately and vividly many of those anecdotes of early days, and trace those lines of genealogical association which constitute the essence of popular history and folklore.

Born at China Point, a daughter of the late Donald McIsaac, of the family of which she belonged there now survive only one sister, Mrs. Angus Morrison of Launching and one brother, Mr. Frederick McIsaac of China Point. Of her own family there are left to mourn three daughters: Mrs. Frank Evans, Great Falls, Ontario; Mrs. T. M. MacMillan, Charlottetown and Mrs. P. T. Power (C. N. R. station agent), St. Peter's. Also six sons: Daniel of Ulgie; Rev. Father MacPherson of St. Margaret's; Dr. John J. Castor, Alberta; Roderick and Joseph, Great Falls, Ontario; and Laughlin of Portland, Oregon. Another son, Colin, died at Boston about six years ago.

The late Mrs. MacPherson had always been of an unusually robust constitution, enabling her to withstand even in later years many of those "ills that flesh is heir to," but for some months previous to her demise it was apparent to intimate friends that her strength was waning, while, on her own part, when eventually laid aside, none realized more fully than herself that the end was drawing near. With that calm strength of unflinching faith, and the abiding equanimity arising therefrom, she felt no qualms as the wings of the summoning Angel fluttered near. Rather, composed in soul by daily reception of the Sacrament and toward the end by Holy Viaticum, and comforted in body by all that kind ministrations could accomplish or suggest, she gave her thought to comforting those whom she loved, and also disposed to mourn, and also discussed with those devoted members of her family around her the arrangements that should be made when she had "shuffled off this mortal coil." One request was that before leaving for the journey that should convey her mortal remains to rest beside those of her late husband, they should first be borne for a funeral service to the new church at St. Margaret's in the erection of which with true motherly devotion, she had encouraged with such fortitude the efforts of her own son, the parish priest, and where, although she had—as the fulfillment of her dearest earthly wish—lived to see the exterior completed, still illness prevented her from setting foot within it in life. A Solemn Mass of Requiem was accordingly celebrated there by Rev. Father MacPherson on the morning of Wednesday, Feb. 2nd, and the funeral cortege, largely attended from throughout the parish, then proceeded to Bear River Station. The hearse was driven by R. C. McPherson and the pall bearers were: John McDonald, John J. McDonald, Daniel McPherson, Frank McIsaac, Angus McCormack and Angus O. McDonald.

The remains were taken by train to Glencoe railway station. Here they were met by an unusually large concourse of old-time friends and neighbors and conveyed to her old home where they remained until the following morning. On February 3rd, 1927, the funeral took place to St. Joachim's Church, Vernon River. Here a High Mass of Requiem was chanted with Rev. K. C. MacPherson as celebrant; Rev. Hen. J. C. MacLean, V. G.; Deacon; Rev. A. McAulay, Sub-

Deacon; Rev. P. D. McGuigan, P. P.; Minister of Ceremonies, The choir was ably supplemented by Rev. Bernard Gillis, D. D. of Charlottetown.

The casket was then conveyed to the nearby cemetery, the following being the pall bearers: Frank McIsaac, Samuel E. McLeod, James Morrissey, Joseph McIsaac, John L. McInnis, Felix Murphy. With all the solemn ritual of the Church she had loved and served so well, the remains were then tenderly laid away in the family plot, to await the promised day when they shall rise again, to share with the soul in Bliss Eternal.

"And the stately ships pass on. To their havenly home on the hill. But oh, for the touch of a vanished hand, And the sound of a voice that is still!" May her soul rest in peace!
